Give up??? Me too...anyway if you get a chance to drop in do...we will charge a small cover charge...to cover the expenses of anything we feel needs covering...sofa...chair...you name it...wine will not be served in the main drawing room...just a variety of artists ink and watercolours...

Until next week and film at eleven, take care of yourself...you probably have to...who else will...all together now...get lost allawishes...another dead cat...and to all a goodnight and to one a Happy Hanukkah...

Around the town

Must be the event of the sixties...lots of people under the weather as we wind down 1982. Anne Goodall of Ryley is resting up at the Tofield Hospital enjoying the company of many visitors.

Ella McRoberts, that lovely lady from Irma who recently resides at the Tofield Lodge is feeling a bit sluggish and is also resting at the Tofield Hospital. Mrs. McRoberts is the mother of our very own Eve Moore and the author of a nice little booklet entitled, When We Get Out Of Debt.

The equally lovely and charming Mrs. Anderson, also up at the Tofield Lodge is confined to quarters with a cold. If you get a minute pop in and say a word or two, but stand back...cold germs travel...Get well all you under the weather types.

Harriett Ruddy of Ryley had a marvelous birthday party the other day. Seems all her neighbors came by to wish her well on this her (2nd...I believe...Poor Harriett, she's not getting older, just busier...

If you have anything you think would make a nice Christmas tidbit don't hesitate to call the office and if you have any ideas for a special Christmas photo give us a call...it would be nice to have some pretty pictures in the paper next week...

Gardeners meet

The December Tofield Garden Club meeting was held at the home of John and Mary Remple.

After the minutes were read and the financial report given, letters were read from the Alberta Horticultural annual meeting and the provincial show.

The main business of this meeting was the Christmas party.

Yvonne Brown conducted a contest on the sewing accessories shown on a young ladies costume. A small prize was given for the lady with the most points.

Gifts from the members were numbered and drawn for, and shown to each other.

Two junior guests, Marie Anne Peterson and Deanna Brown, gave out the gifts.

A Christmas lunch was served by Marie Worton, Irene Warner, and Mary Remple and enjoyed by all, including the several husbands attending.

The next meeting will be at Doris Brown's on Jan. 12th.

Report from

Parliament Hill

by The Honourable
Don Mazankowski, P.C., M.P.

Speaking in the House of Commons on Bill C-134, the Farm Loan Interest Rebate Act, Don Mazankowski, M.P. accused the federal government of failing to provide sufficient assistance to farmers. While supporting the interest rebate plan authorized by the Bill, Mr. Mazankowski said. "It will probably only affect 1,000 farmers in the whole country. We should be dealing with a measure to help about 20,000 farmers."

Stating that 344 farm bankruptcies had been recorded between January and October 1982, an dincrease of 30 per cent from the previous year, Mr. Mazankowski claimed that interest costs were just one component of the problem facing producers, "farmers have been caught in what I would call a devastating squeeze between high input costs and low products prices."

"In my view, government is the biggest culprit in driving up farm input costs" he continued. "When we look at the price of fuel in Canada we find that 60 cents of it consists of federal tax." Mr. Mazankowski also noted that natural gas taxes have now reached $1.05/MCF and he cited a Palliser Wheat Growers' Association report that put total farm energy taxes at $10 per acre.

Recalling the Minister of Agriculture's unfulfilled election promise to provide farmers some relief from energy taxes, Mr. Mazankowski claimed that the federal government has ignored its responsibility. "There is so much that could be done which needs to be done" he said. "But this government has failed to act. The Minister has failed to attack fundamentally the critical problems facing the agricultural industry today."

Armena history book on the market

"Footprints Along The Stoney" was officially put on the market on Sunday afternoon.

Footprints along the Stoney is the history of the Armena-Baldonnels areas and surrounding regions.

A huge crowd was on hand in the Viking Cultural Center for the official ceremonies which saw the history book go on the market.

The first two copies of the book were auctioned off by Ken and Laurie Lindstrand in very successful fashion.

A. Hansen and Son Construction of Camrose purchased the first copy for $1,700 and Ostrum Chemical of Edmonton bought the second copy for $975.

The oldest resident of the area covered by the history book to be in attendance was Carl Lyseng who recently celebrated his 98th birthday.

Nels Grue, who arrived with his family in the 1899's talked about the past while The Tungland children sang two selections and Sarah and Rose Tungland made up a duet. They are fifth generation descendants of Eric Lyseng.

Other entertainment was provided by Stacey, Michael and Lynne Roper; Lynda Olson and family along with Donna and Cheryl Lacy; and a ladies chorus which was directed by Florence Olson.

The committee which produced the book were given awards of merit by Kathy Sinclair of New Horizons and Chris Knight of Prinsen Press.

A telegram of congratulations from the Hon. Monique Begin, Federal Minister of Culture, was read.

Following the formal program, lunch was served under the supervision of the Armena Athletic Association.

One of the highlights of the program was a poem of tribute to the Armena pioneers which had been written by Mary Rustad, herself a pioneer at the age of ninety-three years.

Copies of Footprints Along the Stoney may be purchased from any committee member.

Powder Puffs play

The Tofield Powder Puffs, formerly known as the Tofield Women's Hockey, have been practising since the first of November and are now ready for any challenge.

They have challenged the Tofield Mighty Mites "B" team for their first game.

Game time will be Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

Plans are being made for future games in the new year.

If you are interested in playing hockey with the Powder Puffs, just come down to the Arena on Sundays between 12:30 p.m. and 2:00 p.m.

Marlowe re-elected

Michael Marlowe of Clairmont R.R.1 was re-elected chairman of the Camrose and District of the Alberta Retired Public Employees Society, at its annual meeting held last Wednesday.

With the re-organization of the chapter a little over a year ago, the Camrose Chapter now enjoys membership support from 183 retired pensioners from the Alberta Government, the City of Camrose and the County of Camrose.

One of the main objects of the Society is to keep its members informed on pension and related matters and to endeavour to facilitate pension adjustments to keep pace with the escalating cost of living because of the continual erosion of the purchasing power of pensioners.

Membership in the Society is open to any retired public employee who is in receipt of pension benefits derived pursuant to the Public Service Pension Act, The Public Service Management Pension Act, The Local Authorities Pension Act and The Special Forces Pension Act.

The same meeting saw John Orr elected as vice-chairman of public relations; Gordon Brownlee of Wetaskiwin elected as vice chairman of legislation; Joseph Eberbanisk is treasurer; Lawrence Nelson of Ohaton was re-elected as membership chairman; Anna Lamerton was re-elected as planning committee chairman; Jesse Wilson is special events chairman; and Alfred Burvill was re-elected as sick and benevolent committee chairman.

Gladys Nelson of Ohaton has agreed to act as secretary for the next year.

The Chapter meets at two o'clock every second Wednesday of each month (excluding the months of July and August) in the Eckbiis Bldg. on the Fairgrounds in Camrose.

Round Hill wins

A teams from Round Hill has won a district curling crown.

When the District 8 Elks curling playoffs were held recently in Daysland, Round Hill won top honours.

Five rinks participated in the playoff bonspiel which had been hosted by the Daysland Lodge.

Entered in the competition were two teams from Heisler and entries from Rosalind, Daysland and Round Hill.

Round Hill won its opening game by edging Rosalind 8-4 with the victory giving the team a bye into the finals.

In the championship contest, Round Hill eked out a narrow 5-7 decision over Heisler to win District 8 honours.

By winning the district crown, the Round Hill quartet earned the right to compete in the provincial finals which will be held in Westlock in the final weekend of January.

Members of the championship team from Round Hill, which is coached by Stan Banack, are Harvey Fass (skip), Jim Tomassewski (third), David Banack (second) and Basil Jacula (lead).

"So long, Scouts"

Many friends and relatives gathered at the Edmonton international airport to wish the Tofield Scouts a good trip as they boarded Air Canada en route to New Zealand. The Scouts along with their leaders and two Scouts from Ryley will be gone for slightly over a month. Don't you wish they had this sort of thing when you were a kid?

Ed Eivensen elected by international farm body

Ed Eivensen, President of Crawford's of Alberta, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the International Farm Equipment Wholesalers Association (FEWA).

Eivensen assumed the office during FEWA's Annual Meeting and Convention in Atlanta, Georgia in November.

As a member of the Association's six-person Board of Directors, Mr. Eivensen will aid in the supervision of administration of member services to the 110 U.S. and Canadian member firms plus their 85 branch outlets throughout North America. Member firms are wholesalers of short-line agricultural and outdoor power equipment and related specialty products.

Crawford's of Alberta, Ltd. became a member of the Farm Equipment Wholesalers Association in 1982, joining other Canadian wholesaling firms which comprise some 20 per cent of the FEWA membership.

Mr. Eivensen, 53, came to Crawford's in 1966 as Territory Manager. He had farmed in the area for 20 years and was also active in the retail automotive business in sales and sales management. He was named Sales Manager of Crawford's of Alberta Ltd. in 1973 and, in 1975, purchased controlling interest of the firm, becoming its President and sales manager. He purchased full control of the firm in 1979.

Mr. Eivensen has been active farm equipment wholesaling and has represented the industry recently at the EIMA Industrial and Agricultural Exposition in Bologna, Italy and the DLG exposition in Hannover, Germany.

In March, 1982, Mr. Eivensen accompanied a 16 member farm delegation of the Farm Equipment Wholesalers Association to the Salon International de la Machine Agricole (SIMA) Exposition in Paris. He has served on the Alberta Wheat Pool Advisory Committee and has been President of Daysland Lions Club and Master of Excelsior Masonic Lodge.

He and his wife, Jean, reside at 4303 - 64 Street Close in Camrose.

Christmas wishes from the Kootenays to all our friends and relatives.

Annual fly-up is held by Joyce Lee

The annual Brownie and Guide enrollment and fly-up ceremony was held Dec. 1 in the C.W. Rosen School and was well attended by parents and relatives of the young ladies.

The evening began with opening remarks from President Gwen Nowell followed by the Brownie leaders, Mary Kovalko, Rebecca Andrews, and Linda English, with the girls displaying segments of the Brownie ritual.

Then, six of the girls, Carrie Ann Pike, Susan Langell, Jennifer Lee, Michelle McAdam, Kerri-Lynn Nahirniak and Chantel Paris gave their pledges and received their pins to become full fledged Brownies.

The Guides led by Lynn Tinkhammer and Inger Peterson presented their Guide opening by candlelight.

The fly-up ceremony involved Sherri Lynn Cooper, who was ceremoniously drawn in a hand crafted and lined and tinseled sleigh by several Brownies and escorted by Deanna Brown (Senior Sixer), to join the Guide Horseshoe. Mary Beth Fels and Sandy Macdonald became Guides after reciting their pledges.

Special guests, Sylvia Westland, District Commissioner, and Alice Rapp, Deputy Commissioner, both from New Sarepta, assisted the leaders in hearing the pledges as well as handing out the pins and badges.

A presentation of gifts of appreciation were handed out to Beverly Carlisle, Rosemarie Hallenquist and Yvonne Brown for their years of service in working with the girls. Gifts were also presented to Sharon Hudson and Sandra Brophy who were unable to attend.

The Brownies then joined the Guides in campfire and sang several songs after which refreshments were served.

A special upcoming event will be on Saturday when the Brownies and Guides and their families will go skating at the Northlands Coliseum.

Small business can't bank on fairness

By W. Roger Worth

Small business is in trouble, as are big business, home-owners with high mortgage payments, consumers struggling to keep up with inflation and, most of all, the nation's 1.5 million unemployed.

But the crucial cogs in the scenario are the small firms that, believe it or not, have for years created a majority of the country's new jobs. These are also the entrepreneurs that hold the key to a quick turn-around when the economy improves.

Governments, in their wisdom (and a lot of monied political pressure), have caved in to big companies like Massey-Ferguson, Dome and Maislin Transport, spending hundreds of millions of tax-payer dollars on bailouts, while telling small business that the "survival of the fittest" principle exists. Small business has the right to fail. Big business is to be subsidized.

Yet it's not only government, but the banks, that are using their immense power to stifle smaller firms. Simply put, the bankers do not understand their small business clients and what makes them tick.

Consider one simple example. A small business is in difficulty. The proprietor talks to the banker about a government program that subsidizes interest rates for such small firms in difficult straits. The business person fills in an application for the needed support. But before the application is processed, the bank requests full payment on its loan to the business, thus driving the firm into bankruptcy or receivership.

The problem of course, is that in many instances, bankers simply don't understand. Even though the financial institution may be able to salvage the small business and the attendant jobs, it's easier to pull the plug.

There was a time when bankers were trusted. Virtually everyone, particularly in smaller communities, received and respected advice from the banker. The banker, in a lot of cases, was like a father [illegible]

That's not the case anymore. A great many bankers have proven they don't care. Now, when people present problems, many times the banker uses the information to the advantage of his or her employer.

It isn't right. If the banks (on behalf of their shareholders) [illegible] to faltering big businesses and countries such as Poland, Mexico and Argentina, so be it. But consumers and small business shouldn't be asked to pay the bill when losses occur.

Like consumers, small business wants to be treated fairly. But these days, fairness is a commodity that is in short supply at the nation's banks.

Home improvement program now available for seniors

The Minister of Housing, Larry Shaben, has announced applications are now available for the new Seniors' Home Improvement Program which provides a grant of up to $3,000 to assist homeowners in repairing or improving their own homes.

It is expected that about 60,000 senior citizen households will qualify for assistance over the four year term of the program.

The estimated total cost is about $150 million over the four years.

Application forms can be obtained from Treasury Branches, Chartered Banks, participating Credit Unions and other financial institutions.

Mr. Shaben said, "All senior citizen homeowners who earn up to $30,000 per year are eligible, including those who have participated in the Alberta Pioneers' Repair Program."

The amount of the grant is dependent on income.

Senior Citizens with a $15,000 or less gross annual income are eligible for the maximum amount of $3,000.

Those earning $15,000 to $17,500 may receive $2,000 and senios in the $17,500 to $30,000 category are eligible for a $1,000 grant.

These government grants will enable senior citizens to maintain their independence in thier own homes for as long as possible. The grants will compliment other government programs designed for senior citizens.

Mr. Shaben stated that an additional benefit of the program is the projected increase in economic activity and employment in the home repair and retail sector.

Some 1,400 jobs are expected to be created in Alberta as a result of the program.

To qualify for a grant a person must be 65 years of age, a widow or widower, aged 55 to 64 years, must have been a resident of Alberta for at least one year prior to the date of application, and must be either a Canadian citizen or a landed immigrant with at least ten years' residency in Canada.

There is only one grant per household and it applies to single family dwellings, duplexes, fourplexes, row houses, condominiums and mobile homes.

The Senior Citizen's Home Improvement Program commenced in 1976 and through 1979, some 38,000 homeowners were provided with a $1,000 grant to assist in the repair of their homes.

In 1979, the Alberta Pioneers' Repair Program was implemented. Seniors were eligible for grants up to $2,000 to assist in the repair and improvement of their homes.

Some 42,000 seniors have used the Pioneers' Repair Program to date.

A FAMILY CHRISTMAS

Often around Christmas time when we're rushing about baking and shopping we work ourselves into a stressful state and almost forget what the season is all about. We must remember that Christmas is a spirit. Spending time with our families goes further in promoting that spirit than does baking an extra dozen cookies.

The best part of Christmas is preparing for the event, not just the gift opening. There are a number of things you can do with your family to share in the fun and joy of Christmas. As a family, you could..

- make paper chains or string popcorn and cranberries for the tree.
- make your own gift wrap. Brown paper and potato prints are easy for children to handle. Make special Christmas cards for grandparents from pictures, cut-outs, ribbons and other trims.
- bake Christmas cookies using a plain sugar cookie dough. Children love to decorate.
- have an afternoon Christmas party and invite the neighbours. Make it a toboggan or skating party and include everyone.
- practice singing Christmas carols and serenade friends or older people who cannot get out.
- have everyone in the family write a few Christmas carols.

Whatever the activity, make an effort to include the whole family (although this doesn't always work). Remember it's the simple, fun activities that both children and adults cherish as memories years later.

District news from Ryley

BY Tessa Hall

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Fitt, Gladys Evanuik, Little Beaver leader and Reg Richard; Cub leader and eleven children visited the senior citizens and sang Christmas carols. Then, they presented them with a Christmas ornament, a box of mixed cookies and chocolates.

Philip and Kerry Bednarski and daughter of Sherwood Park visited their folks over the weekend.

Everyone who attended the Al Oeming and Cheetah show enjoyed it very much. It was held in the Ryley Community Hall. He passed out autographed pictures of himself and Cheetah. Several went up to touch the Cheetah even if nervous about it.

The senior citizens enjoyed a turkey supper on Dec. 8, put on by the Rebecca Ladies. Guests were there from Smoky Lake, Tofield, Camrose, etc. Hugo Hellesen won the Christmas draw. Rev. Sid Haugen said grace before the meal. After supper, Paul Konoway and his brother played the dulcimer and violin. Later, Harriet Ruddy played the piano accompanied by the violinist and crowd joined in and sang carols. Skit's were put on by the Rebecca Ladies.

Recent Ryley visitors were Ted and Ruth Grafton and Dick and Martha Whitney of Camrose, Sophia Budinski of Smoky Lake, Rose Kondelion, Alma Adams and Clara Bodnar from Tofield.

Holden Jr. High School girls won the basketball game against Ryley on Monday.

On Monday at 7:30 p.m. the Ryley Lion's turkey bingo will be held in the Community Hall; also, starting January 10, there will be weekly cash bingos.

Raymond Hnuka of Wainwright visited his brother, Lloyd in Ryley and cousin, Stanley and Ida, south of Ryley a week ago.

Violet and Lorraine Helgeland and Colin Rell drove up to St. Albert to visit Bob and Debbie Cross who have recently moved there.

Correction: Last week the item stated Elsie Zook had been in U. of A. Hospital; it was to read that Reg. Dyer had been a patient in city and was moved to Tofield Hospital and Elsie Zook spent a few days in Tofield Hospital but is home now and feeling fine.

Dinner is held

By Lesley Primeau

The Carol Rebekahs enlisted themselves with dinner and entertainment at the annual seniors' supper in Ryley last week.

The Rebekahs annually hold the dinner for all seniors in the Ryley area and this year an estimated 150 turned out for Christmas dinner with all the trimmings.

Entertainment this year was at its usual high standards. Three skits were performed, one involving Echo Mountain and the fact that Harriett Ruddy resembles bolognas; another involving the illness that Gertie Mitsera caught from every patient in the doctor's office. Gertie was adapting to all illnesses until the lovely and charming Dorothy Clarke showed up in the family way. That skit brought the house down.

The final skit involved the setting up of a candy store and made good use of many audience members who filled in as counters, windows etc. When it was decided that there was no stock for this candy store, the proprietor simply looked at all those who were pretending to be something else and remarked she thought there were quite enough nuts and suckers right there.

The Rebekahs are noted for their fine humour at the annual Christmas get together and seem to have no problem making everyone feel right at home. The skits were most enjoyed by the seniors.

Paul and John Konoway on violin and dulcimer also entertained and stockings donated by Muriel Lyons and filled by the Rebekahs were won by Ruth Bratrud and Hugo Hellesen.

Lamont leads Beaverhill

Lamont had sole possession of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League going into games played on Tuesday night.

Killam and Tofield Rebellions are deadlocked in second place, only two points behind the leaders.

Killam's winning ways had been ended earlier in the season when a victory over Ryley was taken away after they had used an ineligible player and the game was awarded to Ryley.

A game on Saturday night will see Ryley as the home team (in Tofield) when they meet the Rebellions.

On Tuesday night, Ryley will host Lamont in Tofield while the Rebellion play in Killam and Holden travels to Mundare.

Tuesday's action will be the last games in the schedule until after the Christmas holidays.

Pete Budinski of Mundare is the new president of the league, replacing Reg Dolson of Holden who resigned. Budinski has also accepted the commissioner's post.

Other members of the executive remain unchanged with Barry Litun of Lamont as vice-president; Joe Komarnisky of Holden is secretary-treasurer; and Lloyd Mashuk of Mundare is statistician.

Lamont won its only game of the past week when they blasted Viking by a 13-3 count.

Killam picked up two wins after they blasted Holden 16-2 and edged Mundare 5-3.

Tofield edged Mundare 5-3 and Ryley picked up two wins by blasting Viking 15-6 and whipping Holden 10-4.

In Tofield's win over Mundare, they were led by Dave Berreleth who scored twice while singles were netted by Andy Chamberlain, Doug Nachtigal and Ernie Nachtigal.

Ryley has moved up in the standings to occupy fourth place and are followed by Mundare, Holden and the winless Viking squad.

"WHAT'S YOUR BEEF?"

Andy Repchuk
Livestock Transport,
St. Paul, Alberta

"Cattle sell by the pound. And, I know every pound I haul to Edmonton Public Stockyards is going to be paid for because their weigh scales are accurate."

Why should you consign to Edmonton Public Stockyards?
☐ Largest stocker/feeder market in Canada
☐ More buyers on the market at one time
☐ Experience ☐ Special sales
☐ Receive and release cattle 24 hours a day ☐ Sales 5 days a week
☐ Integrity of weigh scales ☐ 3 sales rings

"Weekly scale checks with Government approved weights, plus frequent balances during each sale, convince me I'm getting paid for every pound I haul. With accurate weights, top prices and increased cattle handling efficiency, you'll have little to 'BEEF' about when you haul to Edmonton Public Stockyards."

AGT expects busy Christmas

Traditionally, December 25 is one of the busiest telephone calling days.

This Christmas, AGT expects to surpass last year's record total of 304,000 long distance calls. During past years the number of Christmas Day calls have grown about 10 percent annually.

To handle the large volume of Christmas Day calls, 500 AGT operators will be working across the province.

Nationally, the TransCanada Telephone System estimates Canadians will place more than six million long distance calls on Christmas Day.

HOLIDAY RATES

Reduced rates will be in effect on Christmas Day and New Year's Day from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for long distance calls in Alberta, across Canada, and the United States including Hawaii. The lower rates will also apply on calls to Alaska from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Mexico from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. on both days.

While there are no rate changes for overseas calls on either holiday, callers can take advantage of some lower weekend rates to specific overseas countries. Last year, Albertans placed more than 7,000 overseas calls on Christmas Day.

CALLING TIPS

Some pre-planning can make Christmas and New Year's calling much easier.

Call Early - Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and New Year's Day are the heaviest calling periods and some calls may not go through. A surprise call on another day may be processed faster.

Verify Numbers in Advance - Verify long distance numbers in advance when operators are less busy. Directory assistance for Alberta numbers is 1-555-1212 (toll free). Directory assistance for other North American numbers is 1-area code-555-1212 (toll free). To obtain overseas numbers dial "0" and ask the operator for assistance.

Take Time Zones into Account - Check the time in the area you are calling. It may mean the difference between an answered or unanswered call.

Dial Your Own Calls - Use Direct Distance dialing (DDD), Zero Plus Dialing, and were possible, Direct Dialing Overseas (DDO).

Be Patient - AGT operators will be processing calls as fast as possible.

Winterize your home

by Debbie Brekke
D.H.E., Alberta Agriculture, Airdrie

It's hard to believe that winter's just around the corner but it is! And if you live on a farm it is time to get your house ready for those cold, blustery winter winds.

Start by checking all windows, doors and other openings. To check for air leakage use a "draft indicator" like a smouldering piece of cotton string or a lit candle. Move the indicator around the frames and sashes of your windows. If the smoke or flame dances around you need caulking and/or weatherstripping. Try slipping a quarter under the door. If it goes through easily, you need weatherstripping.

Seal all leaks by caulking and weatherstripping doors, windows and your attic hatch. It's easy to do yourself and you could save 10 per cent on your energy bill. Ask for the pamphlet "How to Weatherstrip and Caulk Your Home" (1700-77-33), from your district office.

If your home has an uninsulated basement, one third of your total heat loss can occur through the floors and walls. Upgrade your basement walls by adding insulation to the inside or outside of the foundation. Get a copy of "How to Insulate Your Basement - Exterior Method" (1700-77-32) or "How to Insulate Your Basement - Interior Method" (1700-77-31) from your district office.

Did you know that proper furnace maintenance will also reduce your fuel costs, extend the life of your equipment and ensure a safer system?

Clean the air filter, vacuum around the burner and fan compartments, lubricate the furnace motor and inspect the belt before you start it up this year. For more information on maintaining your heating system ask for "Your Home Heating System - Using it Efficiently", again from your district office.

"Home Insulation Techniques" (1713-10) is an excellent source of information if you plan to insulate your attic or basement. It too is available from your district office.

CULLING COWS

Culling non-productive cows from the herd will improve calf crop percentages. The possible number of spring calves is automatically lower than expected if there are some open cows in the herd. Therefore, pregnancy testing is recommended. All breeding females should be pregnancy tested by the veterinarian at or following weaning. Overwintering cows which are not in calf is an unnecessary expense.

Also, pregnant cows and heifers should be examined visually. Unsound animals should be culled if their condition will hinder their overwintering or spring calving. Conditions such as lump jaw, mastitis, poor feet and legs, poorly attached udders and reproductive problems often warrant culling. If the health abnormality is not severe and the cow will produce another healthy calf, consider culling her after calving and before breeding. Shipping unsound animals to avoid unnecessary costs is important but getting the calf from a bred cow is also important.

The older cows which are reaching the end of their reproductive lives are often the culls. Culling young animals may also be necessary. Ship animals with poor genetic quality or poor milking ability. These problems can be spotted by keeping good performance test records of animals in the herd. Calves with low indexes at weaning indicate poor milking mothers or cows of low quality.

Examine your cows carefully and aim for a high calf crop percentage.

Toros are still 2nd

Only two points separate the top four teams in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Round Hill has a slim one-point lead over Tofield Toros and Bawlf while Bashaw is a mere two points off the pace in an exciting pennant race.

Kingman and New Norway are fighting it out for fifth place although both are still in contention for the lead.

The race for the lead will continue this coming weekend when four games will be played.

Tofield Toros will play in Bashaw on Friday night and will be in Camrose on Sunday evening for a match-up with Bawlf.

The next home date on the schedule for the Toros is not until Jan. 10th. However, there is a game with Bashaw which has no date set and that contest could be played during the Christmas season.

Dale Olson of the Toros has moved into a share of the lead in the goalies' race with Wilson of Round Hill as both have 4.00 average and Stang of Bawlf is close behind at 4.20.

Gary Borden of Tofield easily leads the penalty parade, having being assessed 68 minutes in the sin bin to date.

Laurie Losback and Donnie Hendrikson of the Toros are currently tied for fourth place in the scoring race with Keech of Bashaw and they all trail the Round Hill trio of Dixon, Wolfe and Boychuck.

In a wild and chippy contest in Tofield on Friday night, Toros blasted Kingman 11-4 in their only game of the past week.

Losback led the Toros with a hat-trick while Schmidt and G. Olson each had a pair and singles were scored by Friesen, Horricks, Hendrikson and Miskew.

The game was marred with thirty-four penalties being called, seventeen ... team.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

For the handy do-it-yourselfer, Build It Better Yourself is the answer to many of your problems. It has plans and directions for hundreds of projects, from wheelbarrows to rabbit cages, greenhouses to juice presses, walls, fences and outbuildings. Many diagrams, photos, and a good index make this an easy book to use. Another self-help book is Planning and Building Your Fireplace, a warm idea for this winter.

On the fiction shelf, you will notice a new thriller by Helen MacInnes Cloak of Darkness, and Irving Wallace's new novel, The Almighty. A wide variety of new paperbacks in many categories have also been put out on display.

For younger readers, two new Choose-your-own-adventure titles are in, Gorge The Space Monster, and The Green Slime. A touching Christmas story is The Best Christmas Pageant Ever, and Angels and Other Strangers offers a selection of family Christmas stories. Other Christmas books are also on display, offering ideas for last-minute gifts and decorations, or that special recipe.

The next Preschool Story Session will begin January 11, for six weeks; please pre-register your three or four year old at the Library to take advantage of this program.

Please note that the Library will be closed on December 25, 26, 27 and 28, open December 29, 30, 31; closed January 1, 2, 3, and back to regular days on Tuesday, January 4.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Stodden

The Community Hall was gaily decorated for the pre-Christmas rock dance held on Dec. 4th, with a capacity crowd in attendance. Glen Lawrence was convenor of the affair and was ably assisted by brother, Keith, Grant Wilson and Bruce Bowen. Larnda Cumming was in charge of the kitchen and with helpers, Kathy Lawrence, Debbie Johnston, Chris Rooney, Melanie Baffie and Phyllis Theberge served a turkey supper with all the trimmings.

The fellows gathered up the dishes and in no time they were washed and put away.

The New Year's Eve frolic was announced for December 31. Grant Wilson and Glen Lawrence will be in charge in this last event of the 1982 season.

Maurice and Carol Pehlsson returned on the weekend after spending a two-week vacation in Hawaii.

It was school bus drivers' banquet night of the Strathcona County at the Glen Allen Complex on Saturday evening. Bus drivers and wives from this community who attended were Pat and Margaret Paterson, Jos and Eva Davenport, Rita Loch, Elaine and Lorne Farmer and Debie and Jim Holmes.

Ladies of the Thursday Group of the Crafts Centre were Thursday guests of Bertha Lafontaine and Claude. This will be the last Thursday afternoon gathering until after the new year.

Children and helpers of the community have been practising for the annual childrens' Christmas party to be held on December 17th.

Your correspondent wishes to convey Christmas greetings to all readers of The Mercury, Mercury staff, and to friends near and far. May all your wishes be fulfilled and 1983 be a good year for all.

Once again it has been a pleasure being your Ministik news correspondent for another year.

the Glory of Christmas

When it became known that the Son of God was born to Mary, all bowed down to worship him. The Wise Men set forth on their journey, for to them alone had the Star miraculously appeared. It guided them to where Jesus lay. There they presented their regal gifts and adored Him.

The awesome wonder of Jesus' holy birth and the lesson of His life will forever enlighten the hearts and minds of people everywhere. As all join to celebrate in the exultant spirit of this hallowed season, we extend best wishes and heartfelt gratitude to our many cherished friends.

Greetings from all of us at the Mercury

The Story of the Nativity

ST. LUKE, CHAPTER 2, 1-20

1. And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

3. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

5. To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

6. And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8. And there were in same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night.

9. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were sore afraid.

10. And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for behold I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11. For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12. And this shall be a sign unto you: "Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

13. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

14. Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

15. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another. Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

16. And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in a manger.

17. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

18. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

20. And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all things that they had heard and seen as it was told unto them.

"THIS IS THE FIRST TIME TO MY KNOWLEDGE THAT ANYONE HAS CRACKED UP A SIMULATOR!"

Christmas Seals go back 80 years

Alberta - Christmas Seals take on a special significance at Christmas time. Although always colorful, they are much more than an annual adornment for Christmas cards and presents. In a very real way, Christmas Seals symbolize the true meaning of Christmas.

Christmas Seals, with their ever-present Lorraine Cross, represent love, hope and charity.

Christmas Seals originated in Einael Dickensian fashion on a cold and snowy December night in 1903. Taking a page from "A Christmas Carol", a postmaster in Copenhagen named Einar Holboell looked out the window as he was sorting Christmas mail and saw two unfortunate waifs trying to survive in the swirling snow.

The postman was deeply moved and decided he had to find a way to help these children. It came to him that if every Christmas letter carried an extra stamp, the proceeds from the sale of those stamps could help save the children. And at that time, tuberculosis was the leading cause of death, especially of children, so tuberculous children became the initial benefactors of this novel fund raising scheme. The idea was enthusiastically supported by his fellow workers and King Christian IX, who had a picture of his wife, Queen Louise, put on the first Christmas Seal in 1904. After only two campaigns, they had enough money for two hospitals and tuberculous children.

The idea spread first to neighboring Norway and Sweden then, in 1907, Christmas Seals came to North America via Delaware. Initially, authorities balked at bringing attention to that horrible disease at Christmas but the newspapers backed the Seals with the power of the press and their success spread quickly. When a young lad reached up to the counter of the Philadelphia "North American" with his penny and said, "Gimme me, my sister's got it", it grabbed at the hearts and purse strings of many Americans. Only one year later, in 1908, the first Christmas Seals came to Canada in Hamilton and Toronto.

Christmas Seals have been a tremendous success. In 1946, American scientist Selman A. Waksman discovered the antibiotic streptomycin, the first effective drug to cure tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is now well under control in developed countries. From 1950 to 1988, the rate of new active TB cases in Alberta fell from 58.1 per 100,000 to 11.9. With treatment, death from TB can now be considered a thing of the past.

But other forms of lung disease are still a major problem. One in every four Canadians is treated annually for some form of lung disease at a cost of about $560 million. Respiratory diseases are also responsible for more time lost from work and school than any other health hazard.

Christmas Seals hold the hope for control of lung disease. The Alberta Lung Association depends solely on Christmas Seals to support its research and health education programs.

This year's Christmas Seal campaign in Alberta has fallen about 10 per cent behind target," says Doris Lewenius, executive director of the Alberta Lung Association. "In the spirit of Christmas, we hope Albertans will look beyond the tinsel and take a second to reflect on the meaning of the Christmas Seals adorning their cards and gifts."

Christmas Seal donations can be sent to your local Christmas Seal committee or the Alberta Lung Association, 10515 - 176th Street, Edmonton, Alberta: T5N 3X4.

The Night Before Christmas

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the tavern, Friends greeted each other with "What're you having".
One patron was draped on the back of his chair,
Another was squeezing the beer from his hair.
A woman all dolled up in chiffon and sable,
Was belching a card as she lay 'neath the table,
And then as her garter let go with a snap,
The blonde with the mustache fell out of my lap.
When from the bar there came a loud shout —
We're serving no more — now everyone out!
Away to their cars the customers stumbled,
And keys into locks were nervously fumbled,
Skidding and sliding through new fallen snow,
The potential murderers were ready to go.
From each glassy eye there dribbled a tear,
As we all realized that there'd be no more beer,
We burped at our driver, he threw in the clutch,
Knocked down a slow-poke, ran over his crutch.
Zig-zagging upturn, we spotted a dome,
I rolled down the window and called her by name,
Up John, down Bridge, on Centre to Mill,
Where she should appear but a sun in his sun,
We stopped on the spot, gave the horn a loud toot,
Then off like a shot with the cop in pursuit.
As dry leaves before the wild hurrican fly,
Up hill and down hill and then on the level,
We roared through the night as if chased by the devil.
Then, all in a twinkling, I was up ahead
The amber light gone, the light had turned red.
As I threw down my head, put my feet on the dash,
The night air resounded with a blast of a crash.
He was dressed all in white from his head to his feet,
What he said to me next I dare not repeat,
I tried to turn over, but, limp as a sack,
There was nought I could do but lie still on my back.
My eyes were gone dim and I coughed and I spat,
My neck was all twisted, my nose was quite flat,
My droll little mouth was a long scarlet gash,
Mute proof of the force of that terrible crash.
The stamp of my leg I could see 'neath the sheet,
I never did find what they did with my feet.
With scalpel and forceps and 98 stitches,
The drew me together like father's old britches.
He spoke not a word "til he'd finished his work,
Then ordered the nurse to "wheel out that jerk."
Then placing his thumb to the end of his nose,
And spreading his fingers - the usual pose,
He bade me adieu and concluded our meeting,
With a word of advice in his Yuletide greeting —
"Your best Christmas present is that you're alive
Maybe now you'll remember
IF YOU'RE DRINKING — DON'T DRIVE.

Oberg is named

John Oberg of Forestburg has accepted two important positions with the National Farmers Union.

Oberg will be a member of the NFU's national board and will also be the Region 7 co-ordinator.

Oberg was named to the two positions when he attended the annual NFU convention which was held recently in Saskatoon.

Other Albertans were elected to key posts.

Irving Babbitt of Bruce will assist the regional co-ordinator while his wife, Lydia, will be a member of the junior advisory committee.

Greg Farion of Vegreville accepted the position of junior president while Angina Clark of Waskatenau will become a member of the women's advisory committee.

After serving two years as vice-president, Wayne Easter of P.E.I. is the new NFU president.

Former regional co-ordinator, Ed Molowyk of Westlock, is the new vice-president while Darlene Henderson of Manitoba is back as women's president.

INVEST IN LIFE

If someone were to tell you there was an investment firm where you were assured of earning $3.00 for every $1 you invested, or even better $7.00 for every invested $1.00, would you be interested? I'll bet you would be!

Well, I have great news. There is! Did you know that for every $1.00 you invest in Third World development projects with the South Asia Partnership /India, Bangaladesh, Sri Lanka, together with their partner, Canada) that the Canadian Government through the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) will match with $3.00?

In many instances the Alberta Government will provide the first match, then CIDA matches the combined amount 3 to 1.

In other words, we provide $1.00, the Alberta Government makes it $2.00, then CIDA adds the Canadian [illegible] ment match for a total of $6.00 to send overseas.

A good return for your money - you bet!

Want to know how to make it happen?

Get involved in projects sponsored by Camrose One World Institute. Currently we have two projects we are working on An Animal Breeding project and the provision of funds to the India South Asia Service Organization.

The first one is to provide funds to purchase a bull of the Rathi breed and 2 Saanen goats to the Niketan Rural Development project in Manaklav, 23 km. west of Jodhpur, in north India. Jodhpur is about 100 miles [illegible] of Delhi.

This is a desert area, prone to drought and famine. The annual rainfall is from 6-10 inches with summer temperatures rising to 40°C and dropping to 1.5°C in winter. The velocity of winds is very high and soil erosion is a serious problem.

The literacy rate among the weaker sections is only 9.03%. The health of the residents is poor with asthma and TB com-[illegible]

Socheta Kripalani Shiksha Niketan was founded in 1972 in memory of a renowned Indian Social worker, Niketan died in 1974.

Some of the programs undertaken by Niketan and in place in 20 surrounding villages include: a home for destitute children, non-formal education through camps, seminars for youth, women and other villagers, Community health activities which include health education, medical treatment, anti opium camps, (nearly 300 addicts have been helped to date), ecology camps; they have planted over 10,000 trees, started a plum orchard, and a plant nursery of 15,000 species, they have provided embroidery [illegible] machines, constructed bio-gas plants and have a Rural Development Workers Training program which provides the participants with many practical skills in agriculture, animal husbandry, village planning, irrigation plus numerous other skills.

This is a proven group of people. They make their programs work. We have been provided with the privilege of assisting them with their Animal Breeding project.

Aloysius Fernandes, of the Canadian High Commission to India, recently in Camrose, informed us the Rathi breed is excellent for the desert as it is able to make good use of the high protein desert grass, go long hours with little water and still produce 5-7 litres of milk a day.

The project developers wish to upgrade the local cattle herds by cross-breeding the cows to the Rathi bull.

The Saanen goats will also be used to upgrade the local goat herds.

Another Canadian agency is going to assist these desert people with water wells.

Want to make a great investment in humanity? Here is a marvelous opportunity. Remember, every $1.00 you invest in this South Asia Partnership, India project will be $6.00 before it leaves Canada.

Total cost of this Animal Breeding project is 15,000 rupees or $3,000.00 Canadian. To make the project a reality for our neighbours in India will cost us $250.00. Already the Social Studies 20 class at Hay Lakes School have raised $160.00. So come along and share Christmas in another dimension.

Merry Christmas to each of you from the staff of Camrose One World Institute, Laurellyne Fast, Brian Nelson and Ruth Vikse.

City bids for Games

The City of Camrose has submitted a formal bid to host the 1984 Alberta Seniors Games.

A delegation headed by Bill Fowler, president of the Camrose Games Society, presented a brief to the Hon. Peter Trynchy, Minister of Recreation and Parks, during a meeting in Edmonton last Wednesday (Dec. 15).

Nine letters of support accompanied the bid.

The first-ever Alberta Senior Games were held in Camrose in 1980 and the second Games were held in the Rose City this past summer.

The bid, presented by Mr. Fowler, pointed out that Camrose was centrally located in the province, have available accommodations and that, after hosting two earlier events, Camrosians had the experience.

The brief also contained the results from three surveys which showed solid support for a Camrose bid.

Ninety-five percent of participants in the '82 Games enjoyed their stay in Camrose and most agreed that Camrose was an ideal centre for such an event.

Those who were involved in the '82 Games agreed that Camrose should again host the event with 94% showing their support would continue.

Ninety-three percent of the volunteers who aired in the 1982 Games have indicated they would lend their support again in the future and Games officials that this should be an important factor in a decision to locate the 1984 Alberta Senior Games.

Letters of support were received from the Battle River Tourist Association, City of Camrose, Camrose Agricultural Society, Camrose Chamber of Commerce, Camrose Golden Club, Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre, Rose City Dancing Club, Camrose and District Senior Centre Society and Henry Cann.

According to Fowler, a decision on the location of the 1984 Games should be made within the next few weeks.

Nice tradition

High School students in Bawlf have a nice Christmas tradition.

Instead of getting Christmas presents for each other, the students have again helped others.

A number of years ago, Bawlf's high school students decided that, each of them would get their share of gifts and they realized that for others, less fortunate circumstances could mean that Christmas might not be as happy an occasion as it should.

That group of students decided that Christmas might have more meaning if they helped others.

The result of that decision was that, instead of getting each other gifts, they bought gifts but, gave them to boys and girls who didn't have a traditional family Christmas.

Each year, a busload of Bawlf High School students travel to the children's home in Gwynne.

Tradition was followed again this year when the students made their annual trip and presented the nineteen children in the home with gifts.

For those students from Bawlf who make the trip, they have described it as a rewarding one because of the excitement generated by the gifts.

The annual trip to Gwynne earlier this month was the 20th successive year that the Christmas visit has been made.

May His message of love fill your hearts this Christmastide.
Many thanks for your kindness.

Film series set

A highly acclaimed film series will be coming to Camrose early in the new year.

Messiah Lutheran Church Women have finalized arrangements for the showing of the seven-part series which is entitled "Focus on the Family".

Featured in the films will be James C. Dobson who is an associate clinical professor of pediatrics in California and who is the author of numerous books on the family.

Some of the titles in the series include "The strong willed child", "Christian fathering", "Preparing for adolescence" and "What wives wished their husbands knew about women".

The first film in the series will be shown on Jan. 8th (Saturday) with the other six to follow on successive Sundays, beginning on Jan. 16th.

In all instances, the film will be shown in the basement of the Messiah Lutheran Church at 7:30 p.m.

No admission will be charged.

Ryley has concert

by Lesley Primeau

Students in grades one through six at the Ryley School performed for their parents, grandparents and friends last Wednesday when the elementary celebrated Christmas with their annual school concert.

The students filed into the gym in a candlelight ceremonie and ceremoniously circled the piano while their many friends and relatives were seated at small tables.

The students from the various classes then sang individual and group carols, some with a funnier intonation, some in the traditional vein.

Students came from grade one, taught by Liz Petersen, grade two with Cathy Weber, Jane Popper in grade three, Marge Tomaschavsky in grade four, Kris Rooney in grade five and Ethel Popper who serves as the elementary principal and grade six teacher.

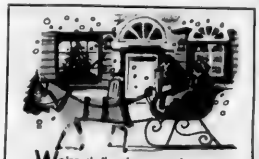
Pianist for the afternoon was Sherry Hornig.

The students had been preparing for their annual concert for the past few weeks and their work was well received.

Following the many vocal presentations audience members enjoyed coffee and cake while the youngsters were treated to Christmas oranges from Santa Claus who happened by and heard the carolling.

Not only were the students responsible for a fine performance during the afternoon, they were also responsible for the marvelous decorations that adorned the hall.

The annual concert was again one of the more popular events at the Ryley School.



We're delivering our sincere thanks to you and yours!

Cavalcade dates set

The dates for the 1983 annual Battle River Tourist Association Cavalcade have been set.

The cavalcade in the coming year will be held on the weekend of May 28 and 29 with a chairman to be named next month (January).

That decision was announced when the BRTA recently held its December meeting in Millet.

Blaine Alexander of Camrose, chairman of the projects committee, was given approval to order a supply of souvenir items which include beach towels, mugs and badges, all of which will carry the Lucky Ducky symbol.

It was agreed that BRTA President Lindsay Smith and Manager Sylvia Clemens would attend the annual conference of the Travel Industry Association of Canada which is to be held in Vancouver, in February.

Members were told that the provincial literature for the 1983 visitors' guide is at the printers and the over 85,000 guides and brochures should be off the press early next month (January).

Members were told that $14,142.91 had been received in government funds for the '82 operation on non-government information centers with the BRTA's share.

Some of the assistance received was for the Camrose Chamber of Commerce, Town of Bashaw and the Town of Sedgewick.

The next regular BRTA meeting will be held in Daysland on Jan. 20th.

Past Time Pastimes

by Mervyn Dimnik

December 4, 1846 - Delegates from Canada (Quebec and Ontario), New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia met in London, England to finalize the British North America Act and plans for Confederation. Charles Tupper, representing Nova Scotia, and S.L. Tilley, representing New Brunswick, had arrived in England in July, only to learn that the Canadian delegation, headed by John A. Macdonald, would not arrive until December. Meanwhile, opposition to Confederation continued. George Brown, politician and owner of The Toronto Globe, was attacking Macdonald as a drunkard. Joseph Howe, another anti-Confederation politician, was trying to convince the British Government that Macdonald had been drunk when he participated in the initial draft of the BNA Act. Despite the opposition, the London Conference lasted three weeks with only minor changes to the BNA Act.

December 6, 1917 - At 9:05 in the morning, the French freighter Mont Blanc, carrying a cargo of high explosives, blew up in Bedford Basin, Halifax's inner harbour. Earlier, the Mont Blanc had struck the Norwegian freighter Imo. The harbour front was reduced to rubble. Over 2,000 people were killed, 9,000 injured, and 10,000 left homeless. Fires raged for days after in Halifax and a tidal wave was felt by ships 200 miles away. Until the advent of nuclear weapons, the Halifax Explosion was the largest and worst explosion in the world.

December 6, 1921 - W.L. Mackenzie King led the Liberal party to an election victory over the Conservatives led by Arthur Meighen. The Conservatives not only lost their majority, but placed third behind the Progressive Party led by T.A. Crerar. In this election, Miss Agnes MacPhail became the first woman to be elected as a Member of Parliament in Canada.

December 8, 1869 - Timothy Eaton opened a small store in Toronto. Eaton's first store was located at the corner of Yonge Street and Queen Street. Presently, Eatons is one of Canada's largest chains of department stores.

Kingman district notes

On Dec. 13 visitors at the home of Joe and Rosie Kimack were Audrey and Roselle Thomas of Camrose, Scott Johnson of Edmonton, Stanley, Josephine and Michael Wenger and John and Emilie Kimack.

Debbie, Murray and Debie Johnson recently returned from a holiday in Wyoming. They travelled by plane.

Kingman Silver Club held their Christmas party on Dec. 8 at the hall. A pot luck supper was held, a short program with singing and musical selections was enjoyed and gifts were exchanged.

A good number of people were on hand at the Kingman Hall on Dec. 11 for Bill and Pat Westergard's sale. Ladies from the Kingman Recreation sold lunch. Bill, Pat, Bert and Allan Westergard are moving to Zimbabwai, Africa in early January, where Bill will be teaching carpentry.

Kingman school students and kindergarten held their Christmas concert at the hall on Dec. 14. The students entertained the crowd with songs, skits, dances and a disco light show. The singing was accompanied by Mr. Bob Wilson, who teaches music in the county schools. Dale Winder was emcee for the evening.

The Coykendall family and the Vanthoff family also sang. The program ended with an appearance by Santa Claus, and bags of treats handed to the children while the adults received oranges. A lunch was also served.

A long-time resident of Kingman, Mr. Steve Montowsch passed away Dec. 14 at the age of 74 years at St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose. Steven lived all his life in the Kingman area. He lived on a farm north of Kingman, then moved into the town of Kingman following his retirement. In the last couple of years he has lived in Camrose. He is survived by three brothers Art, Sam and Victor and two sisters, Annie and Carrie. Prayer services were held Friday evening at Burgar Funeral Home and funeral services were held Dec. 18 at the Ukrainian Catholic Church at Round Hill with burial in the church cemetery.

Toros back in 1st

Tofield Toros have moved back into first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros picked up two wins over the past week and slipped ahead of Round Hill into sole possession of top spot and in doing so, gave Bawlf its first loss of the season.

Toros will be at home to Bashaw on Wednesday night and will play in Camrose against New Norway on Sunday.

Dale Olson of the Toros is locked in a torrid race among the goalies as he and Wilson of Round Hill along with Stang of Bawlf are waging a real struggle for the best average.

Donnie Hendrikson and Laurie Losback are listed among the top seven point-getters in the individual scoring race although they are more than a dozen points off the pace of the leaders.

As a team, Toros are easily the penalty leaders with 307 minutes having been amassed, more than 100 minutes than the total of New Norway.

Toros scored the final three goals of the game and spoiled it for the home team when they beat Bashaw 8-5.

Hendrikson netted two markers for Tofield where other goals came from G. Olson, Gilbert, D. Rudon, Friesen, Schmidt and G. Borden.

Keech and Resnick each had a pair for the losers who other marker came from Trautman.

In a game in Camrose on Sunday, Tofield got the first three goals of the game and then held off a Bawlf rally for a 3-2 victory. The loss was the first of the season for Bawlf.

Tofield's goals were scored by Losback, Gilbert and Dennan with Scott getting both Bawlf markers.

Prairies fall to 8% in wheat sales

... says Palliser prexy

Canada's falling share of world grain markets was heavily underscored by George Fletcher, president of Palliser Wheat Growers, in a recent week-long tour the wheat belt of the United States. Mr. Fletcher addressed the annual conventions of Wheatgrowers in Kansas, Texas and New Mexico, and during his remarks said "Wheat growers in Canada and the United States have a great deal in common..."

He went on, "In his classic book, Merchants of Grain, author Dan Morgan turned the spotlight on how you grain people in the U.S. used your imagination and initiative to lead the world grain industry in its recent leap forward. You tripped your grain exports in the past decade. We haven't shared significantly in the growth of grain exports in recent years. And that, more than anything is what Palliser Wheat Growers is all about."

"To suggest there are problems in grain today is to state the obvious. Low prices, burdensome supplies, a world recession, political confrontations between world power blocks, turmoil in the Middle East, unrest in the developing world. And just about all of this is bringing not only political unrest, but more price uncertainty than most of us relish."

"All of us here would likely agree that our most urgent problem is wheat prices. They're too low, and there is no easy and acceptable way to change this quickly. I think we must all apply our best efforts to this price issue in the months ahead. We must seek ways to move it higher. And we must find ways to cut our production costs as well."

"We in Palliser now look back at the last few decades as a time of stagnation for our industry and of lost opportunity. Our prairie breadbasket was once the source of half the world's grain exports. Today it's 8%.

"World grain and oilseed exports have soared in the past 40 years from 30 million tonnes to 230 million tonnes. But it's you people in the U.S. who have dominate the world markets."

"We in Palliser spent years trying to identify just what our problem was and what has been holding us back. And we found that our chief impediment has been the failure of our government to provide the needed policies to allow us to move ahead."

"It is our perception that this has become the American Era in grain because among other reasons, our government policies freed you up to respond to market opportunities. Those policies provided an environment in which you farmers and agribusinessmen found the incentives and the support to enable you to do the job."

GAVE AWAY CONTROL

"The reason we Canadians have been facing what many of us have been calling a Crisis In Our Industry is simple. We producers gave away control of our industry to the politicians. We passed legislation that robbed individual producers of the right to make key decisions on their grain farms. We placed decision-making in the hands of politicians and bureaucrats and vested interest grain companies. In effect, we abandoned the market economy."

Fletcher referred to the transportation problem that has pre-occupied prairie politicians in recent months. And on a positive note he said, "I can tell you that the politics of change are very much at work in Canada today. It is like that legislation will be passed in the weeks ahead that will set the stage for the development of a much more efficient transportation system in the prairies."

PRODUCERS IN DRIVER'S SEAT

"The key to a sound wheat position to shape the industry and to provide leadership to it, as you have done. This is crucially important. And its timely. Because at present, our producers are being badly victimized by vested interests in our grain industry."

"We at Palliser are saying, there's no mystery about how to sell grain. The United States showed the way in the past decade. You built strong producer commodity groups, lobbied politicians for sound grain policy, sent producer missions to developing countries to learn first hand of their needs. You developed checkoff programs, raised the funds to finance 12 offices around the world. And your tripled your grain exports in the 1970's.

He concluded "I would underline that this idea of the grain industry being in the hands of producers must prevail."

Remembering friends, old and new, with warmth and appreciation and hoping the horn of plenty brings its bounty to your door!

To all our customers and friends
a MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR

Do you hear the cheerful greetings,
"Merry Christmas" "Same to you"?
Makes you happy to just hear them,
Makes you gay, and younger too.

There's joyful undercurrent
Soft and warm as summer breeze,
Sweeping out to friend and stranger,
Like the glow on Christmas trees.

What then brings this starry radiance,
Felt throughout all Christendom?
How is it, our world turns mellow
With a busy, kindly hum?

Is it Christmas trees and candles,
Is it Santa and the treats,
Shopping, gifts and special baking,
Spicy smells, good things to eat?

Is it not this kindly feeling
Comes from "Goodwill to all men",
Like an Echo from the Angels,
Happy people, greetings send?

Let us now join, Host of Angels,
Praise our God and glory give,
For the wondrous gift from heaven,
Now and evermore shall live

Peace on Earth

Lord make me an instrument of Thy Peace:
where there is hatred, let me sow love,
where there is injury, pardon,
where there is doubt, faith,
where there is despair, hope,
where there is darkness, light,
where there is sadness, joy.
Oh Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console, to be understood as to understand,
to be loved as to love,
for it is in giving that we receive,
it is in pardoning that we are pardoned and it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life.

Minister of Agriculture's Christmas Message

LeRoy Fjordbotten

There aren't too many occasions during the year when we can relax a little and forget the business of the day. In fact, there is only one such time that I know of and that's the Christmas season.

Whether you're a farmer, student, housewife, laborer — in fact it makes no difference what you do — Christmas and New Year's are a time to enjoy life, to reflect on what has passed and what is to come. It's a time to review things calmly and rationally, and to look at the mistakes we've made and the opportunities in front of us, as well as what we can do to make the most of the 365 days that lie ahead.

In many ways agriculture is no different than any other aspect of our economy. It has troubles. It has opportunities. The bottom line is ... we will survive. I can think of no better reason than that to start each day or each year with optimism because I know we are an industry that has the will to meet challenges, to be productive ... to survive!

To all those in agriculture, and we're all involved as producers or consumers, I extend best wishes for a very happy and blessed holiday season and a prosperous and productive New Year.

Fund needs money

The annual Christmas Seal fund-raising drive is in dire need of help.

The campaign, conducted by the Alberta Lung Association, is well below its objective with slightly more than a month to go.

This season's objective for the entire province is $925,000 and the most recent figures show that only fifty-four per cent, or $463,823 had been collected.

Twenty-two centers are involved in the fund-raising effort which is scheduled to be completed by the end of January.

Unlike former years, this year's contributions are mailed directly to Edmonton.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution should forward it to the Alberta Lung Association, 10818-124 Street, Edmonton, T5M 2X4.

Concert is a hit

by Lesley Primeau

Thursday afternoon at the Tofield School found many of the school's students involved in their annual Christmas program that featured the talents of the students in grades four, five and six.

Many relatives and friends gathered in the gymnasium for the annual event that lived up to its expectation of delightful entertainment.

Mrs. Ladd conducted the first number, Canada Is, that featured the vocal performances of most of the students.

Students from Mrs. Sinclair's class, Mr. Grahn's class, Miss Lundgard's class, Mr. Sparreboom's class, Mr. Hastings class, Mr. Foster's class and Mrs. Findlay's class performed a number of traditional Christmas Carols as well as a number of sketches.

The Show's theme revolved around the true meaning of Christmas and how it might affect others in their every day living pattern. The students of the Tofield School were accompanied on the piano by Sandra Nickel and Cheryl Wittenberg while the lights were controlled by Nico Van Der Kley.

The Tofield School, which has put on excellent performances in the past, did so again with their 1982 Christmas Concert.

The fine performances and varying changes of pace kept the audience delighted and entertained for the afternoon.

Ministik district news

The annual games afternoon held at the Crafts Centre on Dec. 11th was once again a most enjoyable one for all in attendance.

Bingo was played first, with Oliveine Sears and Jean Ferguson in charge with their assistants, Bonnie Ferguson and Crystal Dekinder.

Some whist was played with Margaret Paterson and Jean Dunham taking care of this.

The disking lane in the basement was also busy with Frank Dunham and Dolly Reddick keeping things going there.

Following the games, a potluck supper was enjoyed by all, Lillian Berrecloth, Edna Ferguson and Claire MacLean taking care of this.

The dishes were gathered and washed and put away by Carol, Woody, Darren and Crystal Dickenlnder and Warren Muir.

A tray of homemade candy made and donated by Lillian Berrecloth for a door prize, was won by Ralph Leach.

A whist drive was announced to take place on January 7th.

On the 10th of December, I had the privilege of attending the local school concert in the Community Hall.

One operetta was portrayed by the Grade 1, 2 and 3's.

The other was by the Grade 4 and 5's. These concerts bring back fond memories of when my own children participated in the annual event, and even away back to when I, myself, did.

The Hall was packed with parents, relatives and friends.

A great deal of credit goes to teachers of Ministik School and to the children taking part.

The Davenport family gathered on Dec. 12th to celebrate Joe's birthday.

Phyllis and Gerry Theberge and Lorraine Davenport of Edmonton were there, as well as Bill Davenport, Joe's father, of Tofield.

Dec. 17th was the last day of School for 1982. Pupils, teachers and bus drivers will enjoy a two-week vacation.

Satellites climb

Tofield Satellites have moved into a share of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Satellites are tied with Lamont for the league lead, but the Tofield team has a game in hand on Lamont.

Only two points in back of the leaders is Killam who has a one-point edge over Mundare while Ryley is fifth, three points behind Mundare.

Trailing the pack are Holden with two wins while Viking is now winless in eleven starts.

Three games were played on Tuesday night and another three will be played this coming Tuesday and results from all contests will be duly reported in the next edition of The Mercury.

Tuesday's games will see Ryley at home to Mundare in Tofield, Holden is in Lamont and Tofield plays in Viking.

On Jan. 4th, Satellites will host Lamont while Ryley travels to Killam and Holden will be in Viking.

Tofield moved into a share of top spot with a 9-6 decision over Ryley while Mundare surprised Lamont 6-1 and Killam whipped Viking 10-3.

primeau's play pen

by Lesley Primeau

Can you believe it? I know I can't and it's my life...I have finally made it through this year with its measure of joy...limited as that was...and sorrow.. as excessive as that was. .and what's more. judging by a quick glance in the mirror...quick is about all I can tolerate I have come through in relatively fine form (I allow myself this kind of indulgence)

It broke my heart when Samantha, my ever faithful Volvo, and I parted company but that shiney red bus did a lot for the mending...and we survived the fire ..almost...and the break and entries...almost...and the floods...almost. .and the assorted cute tricks the years threw at me just to see if I'd notice and here I be...just as bright eyed and bushy tailed as ever. and to what do I owe this wonder of wonders...this amazing amount of good luck...I use that term loosely...heaven knows if it wasn't for the bad luck this year, I wouldn't have had any luck at all...well as I look over the year I can almost figure out where the smiles came from...are you ready...this is my Christmas wish...

There was Ruth Ferguson...ah yes, that marvellous lady from the hills...now she made me smile once...rose to my aid once, twice or maybe more...and above all...she can laugh at the dumbest jokes...about diamonds yet...

Of course there was that wonderful, wacky lady at the county office. with Barb for a first name...now there's a joy to behold...always friendly, smiling and cheerful ..disgusting don't you agree...and that gorgeous son of hers...why I ask you, is he only 18???? Is that fair??? Why if it wasn't for Barb, I wouldn't have nearly the fun falling asleep in the council chambers...Merry Christmas to our councillors.. meek and not so meek...big and not so big village, town and county.. when you attend as many meetings as I do...you begin to forget where you are...naturally that just puts me to sleep...

Merry Christmas to Vic and Babe ..two of the nicest people in Tofield.. to that energetic redhead in Holden Schweitzer...with a name like that you'd just about have to be effervescent...the next sparkling water will be named after this one...to the outlaw in-laws.. Keitha, Martha and Mr. Bob ..the friendly country folks. to Mr. Bert and the charming Miss Dorothy who, despite all those nasty rumours you heard in Ryley are not starting a family...to that lady in Ryley who puts us all to shame with her energy, could there be any other...Harriett Ruddy...who manages to be sooo busy she never makes cookies...

Merry Christmas to those boys in blue or brown or the occasional red.. otherwise known as the mounted types...these poor creatures were led astray at such a tender age...to all those many residents who supported the burn-out victims...to those fighting to save the arts centre and those trying to make the community work better. Merry Christmas to the Tofield Lammertsons for the fun and frolic in '82...to my very favourite Beth's aunt Sue who is just about as special as one could be...to that crazy Brown family who are in just about everything all the time. Without "meaner than" and his band of renegades life in Tofield would be fairly quiet...too bad...remember when he lost his borrowed car in Vermilion??? Special wishes for Yvonne who bailed me out on more occasions that I care to count...to Doris Brown for her cheery words and never failing smile...to Eve Moore for giggles. .to that lovely Mrs. A. up at the lodge who hangs around everywhere...to Beth and the babies and that crazed man she lives with...for those wonderful perverse conversations that have no meaning but create mounds of laughter ...

Merry Christmas to walk a chicken, break a light Brennan for the many, many nights of tea, silly conversation and girlish giggles...also to that [illegible] with and the midget sidekick...best wishes to all those people I am sure to forget in this column that I am almost awake to write for...

Warmest wishes to the lady who has seen me through thick and thin, ups and downs and highs and lows...Hilda, who also makes the good days more fun and the bad days more bearable.. and to her hubby for being such a nice man...Merry Christmas to you both.

But most of all and best of all Merry Christmas to you...cause without you this job would be just that...a job...but with you it's fun and frolic and laughter and giggles all rolled [illegible] one.. I wish for you a warm Christmas shared with your loved ones..

And last but not least...a special Merry Christmas to the guy who thought turkey was better at Christmas than fish he deserves sainthood...see you in the funny papers for this and more tune in for the six o'clock early edition complete with blacked out photos...have yourself a merry little Christmas and keep happy...flappy and mad...

Does she ever quit ..I hope not...Merry Christmas! Happy New Year and in the immortal words of ziggy - this year - take a flight into fantasy and be good to yourself.

Premier's message

As the Christmas season approaches, we recognise that it is a difficult time this year for many Canadians due to our current economic downturn.

However, most in Alberta are more fortunate than those in other parts of Canada and we should therefore be thankful for our many blessings.

To my wife Jeanne and me, Christmas is a time when our family [illegible]. We spend the time with family and friends.

It is also a time of year when people everywhere put forth extra effort to further peace and understanding

We in Canada are very fortunate, for we enjoy freedoms that [illegible] of the world do [illegible].

Let us not forget those who suffer poverty, hunger, repression and persecution and pray that they will [illegible] day enjoy the same quality of life that [illegible] for granted.

Ryley district news

by Lena Reil

The Ryley High School students went by bus last Friday to Rabbit Hill to ski and the Junior High pupils went to Edmonton and had a day of roller skating.

Dennis and Louida Reil of Newbrook, formerly of Tofield, were happy their son Kenny did not have any serious bruises in the Newbrook bus accident.

Monday evening turned out to be nice for the Lion's turkey bingo held in the Community Hall. Starting on Jan. 10, there will be weekly cash bingos.

Recently visitors with the E. Reils in Ryley were Dana Bowden and daughter Kristina of Camrose.

Clarence Johnson's funeral was held Saturday afternoon in the Ryley Lutheran Church and burial was in the Ryley Cemetery. He leaves his wife Martha and a son, Robert.

Ella Weigum has been on a holiday in B.C. to visit her daughter and family.

Mary McKay is on holiday to Victoria to visit her parents.

Ruby and Pete Hunka of Tofield were guests with brother, Stan and Ida on Saturday.

The Ryley Seniors Centre held their pot-luck supper last Wednesday evening which was enjoyed by all. Winner of the quilt was Mrs. Fred Romaniuk.

Lawrence and Anne Anderson and family, Henry and Laura Podrużny and children of Camrose and Lorne and Lucie Anderson and boys of Tofield were visitors with their folks, the Elmer Andersons on Sunday.

Last week, Fred and Edna Johnson of Tofield and Walter and Mildred Stenerud were visitors.

Kathleen Anderson was the lucky winner of a T.V. at Alec Newfield's store. Lucy Wong picked the ticket.

Gentlemen

Could two young men ever look so angelic? Christmas does bring out the best. Singing in the Sears concert, these two young men look splendid and sounded equally as good.

Lord make me an instrument of Thy peace

where there is hatred let me sow love
where there is injury pardon
where there is doubt faith
where there is despair hope
where there is darkness light and where there is sadness joy

O Divine Master
grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console
to be understood, as to understand
to be loved as to love

for it is in giving that we receive it is in pardoning that we are pardoned

and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life

Dear Tofield Friends,

I think of Tofield every day. It is such a wonderful progressive town. There are good schools and churches of various denominations - all working in the best interests of the town. Tofield has so many organizations suited to all age groups. Now there is a new library and then there are plans for a new hospital in the future.

Before proceeding any further, I must extend my thanks to all those who were so helpful at the time of my dear [illegible]. So many dear people were there. My heart was thrilled to see so many old time friends again. God bless you all.

I still enjoy reading the Tofield Mercury. It keeps me in touch with the various groups and districts. I must close wishing all of you good health and success and happiness in your daily lives. May 1983 be good to you.

Sincerely,
[illegible]

As loyal friends and customers, you've been a real inspiration to us throughout the year! Thanks!

Mr and Mrs. Allan Warwa of Edmonton spent a few days over the weekend at Mrs. Chomic Sr.'s home also visiting her at the Senior Citizens Lodge and with Alvin and Carol Chomic and family.

Mrs. Harriet Giebelhaus received word last Wednesday morning that her brother, Alfred Fjellstrom, who had been a hospital patient for several weeks and who seemed to be making a recovery from his injuries after his car accident, has passed away suddenly. Harriet and Marvin left to attend the funeral in B.C.

Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking were Saturday morning callers with his parents, Mr and Mrs. George Taylor, on their way to Edmonton, Robert's mother also going along with them, meeting with his brother, Brian Taylor and daughter, Barbara.

Ethel Brown was a Friday afternoon visitor with Mrs. Beth Campbell in Tofield Hospital.

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular meeting on Dec. 14th with H.R.L. Mary Semotuik in the chair. Before opening the session, a buffet supper was held with hostesses being Ladies Helen Haas and Emily Ogonoski. After supper, Lodge was opened, regular business and correspondence being dealt with. An invitation to visit Viking Lodge on Jan. 4th was received and about two car-loads of ladies hoped to attend. A report of the U.F.A. board dinner was given by P.H.R.L. Ethel Fleming; Lady Anne Milimaka reported on the Christmas Chamber of Commerce banquet; and H.R.L. Semotuik gave a progress report of the supper catered to the Elks Curling bonspiel supper and a progress report of the Christmas banquet for the Wellsite Drilling Co. was given by H.R.L. Semotuik. Lady Hurum reporting on the visit by members, Dec. 8th, to the Senior Citizens Lodge.

A committee to convene the January Chamber of Commerce supper was appointed. The ladies decided to hold their usual [illegible] on Jan. 22nd. H.R.L. Semotuik reported on the school playground meeting. This project entails a great deal of work by volunteers and the money raised would be met by a grant, but no committee was formed. The usual memorial service was held in remembrance of departed sisters.

Marjorie and Ken Campbell of Leduc were Saturday afternoon visitors with her mother, [illegible] Campbell in Tofield Hospital, with Mrs. Campbell coming out of hospital and home for a few hours then going over to Leduc with Marjorie and Ken to stay there for a few days to recuperate.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson are expecting their son, Bob and family of Calgary, to spend the Christmas holiday with them. All will attend a family dinner Christmas Day at the home of Vivian and Lyle Andrusky's and family.

Melvin Fjellstrom and Mrs. Ethel Brekstad were Sunday visitors at the Nursing Home when the Christmas party was held for residents and family.

Helen and Jim Zwierschke [illegible] over to Galahad on Monday attending the funeral of the daughter of a cousin of Helen's, who had been killed in a car accident.

Ralph Gorrie of Vegreville was a caller on Monday with his mother, Mrs. Kate Nichols, taking her up to Edmonton to visit with her husband Roy, in the University Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Semotuik are entertaining their families during the Christmas season.

To the staff of the Mercury and at Camrose, also friends around the district, I wish you this for the holiday season,

May there come to you at this Holy Season – An abundance of the precious things of Life - Health - Happiness and enduring Friendships and for the New Year "God Bless Thy Year - Thy coming in, Thy going out, Thy Rest, The Travelling about, The rough, The smooth, The Bright, The dear - "God Bless Thy Year." Hastings Lake and district

By Lois Feene

Hastings Lake was represented on both the teams when Tofield Mite B played the Tofield Ladies' Club at hockey on Sunday and fought to a 2-2 tie.

On Sunday evening a lively crowd at the Christmas Concert helped to keep the festive ball rolling and the carols ringing out; the playschool children contributed their song, and Santa Claus miraculously appeared with candy cane rewards.

Three movies were shown and were followed by supper and socializing, while the children enjoyed their own brand of neighbourly visiting.

The Pleasure Horse Association will be holding a cutter drive at the Telfords' place, on Monday, Dec. 27, and will be meeting there at 12:00 noon.

The next bingo will be at the hall on Monday, Jan. 10.

4-H has meeting

By Lori Brown

Last Sunday afternoon members of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club met at the Peter Brown farm for a Christmas party and meeting.

After an afternoon of ice skating, a business meeting was held.

Brenda Eleniak led the 4-H [illegible].

Cathy Brown, gave the financial report and reported the 4-H turkey bingo was a success.

Paul Laarhuis gave a talk on the exchange trip that he and Doug Brown had to B.C., [illegible].

Daniel Brown and Joe Brown reported on their stay at Club Week.

Paul Laarhuis gave a report on the county council meeting - a variety night will be held in Holden again this year.

Cathy Brown talked to the members on public speaking and each member practiced giving an impromptu speech.

Next meeting will be Jan. 12 in the Arts and Crafts room of the Arena.

In the true holiday tradition, we'd like to express our deepest gratitude to all our loyal patrons and valued friends.

HOW SMALL BUSINESS CAN BUCK THE TREND THIS WINTER

If you operate an Alberta business with gross annual sales of up to $5 million, you could be eligible to buck the trend this winter and hire extra employees under P.E.P. — the Priority Employment Program.

P.E.P. makes it possible for eligible small businesses to recruit up to 3 new employees and pays 50% of their wages up to a maximum of $2.50 per hour.

New employees must be Alberta residents, at least 16 years of age, and legally entitled to work in Canada.

The employees to be hired are not to have worked for the company as of December 1 1982.

Proposals for maintaining existing employees may be considered on a case by case basis.

Jobs should offer full-time employment for a minimum of 3 months and should provide skills that assist employees in finding permanent employment.

If you qualify, P.E.P. can help you hire the people you need

Some employers may also qualify for assistance to retain staff through on-the-job training.

P.E.P. funding starts January 3 1983 and ends April 30 1983.

Applications will be accepted until January 17 1983. Obtain brochures and application forms from regional offices of Alberta Manpower or Tourism and Small Business. Application forms and brochures will be available after December 15 1982.

Game is a draw

Despite the apparent difference in sizes and sexes, the Tofield Powder Puffs hung on to a two all tie with the Mites B to show that they are serious about playing some good hockey in Tofield.

The ladies gave the younger gentlemen a run for their money and the action was as fast as the skating. Although the girls came out fast and furious in the first two periods, by the time the third started the team was beginning to tire.

The Tofield Powder Puffs are presently enjoying some excellent hockey and are most anxious to encourage new members. The club hopes to entice another all girl team to the area and have some action packed challenges.

Many people are responsible for the good showing of the Powder Puff team including Ardith Wiens, Dave Berrecloth, Dave Jones Jr., Bert Clark, Richard Heitman and the coaches. The ladies were surprised when shortly after their first game ended, Santa skated out onto the ice with treats for the team and some fans.

(IDRC) — Essence of ox, or eau de buffalo may be the sweet smells of success in the struggle to control [illegible] they spread in Africa.

The tsetse carries trypanosomiasis, or African sleeping sickness, that affects both humans and their domestic animals. The flies' habitat covers large areas of the continent effectively blocking the development of badly needed agricultural resources.

Tsetse flies rely on sight and smell to find animals for their blood meals. Visual decoys have proven effective traps, but could be be much more so if they were also baited with the smells of real host animals. Researchers at the Zimbabwe Department of Veterinary Services are attempting to identify and isolate the attractive chemicals in the odour of tsetse [illegible]

Tsetse control programs will be greatly advanced if the work leads to an attractant that can be synthesized and cheaply manufactured for use in traps.

Board keeps busy

by Anna Shavchook

1982 has been an extremely busy year for the Holden Recreation Board.

The new year began with a new slate of officers who were Bram van der Torre (chairman), Sean McKibbon (vice-chairman) and Margaret Christensen (secretary).

Sean McKibbon and Anna Shavchook organized a youth group who cleaned and painted [illegible]

Youths involved in the project included Corinna Keller, Kevin Sharpe, Kelly Stacy and Sean McKibbon, Christine Michluch and Judy Grinde.

Other improvements to the booth were made by Stella Komarnisky, Bram van der Torre and Fred Steinwand.

Four picnic tables were added to the Sports Grounds and a new set of bleachers was [illegible]

The first phase of a landscaping program was done by Ernest Rudy and the ticket booth was painted by Laura MacGregor and Marty West.

Three new members will join the board next year (1983) and they include Garth Fleming, Karen Danezik and Irvin Berkholtz.

Present plans call for 1983 to be another busy year.

Among the projects being scheduled are completion of the concession booth; upgrading of the wading pool; fencing all recreation grounds; second phase of the landscaping program; a children's ball diamond; fencing of the tennis court at the school; and a sign to identify [illegible] grounds.

Officials of the board have indicated that they are always open to suggestions and comments from the community-at-large and will welcome anyone who wishes to attend any board meetings and in addition, will always welcome any volunteers who wish to assist in any way.

Hearing planned

An important public meeting has been scheduled for Camrose next month (January).

Recently, it was announced that boundaries for federal ridings are being proposed for change.

One of the boundaries that could undergo a fairly major change is Crowfoot, presently served by MP Arnold Malone.

A public hearing in regards to this proposed boundary change in the Crowfoot Constituency will be held in the Crystal Springs Motor Hotel on Jan. 20, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone may attend this hearing and will be heard if they wish to express any viewpoints on the subject.

However, if they wish to speak at the hearing, the Federal Boundaries Commission would like to know in advance.

Written submissions may be mailed to the commission prior to the hearing.

Submissions may be sent to [illegible] Commission for Alberta, #470, 220-4th Ave. SE, Calgary, T2G 4X3 and all submissions should be forwarded before the end of this month ([illegible]).

Information about the public hearing may be obtained by calling Mr. Wark in Edmonton at 427-1036 or 427-7191.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

A friend of mine named Paul received a new automobile from his brother as a Christmas present. When Paul came out of his office on Christmas eve, a street urchin was walking around the shiny new car, admiring it. "Is this your car, Mister?" he asked.

Paul nodded. "My brother gave it to me for Christmas." The boy was astounded. "You mean your brother gave it to you and it didn't cost you nothing? Boy I wish..." He hesitated.

And Paul knew what he was going to wish. He was going to wish he had a brother like that. But what the lad said jarred Paul all the way down to his boots.

"I wish", the boy went on, "that I could be a brother like that!"

Paul looked at the boy in astonishment, then impulsively he added, "Would you like to ride in my automobile?"

After a short ride, the urchin turned and with his eyes aglow, said "Mister, would you mind driving in front of my house?"

Paul smiled a little. He thought he knew what the lad wanted. He wanted to show his neighbors that he could ride home in a big automobile. But Paul was wrong again.

"Will you stop where those two steps are?" the boy asked.

He ran up the steps. Then in a little while Paul heard him coming back, but he was not coming fast. He was carrying his little polio-crippled brother. He sat him down on the bottom step, then sort of squeezed up against him and pointed to the car.

"There she is, Buddy, just like I told you upstairs. His brother gave it to him for Christmas and it didn't cost him a cent. And some day I'm gonna give you one just like it...then you can see for yourself all the pretty things in the Christmas windows that I've been trying to tell you about."

Paul got out and lifted the little lad to the front seat of his car. The shining-eyed older brother climbed in beside him and the three of them began a memorable holiday ride

That Christmas Eve Paul learned what Jesus meant when he said: "It is more blessed to give..."

From all of us at the Ryley District Office, have a very Merry Christmas and a Joyful and Prosperous New Year!

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Amston

Basil Sych, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sych, was selected from this region to go to the Terry Fox Canadian Youth Center in Ottawa. He departed for Ottawa on Nov 28 and returned home on Dec. 6. The aim of the center is to answer the needs of young Canadians from all parts of our country. Basil was one of 120 students from as far as Vancouver to Prince Edward Island who attended the week-long seminar. One of their mentors at the center was Terry Fox's former basketball coach. Lectures for the week were based on "Economy". The students were kept active each day from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Highlights included a tour of the Parliament Buildings, where they sat in on a debate in the House of Commons, visiting the Senate, Bank of Canada and Supreme Court and touring Ottawa. On one occasion they saw Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau on the street.

Each student received a Terry Fox record which was specially composed and is available only to those attending the Terry Fox Center. They also received a Terry Fox stamp from the Governor General and a copy of Canada's Charter of Rights.

Basil states that it was a very worthwhile experience and he was fortunate to be selected to attend. Donations towards the cost of his trip were received from Alfred Arnston, teaching staff of Hay Lakes School and the Junior and Senior High Students Union.

Preparation for the annual New Year's Eve dance are being made with the Hay Lakes Curling Club in charge of arrangements. Remaining tickets are avauable at the curling rink and Big M Foods.

The proceeds of the recent supper and dance sponsored by the Hay Lakes and District Lions Club totalled $821. These funds have been made available to the local skating rink for the operation and improvement of skating facilities.

Nick Willisko left on an air-flight to Vancouver last week. He will visit with seven of his brothers and sisters who reside at the West Coast and will deliver Hay Lakes history books to them.

Stan Wilson was recently transferred from an Edmonton hospital to St. Mary's in Camrose. He has shown great improvement and it is hoped that he will be able to return to his home in the near future and recuperate there.

Ted and Betty Hansen, Tillie and Aalang Hansen and Jennie Nordin have returned from a weeks visit to Minneapolis, Minnesota. They had gone to Minneapolis to visit their sister Hilda Hansen and help celebrate her birthday.

The Sunday School Christmas program of Our Saviour Church will be held Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. Our Saviour L.C.W. will conduct a candlelight service on Christmas Eve at 8 p.m.

On Dec. 25 a service with communion will be held at 10 a.m. with Pastor Schoepp officiating.

Wilhelmina Lutheran Church will hold a candlelight service with communion at 10 p.m. on Dec. 24 with Pastor Wenzel officiating.

The Sunday School Christmas program of St. Joseph Lutheran Church will be held on Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

German services with communion will be held at Our Saviour Church on Dec. 26 at 10:30 a.m.

Concert is held

Holden Theatre was filled to capacity last Thursday when it was the scene of the Elementary Christmas Concert.

Students and teachers from Kindergarten through Grade 6 have been busily preparing for [illegible].

Lana Beida, a Grade 6 student, acted as mistress of ceremonies. Following the singing of O' Canada, Mrs. Morello's Kindergarten class performed a finger-play number and sang.

Mr. Kissel's Grade Three class acted out a skit and [illegible].

Mrs. Hannah's Grade One's [illegible].

The Grade Four class, accompanied by Miss Weller, sang carols and acted out the Nativity Scene.

Next, Mrs. Holt's Grade 2 class, in their bird costumes and beaks, performed the popular "Bird Dance". Accompanied by Mrs. Reil at the piano, they also sang.

The Grade Five's, under the direction of Miss Wilkie, explained the many traditions of the Christmas season, in a [illegible].

Miss Klontz's Adaptation Class portrayed four Christmas [illegible]. Grade Two students dressed in choir gowns and accompanied by Mrs. Reil, sang.

The last number on the program was a play by Mr. Tomashavsky's Grade 6 class. "All The Time In The World" portrayed a young man's [illegible] and the consequences the inventor faced when the machine soared ahead in time to the [illegible].

Vocalists

These young vocalists at the Ryley School put on a fine performance during their annual concert last week. Many carols were sung by the elementary students.

Women's Aglow plans a meeting

by Lesley Primeau

The Women's Aglow Fellowship will be holding its first introductory meeting this Monday at the Tofield Legion commencing at 7:00 p.m.

The Fellowship is open to all women of all churches and will provide an opportunity for the women to share in the worship of God.

The group plans to meet the second Monday of every month and will engage in singing, praise and worship. A guest speaker is planned for each meeting with some from the area.

A special invitation is being extended to all pastors and their wives for the introductory meeting and husbands of women planning to attend are also cordially welcome.

As outlined in a book regarding the fellowship the purpose is to 'worship, praise and glorify God in all aspects of one's life; to win souls for Christ, especially those not already reached by community used methods and share with believers everywhere the full gospel unity among Christian believers, foster fellowship among women, encourage each women to be a member of and participate in the activities of the local church and help women recognize their role and relationship according to the scriptures.'

For those ladies wishing more information, two numbers have been provided, 662-2265 and 663-3823.

The fellowship is for all women in the area and not confined to one community.

Toros still first

Tofield Toros got 1983 started on the right foot by keeping their grip on first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros eked out a narrow 4-3 decision over New Norway in Camrose on Sunday night to stay in the league lead.

Tofield will be at home to Round Hill on Friday night and will travel to Camrose on Sunday for a game with Kingman.

A number of team members will be returning to Camrose on Jan. 16th for the league's annual all star contest which will see the defending champ-ions from Bawil going against an all star line-up composed of players from all other teams in the league.

The all stars should be named next week.

Although the league has an exciting pennant race going, Kingman and New Norway aren't (at present) in contention and both teams are experiencing financial difficulties and player shortages.

Both teams have warned league officials they might be forced to withdraw.

Dale Olson of the Toros has moved into second place in the goaltenders' race while Laurie Lashack is seventh in the individual scoring race.

As a team, Tofield has amassed 361 penalty minutes, exactly 100 more than New Norway and Gary Borden of the Toros is the individual leader in that department.

Tofield was supposed to have hosted Bashaw last week but, the game had to be postponed to a later date.

In the game with New Norway, Toros trailed 3-1 after the opening period and then netted three unanswered goals in the final two periods for their margin of victory.

Donnelly paced the Tofield attack with two goals while singles came from G. Borden and Miskew.

Arts Centre may close

by Lesley Primeau

Without a last minute reprieve by County Council, the Beaver Regional Arts Centre in Holden faces certain demise within the month.

The center's future has been questionable for the past couple of years despite continued efforts by a county group to save the facility.

Village of Holden Council has sent a letter to the County Council informing them that without financial support from the county, all utilities for the centre will be cut on Jan. 17.

Council for the County of Beaver is expected to discuss the issue at the upcoming meeting.

Council for the County had requested a financial statement from the Village to determine the cost incurred through continued operation.

The Regional Arts Society has held a number of productions in an effort to show the need for such a facility.

In 1980, the Centre took in approximately $27,000 from the communities, the county and the provincial government through grant dollars. The total expense incurred that year was almost $14,000, part of that to pay for a theatre manager.

During the ensuing season, a number of productions were presented in an effort to raise the level of consciousness and awareness with regards to the many applications for use of the theatre.

It was the intent of the board of governors to show the public that the centre was a viable space for many and varied functions as well as a home for travelling productions.

In the following year, 1981, the total revenue was $7,914.44 while the total expenses amounted to $17,938.66.

The difference was made up by a bank balance of over

Satellites on top

Tofield Satellites have vaulted into sole possession of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Since the last edition of The Mercury, Satellites picked up two victories and moved into the league lead.

Satellites have a slim two-point lead over Lamont who is currently leading Mundare by only one point.

Killam has dropped to fourth place while Ryley is only two points away from the final playoff berth.

Holden is in sixth place while Viking's winless streak has now been extended to twelve straight games.

In Saturday's only match-up involving local teams, Ryley will pay a visit to Holden.

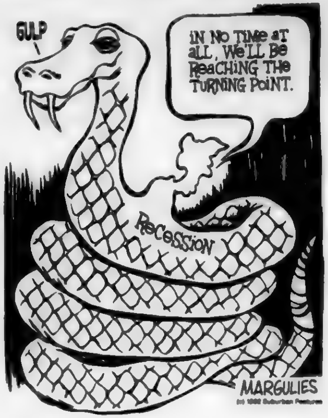
Tuesday's contests will see Ryley at home to Viking in Tofield while Holden travels to Killam and the Satellites play in Mundare.

Tofield moved into the lead after they dwalled Killam 8-4 and whipped Viking by a 13-3 count.

Lamont retained possession of second place when they trounced Holden 13-3.

Mundare moved into contention for the lead by whipping Holden 17-3 and edging out a 7-6 decision over Ryley.

In the only other zone that was played, Ryley stunned Lamont's first-place hopes by racking up a 10-6 decision in a free-wheeling contest.



No joke

Impaired driving has been treated as a joke for too long, declared a provincial court judge in Toronto recently.

The accused "has contempt for the court, the administration of justice and his fellow citizens. Otherwise he wouldn't be here," said the judge as he jailed a 39-year-old man for nineteen and a half months.

The accused was driving under a suspended license on Decmber 1 when he was arrested because his car was weaving along a downtown street, into the path of oncoming traffic, and narrowly missing a pedestrian as it climbed the [illegible].

In addition to incarcerating the man more than a year and a half, the judge suspended his license for the maxumum three years, and placed him on probation for two years following his release from jail.

We hope the judge's opinion, and action, will be circulated to every other judge in every province. He's right: impairment HAS been treated as a joke for too long. It's time for the joke to be stopped. It's time for the courts to help protect the ordinary citizen One way is to make the game not worth the candle. To make the penalty much more severe than it has been. To jail the driver. To impound his vehicle, instead of just impounding his license

Many impaired drivers are truly remorseful, though it can be said their victims are too. But the driver who repeats his offence while under suspension, is, as the judge said, contemptuous.

We'll only stop it when society views him not as heroic but as contemptible.

Pitfall in Pitfield?

Has Prime Minister Trudeau gone one more step too far in appointing his long-term Clerk of the Privy Council Michael Pitfield to the Senate? At the age of 45? With a senator's salary on top of an already unreasonably generous pension from the Canadian people for something like a dozen years work 'on their behalf', the two bring his annual pay close to $200,000.

Most Canadians see it as the touch of ultra cynicism, notwithstanding the fact they recognize Mr. Pitfield's exceptional capabilities. It seems obvious Mr. Trudeau accepted his resignation to absolve him of any blame in the way either the government or the economy has developed, then found a well-paid sinecure for him . . . good for the next thirty years of his life. Who else can look that far down the road?

Tragically, the action was almost as cynical as the appointment for Alberta of Calgary's Earl Hastings to the Senate, at about the same age, on the premise that Mr. Hastings had done much to advance Liberal candidates in Alberta . . . while there still were some. Apart from the cynical and opportunistic attitude behind the two appointments, there's just the chance Mr. Pitfield may be able to do something effective with his. He has shown great skill in orchestrating, not to say manipulating, the various parts of Mr. Trudeau's government . . . perhaps he may have some effect now in making the Senate more effective.

If he can help mould the future course of the Senate so as to make it more meaningful, more relevant in the Government of Canada, he will have earned our gratitude for generations. If it simply becomes a more disciplined tool of the Prime Minister, he will merit our disdain and our scorn.

Those indexed pensions

From an article by Toronto actuary, and former MP, Paul McCrossan, in The Gazette, September 23, 1981: "Under pension changes about to become law, any member who has served in parliament for a decade will be ble to retire — at the end of this Parliament — on a pension of $20,000 a year, payable as soon as he leaves office.

"What's more, this pension will be fully indexed, rising annually in lockstep with the inflation rate This pension plan is much more lucrative than any allowed in the private sector."

Mr. McCrossan points out that the law puts very clear limits upon how much private individuals, or private companies arranging plans for their employees, can put aside for their pensions.

Not only does the new MPs' and Senators' pension plan exceed all the private pension limits — limits imposed by laws set by Parliament! — but the cost of it was not even calculated before Parliament approved it.

"In December 1980, seven months before the bill was passed, Commons Speaker Jeanne Sauve wrote to the minister of finance, asking for an actuarial study to be conducted as soon as possible.

"But in fact, no actuarial study had been made.

"Why did the minister of finance ignore the request of Madame Speaker (and of the members' services committee) to prepare estimates? Is it possible that he suspected that the plan would actually be very costly, and that it would be safer to have no cost estimates around?

"Since no one else has done a valuation of the new plan, here are the results of my own calculations.

"(I have assumed future interest rates of 10 per cent, future increases in the cost of living of 8 per cent a year, and future increases in MPs' salaries of 7 per cent a year. Most of us would regard a return to this level of interest rates and inflation as a major achievement, so my cost estimates are probably [illegible]

"After 10 years' service and at the end of this Parliament, [illegible] dexed pension of about $20,000 a year, payable as soon as he leaves office This will have a value of about $400,000, or about $150,000 more than under the Balcer-McIsaac plan (which did not recommend a pension change).

"For a minister first elected to parliament in 1974, such as Yvon Pinard who introduced the bill, the cost to the taxpayers is much higher. He will be entitled to an indexed pension of about $31,000 a year from 1984 if he leaves Parliament then This has a value of [illegible] more than before the pay and pension raise.

"To pay for these pensions, the government will have to set aside each year an amount equal to about 75 per cent of Parliament's payroll.

"The pension fund's total [illegible] $11 million. I think it highly likely that a full-scale valua[illegible] was already in deficit.

"The salary package took effect July 1, but the pension package hasn't been proclaimed into law yet . . . in its obscene haste to force through this change, the government may have slipped up. Section 8 (1) (m) of the Income Tax Act provides that the only contributions to a pension plan that are tax deductible are those of a registered pension plan, and these are limited to $3,500.

"The old MPs' pension plan was exempted, because of a retroactive provision which stated that any plan registered before December 21, 1970 need not conform unless benefits are increased.

"Since benefits have now been increased, it appears the plan now falls under the same rules as all other plans. If so, the government will have to pass an order-in-council or a new law to exempt itself from the law they apply to you and me."

Past Time Pastimes

December 31, 1775 - American rebels, who attacked during a bitter blizzard, were defeated at Quebec City by a force of Canadian militia led by Governor Guy Carleton. Quebec City had been seiged since early December by two American forces, one led by General Benedict Arnold, who later betrayed America, the other led by Richard Montgomery, who had earlier served in the British Army. In the engagement, Montgomery was [illegible] both forces were [illegible]. Arnold [illegible] tinued to seige Quebec City until the [illegible]. The Mint was established to make coins and to refine the growing amount of gold being produced by Canadian mines In 1931, Canada assumed full control of manufacturing Canadian coins, ending the last function of the British Government in [illegible].

January 3, 1863 - Canada's first indoor ice arena opened in Halifax, Nova Scotia By this time hockey was a popular sport It is difficult to determine when or where hockey was first played

Residents of Nova Scotia claimed that hockey was played on Dartmouth Lake in 1837 On Christmas day 1853, soldiers at the garrison in Kingston cleared the ice on a lake, laced on skates, and played hockey Players used field hockey sticks and the 'puck' was a lacrosse ball. An important development in hockey occurred when hockey playing students at McGill University drew up a set of rules and developed a puck to replace the previously used [illegible].

January 4, 1970 - A long simmering dispute between Canada and the International Ice Hockey Federation erupted in Geneva, Switzerland. As a result, Canada withdrew from international hockey competition. At issue was Canada's right to use professional players in the World Championships. The [illegible] included Fran Huck, Chuck Lefley, Wayne Stephenson and Ken Dryden, all who later starred in the NHL.

January 6, 1920-At a convention in Winnipeg, the Canadian Council of Agriculture formed the Progressive Party. T.A. Crerar, a former Liberal was elected leader of this new party. The progressives had strong support amongst [illegible] Ontario. In the 1921 federal election the Progressives elected 64 MP's. They were entitled to form the official opposition, but chose to allow the [illegible] the opposition. The Progressives held the balance of power in Parliament and supported the Liberal government. Lower tariffs and a reciprocal trade deal with the United States were the chief pursuits of the Progressives. These policies would have been of immense benefit to the struggling farmers of this time.

January 8, 1680-Rene Cavelier de la Salle learnt that his ship the Griffon, was missing on Lake Huron La Salle was an explorer and fur trader. He engaged in the fur trade to finance his continuing search for a route to China. In 1679, La Salle built the Griffon at Niagara Falls. Early in October, the Griffon sailed from Michigan Bay destined to Niagara, Ontario, with a cargo of furs It was never seen again. Record highs set

It may get cooler towards the end of this week, according to the weatherman's latest prediction.

In the meantime, it has been exceptionally mild for about the past month.

Mild enough that two records were set.

On Dec. [illegible]th, the mercury rose to nine degrees above zero to set a new high for that date.

The nine degrees broke the existing record by two degrees. The mark had been set just a year ago when the temperatures had risen to seven degrees above zero.

On Sunday, the mercury once again climbed above the zero mark, and reached its zenith when it was five degrees above zero.

That broke the old record for that date by three degrees. The old mark was two degrees above zero and had been set back in [illegible].

The average daytime temperature so far in the new year is one degree above zero, considerably better than usual for those days down through the years.

On the other hand, it could be extremely cold as temperatures recorded over the years gives January the coldest record for any month, at a frigid forty-five degrees below zero.

The warmest January days on record took place on Jan. 19, 1945 and Jan. 28, 1941 when the mercury managed to climb to ten degrees above zero.

The coldest day on record, in the first month of the year took place on Jan. 28, 1944 when the mercury dropped to forty-eight degrees below zero.

Looking ahead to the next coldest month for the year sees February with a low of forty-four degrees below zero using daily low averages while it is much warmer in the daytime with a record average high of ten degrees above.

The coldest temperatures took place on Feb. 15 and 16, 1936 when the mercury plunged to fifty degrees below zero.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Millie and Archie Carliss of Chase, B.C., former Holden residents, arrived a few days before the Christmas holiday to visit with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Carliss of the Bruce district, also with Anne and Pete Milimaka and they called on several friends in Holden before leaving for home the following Monday.

Algar Hultholm of Camrose, a former district farmer, has been a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose.

Mrs. Grace Appleby had her family home for the Christmas Day holiday, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Appleby and [illegible] of Viking, Mr and Mrs. Taylor and daughter of Ryley and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Appleby and boys of Edmonton.

Annie and Joe Milimaka entertained at a family dinner on Christmas Day.

Bob and Carol Carlson and children of Calgary, who visited with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson and Vivian and Lyle Andrusky, for the Christmas holiday weekend, returned home on the Tuesday morning.

Christmas Day dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son, Robert and wife, Merle Taylor, grandson, Aaron and granddaughter, Saylor of Viking and their friend, Christie Otto of Bruce.

Monday visitors of the Christmas holiday with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their family from St. Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor, grandchildren, Ronald, Barbara, Richard and Cathryn and their eldest son, Ernst, home for the Christmas holiday from college at Grand Rapids, Mich. Brian's wife, Dineke, had just returned Dec. 21st after spending [illegible] weeks with her [illegible] in Holland after the death of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grosland spent the Christmas holiday with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Grosland, in Edmonton.

Mrs. Kate Nichols spent the holiday weekend in Ponoka with family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nichols and family, and all the family visited on Christmas Day with Roy Nichols in the University Hospital. Kate also visited with him on the Monday afternoon, coming home with her son Ralph and Emily Gerrie of Vegreville.

Dan [illegible] Glenrose Hospital during the holiday season. Pearl and Dan spent Christmas Day with their daughter, Gail and husband, Ted Chmilar and grandson, Jonathon, in Sherwood Park; also calling on Ruth and Albert Pederson of Sherwood Park and on their way home, stopped in to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Hans Christensen of Tofield who were celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Marge Hallett returned home last Friday evening after spending the Christmas holidays in Barbadoes, [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kachman spent the Christmas holiday weekend visiting with family in Edmonton.

Helen and Jim Zwierschke and Robert spent Christmas Day at the home of David and Maureen Tiedemann and family in Edmonton.

When it is -30 degrees outside and a snow bank blocks your front door, you may dream of acquiring a permanent retreat in the warm south, Hawaii, Europe or somewhere else in Canada. When that real estate deal offering a "little piece of Heaven" comes your way, the temptation is often too great to ignore. Whatever your reason is for purchasing real estate outside Alberta's borders, there are somethings you should know before you commit yourself.

Caution is required when purchasing real estate outside Alberta's borders. Your only protection will be the laws and consumer protection agencies in that country or province. Check all aspects of the purchase, especially your right to cancell and receive a refund, before you sign an agreement. You should also retain the services of a lawyer to handle the transaction for you.

A resident of Alberta who buys out-of-province real estate while in Alberta is protected to some extent by the Alberta Real Estate Agents Licensing Act. This applies to lots in a subdivision, condominiums in a project or time-sharing units. This act does not apply to "isolated trades", real estate that is not divided into units, for example a house on a lot, an apartment building, warehouse or farmland.

The Act requires that the agent for the sale of out-of-province real estate do several things. He must file a prospectus with the Superintendent of Real Estate and receive a certification of acceptance. All sales must be made by an Alberta real estate licensee. The agent marketing out-of-province real estate must provide you, the buyer, with a copy of Alberta prospectus. A prospectus usually contains the names and addresses of the vendor and realestate agent, a legal description of the property, finacial statements, any other contracts used in the negotiation and sale of the property, places where the agent is permitted to operate, and background information on the owner, and warning clauses. You are also allowed time to study the document. If you do not receive the approved prospectus, the contract is unenforceable, with any money paid to be returned at your option. Furthermore, there is also a 30 day right of recission that applies whether or not you received the prospectus and means that you may cacel your contract for any reason within the thirty day period and receive a refund of any money paid.

NOTE: The purchase must be made in Alberta for these rights to apply.

[illegible] YOU [illegible]

[illegible] signing any real estate contract or agreement be sure to take some time and check the following points:

1. telephone the Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs' Regional Office to confirm that a prospectus has [illegible]ed in Alberta and that the salesperson is licensed in Alberta. If the salesperson is not licensed in Alberta, and not filed a prospectus, then do not make the purchase.
2. Obtain the Alberta Prospectus from the real estate agent and read it [illegible]. Pay particular attention to all of the warning clauses found in the prospectus.
3. Consult your lawyer before signing.

Remember not to risk your money unnecessarily.

A tired, bristly Pepin

... in Calgary

One observer described the appearance of Honourable J.L. Pepin before the Alberta Pool annual meeting: "For two hours neither side listened to what the other was saying." It is true that the Transport Minister who came to Calgary November 25 was still the courageous defender of his plan but there was a brittle component. Perhaps it betrayed exasperation and fatigue. Perhaps the Minister felt he had already burned his boats and had no place to turn.

Pepin seemed to be married to the Gilson formula last Friday. There is suspicion that he had already promised that plan to someone. At the same time, it was clear that J.L. Pepin has not received the permission he needs to [illegible] "pay the farmer" and [illegible] variable rates. Question time ran out at the meeting while there were still a dozen names on the [illegible] list. The Minister rushed off to a luncheon meeting with Alberta [illegible] ministers. The [illegible] delegates resolved to determine their next step in the struggle on Monday morning.

In February, Pepin announced the government's determination to have the railways paid a compensatory rate for [illegible] and to determine a limit on government payments related to the issue. The government permitted the impression to circulate that large productivity improvements would occur in the western livestock industry if Crow were abandoned (a delusion to those who studied the [illegible]).

These objectives were supported throughout the Gilson hearings by the railways, some governments and the Prairie Farm Commodity Coalition, which represented beef feeders, pork producers, packers and others. Protestations by grain producers' groups that productivity gains received by one group but paid out by farmers are not real productivity gains to the industry, were not listened to. Mr. Pepin had trouble hearing them on Friday but other Ottawa ears seem to be hearing better these days.

EAT BETTER FOR LESS

No matter how much you spend on food these days, you can find ways not only to trim costs but also to eat better. That's true whether you're cooking for yourself or a family of six.

The amounts you save will depend on your current shopping and food preparation habits. For some, the savings will be significant, for others the better nutritional quality of their meals will be more important.

Following are some ideas to help you stretch eating money and/or eating better.

1) Don't assume fresh is always cheaper. Keep an eye on those items which often cost less when canned, frozen or otherwise not fresh: potatoes, lemon juice, brussel sprouts, beets, spinach, peas and lima beans.

2) Know what the health food stores offer. Often these stores are good sources of hard-to-find items and for grains in bulk. Use bran and wheat germ as hearty, economical substitutes for crumbs, croutons and nuts in casseroles, salads and baked goods.

3) Plan at least one meatless day a week. Small amounts of animal protein from cheese, milk or eggs will supplement the nutritional value of seeds, grains or beans. Try baked beans with brown bread or minestrone soup with kidney beans or pasta.

4) Make your own mixes. Ask for the Agriculture publication "Easy Mixes", which has recipes for cookie, cake, pudding and quick bread mixes. Homemade hamburger stretchers and costings for most cost a fraction of store bought mixes.

5) Change your thinking about desserts and snacks. Have dessert only occasionally, and only if you have the time to make it yourself. For snacks, substitute popcorn for potato chips and nuts in the shell for lucified ones.

For more ideas on cutting food costs contact Maureen Bauman, District Home Economist, phone number 663-3555.

by Lesley Primeau

Let me see now, we are approximately six days into 1983 and already I have grave concerns; like who's responsible for this marvellous weather we're been having and how do we go about getting him on a regular contract?? So how was the festive season?? Add a few pounds?? Who didn't?? But you're fibbing . . .

I ventured into the beautiful province of British Columbia for Christmas. Penticton is a lovely place to visit and to get there I took the Yellowhead . . . that nice quiet route which everyone seems to prefer to the Rogers . . . including truckers. I'll bet I passed a hundred truckers if I passed one and each tossed a rock my way, just so I'd have fond remembrances of the trip. Now that I look at my cracked window I realize it is simply a ramp telling of my journey.

The Rogers pass proved to be a wonderful trip . . . it was so quiet and peaceful and I passed at most six trucks. I made a stop in cowtown and enjoyed that . . . had to pick up those things which Santa forgot. Actually I feel he really didn't have the chance to drop off what I ordered on account of losing my address for Christmas. At least if I stick by that excuse I don't feel so bad.

However now that I am back at the ole grind I shall put my best foot forward, try to keep it out of my mouth and make this year something fun . . . I'd like to make it profitable but I think wishing like that only leaves me open to despair . . .

I trust that your new year will be a wonderful event and do try to make the merc a part of it . . . even if only for the bottom of your bird cage . . . p.s. today Ziggy says to make a granola sculpture . . . good luck . . .

The Preschool Story Session resumes next week, Tuesday mornings at 10:30 beginning January 11. Please call 663-3535 to register your three or four-year old for this interesting and enjoyable introduction to books.

New in the Library this week is Victor Canning's Vanishing Point, a typically sophisticated mystery thriller about a French artist and art forger. Also, fans of Lan Daughton will be glad to see Cowboys Mickey Mouse, a "brilliant evocation of wartime England", focusing on the Eighth Air Force.

Listen to the Millrace by Marion Porter is a delightfully nostalgic account of the author's boyhood in Oregon. Humourous anecdotes, telling observations, brief character sketches, all combine to make good reading, either for adults, or to read aloud to children.

Verdict on the Shroud, by Kenneth E. Stevenson, is a new paperback searching up the current research being done on the Shroud of Turin, including many illustrations, as well as a history of this famous religious artifact.

There are also a number of new paperbacks for young people, including the set of titles by Gordon Korman.

Colouring champs

The Royal Bank in Holden held a colouring contest before Christmas and these three produced the best pictures in their category. Pamela Scherger placed first while Wesley Kowalchak placed second in the 7-12 year old group. Bobby Kuehn placed second in the under 7 year old group. The winner, under seven is Jason Ogonoski, not pictured. The students each won a Can-Do Lion from the bank and its manager Don [illegible]. Lesley Primeau photo

Space stretches

The space between the top and bottom teams in the Battle River Hockey League continues to stretch.

Irma is comfortably in the lead with Hughenden in second spot while Daysland and Wainwright are now tied for third place.

Lougheed finally entered the win column just before Christmas when they surprised Rosalind 4-3 in a home game.

Games tonight (Wednesday) are being played in Daysland, Sedgewick, Irma and Wainwright.

On Saturday night, Rosalind will be at home to Wainwright, Lougheed hosts Daysland and Sedgewick goes to Hardisty.

One week from tonight (Wednesday) will see Daysland go to Irma, Lougheed is in Hughenden, Rosalind travels to Hardisty and Sedgewick plays in Wainwright.

On Monday night, Lougheed hosted Hardisty in a make-up contest that had originally been scheduled for Dec. 18th.

Irma won two easy games after they blasted Sedgewick 11-2 and then doubled Daysland 8-4. Hughenden was another double-winner when they edged Hardisty 6-4 and then stopped Lougheed 5-2.

Wainwright stopped Daysland 7-3 before battling to a 4-4 stalemate with Sedgewick.

RUDY J. WARAWA & BARBARA BENNETT
Dist. Agriculturist

Happy New Year Farmers! We Wish You Health and Happiness in 1983.

The winter season draws mixed feelings from farmers. To some it means fighting the snow and cold while hauling feed to cattle. To others it means a break from the farm and a holiday down south. For all farmers it provides the time to catch up on records and upgrade skills.

UPGRADE YOUR SKILLS!

Technical upgrading is necessary in today's agriculture to remain a viable farmer. Farmers can aquire or improve their skills in agriculture activities by participating in skill training programs. Alberta Agriculture offers a number of basic manual skill courses: welding, plumbing, wiring, carpentry and mechanics. If sufficient interests is shown for a particular course, the District Agriculturist will request it.

Two courses have been requested in our district. If we have enough registrants, the Carpentry I Course will be held from January 17 to January 28. The Welding II Basic and Advanced Courses will be held March 21 to April 1. Call the D.A.'s office soon and register.

The instruction of these courses allows the student to practice under qualified supervision. Skill training can benefit your farming operation.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR SCHOOL

The Alberta Agriculture Home Study Course is another winter project. This program provides farmers with the opportunity of taking further education without having to leave the farm and the chores.

A variety of courses are offered dealing with situations and problems that a farmer may confront in his area. The topics range from weed control and soil management, to cattle nutrition, animal health and farm home planning.

This year our region is hosting the Alberta Farm Buildings Course. The content includes choosing a site, construction, heating, insulation and utilities. The registration deadline is January 7, 1983 and the course begins on January 21, 1983. Registration forms are available at the D.A.'s office.

Participants of the course receive their lessons in the mail and may be involved in regional workshops on the topics. Home study is designed for farmers. Take advantage of this convenient learning opportunity.

Niven named

Randy W. Niven, manager of the Agricultural Development Corporation's farm lending section, has announced the appointment of Herbert C. Andersen to the position of assistant manager of farm loans in the Camrose head office.

Mr. Andersen was raised on an irrigated farm near Brooks. Upon completion of high school in Brooks, he obtained his B.Sc. (agriculture) from the University of Alberta, and then obtained a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Western Ontario.

He brings to the corporation the experience he gained as an agricultural economist and as a credit officer with the federal Business Development Bank, as well as experience in management positions with Manalta Holdings Ltd. and C.J. Griffin and Associates Ltd.

Mr. Andersen is married and has two sons. He and his family will be making their home in Camrose.

Report from Parliament Hill

by The Honourable Don Mazankowski

HOUSE OF COMMONS CONCLUDES 1982 SITTING

On December 22nd the House of Commons finished its 1982 sitting which saw the House in session for 154 days. During the sitting we debated some of the most controversial and important legislation introduced since the War.

As the Christmas recess approached the Government resorted once again to closure and time allocation to limit debate and push through some of its unpopular bills.

The Government first cut off second reading debate on Bill C-131, the act which would reduce the indexing of the Old Age Security payments to 6% and 5%. I had been hoping to speak on the Bill to put forth the view held by our Party and expressed by many in the constituency that in reducing payments to senior citizens the government was attacking those most affected by inflation and least able to defend themselves from its impact. By limiting debate the Government prevented Canada's senior citizens, who have no organized voice, from being fully heard through their elected representatives.

Also brought forward for debate were the Bills to limit the indexing of Family Allowances and Civil Service pensions. Three government backbenchers broke ranks and voted against the Civil Service Pension Bill. One of those members was swiftly punished and lost his Committee chairmanship as a result of voting according to his constituents' wishes.

The final passage of all three of the restraint bills has been delayed until after the New Year. However, the Government has indicated that it will consider them law and proceed with the reductions. I hope to have the opportunity to speak when the bills are debated in January.

To add to the inequities imposed by these Bills the Government first granted a large pension increase to Michael Pitfield, Mr. Trudeau's right-hand man and then appointed him to the Senate assuring him of lifetime financial security. The Government has clearly imposed no restraint on Mr. Pitfield's reward.

Next, the Government attempted to push through Canagrex without a final debate. The surreptitious manner in which the closure motion was introduced sparked a fierce procedural debate that cost the Government two days of House time, perhaps more than closure will save them. We remain determined to oppose Canagrex at every opportunity. It is very uncertain that the new crown corporation will be a significant benefit to Canadian farmers. We do not need an agricultural Petro-Can.

For those not familiar with Canagrex, I offer Mr. Whelan's own description as recorded in the Minutes of the Agriculture Committee:

"Mr. Whelan: But, you know, here is what Canagrex can do: package agri-food products, package, process, store, ship, import, export, insure, sell, promote, publish information, contracts domestic, counselling, provide technological services, contracts foreign, joint ventures, grants and contributions, real property purchase, establish offices - Canada and foreign - loans and guarantees for agri-products, charges for services, act as a government agent, co-ordination mechanism, multi-product agri-mix, meet foreign financial competition, increase supply, government-to-government contracting, focus solely on food and agriculture, mandate to seek new markets, form export consortia - how do you say that word? That sounds like an Italian name - participate in trade fairs and . . . The list is there, and the other organizations . . .".

The recent report of the Auditor-General has made it clear that the Government has insufficient control over the financial affairs of its Crown corporations. The Auditor-General described the 386 existing Crown corporations as a "sub-government . . . an enormous iceberg floating lazily in the foggy Atlantic; silent, majestic, awesome . . . The public tends to see only the upper portions . . . the great bulk of the iceberg below the surface is less likely to attract public attention yet is costly to the taxpayers.". For this reason we believe that the Canagrex Bill should not be passed until new legislation governing crown corporations has been adopted.

To finish 1982 as it began this year, the Government introduced legislation dealing with the final aspects of the November 1981 tax changes. The Bill itself is 295 pages long and will only make our income tax laws more confusing and complex.

Financial help to farmers

The new edition of the publication entitled "Assistance Available to Alberta Farmers" contains an update of existing programs that are available to farmers from the provincial and federal governments and features seven programs that have been added to the list since the May, 1982 edition was published.

Dan Hilsenteger, agricultural economist with the farm business management branch, says the publication outlines the terms for some forty-five financial assistance programs and states who qualifies for each.

He also says that all farmers, regardless of their area of specialization, will find the programs of interest, and he draws special attention to the following new programs.

- Alberta Heritage Fund Mortgage Interest Reduction Program.
- Canada Mortgage Renewal Plan (CMRP).
- Canada Homeownership Stimulation Plan (CHSP).
- Small Business Investment Grant.

To find out more about these and the other programs, you can get a copy of "Assistance Available to Alberta Farmers" (Agdex 871) from your district agriculturist.

$23,000 from the preceding year.

The revenue for this past year has dropped drastically to $510 as of September 1 while the expenses to the same time have been calculated at $6,737.39.

A balance carried over from last season has managed to keep the theatre out of the red, temporarily.

As of Sept. 30, 1982 the balance of funds sits at $1,115.02.

The Village contends that they cannot possibly keep the centre open with village money alone and while they seem reluctant to close the centre, feel it the only logical solution.

County Council, meanwhile, has not determined [illegible] any part of this year's budget can be allocated for the saving of the centre.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Armston

A Farm and Home Record Keeping course sponsored by Alberta Agriculture is scheduled for Hay Lakes Jan. 12, 19 and 26. There will be a nominal charge to cover supplies. Phone 879-1130 for further information.

A Microwave Management class will be held on Feb. 3 and is also sponsored by Alberta Agriculture.

David Bascelus of Stoney Creek Lodge visited at the homes of his sons, Vern and Alvin, during Christmas week.

Leo Berkholtz, also of Stoney Creek Lodge, spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with his family at the Lawrence Berkholtz home.

Mary Ellen Jones has returned to the National Ballet School in Toronto following a two-week vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Johnson. Since there was no snow in Toronto she especially enjoyed skiing and skating during her visit here.

Square dancing will resume at the Hay Lakes Rec. Center on Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. and will continue to be held on Wednesday evenings.

Aerobic classes will resume on the evening of Jan. 17. Ceramic classes will again be held on Tuesday afternoons commencing Jan. 18.

HOW SMALL BUSINESS CAN BUCK THE TREND THIS WINTER

If you operate an Alberta business with gross annual sales of up to $5 million, you could be eligible to buck the trend this winter and hire extra employees under P.E.P. — the Priority Employment Program.

P.E.P. makes it possible for eligible small businesses to recruit up to 3 new employees and pays 50% of their wages up to a maximum of $2.50 per hour.

New employees must be Alberta residents, at least 16 years of age, and legally entitled to work in Canada.

The employees to be hired are not to have worked for the company as of December 1 1982.

Proposals for maintaining existing employees may be considered on a case by case basis.

Jobs should offer full-time employment for a minimum of 3 months and should provide skills that assist employees in finding permanent employment.

Some employers may also qualify for assistance to retain staff through on-the-job training.

P.E.P. funding starts January 3 1983 and ends April 30 1983.

Applications will be accepted until January 17 1983. Obtain brochures and application forms from regional offices of Alberta Manpower or Tourism and Small Business. Application forms and brochures will be available after December 15 1982.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Bell

Stanley and Betty Anderson of Calgary visited the Elmer Anderson's during the holidays.

Alma Dewick Wilkins of Olston visited in Ryley and attended her brother, Jorgen birthday party.

Jim Nicholl's of Ryley South passed away in the Dayaland Hospital over the weekend.

Ada Hostetler phoned home to let her husband and family know she and daughter, Carol and friend had arrived in Costa Rica.

Andrey Knudsen was the lucky winner of a microwave oven in the draw at Ryley Foods.

Douglas Helgeland's of Rocky Mountain House visited Douglas's mother, Brenda Helgeland and Andy Helgeland during the Christmas holidays. They also drove to Sunnyville to visit the Schmidts.

Lorne and Lucy Anderson and boys of Tofield, Laura and Henry Pedersen and boys of Camrose, Henry and Irene Hafso of Viking, Robin Solberg and Jack Murray of Edmonton, Elston and Maureen Solberg and baby Dustin and Sylvia Solberg visited the Elmer Anderson's at Christmas.

Sigvart Helgeland enjoyed Christmas at the Lester Pappert home and he also visited the Paweiks and his cousin in Ryley.

Sorry, Lucy Wong. They had you pick the ticket for the colored T.V. draw at Alec Neufeldt store. Should be Abe Neufeld.

Guests at the Georgs and Jennie Pollock home in Edmonton over Christmas were Joanne's mother, Fannie Lyslo of Tofield and brother, Robert, brother Blaine and family of Ryley and Joanne, George's daughter, Cheryle and Kevin Finseth and children of Ryley South.

Darcy Mason of Calgary visited his aunt, Inez and family of Ryley and friends, and spent Christmas Day with grandparents Earl and Mary Hardy of Holden and other members of the family who were guests.

Ralph Mason, formerly of Holden, passed away in Edmonton, age 64 years.

Harvey and Annette Short and children motored to Winnipeg to spend Christmas holidays with Harvey's folks.

Rodney Knudsen arrived home in time to spend Christmas with his folks. He enjoyed his holidays in Israel, Egypt, Holland and Sweden.

A supper was served to guests, the George Campbells, Bert, Ida and Stanley Hunka and the E. Reils on Wednesday evening at Marilyn Campbell's.

Rev. McPherson, a former United Church minister's son, Calvin "Kelly" McPherson, dropped in on a birthday party which was held in Ryley Community Hall on Dec. 30 for Jorgen Davick's 98th birthday.

Mrs. Marie "Gjerde" Plumb of Bellingham, Washington also attended with her brother, Ted and Edna Gjerde of Camrose. There were other guests from Whitehorse and daughter, Mildred Steenrode presented him with gifts from the family.

Mrs. Ernest Brown Sr. was a patient in the hospital in Tofield. She was a former Ryley store-keeper's wife and has reached 99 years. She is now back home in Athabasca.

Alf Anderson returned to the Golden manor after spending a week with his daughter, Myrtle and Harry Krasowski, in Camrose.

Lena Budinski of the Lion's Golden Manor passed away in an Edmonton hospital.

Herman and Hilda Jensen and family are looking forward to the arrival of their son, Eric and Linda and daughter, Kristen of Saskatchewan, who will spend a few days with them.

The holiday season has not been that nice for many. The Tea has been causing a lot of sickness and is keeping the hospital full.

I hope you all had a very Merry Christmas with your families and friends and may 1983 be full of happiness, wonderful health and success in whatever you do.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

TOPS starts

by Lesley Peterson

If the Christmas season has left a few extra inches around the middle and a few extra pounds around the six thighs, a group of Tofield folks have gotten together to form T.O.P.S., which stands for, Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

Every Wednesday evening at 7:30, the group meets at the Tofield School in the drama room for words of encouragement, food facts and exercise with Richard Simmons; on tape, of course.

The program is open to men and women over the age of 16 who feel they have a pound or two to shed and feel the need to work with others toward a common goal.

Monthly dues are set at a paltry three dollars and the yearly membership costs a total of fourteen dollars.

As a little means of deterring weight gain, these meeting who gained a quarter of a pound, half a pound or pound in the previous week must pay a fine of 25¢.

The group, headed by Ann Anderson, is anxious to encourage others in similar shape to join up and lose the weight together. For more information, Ann can be reached at 662-4367.

Holden and district news

Eleanor and John Ogonoski and son, Jonathon, spent Christmas in Thunder Bay visiting with Eleanor's mother, Mrs. Anne Barasiuk.

John and Eleanor and Jonathon Ogonoski were Christmas Day dinner guests with John's parents, Kate and Pete Ogonoski.

Christmas holiday visitors with Mrs Helen Stecyk were all her family, Dr. Robert and Janette Stecyk and three boys of Fort Saskatchewan, daughters, Dawn and Pamela and two girls; Carol and Bill, Ken and Valerie Stecyk of Irricana, also daughter, Kathy and Pete.

Holden History Book Committee wishes to remind everyone who is submitting family history's is January 10th. Anyone wishing to submit a book may do so at the Senior Citizens Drop-in Centre any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon or from any committee member.

Mrs. Robert Taylor and daughter, Saylor of Viking were last Wednesday callers with Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, on their way to Camrose. Mrs. Taylor went along with them.

Mrs. Kate Nichols was a Sunday evening visitor with her husband, Roy in the University Hospital. The Lahaveki family are pleased visited with him. It is probable that Roy might be transferred back to Tofield Hospital shortly.

A former Holden resident for many years, Hazel Mae Mason of Edmonton, passed away suddenly after suffering a heart attack on Dec. 28th at the age of 64 years. He is survived by his wife, Ida of Edmonton; four sons, George of Watrous, Sask., Ralph of Calgary, Bob of Edmonton, and Don of Beaverlodge; his mother, Mrs. Constance Mason of Watrous, Sask., three brothers, William of Texas, George of Watrous and Kenneth of Vancouver, B.C., two sisters, Mrs. Connie McMurchy of Saskatoon and Mrs. Linda McDonald of Vancouver, B.C., and 11 grandchildren. A memorial service was held in the Mount Olivet Lutheran Church in Sherwood Park on Dec. 28th with Rev. A. Williamh officiating and cremation was in the Chapel of Chimes Crematorium.

The Mason family lived in Holden for many years when Ralph was an agent at one of the elevators and later built a service station on Highway 14 and operated it for a number of years before leaving for Edmonton. The building is now owned by Alvin Chomic.

Helen and Allan Wawrus and family of Edmonton were visiting over the holiday weekend, entertaining family at the home of Helen's mother, Mrs. Chomic on Christmas Day and Allan and Carol Chomic and family entertained at a family gathering on Christmas Day.

Mrs Frances Hanson was taken to Tofield Hospital on Sunday morning suffering with a severe attack of the 'flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grondahl and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hardey attended the memorial service for Ralph Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were New Year's Day supper guests with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, in Viking.

Mrs. Anne Ozubko, nee Tkaczyk, of Bruce, passed away on Dec. 27th at the age of 64 years. She is survived by her husband, Mike of Bruce; four daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Betty) Kachman, Mrs. Albert (Jean) Hollis, Mrs. Orest (Gloria) Ponich and Mrs. Jim (Sharon) [illegible] four sons, Marvin, Reuben, Vern and Gerald; 21 grandchildren; five great grandchildren; three sisters; and five brothers. She was predeceased by a granddaughter, Jeannine, in 1976.

Prayer service was held on Dec. 30th in Holy Heart Roman Catholic Church in Viking and the funeral service was held Dec. 31st with Father Juniper Kneller officiating and interment was in the Bruce Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kachenan attended the funeral service held for Mrs. Anne Ozubko.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hardy had their family for the Christmas Day holiday, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hardy and family of the Tofield district and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nail and family of Ryley.

It isn't everyday you become the new year's baby. Kim Ryan was born January 5 at the Tofield Hospital making him Mr '83

Rec. programs okayed

by Lesley Primeau

Laurie Weatherill, on behalf of the Tofield Recreation Board, submitted the proposed recreation budget to the Council, for the Town of Tofield, for their consideration with the request that the Council give approval, in principal, to the continued funding for existing programs and capital projects

Two major projects are currently on the go, the construction of bleachers for the fair grounds and the renovations to the community hall. The projects must receive Council's approval to assure sufficient fund availability

Seven bleachers are to be built with a seating capacity of approximately seventy each.

Al Baker has been awarded the tender to build the bleachers which will hopefully be finished by late February. Council was informed. The Board's agreement with Baker states that he must be paid on completion of each

Nolan Ryan and Dave Cargill have been employed by the Town under the terms of P.E.P. which allows the cost of having the employment to be shared between the Town and government. The two successful applicants were chosen from a field of 46 and are expected to begin work on the community hall

After lengthy discussion Council decided to approve existing programs and the two capital projects but will also discuss the budget at a time when it applies directly to the town's 1983 budget, which is not expected for some time.

Some concerns have been raised regarding the proposed cable television. To date over 300 households have signed up for the service, an estimated $18,000 has been turned over to Delta Cable Company Ltd. However, to date, there has been no sign of improved television for the town.

Council has turned the matter over to their attorney in an effort to gather more information from Delta Cable that will shed light on the situation. Council is also interested in obtaining further information about recent litigation regarding the legalities of using a dish

Some members of the Tofield Lions have expressed concern over a possible precarious position they have been placed in. The Lions Club was approached to collect the subscriber fee from patrons in Tofield and many residents have questioned Lions members regarding the lack of service Cable had been suggested for the end of last year

It has been pointed out through ads that Delta will return the $40 fee if requested. However, they point out that those who wish their money back will have to pay twice that to have hook-up later. The matter has yet to be resolved but all parties are currently reviewing the matter

Residents of the town who owned dogs are to be duly warned that the dog catcher service will be stepped up in an effort to pick up the number of dogs who are running at large. Dogs must have licences in the town and tags are available at the office. Male licences and spayed female licences are sold for $5 while the normal female licence will be issued for $10. Dogs found running at large will be picked up and the owners will be fined

Council will also be reviewing the proposed lighting plan for Highway 834. Trans Alta has currently recommended a plan for the highway area that runs through town. Council is not expected to make any decision regarding lights in the very near future

Tax collections for 1982 have improved greatly Council feels this is a direct result of the changes in the tax penalty dates. As of December 31, 1982 approximately $81,000 remains outstanding as compared to the outstanding taxes of 1981 which sat at $127,000. Taxes not in by Dec. 31, 1980 amounted to roughly $90,000.

Mr. '83 is born

By Lesley Primeau

When are the chances of having the New Year's baby?

Relatively small, one would think, but if the chances of having the New Year's baby are small, the chances of having two New Year's babies must be incalculable.

Don and Gwen Zook of Ryley are celebrating the birth of their third son, a second New Year's baby and Tofield Hospital's first baby of [illegible]

Tiny Kim Ryan arrived on Jan. 5th, weighing in at seven pounds exactly. Kim's older brother, Jamie was the New Year's baby for 1981

Jamie made his entrance in 1981 on January 14, leading his mother to believe he would not be the first baby of the year. Oldest brother Christopher, 3½, is just proud as punch with Kim.

Kim is the first New Year's baby to benefit from the newly organized Tofield Hospital Auxiliary, that has initiated a baby care package that will be presented annually to the first baby born in the new year.

Contributing to this year's hamper was the Town and Country Drug Mart, The Elizabeth Shop, Judy's Flower and Gift, Tofield Hospital Auxiliary, Wilde's Accounting Service, Beta Sigma Phi and the Check [illegible]

Joining in family celebrations are Wilbur and Arlene Stauffer and Kenneth and Elsie Zook, grandparents of the New Year's baby. Mother and son are reported to be doing exceptionally well and are joint recipients of best wishes.

Board will meet King

by Lesley Primeau

As a follow-up to the meetings held prior to Christmas regarding the future of the Holden and Ryley Schools, a committee approved by the Board of Education will meet with Education Minister, Dave King, on February 18

Attending will be Chairman of the Board, Hjordis Armitage; Reeve, George Knudsen; School Superintendent, Fred Reinbolt; and Secretary-Treasurer, Garth Bancroft

The committee is expected to bring to the minister concerns raised by parents, teachers and residents of the two villages

Some matters which need to be delved into will be the declining enrollments in the county schools, increased education costs, increased tax burdens, alternatives, public concerns to the need for education and alternatives and capital needs for the future

The Board feels the issue requires a great deal of input from the Department of Education and the minister should he made aware. first hand, of the problems faced by [illegible]

In the short term, th. Board of Education will be suspending any discussion regarding the future of programs or other matters as it pertains to the schools' future

Problems inherent with providing a good basic level of education and financing such a level of education must be thoroughly investigated and thought out

Until such time as the minister and his department have had this opportunity, the Board feels they can make no [illegible]

During their first meeting of 1983, the Board also reviewed the current rental agreement they are currently engaged in with the Tofield Alliance Church for rental of the Tofield School Library and three classrooms for services

Prior to this meeting, the Board had levied a charge of $55 per occasion

However, after reviewing their current policies, the Board has decided the rental fee should be increased to $75 per occasion. A letter to that effect will be forwarded to the church for their consideration

The proposed Tofield Home Economics and Industrial Arts Project has reached the sketch stage and the Board is optimistic that progress on the proposal will be quick

The proposal includes the Home Ec and shop and will include additional hall space as well as renovations to the existing administration facilities and office

Named minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs shortly after Alberta's November election, Connie Osterman recently urged consumers to loosen the hold on their pursestrings, and pour their money back into circulation.

It's only their fear of worse days ahead that persuades these people to alter traditional spending habits, says Mrs. Osterman, who says they have overcompensated and overreacted to the downturn in the economy.

"They're adding to the downturn in a way that probably isn't necessary. The livelihood of storekeepers depends on the turnover of the dollar," says Mrs. Osterman.

But then she adds a note of caution in urging them to carefully examine their financial situation before renewing old spending habits.

Only the last injunction would seem to indicate that Mrs. Osterman has any idea of the position in which thousands of Albertans, in harness with millions of other Canadians, find themselves. Indeed, a recent survey of workers found that two out of three who don't work for government feared for their job.

Faced with the worst downturn in half a century, the worst downturn in their entire life experience, it's hardly to be wondered at that many people might overreact. Indeed we should probably admire them, rather than urge them to change their ways, for these are the sort of prudent, responsible people on which a substantial economy can once again be built.

Consumer confidence might be easier to induce if consumers weren't so concerned about the erosion of their dollars by the spending of governments, at all levels, where the message of restraint, of cutbacks, of hardships, or retrenchment, seems hardly to have percolated. Maybe Mrs. Osterman might be able to echo the comments of her premier that arbitrators seem not to be in touch with the marketplace today when they award wage increases of up to twenty percent.

Only this week we learned of another group of employees, several hundred, who reluctantly accepted a reduction of ten percent in pay. Their consensus was that this was to be preferred over several being laid off. Incidentally, it seems a curious commentary that Edmonton police and fire fighters couldn't reach the same level of support for their associates . . . to prevent what must be regarded as inevitable lay-offs. In the end, it can hardly matter very much whether the word comes down from City Council, or a police commission, or a fire authority, or whoever. The message will be pretty well identical.

Let's make judges some other way

R.R. #6,
Saskatoon, Sask.
Dec. 23, 1982

Dear Sir:

To quote a recent Gallup poll, "nearly four out of five Canadians believe the courts do not deal harshly enough with criminals". As well, there is currently controversy as to whether or not judges are independent of political interference or pressure.

I thought it was common knowledge that judges reflect the political desires of those who hired them when dispensing justice, rather than the wishes of the people who are taxed to pay their wages. Isn't that the real reason that only certain lawyers are hired to be judges, often by elected political lawyers? Speaking in general terms, I believe the political lawyers often use the political judge as an economic tool to create jobs for other lawyers. If judges are lenient with criminals, lawyers obtain much repeat criminal business. One could compare it to an unethical cartel.

Referring to an early Gallup poll where lawyers were viewed in approximately the same category as used-car salesmen, may I be so bold as to ask why this type of person is singled out to dispense justice? No one I have ever met really knows what qualifications are necessary to become a judge. It must be a tremendous ego-boosting experience to one day be referred to as a "shyster lawyer" and then as "your honour" for ever after being appointed a judge. An old adage tells us that a leopard can't change its spots. Isn't it time we did the proper thing in a democratic society and elected our judges from a better class of people or at least have that right? We no doubt would have much less legal exploitation (consequently more justice) with the possibility of political interference greatly diminished if all judges were elected. Under the present circumstance, what can we possibly lose other than employment for lawyers, perhaps?

Public sector unions out of touch

By W. Roger Worth

Members of Canadian public sector unions, and the politicians who support their fight against government wage restraint programs, should wake up.

With 1.5 million people jobless, and the rest of the work force so uncertain about the future, there is overwhelming national support for Ottawa's six and five program, as well as the wage restraint plans initiated by some provinces.

More important, even unionized workers in the private sector do not appear to be sympathetic when their civil service brothers and sisters threaten to work to rule, or close down the system. Common sense, it seems, is prevailing.

But, as might be expected, the leadership heavyweights from the public service sector are appalled at the fact they might have to limit salary increases to five or six percent.

In Quebec, for example, the public sector is threatening to strike, even though there is little public support, and the Parti Québecois government is heavily backed by grassroots union members.

In Ontario, the public sector leadership recently put together a protest that incorporated the slogan "Let the B . . . Pay" The "B . . .", of course, are the taxpayers, including many people collecting unemployment insurance (yet still paying taxes), who fully understand that such Alice in Wonderland thinking doesn't work in real life.

Still, some politicians supporting such action actually boast about the fact that they have been able to hold up legislation that will force public sector employees to be happy with a five percent raise.

Other provinces are experiencing similar difficulties.

It's true, such a raise may not keep up with the rate of inflation. But for these people to complain so vehemently, while hundreds of thousands of others simply can't find work, is akin to outright greed.

These are indeed tough times. Small businesses are going broke like never before, the banks are closing down generations' old family farms and even some company executives are being forced to accept pay cuts. In addition, virtually every government in the country is running a deficit as it attempts to keep up with the needs of the less affluent among us.

In a compassionate society, that's necessary. What isn't needed, though, is the cry from our employees (the civil servants) who seem to think they should be coddled. It's too bad they weren't more responsible.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

I do my best to avoid admonishing my patients during Christmas week, for I know it is futile. The extra week of smoking will probably do no further damage to the lungs, the liver will probably survive the Christmas cheer, and the dieting can wait until the new year.

There is a therapeutic aspect to Christmas, once the trauma of the commercial hurley-burley is behind us. Many who are not regular churchgoers find that they have a strong urge to attend a service or two.

The guilt of not going is greater than the embarrassment of renewing one's acquaintance with an almost-forgotten clergyman. The unchanging church provides, for many, an element of stability in these tumultuous times.

Christmas is also a time for families. How many mothers and fathers eagerly await the visit of their sons and daughters, the ritual annual homecoming? Even when the kids are younger the camaraderie is improved. Fathers spend more time with their sons – if only to share the new Atari game. Mothers get involved with dolls again.

An increased sense of closeness is generated between young parents as they share the tree trimming and stocking filling duties.

Christmas is a therapeutic time for family and other interpersonal relationships. The breathing spell provided by the true Christmas gives us a chance to forget our day-to-day rush and worry, and contemplate greater things.

This columnist also took a little break to enjoy the Christmas turkey with all of you.

Medically Speaking and Info/Health now enjoy wide circulation in Alberta and British Columbia. It is provided by the medical associations of these provinces on behalf of your own physician.

Its purpose is to help keep you informed about medical care and health care delivery and, occasionally, to alert you to developments in the medical-political field.

Satellites share lead in Beaverhill league

Tofield Satellites have to share top spot in the Beaverhill Hockey League with Lamont.

A loss to Lamont, 7-3, in a home game last Tuesday resulted in Lamont's being able to move into a share of the lead with the Satellites.

It was the only contest played last week by either team.

Tofield will play in Holden on Saturday night while Tuesday action will see the Satellites at home to Ryley.

Ryley bombed Holden 10-4 on Saturday night an in last Tuesday's other game, Viking came up with its first win of the season when they edged Holden 9-8.

The other three games that had been scheduled for last week had to be postponed.

League officials have announced the winners for the December and January draws for the Beaverhill Senior Hockey League Bonanza Club.

The December winner was Paul Howrish of Holden and the January winner was Rhonda Wiens of Tofield.

Toros still leading

Despite having a split in two outings, Tofield Toros are still in first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros were stung 7-3 by Round Hill at home on Friday night but, rebounded in Camrose on Sunday to stop Kingman 9-5.

Tofield will have a chance for revenge against Round Hill when the two teams meet in Tofield on Friday.

Friday's contest is the only league outing for the Toros in the coming week although five members of the club will see action on Sunday evening.

The occasion is the league's annual all star game and will feature the defending champions from Bawlf against an all star aggregation composed of players from the other five [illegible].

Lauren Farmer of the Toros will coach the all stars and players from the Tofield team playing in the game will be Dennis Hendrikson, Brian Knox, Laurie Losback and Dale Olson.

The game will be played in [illegible] and is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m.

Olson of the Toros has moved into first place in the goalies' race while Losback is the only member of the Tofield squad listed in the top seven of the scoring race.

Toros raced into a 3-1 lead after the first period with Round Hill and then watched as the visitors scored six straight goals for a 7-3 victory.

Foss, Wolfe and Klippenstein each had a pair for the winners whose single was netted by C. Kushnerick.

Getting the Tofield markers were Losback, G. Olson and G. Borden.

It was a penalty studded contest which saw Tofield pick up 20 penalties to 13 for Round Hill.

Toros fell behind 3-1 in the opening period against Kingman but bounced back to post a 9-5 triumph.

Losback and G. Olson led the Tofield attack by scoring twice each with the singles coming from Dennan, Gilbert, Horricks, Vandermeer and G. Borden.

Dunlop and Sikstrom each had a pair for the losers whose single came from the [illegible].

This was a relatively clean contest with Kingman being assessed eight penalties to only four for the Toros.

JORGEN DAVICK CELEBRATES 80TH BIRTHDAY

Jorgen Davick observed his 80th birthday Dec. 30 when his children Mildred Stensrud of Earling and Sharon Dobson of Whitehorse held an open house at the Ryley Legion Hall and were seated with their father at the head table centred by a large birthday cake and a bouquet of flowers. The emcee for a few brief remarks was his son-in-law Jerry Dobson of Whitehorse.

A 20 minute tape was played, made a few years ago for the Beaver Tales boks of Ryley when Mrs. Ernest Brown interviewed Jorgen's mother the late, Caroline Davick.

Jorgen was born Dec. 30, 1902, parents Peder and Caroline Davick, on the Soberg farm south of Ryley, and took his schooling at Soberg School. In his earlier years he fished and cut ice for the town of Ryley with his brother at Beaver Lake. Later he farmed with his uncle Martin Davick, then on his own on the Tom Law and Farness farms. In 1947 Jorgen and wife Mary moved into Ryley where he was employed with the Alberta Pacific Grains until retiring in 1969. Since then he has been active with the Odd Fellows Lodge, member of the Ryley Sunshine Sr. Club and the Ryley Lutheran Church. He is interested in sports, curling and hockey games

Annually he goes to Whitehorse for the Dog Sled races, end of February even though the temperature is -30° at times

In charge of the guest book was his great granddaughter Michelle Stensrud - 170 relatives and friends called

People were present from Whitehorse, Fort Saskatchewan, Irma, Camrose, Ryley, Round Hill and Holden

Gym classes resume

After a brief hiatus, the Tofield Gymnastics Club will resume classes on Tuesday and early indications suggest a better turnout than last session

Seventy students took part in the pre-Christmas session that culminated with a spectacular show at the Sears School featuring the skills of all students

With a good attendance expected for this session, it is the club's fervent hope that enough money will be raised to purchase a balance beam. The beam is expected to broaden the scope of the club's program considerably

Last session, the club purchased a mini-trampoline that has proven to be a big hit with the gymnasts.

Registration for a wide variety of classes from pre-school to high school will be held Thursday from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Recreation Office of the Town Office

Along the corridors

by Rosy Wong

Prior to the two-week Christmas vacation that Ryley School staff and students enjoyed, there was a huge show of Christmas spirit

A variety of things took place. One of these events was "Spirit Week". The Jr. and Sr. high dressed "pink" style, just to get out of the routine for a day.

Taking place a couple days later was a Christmas Tea. During the afternoon, a crowd of parents could be seen piling into the decorated gymnasium to hear the elementary students sing. Following the Christmas carols, everyone welcomed Jolly Ol' Santa Claus as he made his entrance with a handful of candies and oranges.

The final day of school the Junior high students boarded the busses to go rollerskating in Sherwood Park. The same day, Senior High students were headed towards Rabbit Hill for a day on the slopes.

After the holidays, which seemed all too short, basketball continued. For the Ryley boys, they've played six lead games and have won them all. Top scorers for the boys were Willis Reist with 14 and Chris Clarke with 12, in their most recent game against Tofield. (Final score 63-15 for Ryley).

Congratulations also, to the Senior girls basketball team. They defeated Tofield 44-28. Top scorers for the girls were Michelle Hisey with 16 and Cheryl Andrukow with 12.

Legion has induction

... in Ryley

by Lesley Primeau

The Ryley Branch of The Royal Canadian Legion held their annual induction of officers on Saturday evening and prior to that ceremony, presented awards to Ryley students who participated in the Remembrance Day Poster Contest.

Students of the Ryley poster contest were encouraged to make a poster, write an essay or compose a poem using Remembrance Day as a central theme.

The entries were judged by Ann Taylor and Harriett Brown and the first and second place winners were presented with certificates at the gathering on Saturday.

Zone Commander Owen Jones, along with Mayor of Ryley, Larry Andrukow presented the first place winners with their certificates while Ladies Auxiliary District Commissioner Sunny Barton and Ryley teacher Fred Yachimec presented the second place winners with theirs.

First place awards were presented to Grant Nahirniak, Tammy Booth, Randy Bratrud, Kent Rude, Shauna Bancroft and Darcy Gara. Darcy also received a second place as did Jodi Tucker, Colleen Podoborozny, Marcy Kushnir, Shawna Mae Ogonowski and Robin Williford.

The students also partook of the dinner served before the presentations.

Following brief introductions, the 1983 Legion Officers were inducted.

Presiding over the inductions were Zone Commander Owen Jones and for the ladies, Sunny Barton.

Ryley Legion president will be Walter Williams; first vice-president is Francis "Tubby" Pope, second vice-president is Rudy Kranzler; while Jack Davison will serve his 17th year as treasurer.

Past-president Keith Murray extended his gratitude for the support of his officers last year.

President of the Ryley Ladies Auxiliary for 1983 is Mildred Stenrud who will be aided by first vice-president Lola Wagner; second vice-president Anna Burton; treasurer Harriett Brown; and secretary Maxine Reid.

Also named to both organizations were special committee members.

The members of the Ryley Legion have long been active community supporters and are involved in a number of projects throughout the year. They have been avid supporters of junior sports programs and are currently sponsoring Ken Podoborozny to attend the Terry Fox Foundation tour of Ottawa this spring.

The Legion has for years been the sponsoring body of Nootka, the Holden Sea Cadet Corp.

Presently, the Legion in Ryley plans to take on some building renovations and expansion and on Jan. 29th will hold their annual Zone mixed curling bonspiel.

New addresses needed

A new addressing system incorporating house number and range road or township road, was put into place on June 14, 1982 to serve rural residents of the County of Strathcona.

Since that time, Canada Post at Sherwood Park has assisted area residents involved in the transition by redirecting misaddressed mail to the new addresses.

Today, seventy-five percent of mail destined for rural residents in Strathcona County bears the proper address.

However, Sherwood Park Postmaster, Ed Schneider, says "About 2,500 first-class letters a day still arrive at his Post Office bearing the incorrect address".

"We're concerned", said Mr. Schneider. "During the transition we've generally had good support from the people in Strathcona County. Now it appears that a number of people who've been advised about the new addressing system have neglected to make the change". Mr. Schneider added, "We are contacting some companies and departments who still have not made the change, urging them to comply with the new system. But, we are not going to be able to reach everyone."

The Sherwood Park Postmaster has urged all residents in Strathcona County who have yet to convince their correspondents to recognize the new addresses, to once again pick up the no charge change of address announcement cards and advise that their correspondents make the address change now.

As of Jan. 15 (Saturday), any mail sent to rural residents in Strathcona County bearing the old address will be subject to "Return to Sender".

Wonderfully warm wishes and congratulations to Red and Isabel Rudacki on the birth of their first grandchild. Michael Kyle made his appearance into the world, in Calgary of all places. Weighing in at 7 lbs. 13 oz., Michael was born on January 6 to Donald and Kathy Rudacki, who, strangely enough, also live in Calgary.

ATTENTION parents of Ryley students ... the concerned parents group will meet on Monday, Jan. 17th at the school, 7:30 p.m. Support is urgently needed and any resident who wants a say in the future of education in the village should attend.

Celebrating an 88th birthday is that charming and debonair gentleman, Jorgan Davick of Ryley. Evidently a huge birthday party was held in honour of the momenous occasion and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Are you ready for this?? Daniel Brown ... that's right "the" Daniel Brown has been hobbling around on crutches ... due entirely to the game of basketball. Seems someone forgot to tell him only the ball goes through the hoop ... well that's ... showbiz...

The Tofield Powder Puffs will be at it again when they take to the ice in their second game of the year, this time against Beta Sigma Phi. The two ladies' teams will be ready for some good fun and great hockey ... Sunday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. ... be there to cheer them on...

Kristen, that delightful two year old daughter of Lyle Heibery is back at home after a brief stay at the hospital. The nurses must have had the gentle touch and made her a lot better.

There appears to be word of some big winning in the Beaverhill Hockey League ... we plan to investigate the financial winfalls for next week and let you know where to score.

If you have tidbits you think would be of interest to your friends and neighbours, give us a call and we'd be delighted to pass on the good news...

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

The Holden Senior Citizens Club are holding a pot-luck supper in the Drop-In Centre on Friday.

Roy Nichols was transferred from the University Hospital in Edmonton, where he had been a patient for the past three weeks, to Tofield Hospital, last week.

Lloyd Bell is home after spending the past several weeks at Glenrose Hospital in Edmonton, taking therapy for his bad hip.

Apologies to Eleanor and John Ogonoski for the error in last week's item. It should have been their son, Jason, not Jonathon, visiting with them. The gremlins seem to creep in once in a while.

Mrs. Mildred Josey had an unfortunate accident happen to her car during the recent holidays when visiting family in Edmonton. During the Sunday night, her car was parked outside her daughter's home and was run into and badly damaged by a hit and run driver.

Mrs. Hrabec, a resident in the Holden Senior Citizens Lodge, spent the recent Christmas holiday in Edmonton with her families.

Raymond Hovland of Gleichen was a visitor over the New Year's holiday weekend with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hovland of South Holden.

Mrs. Lena Kawalachuk has been a patient in Dayland Hospital for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scraba were at Tofield Hospital last week visiting with Roy Nichols.

If you have not yet submitted your family history to the History Book Committee, please do so by Saturday as none will be accepted after that date. The Holden Historical Society is accepting memorial donations and a tax exempt receipt will be issued.

Mrs. Helen Stecyk spent New Year's Eve at the home of her daughter, Carol and husband Bill Flyn at Hastings Lake, then spent New Year's Day with her family, Dr. Robert and Janette Stecyk and three boys at Fort Saskatchewan, also with her daughter, Joan and husband, Dennis and girls in Fort Saskatchewan, returning home on the Monday night.

Albert Johnson and Clare Anderson were Sunday afternoon visitors with Mrs. Frances Hanson who has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for over a week with the 'flu and also called in to see Roy Nichols.

Ralph and Emily Gorrie of Vegreville were Sunday afternoon visitors with his mother, Mrs. Roy Nichols and all visited with Roy.

Mrs. Luckawiecki, mother of Albin Luckawiecki, is a patient in St. Joseph's General Hospital in Vegreville.

Mrs. Anne Scherger was a visitor last Thursday with her mother in Wainwright.

A long-time and well-known resident of Bruce, Mrs Lula Fredericks, passed away in the Viking General Hospital on Jan. 3rd at the age of 91 years. She is survived by three sons, Grant, Irven and Ben Fredericks; three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Teske, Mrs. Doris McLeod and Mrs. Gladys Doris; 14 grandchildren; and 30 great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Herman in 1963 and one daughter in 1977. The funeral service was held on Jan. 5th in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bruce and interment was in the Bruce Cemetery.

Mrs. Lloyd Bell spent the recent holidays in Edmonton with her son and wife, Lorne and Mildred Bell. Lloyd, who has been taking therapy in the Glenrose Auxiliary Hospital for several weeks, came home from hospital.

A daughter of Mrs. Olive Emond of Leduc and the late Robert (Scottie) Emond and granddaughter of Mrs. Myrtle Emond of Edmonton, formerly of Holden, Sarah Emond, who is Alberta's goat technician was the guest speaker at a meeting in December of the Vermilion River Goat Chapter held in Innisfree. Sarah has a herd of purebred Alpines and has worked with goats for many years.

Carrying a rabbit's foot did him a lot of good.

Is carrying a rabbit's foot really a good luck charm?
• Of course not, it's a myth.

Once an automobile has been in an accident, it is no longer any good after it has been repaired!
• This is also a myth

We would like to show you how we can repair a vehicle after it has been in a collision and put it back into "like new" condition . . . feel free to call on us and see how we work . . . discuss your body repair needs with us . . . Estimates are FREE.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine [illegible]

([illegible] for last week)

The annual Christmas concert was held in the Community Hall on Dec 17, and there was a capacity crowd on hand.

It was once again sponsored by the Ministik Ladies Club and Rita Loch was convener. Rita had a wide variety of items from skits to songs to Christmas carols, with the feature play at the conclusion by many of the young set of the area depicting Charles Dickens' 'A Christmas Carol'.

Joyce Bowerman looked after the musical part of the program with Carol Debinder leading in the carols.

A special rendition of "Do you hear what I hear" was given by Beverly, Leanna and Paula Hiltman.

Santa Claus gave out candy canes to the many children present.

Lunch was served by the Ladies Club members, and helpers.

Several people in the area are interested in getting some [illegible] games going, either in an evening or an afternoon each week. All those interested contact either Frank Dunham or Dolly [illegible].

Bill and Barbara Vandermeer are the proud parents of a new daughter, on December 21st, a sister for Glenda and Carrie and another granddaughter for John and Truus Vandermeer.

Happy New Year everyone! May 1983 be a good one for you all.

Hastings Lake news

by L. [illegible]

The Community Centre winter activities are getting under way, with meetings of the Losers' League, the Playschool and the Pleasure Horse Association having begun, an outing of the latter attracting several cutters on a drive around the Fenna property last Sunday in beautiful weather, under sunny skies.

Next week the annual general meetings of the Ladies' Club and the Community Association will be held. The Ladies' Club will meet on Thursday, Jan. 20 at 1:00 p.m. at Lois Fenna's, and the speaker will be Anne Ryan of the Strathcona Family and Community Services. The Community Association meeting will take place at 8:00 p.m. the same day at the hall, and wine and cheese refreshments will be offered.

Classes for the winter session consist of Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation and Women's Self-Defense; as advertised at present they will be held at Ardrossan and Fultonvale respectively, but rescheduling at Hastings Lake is in process, and interested people should be sure to phone Jan Addison ([illegible]) right away, to indicate their intentions.

Between the Covers

On the New Book Table this week, you will find Alice Munro's newest collection of short stories, The Moons of Jupiter. This Canadian author's way with characters is memorable, and each story is yet another example of her consummate skill in writing.

The Sindbad Voyage by Tim Severin is a chronicle of his re-creation of one of the most famous travel stories of all time. A replica of an Arab sailing ship of over a thousand years ago was built, and Severin and his crew sailed it along Sindbad's legendary route, an exciting 7½ month voyage. Beautiful colour photographs accompany the text, as well as detailed maps.

As winter settles in seriously, it may be time to do a little sewing. With tips from the extensively detailed Complete Guide to Sewing published by Reader's Digest, even the most ambitious project will be easy. For those who prefer simple lines, the Woman's Day Book of No-Pattern Sewing may have much to offer.

More Make-A-Mix Cookery by Karine Eliason provides many ideas on make-ahead meals, home-made mixes useable for many recipes, and other time-saving tips.

The Patchwork Cat by Nicola Bayley, and One Monster After Another by Mercer Mayer are two of the new children's books enjoyed by the youngsters enrolled in the Preschool Story time. If your 3 or 4 year old is interested, please call [illegible], to join the Tuesday morning sessions.

A new gift subscription is being received, to the Mennonite publication Christian Living. Back numbers of this and all other magazine titles received in the Library may be borrowed, and the current issues are always available for reading in the Library.

Holden and district news

Mrs. Olive Esmond (nee) Thrasher taught music at the Holden School for many years and after her marriage, moved to Ledue and was the musical supervisor of the County of Ledue.

A number of ladies around Holden and district are enjoying bowling seasons with Mrs. Clara Bilyk in charge.

Mrs. Agnes Valen of White Rock spent the Christmas week visiting with her sister, Mrs. Clara Sizer at Northview Manor and with her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Chomic. Agnes spent a week here and returned home on Sunday after visiting with friends in Edmonton. Also visiting Mrs. Sizer during the holiday was her daughter, Mrs. Verla Korrall of Edmonton.

Lorne and Cathy Siner and three children of Fairview were visiting for three days over the New Year's holiday with his sister and family, Carol and Alvin Chomic and were guests with his mother, Mrs. Clara Sizer on New Year's Day.

Mrs. Chomic Sr., a resident in the senior citizens' lodge is back after being a patient in Viking Hospital for a few days, having a check-up.

Helen and Allan Warwa and family of Edmonton spent the weekend visiting with the Chomics', also calling on Helen's mother, Mrs. Chomic at the senior citizens' lodge.

Four ladies of Holden Royal Purple Lodge including H.R.L. Mary Semotuik, visited with the Royal Purple Lodge in Viking last Tuesday evening.

The annual New Year's Eve Frolic held in the Community Hall on the 31st of December was a gala event with 60 merry in attendance enjoying themselves to the full.

The hall was gaily decorated appropriately for the affair and at the stroke of 11, 'Auld Lang Syne' was played and sung and Happy New Year wishes extended to all.

On hundred balloons suspended from the ceiling were lowered and exploded, and noisemakers galore were made good use of.

A turkey supper with all the trimmings was enjoyed by all.

The kitchen duties were taken care of by Lorada Cumming, with help from Phyllis Thesberge, Kathy Lawrence, Joyce Bowerman and Jean Wittig.

Carvers Glen Lawrence and Grant Wilson assisted by Ronnie Wilson and Keith Lawrence gathered up the dishes and in no time they were washed and put away, and the evening then enjoyed by all the workers as well as the patrons.

George and Jean Kleinsteuber were hosts last Sunday evening, when George showed slides of their recent trip to England and Scotland.

The Carolyn family of Sherwood Park were New Year's Eve guests of Jean Ferguson and Gary.

Doris Davenport spent three days with the Ben Jacobsons of Ryley, during the Christmas holidays.

Brent Bowerman spent his Christmas holiday skiing with friends in the Kelowna area.

The Thursday Group of the Crafts Centre started back on Jan. 6. They will be working from now on for the annual spring bazaar to be held on the last Saturday of April. They, and other members of the Centre will soon be selling raffle tickets as a quilt and liberty sheets. The January meeting of the centre will be on Jan. 20th.

The west end of the district were very fortunate to have Frances Gibson Harder for our mailman after our address changed and we no longer had Graham Allen of Tofield.

Oil painting classes will start at the Crafts Centre on Feb. 8th through to March 15 - each Tuesday night from 7-9 p.m.

A whist drive will be held at the centre on Jan. 23. All are welcome and lunch will be served.

YOUR SPENDING PLAN
"Times are tough" - we keep hearing it in the news and on the streets. What are you and your family doing to make better use of resources at hand?
In order to cope with high prices and job insecurity, every family should establish some kind of spending plan. Such a plan ensures there will be money available when insurance and taxes are due. It can mean manageable credit payments. But best of all, a spending plan can mean reaching certain family goals, like taking a vacation, buying a dishwasher or even renovating your home.
One of the first steps to setting up a spending plan is deciding what the family priorities are. This can be a difficult stage because we often have different goals in mind. Once priorities are established and a time line set, go about deciding just how your family will reach these goals. Your first priority may be to set aside an emergency fund - just in case a breadwinner becomes ill or a job is lost.
Setting aside a predetermined amount off the top each month, will ensure money is there for your priorities. Much better to have a Christmas fund set up before December, than to pay off expensive charge accounts into the new year.
The Home Economics Branch of Alberta Agriculture has a series of publications designed to help farm families cope with financial planning and management. Contact this office for your free copy of the COPE series.

CARDS OF THANKS

WE, the family of the late Ann Onuska wish to thank her many relatives and friends who visited our mother during her stay at the Royal Alex and Glenrose Hospitals.
Thank you for the many flowers, plants, cards, gifts and visits.
We also wish to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives and friends for their messages of sympathy, acts of kindness, spiritual and floral tributes, donations to various funds, baking provided to us at this time of loss of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother
Special thanks to Dr. Coffee and Dr. Coglon and nurses for the special care given to her.
Thank you to father Jumper Kaulier for officiating at prayer service and funeral.
Thanks to Barb Meiber, the choir, altar boys, the U.C.W. of the Holy Heart of Mary for serving lunch after prayer service.
Many thanks to the Bruce Ag Society for their acts of kindness and lovely lunch served after the funeral.
Thanks to Earl Kjelland of Ronaghans Funeral Services for their kindness and understanding.

They're home!!

Look at those smiling faces, the Scouts are home. After joining the jet set for the past month taking in such warm places as Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, etc., etc., the Scouts have returned to sunny Alberta. Next week, the Mercury hopes to carry a full account of the trip. Lesley Primeau photo

Site tests underway

by Lesley Primeau

After months of waiting, perimeter drilling has commenced on the Magnesco property on the outskirts of Ryley.

The drilling will further determine what kind of soil is in the region that could possible become the multi-million dollar hazardous waste treatment and disposal plant.

Hazardous waste has become almost a dirty word in the County of Beaver, but a group of residents in Ryley felt the proposal deserved a more indepth look and approached the Village Council who, along with the Advisory Committee approached the Department of Environment and requested that Ryley be looked at as a possible location.

Despite initial protests the group largest ahead and installed a 'vote' to be held within the Village for village residents only. The residents gave their approval in an overwhelming supportive vote and the Committee has stayed in touch with the Department of Environment. The recent election took precedent over all matters and the plant issue took a back seat.

Drilling is expected to take approximately four days and speculation suggests the drills will head north to Swan Hills, another community interested in housing the plant.

Although not confirmed, it is thought the drills have already finished drilling in Southern Alberta.

Following completion of the drilling program the soil samples will be tested extensively and the results made known in a few months.

The Department of Environment has been investigating a number of potential sites for the plant but, remain vague on an announcement date for construction.

ChemSecurity has been named as proponent of the plant although details of their proposal have not been made public.

Early last year the County of Beaver had investigated the possibility of housing the plant but, suspended all further discussion following a plebiscite which indicated the majority of county residents, excluding all towns and villages, were not interested in such a facility.

Ryley picked up the issue when they felt they might possess the required grade of soil and be free of any constraints.

Concern was raised by some groups who feel a plant in Ryley would be too close to the town's population and have an adverse effect on the quality of life in the area.

Toros still lead

A tie in their only outing enabled the Tofield Toros to retain sole possession of first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

No league games had been scheduled for Sunday night because of the annual all star game which was held in Camrose.

On Friday night, Toros will be at home to Kingman while Sunday's contest will be between the Toros and New Norway.

Toros are trying to complete arrangements for the rescheduling of a game with Bashaw.

In last Friday's action, Tofield and Round Hill battled to a 4-4 stalemate.

Lookback paced the Tofield attack with two markers while the singles were netted by G. Olsen and Gilbert.

Baycheck scored twice for Round Hill whose other goals came from Dixon and Wells.

Tofield was assessed twelve penalties to ten for the visitors.

Five members of the Toros went to Camrose on Sunday for the game between the CSHL All Stars and the defending champions from Sorrel.

Lauren Farmer was behind the bench for the All Stars and directed the team to an 10-4 triumph.

Don Henderson of the Toros notched two goals and was selected as the most valuable player in the All Star line-up.

Cable future uncertain

by Lesley Primeau

Many residents in the Town of Tofield have begun to wonder whether cable television will ever come to town. In recent weeks speculation has mounted over Delta Cable's ability to provide service to the town.

Delta Cable Company Ltd. canvassed the town last fall through the Tofield Lions and collected an estimated $10,000 in subscription fees with the alleged promise of providing cable television to the town by the end of last year. To date no service has been provided and efforts to contact the cable company have proved fruitless.

The Town of Tofield has taken out an ad in this week's issue of The Mercury saying they have lost confidence in the company and plan to suspend further negotiations pending their investigation of the company.

Some members of the Tofield Lions feel their good name has been tarnished by the company and feel the community at large may cast a doubtful eye on any further projects. The Lions have made no formal statement to the press at this time but are considering their next step.

Anyone calling Delta Cable Company will find that the telephone is no longer in service and the office they occupied at 5011-54 Avenue is now empty. The Mercury has made numerous efforts to contact company president Christopher Guy, but to no avail.

Efforts to trace Delta Cable Company Ltd. through the Consumers and Corporate Affairs Companies Branch has turned up the fact that the company, as named, has never been registered nor has Delta Cable Company Tofield Ltd.

It is not known at this time whether the R.C.M.P. will be conducting an investigation or if indeed any crime has been committed.

Gardeners meet

The Tofield Garden Club held their January meeting at the home of Doris and Howard Brown.

After the minutes were read and the financial report given and adopted, the question of offering to host the A.R.A. annual meeting, or the Provincial Show, was discussed.

It was decided not to make an offer at this time.

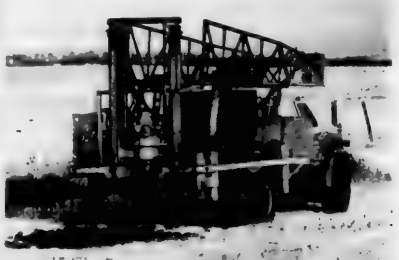
The membership fees were paid, and subscriptions for the Garden Clippings and Prairie Garden were taken.

It was decided to plan the entries for the 1983 Fair at the next meeting.

It was suggested that each member try do something to provide extra interest at meetings.

Lunch was served by Doris and Yvonne Brown while visiting was enjoyed by the ladies and men present.

It was decided to change the next meeting to Monday night, Jan. 31, and it will be with Myrtle Nerland in the Anglican Church meeting room.



Drilling begins

Perimeter drilling has begun in Ryley and if all goes well, residents in the village hope they may possible house the proposed hazardous waste treatment facility. The drilling is expected to be completed by the week's end and results will be made known in the coming months.

". . . Trudeau just came on the TV again . . . he says we're not going to have 1983 . . . just going straight into 1984, which should be a much better year . . ."

Punchin' Judy

Minister reponsible for the status of women, Judy Erola a couple of weeks ago stirred up a controversy royale as she suggested that the spousal exemption for income tax be deferred, with the equivalent benefit to be passed on to provide extended child care for working mothers.

She's been getting flak, and support, from all corners of the country, although so far the opposition seems far to outweigh the support.

While he was still president of Unifarm, Howard Falkenberg strongly condemned the suggestion, pointing out the effect, the injustice, it would work on farm wives, very few of whom go out to earn a separate wage, but who make mighty contributions to the economy of the country.

If anything, says Mr. Falkenberg, the spousal exemption should be doubled to bring it more in line with deductions available to couples who both work for wages. The spousal exemption for 1983, he points out, is $3,297, whereas a working spouse gets a tax break of over $6,000 in personal deductions, medical and employment expense deductions and non-taxable income.

Mrs. Erola may well have led with her chin in this match, but the point she introduced in trying to explain it all away, which is the need for a new look at the overall philosophy, deserves more attention than it's getting.

The debate should move back to the basic principle of the spousal exemption, even the basic personal exemption, in the first place. One taxpayer pointed out the other day it's only since the last war that any allowance has been made for a spouse in the first place.

Income tax was introduced in Canada, as we understand it, to help finance the First World War. And it has remained as a source of revenue ever since. Initially, it was intended only to "tax the rich", and to this end, even in the Twenties, there was a basic personal exemption of $3,000. In those days, anything over $3,000 really was rich.

But as the tax rate rose, and the exemption lowered, it seems the spousal exemption was introduced to, sort of, disguise the pernicious effect of the tax, as it reached every year closer to the level of the "common ole workin' man". Next, of course, followed the exemption for dependent children.

Each of them is already based on the cornerstone principle of taxation of taking the most tax from the level which has the greatest discretionary income. Obviously, a married person supporting a non-working spouse probably has less discretionary income than two earners, and a person supporting spouse and children has less still.

Beyond that, the increasingly high percentage of tax as incomes rise seems more than to take care of the discrepancy in income, such that some people, (and there are relatively few earning that much) spend more of their time working for the government than they do for themselves.

Erola deserves a great deal of commendation, but mainly for the need she points out to examine the overall principles involved. Time marches on, but we doubt it has marched on to the point where the government should encourage both parents to put their children in day care centres, while both go out to work. We used to decry the Russians bringing their children up in state institutions . . what's the difference, really?

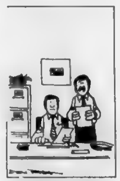
Patricia Young Says . . . .

Ever since the McCarthy Hearings of 1954, journalists and politicians alike seem to have been intimidated into not calling a communist a communist (even when the subject identifies himself or herself as such!) Angela Davis, a self declared member of the Central Committee of the U.S. Communist Party, is still delicately referred to by the Press as "A Marxist professor" - like some student who was once turned on by the idealism espoused by the would-be writer! On the other hand, the news media shows no reluctance at all in identifying anyone as a follower of the Klu Klux Klan or U.S. or Canadian Nazi Party!

Remember the reluctance in identifying Castro as a long time communist? Remember the cover up of Alendes communist philosophies in Chili? It was this cleverly contrived "fear of the smear" that found citizens observing darkly: "If he walks like a duck, quacks like a duck and looks like a duck, he most likely is a duck!" Remember that old reference to the nations "peaceniks" as "watermelons" (green on the outside but red inside!) All of it probably brought about by one successful lawsuit in the U.S.A, when the plaintiff sued because he was called a communist!

It would be interesting to see how much in damages a man might be awarded if he were erroneously called a Fascist reactionary or any one of the many trigger words used against those who oppose communism. Since a libel is presumed to be something injurious to the plaintiff, one wonders just why it should be felt injurious to be called a communist - but not a conservative, liberal, republican or democrat!

An example of this subtle downplaying of communism was even noted in the Canadian House of commons on February 18, 1982 when the government was questioned on a multi-million dollar loan granted to communist Algiers (courtesy of the Canadian taxpayer). In replying to criticism, we find the Parliamentary Secretary to the Solicitor General calmly indicating that the loan to build a monument to the Algerian communist revolution was merely "part of a massive line of credit to the "Marxist" regime. All of which was a little like trying to justify exacting a tax from bank depositors in order to provide the bank robbers with a faster get-away car!



"There's only one answer ... I've lost my libido! My subscription to Playboy just ran out ... and I don't even care."

Use new standards to paint highways

Alberta Transportation has adopted new highway painting standards for use on the province's highways system.

The revised highway painting standards, recently developed by the Roads and Transportation Association of Canada, will permit more efficient use of Alberta Transportation's regional painting. Transport Minister Henry Kroeger said: "It will allow the equipment to be used with greater flexibility and generally improve the overall quality of highway markings."

The new standards will provide painted markings that divide the paved portion of each road into travel lanes of equal and uniform width.

Thirty-Centimetre wide shoulder lines will be installed at interchanges and important intersections to assist the public in locating the exit and entrance points at these locations. In addition, wide-dashed lines will also be installed on all acceleration and deceleration ramps at these locations to advise motorists that they are entering or leaving the highway system.

The minister said that 1983 will be a transition period for implementing the change in highway painting standards, resulting in all highways being painted according to the new standards and applied over the existing markings. The duplication of markings is expected to remain for only a short period of time until the old ones are worn away. During this transition period, there will be no reduction in the safety aspects of the provincial highway system he added.

Said Mr. Kroeger: "By adopting these new standards, our highway painting procedure will become more efficient and with the increased emphasis on improved interchange and transition zone markings, it will also keep Alberta Transportation's road marking program abreast of the other provinces."

Bennet is named

Don Young, assistant director of Alberta Agriculture's extension division, has announced the following district agriculturist appointment.

Barbara Bennett has been appointed district agriculturist at Ryley, where she will replace Jerome Manchur who is on educational leave.

Ms. Bennett grew up on a mixed farm near Dodsland, Saskatchewan, and graduated from the University of Saskatchewan in 1981 with a major in crop science.

While at university, she spent two years as a regional 4-H specialist, and during her last summer she was a research assistant at Giessen University in West Germany.

Ms. Bennett recently completed her training in the Three Hills office where she worked with Jack Hazelwood and Ted Nibourg.

WHY BUSINESS OWNERS ARE SEEING RED

by W. Roger Worth

Canadians will soon be receiving their income tax forms in the mail, so it is perhaps an appropriate time to explain why people operating small and medium-sized companies are so angry about the number and complexity of the forms they are forced to fill out for government.

The issue is timely because the changes in the personal income tax form during the last 20 years or so are but one example of the kind of paper-burden entrepreneurs are forced to contend with.

Let's flash back to the 1960's. At that time, Revenue Canada was satisfied with a four page tax form. Canadians reported their income, lopped off a few deductions and either paid the tax bill or filed for a refund. It was a relatively simple exercise.

Now, Canadians are faced with a 30 page form, together with a multicoloured booklet explaining how easy it is to fill in this document.

This once simple process has become so complex that more and more people are forced to visit accountants and tax preparation experts as they attempt to save money.

Thankfully, this is a once-a-year happening.

Such is not the case for business people. They are forced to deal with such government-oriented paperwork on a week-to-week basis. They have to report federal and provincial sales taxes, Workers' Compensation and unemployment insurance changes and dozens of other pieces of paperwork, including information for that federal government monster called Statistics Canada.

In fact, most smaller firms are spending 10 hours a week or more handling the government's paperwork and red tape.

The tragedy, of course, is that the time could be better spent operating the business, allowing the entrepreneur to expand and create new jobs, or at least maintain present employment levels.

The hard fact is that governments are placing to heavy a burden on business people who would rather hustle new sales than spend hours filling in forms.

So this year when you're completing your tax return, give a little thought to the entrepreneur's plight. If you were in his or her shoes, you would be completing such forms virtually every week of the year.

Satellites extend lead

Tofield Satellites gained some breathing room at the top of the standings in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

And the league has been reduced to six teams following Killam's withdrawal last week.

Satellites picked up a win in their only outing of the past week and extended their lead to three points over Lamont.

After having four games in a row postponed, Killam approached the league's executive for concessions. When their requests were denied, Killam pulled out of the league.

This marked the second winter in a row that Killam was withdrawn from a league. Killam pulled out of the Battle River Hockey League late last winter when that league cancelled the league finals in which Killam was a participant.

All games involving the Killam team have been deleted from the standings.

Saturday's action will see Holden at home to Mundare while Ryley travels to Lamont.

On Tuesday night, Holden will host Viking while Tofield will play in Lamont.

Every game in the league has now become critical for both Viking and Holden.

One more loss and Viking will be eliminated from playoff competition while Holden can't afford any more than three losses.

The race for first place is far from settled with Tofield, Lamont, Mundare and Ryley all in contention.

Even though there is a month remaining in the schedule, league officials decided not to revise the schedule after Killam's withdrawal and as a result, each team will finish the season with a total of nineteen games played.

In action during the past week, Tofield edged Holden 8-6 (?), Ryley edged Viking 5-4, Mundare whipped Viking 13-4 while Tofield and Mundare battled to a 7-7 draw.

Standings to date (not including Tuesday) follow.

The whist drive on Friday evening at the Crafts Centre, was well attended.

Prizes for men went to 1st - George Lee; 2nd - Pat Paterson; Consolation - John Vandermeer.

Ladies 1st - Irene Scott; 2nd - Clare MacLean; Consolation - Jean Kleinschroth.

A lunch was served by the ladies.

Another whist drive was announced for Jan. 21.

Glenn and Edna Ferguson, along with Grant, Gloria and Jacquelyne Pearice of Edmonton, returned home on Jan. 8th after spending a two-week vacation in Yuma, Arizona, also visiting in Mexico.

The Ladies Club meeting for January was held at the Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Betty Williams, club treasurer, gave her financial report for the year and it was once again a most profitable one.

Donations were sent to many charitable organizations throughout the year, a child was sent to Camp He Ho Ha in the summer as well as a generous donation was given to the local Community Hall.

Jean Ferguson gave her sick committee report and once again many cards for the sick, rose bowls and at Christmas time Poinsettia plants to several senior citizens who were not well.

In February, instead of the regular meeting, the club plans to go to the Golden Club tea and bake sale in Tofield.

Lunch was served by Betty Williams and Jean Ferguson.

On Feb. 17th, Maggie and Hector Hamilton of Fort Macleod will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

IS IT ECONOMICAL FOR YOU

"How many bushels of grain would have to be dried to justify the purchase of an electronic moisture controller?" This question came into our office recently and we thought you might be interested in the following information.

The capital cost of the moisture controller is justified by certain benefits. Obviously the reduction in labour time and management costs for drying grain is a reason for buying a controller. The moisture level in the grain can be accurately controlled. Certain tax advantages should also be considered. Both the Capital Cost Allowance and Business Investment Tax Credit are incentive if the purchase is being considered.

The following results were obtained when calculating the economics of the purchase. The assumptions were made that 60 lb/bushel wheat is $4.35/bushel and 48 lb/bushel barley is $2.00/bushel. If wheat is overdried in a Vertec drier from 14.2 per cent moisture to 12 per cent, the drier would have to put through 19,133 bushels to cover the cost of the controller. If overdrying from 14.2 to 13 per cent occurred, the volume would have to be 37,205.

When drying barley from 14.2 per cent to 12 per cent, 30,000 bushels would have to be dried to justify the controller cost. From 14.2 to 13 per cent, the volume of barley would have to be 63,333 bushels. This cost, of course, can be spread over more than one year.

Overdrying can be costly. Perhaps the purchase of an electronic moisture controller would be feasible in your operation.

PULSE GROWER'S SEMINAR

A considerable amount of poor quality pulse seed was harvested this year. Therefore, farmers are wondering about alternative markets for pulse crops. The "Pulse Crop Production and Marketing Strategies" seminar will provide this information. It will be held Jan. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. in Camrose. To register, call the D.A.'s office in Camrose ([illegible]) by Jan. 19.

(intended for last week)

BARLEY PRODUCTION SURVEY

During the early part of 1981, D.A.'s from many areas were asked to select a number of top barley producers from their respective districts to participate in a barley-canola production survey. Three hundred and twenty-five barley growers were selected and each was asked to complete an extensive forty-one page questionnairre that dealt with all of the aspects of barley production.

The data was then statistically analyzed and the effect of abnormal moisture was eliminated from the data by selecting only those farms that received adequate rainfall. Two yield groups were established. The top yield group averaged 94 bushels per acre and the bottom yield group averaged 49 bushels per acre. Remember that this is the bottom portion of the top producers selected by the D.A.'s.

The following are some of the conclusions drawn from the survey results and some of these are rather interesting.

Top producers:

1) Place high emphasis on doing as much fall work as possible to free up valuable time in spring. Therefore, fall application of fertilizers and herbicides are considered very important.
2) Seed into a firm seedbed.
3) Harrow after seeding to achieve better seed to soil contact.
4) Seed on or before the third week in May or as early as possible, taking into account soil temperatures in abnormal years.
5) Use modern feed varieties (forsaking the possibilities of malting) and consider those varieties with lodging resistance.
6) Seed at 1¼ to 1¾ bushels per acre and emphasize the use of pedigreed seed.
7) Use high rates of nitrogen and phosphorus, with anhydrous ammonia being the most common source of nitrogen.
8) Achieve a uniform stand of seedlings with vigorous early growth which produces a heavy plant population.
9) Use triallate (Avadex) for wild oat control and rely on post-emergent wild oat chemicals primarily as backup.
10) Seriously consider tankmixes to broaden the spectrum of broad-leaf weed control.

It is very important to note here, that any one of these factors by itself was not responsible for placing a farmer in the top yield bracket. The high yields are attributed to a combination of all the management practices, however small they each may be. Also important is the fact that not all these observations will apply to every farm. Each situation is unique and potential yields are extremely dependent upon the farmer's ability to recognize the effects of each factor on his own farm operation.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arnston

The Citadel on Wheels came from Edmonton on Jan. 16 to perform in the Hay Lakes School gymnasium. Elementary students from Sifton, Round Hill and Kingman, as well as the Hay Lakes students, viewed an artistic production of "Hansel and Gretel".

Square dancing classes commenced at the Hay Lakes Rec Centre on Jan. 5. The Hay Lakes Hillbilly Swingers will hold a fun night of square dancing followed by a supper on Jan. 19. Tickets available from Alvin Bussiere.

The Ladies Circle "S" Club will hold their first meeting of the year on January 30 at 8 p.m. at the home of Marlene Wahl.

Members of the St. Joseph Lutheran Church congregation and members of the Scandia Lutheran Church congregation met at the Armena skating rink on Sunday afternoon for a hockey game. The teams were closely matched, Scandia won the game 4-3. Following the game a wiener roast was held and hot beans and coffee served.

The two church groups plan to hold an afternoon of cross-country skiing at Miquelon on Feb. 6. The afternoon will conclude with a hot lunch at St. Joseph Church.

Young and old alike have been enjoying the skating facilities at Hay Lakes during the past six weeks. Skating parties with music and lunch are held on Friday evenings. Parents have shown good cooperation in assisting with supervision and caretaking.

Ted Hansen returned home on Friday afternoon following a week's stay as a patient in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Pastor Greg Kjos will be doing the services at Our Savior Lutheran Church during the month of January.

Our Savior will hold their annual meeting on Jan. 20 at 8 p.m.

The annual meeting for Wilderness Church will be held on Jan. 29 at 1 p.m.

Adult confirmation classes will be held at St. Johns Lutheran Church in New Sarepta commencing Jan. 16, each Sunday evening through to April. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Reg and Freda Hall have returned to their home in Peterborough, Ont. after spending a month in Alberta visiting their son, James Hall and family at Hay Lakes and a daughter in Edmonton.

Mrs. Gladys McGilligan of Summerland, B.C. spent two weeks visiting at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Lil and Lloyd Grams, and with relatives in northern Alberta during the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lager and children, Murray, Scott and Kristi of Peace River spent four days with Robert's parents John and Elsie Lager, during the school holidays. On their homeward route they spent some time in Mortsville where Murray played in a hockey tournament. A team from Peace River of which Murray is a member participated in the Mortsville tournament.

The First Hay Lakes Scout Troop Committee meeting will be held Jan. 19 in the basement of Our Savior Church. Anyone interested in the Scout movement is welcome to attend.

Scouts return!

by Lesley Primeau

After more than thirty days of globe trotting, the Tofield and Ryley Scouts have returned to the quiet confines of home with tales of adventure from such exotic places as Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Hawaii, Los Angeles and numerous airports.

The Scouts and their leaders worked almost six months at every available job, large and small in an effort to raise the necessary funds. The purpose of the trip was to attend the Australian Jamboree in Sydney, an event that more than thrilled the young men.

The Mercury will hopefully carry the Scouts' account of their travels and the Jamboree in next week's edition.

At that time, the paper hopes to have a story from the Tofield Scouts as well as the Ryley Scouts.

The Scouts dragged their weary jet lagged bodies through Edmonton International Airport Customs at about 10:00 p.m. Sunday into the arms of many parents and relatives.

The arrival committee came to the airport prepared with warm jackets to offset the temperature change from Los Angeles to Edmonton.

Although the Scouts appeared to be a bit tired, they mustered enough energy to tell everyone in mass frenzy how glad they were to be home; however they did admit they would like to go back sometime.

The awful truth

Our new Minister is widely quoted to have said, "Alberta's secondary agricultural industry can't take off until the Crow rate dispute is settled." Does the term 'take off' mean much more canola processing, meat packing, alfalfa dehydrating and vegetable production than in 1982? The answer seems to be 'no'.

Does 'take off' refer to more prosperity for cattle feeders, meat packers, vegetable processors and alfalfa pelleters than at present, while maintaining production at about the 1982 level? The answer, while obscure, seems to be a qualified 'yes'.

Would new export markets for beef, pork, alfalfa, vegetables and canola products appear and in turn permit consumption within Alberta of large portions of Alberta's 1982 grain production? The answer is 'not likely'.

The Budget has no quarrel with Leroy S.'s definition on his objectives. This province needs to see some industry take off. We suspect, however, that the Minister is having almost as much trouble getting a copy of defined plans for expansion through investment from any of the secondary industries except perhaps vegetables. We think he should tell those industries so. If there is a bright tomorrow for Alberta based canola, fertilizer, meat packing or alfalfa dehydration, the people of this province would like to admire it on New Year's Eve.

If we are close to right when we say that the ability to develop and command large new markets for the products mentioned, or others, is conditional on permission from Quebec, the U.S.A., Australia, Japan or the E.E.C., then let someone in authority say so now. The farmer-investors of Alberta deserve to be told the truth. The Crow-Gilson Bland started ten months ago. Only export grain interests have projected positively during that time. Only export grain has pledged expansion and modernization. If that is where our strength is and the other industries mentioned are insecure, let us say so. If by chance they are insecure for reasons more basic, profound and unmanageable than Crow rates, let us say that too.

We would all be healthier, wealthier, and more secure with a strong, diversified agricultural economy. The suspicion is that philosophy, greed and desperation have begun to 'protect' Albertans from truth. We hope to see copious evidence soon that the fears expressed in this article are unfounded. If we do we will tell our readers promptly.

Ladies win games

Despite last minute arrangements and a slight lack of publicity, the Tofield Powder Puffs had a good crowd in the Arena on Saturday afternoon when they met the Mighty Miles in dazzling hockey action.

Silks and sox were cast aside as the ladies skated to an 8-3 victory preparing them for their second challenge of the weekend Beta Sigma Phi ladies met the Powder Puffs Sunday afternoon in another enjoyable match.

Beta Sigma Phi called in a few young fellows to add their cause but, even that was not enough as the Powder Puffs kept the pressure on for the entire game and won with a 5-3 victory.

All this hockey has given the ladies a chance to show their talents and next Wednesday (Jan. 26) in the Tofield Arena the Powder Puffs will tangle with the Miles A and on Jan. 29th will take on the Mighty Miles. Game time Wednesday is 5:30 p.m., game time on the Saturday will be 12:30 p.m.

Around the town

by Lesley Primeau

The Salem Youth group will be knocking on your door in the near future with some light bulbs for sale. At a mere $3.00 per package, which includes 2 - 60 watt and 1 - 100 watt bulbs it really is a good deal. This enterprising group is trying to raise the money for the National Youth gathering to be held in Bethlehem later this year. So how about some good community support?

Welcome home Jon and Edith Kauffman!! This travelling couple has just returned home from a two month adventure to eastern Canada and the United States. On their trip they made a one month sojourn to Florida and naturally soaked up that wonderful sunshine!

Next Wednesday, the 26th of Jan. is Bingo day at the Legion in Tofield. Grab a friend or two and have some fun. Don't forget the Bonspiel which is set for the 30th. It's a busy week to keep track. And while you're at it . . . buy a ticket on the truck . . . and buy one on the Lion's Duchess.

EWARE!! Watch out for that 4-way stop in beautiful downtown Tofield. In case you haven't noticed, it sits right on the corners of the Bank of Montreal, Swift's, Town and Country and the Elizabeth Shop . . . which is now a shoe store . . . If you slide through that intersection it could mean a ticket . . . so STOP . . . is the magic word.

Hello to visitors Horace and Kay McSieffey who used to live in our fair town. Visiting from beautiful Whiterock, B.C., the McSieffey's have had a wonderful time visiting many friends. It's certainly nice to see folks come home once in a while . . . welcome.

This may come as a strange surprise or shock but if you have a special someone in mind for Valentine's Day and you plan to surprise them with roses, you'd better order them. I got the jolt of my life when I popped into Judy's in Tofield and discovered that roses have gone up so much in price you have to order them ahead . . . plan now or you may be in the dog house. Meanwhile Judy is planning to add a greenhouse and grow her own, or on the other hand she may simply move the shop closer to the supply . . . South Africa, I hear . . . Remember hearts day!!

If you plan to enroll your child in gymnastics you'd better do it soon. They started class last week but if you give Kathy Bunney a call and tell her a nice sob story things could be arranged.

And last but certainly not least, spare a little time to pop into our office this Friday, we are celebrating Hilda's 18th birthday and in no small way. I hear rumour that at least two people will be there to celebrate and since Hilda doesn't know anything about it (I'm counting on the fact that she hasn't read the paper) do come and join us. Remember Friday, drop in for some good wishes and fun . . .

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Yeates

The equivalent of 30 classrooms of children die each year of poisoning. There are two age groups in which poisonings are most common, and these are surprisingly far apart.

The largest number occur between the ages of six months to about six years — the developing years during which curiosity outstrips understanding. Boys and girls are almost equally involved.

The incidence of poisen ingestion is distinctly rare between the ages of six and 12 years.

During the next six-year period the frequency of poisoning is again high: a disturbing statistic. Girls in this age group outnumber boys by a factor of about three to one. Adolescent poisonings are usually either an attempt at suicide or due to an attention-gaining suicidal gesture.

Most poisonings are caused by common household chemicals, items found virtually in every kitchen, bathroom or workshop. Even when parents of young children keep the obviously dangerous materials in a locked cupboard, a curious child still has lots of opportunity to get into trouble.

The teenager is usually poisoned by prescription or over-the-counter drugs. The disturbed young person has little discrimination and it seems that any pill or tablet, alone or in combination, will serve. The overdosees (O.D.'s in medical jargon) of strange drug combinations often complicates treatment.

The principles of managing a case of poisoning are identification of the material, provision of life support care, removal of remaining poison from the stomach (in most cases), and use of specific antidotes or neutralizers if any are available. Our bodies are able to excrete many toxic substances if we are kept alive long enough to do so.

Prevention is the best management. Those in charge of toddlers must keep poisons out of reach. Disturbed and depressed teenagers must be identified and helped before they reach the stage of taking an overdose.

Ipecac syrup should be in every medicine cupboard. It causes vomiting and is safe to use in all cases of poisoning except those due to petroleum products, strychnine or caustics such as lye.

Kingman district notes

Herbert and Agda Asp observed their 40th Wedding Anniversary on Jan. 9, when their children Lorry Asp and Carolyn Cunningham held open house for them in the Kingman Hall. Present to honor them were relatives and friends of the community as well as from Camrose, Wetaskiwin, New Norway, Tofield, St. Albert, Sherwood Park, Calgary and Edmonton. Seated at the head table with Agda and Herbert were: Bernice Lawson (Herbert's sister) and Gustau Ekdahl (Agda's brother), bridesmaid and bestman. Agda's sister, Alisha Winder, spoke of days past and sang a solo. Grandchildren, Curtis, Linnea and Michael Cunningham played a piano trio. The Baptist Church quartet sang, accompanied on the piano by Carol Schmidt. After reminiscing of the past and best wishes for the future a purse of money was presented to Ray Peterson.

The money will be sent to a Mission Bible School in the jungles of Peru and Herbert and Agda gave their thanks for the gift and for such a memorable day. Lunch and fellowship followed. Carol Schmidt was emcee and Linnea Cunningham was in charge of the guest book.

Nelle and John Kozack and Dick, Sharon and Rick Saudy were Jan. 9 supper guests at the home of Peter and Helen Rindahl of Camrose.

Kingman school students had a holiday on Jan. 6 when their teachers attended a computer workshop in Camrose. On Jan. 10 the students and teachers attended an operetta entitled "Elwood and Crystal" which was held in the Hay Lakes School.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford and family have moved to Kingman. They are living in the home directly south of Peterson's Upholstery.

Dick, Sharon, and Rick Saudy and John Kozack were weekend visitors at the home of Larry and Ann Kozack of Dalhousie. Rick remained and Schmidt was emcee and Linnea Cunningham was in charge of the guest book.

Nelle and John Kozack and Dick, Sharon and Rick Saudy were Jan. 9 supper guests at the home of Peter and Helen Rindahl of Camrose.

FUNERAL SERVICES
(part two)

In our last article we looked at the initial preparations one should consider when planning for a funeral. Today we are going to look at the alternatives between burial and cremation.

There are two methods of burial. The first is an in-ground burial whereby the remains are placed in a casket and lowered into the ground. Some cemeteries require a liner of wood or concrete built over, without a bottom, this structure keeps the ground even and solid to allow for easier maintenance.

The second type of burial is relatively uncommon but occurs when the remains of the casket are permanently placed in a building or mausoleum above or just below the ground.

Cemetary costs vary widely. It may be wise to ask for a written statement listing all costs before the purchase is finalized. Inquire about the following points:

*plot prices: graves may vary in price between cemeteries and also according to location within a cemetery. As well, restrictions may vary as to the type of burial (such as in a shroud rather than a casket) and vault requirements (may require none);

*veterans' rates: reduced rates may be given to veterans, although not necessarily for their spouses, sometimes spouses may not be buried nearby, but ashes may be scattered on or in the plot;

*grave markers: some cemeteries restrict the style and even the supplier;

*installation charges on grave markers and monuments;

*permanent care costs;

*vault or box requirements: not mandatory by law, but may be a requirement of individual cemeteries;

*double occupancy: some cemeteries allow two burials, one deep and one shallow, in one plot;

*price of grave opening and closing; and *whether there is a surcharge for non-residents of the area.

Cremation offers practical advantages in a time of urban sprawl and increasing land prices. A cemetery plot is not necessary and cremation is generally less expensive than is burial. The average cost runs 200 to $125 exclusive of additional services.

The process of cremation involves the incineration of both body and coffin, if one is used. There is no legislation in Alberta requiring that a coffin be used in cremations. However, funeral chapels and crematoria most often request that the body be enclosed in a container which is combustible, of rigid construction and equipped with handles. This may be home-made if you choose. The use of such a box allows the body to be handled in a dignified way. A few crematoria, however, are prepared to cremate a body wrapped only in a sheet or shroud.

After cremation, there is usually a small amount of ash remaining. This may be disposed of by the crematorium, usually by scattering, or returned to the next-of-kin, usually in cardboard container suitable for shipping. If the ashes are to be kept by the family, an urn can be made or purchased. There are no legal restrictions in Alberta regarding scattering of ashes by the family at a chosen spot such as a body of water or in the wild. Cemetery facilities for receiving ashes vary. Some cemeteries have an urn garden where cremation plots, two feet square, are available for burial of the urn; some have a columbarium, which is an above ground structure of recessed niches to hold cremation urns; or alternately, ashes may be scattered or buried in a family plot, provided permission has been given by cemetery authorities.

Most crematoria and funeral homes will provide temporary storage of ashes, for example in winter, until the family can more conveniently handle arrangements for disposal.

It's absolutely amazing the amount of fun and frivolity one can have with a set of tires. Older folks prefer them to be on a vehicle but, young Linda Bonham finds them, mounted like this to be all the fun she can handle. Lesley Primeau photo

Mainstream Canada

At the moment it's a consumers' market

By W. Roger Worth

These are heady days for Canadian consumers. While companies large and small are earning reduced profits or losing money, competition among the participants for the consumer dollar is downright cut-throat as they attempt to maintain sales.

Yet Canadians have been slow to react, putting away their hard-earned cash as they save for a rainy day. In fact, Canadians are now saving about 12 percent of personal income, up from 6 percent only 10 years ago.

One reason, of course, is the high interest rates that have provided a very real incentive for people to save rather than spend. But rates are coming down. Last year, for example, the interest rate on Canada Savings Bonds was 19-1/2 percent. This year's rate is 12 percent.

A more fundamental reason for the increased savings, though, may be the same fear and uncertainty in business that has created bargain-basement prices in the market place. With more than 1.5 million unemployed and new layoff announcements appearing daily, Canadians have now become conditioned to the fact that they could be jobless in months to come.

Still, it really is a buyers' [illegible] be wise to shop around, seeking the most competitive prices. In their search, they shouldn't neglect the smaller shops that may not look like they can compete with the huge department stores, but in fact may have the best prices in town.

Many consumers may not realize it, but they are also picking up food at fire-sale prices. Someone, of course, has to pay. And in this instance it's the farmers and fishermen who are earning very little for their efforts or in fact losing money on every pound of produce they sell. This can't go on forever, but while it lasts, consumers are winners.

Again, in housing, the consumer is "king" (or "queen"). House prices have dropped dramatically in most areas of the country, and mortgage rates are down six or seven percentage points in the last year or so. In addition, the federal government is offering a $3,000 grant on the purchase of a new house, as well as to first time home buyers. Some provincial governments are also subsidizing mortgage rates on homes.

All of this underscores the point that things are not entirely bad. While the recession has created a huge army of unemployed, it has also sparked the heated competition that produces bargain prices, which is at least [illegible]

Way to go!!

Let's hear three cheers for the Ryley School . . . and then let's see how many kids we can pile on the tires. This could go down in the annals of major accomplishments like, how many people can you squeeze in a phone booth or the ever popular, how many goldfish can you swallow. How many carefree spirits can you count . . . good luck. Lesley Primeau photo

Over 90% are working

Ernie Isley, Minister of Alberta Manpower, announced that 90.3 percent of Alberta's Labour Force was [illegible]

This represents 1,057,000 people actually employed, a decrease of 20,000 or 2.7 percent from December, 1981.

The actual number of people in the province's labour force during December totalled 1,171,000, an increase of 39,000 or 3.5 percent, from the same month last year.

In actual terms, the unemployment rate of 9.7 percent represents 114,000 unemployed, compared to 4.1 percent or 47,000 unemployed [illegible]

On a seasonally adjusted basis, Alberta's Labor Force increased from 1,179,000 in November to 1,196,000 in December and [illegible] increased from 1,064,000 to 1,080,000.

Mr. Isley cited statistics Canada's Labour Force survey as the source of the statistics on employment and [illegible]

Despite [illegible] in the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate, Alberta still has the second lowest rate of unemployment and the highest level of employment in relation to population.

Mr. Isley stated that "the reason unemployment has continued to increase in Alberta [illegible] cucumlative consequence of abnormal in-migration from other provinces over the past few years, particularly in areas where over-capacity now exists, such as in con[illegible]ing."

"I am encouraged that the number of people employed in Alberta during December actually increased by 3,000. [illegible] recovery becomes more pro[illegible] and world wide, economic recovery in Canada, including Alberta, will be gradual and as a result unemployment rates are expected to be higher over the first months of 1983", Mr. Isley continued.

The province of Alberta's priority employment program, which got underway in November, improved the employment situation somewhat by creating over 1,000 jobs last month.

The full impact of the program, however, will not take effect until January and February, when up to 7,000 new jobs will be created.

SPRING TUNE UP

Even though winter has hardly hit us, I am already thinking in terms of spring. In conjunction with the Home Economics from Vegreville, Lamont and Two Hills, as well as ladies from each area, I am planning a mini-conference at Vegreville, Feb. 2.

It is open to all women and will be an opportunity to hear new ideas, share and meet new friends. We have lined up several speakers for the day on such topics as fashions, hostessing, family communication, women and the law and a panel discussion on living with inflation.

The seminar will be held at the Homesteader in Vegreville, Feb. 2 from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. A registration fee of $7 covers coffee and lunch. If you are interested, give me a call at 663-3655. We hope to see you and a friend there!

HOME ENERGY CONSERVATION SEMINAR

Another upcoming seminar in Vegreville is designed for homeowners wanting information on planning, building and operating low energy homes.

Topics to be covered include interior and exterior design, passive solar techniques, heating systems, air to air exchangers and much more.

This course is a must for those building a new home or even renovating. It is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 4 at the Provincial Building in Vegreville. Pre-registration is requested, as a minimum number is required. To register phone this office or the Agriculture Office in Vegreville, 632-3361.

Be sure to check the Further Education brochure for other courses being offered this winter.

Film to be shown

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Ministerial Association will be featuring a film on the life of Joni Eareckson; a young woman, who despite a crippling accident has made a name for herself as a gifted author, painter, singer and now actress.

Reflections of Love, produced by World Wide Pictures, a film ministry of Billy Graham Association, will recount the accident that left Joni paralised from the neck down and provide an insight to the remarkable determination that has brought her through life.

The Tofield Ministerial Association will present Reflections of His Love at the Tofield Community Centre, January 30 at 7:30 p.m.

In the course of the movie, viewers will be able to see how Joni relates to her family, how she copes with day to day living and how she has grown into an accomplished artist.

Her drawings, done by mouth, have been seen around the country in various exhibitions and her two books, 'Joni' and 'A Step Further' have become best sellers. Her most recent accomplishmet and involvement of her new ministry, Joni and Friends.

Believing the film to be of inspiration to everyone, the Tofield Ministerial Association will be showing it free of charge.

This is a bit and miss column . . . which translated into English means I am totally unprepared for today and with that basic spirit I propose that we cancel it and proceed straight to the ice cream shoppe to settle the matter over a delightful chocolate shake.

This is how to start your new year, with the worst cheesie joke . . . ready?? What's orange and crawls along the ground?? A wounded cheesie . . . alright already, it's not like you paid to get in you know.

How about that mayor of Ryley?? Such a fine fellow, everytime I see him he reminds me how many times the roving reporter muddles up his comments and that . . . he says very little to me . . . that's okay you know, but now I have to find a class that teaches sign language. On the other hand if I had this effect on more politicians, I could make a career out of making them keep their feet out of their mouths . . . speaking of which I'm going to get a t-shirt made that says roving reporter, I answer to that faster than my own name now, that's degrading. Really folks, Larry's a nice guy, reminds me of a cheesie joke.

Last week the tooth fairy made a surprise visit to me . . . dropped off this delightful pail of homemade cookies, from this wonderful lady in Ryley. Yessiree bob, Harriett Ruddy makes a mighty fine chocolate chip cookie, a tasty oatmeal nibble, decent shortbread and whatever those others were, they were great. Now all I have to do is hope the good Lord grants me a third set of teeth. Is it any small wonder I have a distant kinship with the goodyear blimp aside from my Michelin tires?? Thanks Harriett, what might I do for you in return? Want a collection of my best cheesie jokes??

And the New Year's Bunney dropped in yesterday, not your yesterday, mine, and left some tasty, fattening Toffifay . . . is that stuff good or what?? Beats the you know what out of a dead cheesie.

Incidently what's orange and hides in a tree? A cheesie hiding from a dog . . . What's multi-coloured with orange around the mouth?? A parrot after eating the cheesie hiding in the tree. Is there no end to this girl's wit?? I daresay not.

I have an even better one about what's orange and hides in a closet, but this is a family column. However I will let you in on the famous, what's orange and goes slam, slam slam, slam?? A four door cheesie?? Need I remind you before you throw those tomatoes that we are in the throes of an economic depression???

Now if you are ready for the taffy of the day . . . Describe the taste of water in ten words or less and if you are the winning entry you loose . . . And remember if you are a friend of Ziggy's tomorrow is your day to chop sticks.

Now that I have thoroughly confused and pickled my brain (I know some really good pickle jokes if you want) I think I shall nod off to never ever land and hope that tomorrow I awaken and discover this was all a really bad dream and for the past week I have been stranded in Hawaii with Thomas Selleck . . . we all have our price.

Miller wins

Pat Miller is keeping it in the family this year.

The Strome curler teamed up with three brothers this winter for a family rink and the move paid off during the past week.

The zone men's curling championship bonspiel was held in Dayaland and the Miller quartet rolled off five straight victories to win the zone crown.

The weekend triumph will advance the Miller team to the Northern Alberta championship bonspiel which will be held in Edmonton on the final weekend of this month.

The three brothers who lined up with Pat this winter are Jim, Maurice and Donald.

Miller's first four games resulted in easy victories as not one of those games went the distance.

The Strome quartet racked up wins over Ken Hebert of Bruce, Ian Eckstrand of Sedgewick and Les Zaraki of Camrose before he defeated Randy Erickson of Tofield in the 'A' finals.

Miller's only close match came in the 'A-B' finals when he earned a narrow 8-4 decision over Reg Enright of Bawlf.

Three other zone playoffs will be held this coming weekend.

The senior and junior men's competition will be held in Holden while mixed playdowns will be hosted by Tofield.

"Non-smoking Week" to begin this Sunday

It is National Non-Smoking week in Canada next week (Jan. 23 - 29).

A special emphasis on non-smoking is scheduled for next Wednesday (Jan. 26th which has been tabled "Weedless Wednesday".

Non-smoking week is being sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society.

Smoking has been labelled as one of the major causes of cancer and the week of non-smoking is designed to bring this fact to the attention of as many people as it is possible.

The society has a public education program whose objective is to persuade and assist people to stop smoking and where possible, persuade them not to start the habit.

The national society has a publicity campaign in effect all across the country to bring next week to the attention of Canadians.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs. A. Arnston

A former resident of the Hay Lakes district, John Lofgren passed away in an Edmonton hospital on Jan. 12 at the age of 70 years. He is survived by his wife Frieda; two sons, Ed and his wife Betty of Camrose, Don of Lethbridge; three daughters, Jeanne and husband Clarence Huebner of Hay Lakes, Jane and husband Phillip Fedak of Victoria, B.C., Terry Lofgren of Edmonton; six grandchildren; five sisters, Dagney Lyseng, Ina Djuve and Hedwig Swanson all of Camrose, Verna Lindberg of Victoria, B.C. and Hattie Ramsey of New York. He was predeceased by his parents, one infant son and two brothers. Funeral services were held on Jan. 15 at Strathearn United Church in Edmonton with Rev. W.E. Burgess and Rev. Richard Dixon officiating. Rev. Dixon is a nephew of the deceased and he also had the task of officiating at the funeral of another uncle, Lawrence Schlender, last October.

Pallbearers were Richard Lofgren, Aldo Pace, Allan Lofgren, Eldon Nordin, Greg Dixon and Gerry Grue. Interment was at the Beechmount Cemetery.

John was born and raised on his parents homestead in the Hay Lakes Sulitjelma District. In 1934 he and his brother Eric purchased the Hay Lakes International Harvester dealership, Imperial Oil Agency and the light plant for the villages' electrical power. John sold his share of Lofgren Bros. in 1943 and took over his parents farm upon their retirement. While farming he also became the Imperial Oil Agent between 1955-1962, handling bulk fuel and oil. John and his wife Frieda purchased a home in Edmonton in 1967. However John continued to farm for another 10 years before retiring and renting the farm to his son-in-law. He was a frequent visitor to Hay Lakes and enjoyed working at his hobbies on the farm.

The Hay Lakes and District [illegible] will hold their annual meeting on Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. in the Rec Centre. Everyone is welcome to attend and it is hoped local residents will come out and voice their opinions and give their assistance for future projects. There are still a few tickets left for the Jan. 28 dance and these may be obtained at the Big M Food [illegible].

Carissa Dawn Lofgren, daughter of Roger and Marilyn Lofgren of Edmonton, passed away on Jan. 10 at the age of six months. Besides her parents she leaves a sister, Candice; paternal grandparents Ivar and Anna Lofgren who are formerly of Hay Lakes, maternal grandparents Earl and Leola Pottage of Edmonton; great-grandmothers Mrs. Agnes Carlstrom of Camrose and Mrs. E. Slemp of Castor.

Mr and Mrs Clarence Servold, their son Marty and daughter Louann, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pearson, Georgia Selin and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Naslund all returned home during the weekend following a two-week vacation spent in Honolulu. During their stay there was very little rain with temperatures in the mid-80's, thus a very relaxing time was had sunning on the beaches. They also visited a cousin, Lyle Webster and his wife who [illegible].

The Hay Lakes Senior Citizens Club held a card party in their center last Friday evening and a good attendance was reported. Ladies first prize was won by Mary Lichoch and Muriel Holdworth received the ladies consolation prize. Ted Berkholtz won the top award for the men and Mike Lichoch received the mens consolation prize. The Senior's will be holding a cash bingo in their center on Jan. 29 at 8 p.m.

Sixteen rinks were entered in the mixed open bonspiel held at Hay Lakes during the weekend. Grand prize winner was the Bob Kupka [illegible] ped by Morley [illegible] with team members Carol Harke and Bob and Barbara Kupka. Taking second place was the Larry Thompson rink of New [illegible]; third was the Alfred [illegible] rink and fourth the [illegible] Harke rink. First in the second event was the Rod Rost rink; 2. Larry Selin rink; 3. Harvey Kallis rink; 4. Dale Dahl rink. First in the third event was taken by the Dennis Broen rink; 2. Rudy Fuerstkranz rink; 3. Walter Metzker rink; 4. Jerry Bussenius rink.

The next bonspiel to be held at the local [illegible] will [illegible] the men's open which will commence Jan. 29 and conclude Feb. 6.

Aerobic classes commenced on Jan. 17 and will be held each Monday evening. Contact Faye at the post office or phone 878-3581 if interested. Ceramic classes will be held on Tuesday afternoons in the Rec Center. Phone Marg at 878-3570 or Debbie 878-3578 for further information.

Micro-wave management classes are scheduled for Hay Lakes commencing Feb. 5. Registrations are being taken by Alberta Agriculture in Camrose.

Mrs. Janice Fraser and children, Jason and Cortney, of Malta were recent dinner guests at the home of Ted and Mary Berkholtz. Janice is a niece of Mary's. Her husband is presently employed in [illegible] since October the family have been enjoying life on this island in the Mediterranean Sea. Jason is in Grade Two and they are fortunate to have a teacher for the four English speaking students in that area. Janice visited with her mother, Alice Kolodychuk and other relatives before returning to Malta last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Louden and children, Lorne and Tracy, have returned from an exciting weeks vacation in California. The greatest part of their time was spent at Disneyland with visits to Los Angeles, Palm Springs, San Diego and Tijuana. The children took notes throughout their travels and are compiling a scrapbook of their activities.

Waiting . . .

These mums and dads and sisters and grandparents all gathered at the International Airport last Sunday evening to await the arrival of the Tofield and Ryley Scouts. The boys landed just before ten, went through customs and immerged with tales of the great beyond. Lesley Primeau photo

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bell, who have been residents in Holden for over the thirty years, have sold their house to Mr. Mueller. Owing to health problems, Lloyd and Birdie will be making their home in Edmonton and will be moving there shortly. Lloyd was an agent of one of the elevators for many years and they have since made their home in Holden after Lloyd retired.

Mrs. Frances Hanson returned home from [illegible] Hospital early last week, after being a patient for a week.

Melvin Fjellstrom was visiting with his mother last Friday in Viking Nursing Home. George Taylor also went with him.

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular monthly meeting on Jan. 11th with H.R.L. Mary Semotuik in the chair. After regular business was dealt with, correspondence was read and committee reports were given. Lady Helen Stecyk reported for the Sunshine Committee; H.R.L. Semotuik for the Wellsite banquet and Lady Kathleen Harum reported on the Chamber of Commerce supper on Jan. 4th. Four ladies had attended the meeting of Viking Lodge on Jan. 4th. Final plans were discussed and made for the Lodge birthday party to be held Jan. 22 at which they will entertain husband and invited guests.

A donation was made to the A.C.T.A. "Telerama" 1983. An invitation to visit Wainwright Lodge Order of the Royal Purple had been received and some ladies will attend. A committee to convene the next Chamber of Commerce was appointed. At the close of the meeting, lunch was served, hostesses being Lady Jean Helfrich and H.R.L. Semotuik.

Mrs. Irene Strilchuk of Ryley was a caller on Tuesday evening of last week with Carol and Alvin Chomic and also attended the Holden Lodge O.O.R.P. meeting.

Mrs. Mildred Josey was a weekend visitor in Edmonton with her daughter and family and brought home her car which had been repaired after being badly damaged by a hit and run driver during the New Year's weekend.

Melvin Fjellstrom and Mrs. Kate Nichols were visiting last Thursday afternoon with Roy Nichols, a patient in Tofield Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor of Viking were Saturday morning callers with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, stopping on their way to St. Albert to visit with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor. Mrs. Taylor went with them.

Lad Mislimaka has been home for a while now from hospital, recuperating after having had surgery on his hip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday visitors with their son and wife, Robert and Merle Taylor, grandson Aaron, granddaughter, Saylor in Viking.

4-H has meeting

by Lori Brown

Members of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club met on Wednesday evening (Jan. 12) in the Arts and Crafts room at the Arena.

Candyce Ray led the members in the 4-H pledge.

Cathy Brown gave a financial report.

Discussion was held on public speaking.

It was decided to have the next meeting on Feb. 2 in the Art and Crafts room.

The public speaking will be held on the regular meeting night, Feb. 9, in the United Church basement, at 7:30 p.m.

A discussion was held on the Talent Night to be held in Holden on Feb. 11. Trudy Rude and Cathy Brown will work on a skit or some other entertainment.

The members are planning to go swimming in the Camrose pool on Feb. 6.

Mrs Cathy Elaniak reported on the "Parent Involvement Night" she had attended in Holden.

Guest speaker for the evening was Ted Mesthe from Unifeed, who spoke on feeding a beef animal.

The Rude family served lunch.

Satellites are ahead

With slightly more than one-half a month remaining in the regular schedule, all games are important in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

For Viking, the balance of the season could be an enjoyable one as the team has been eliminated from playoff contention and they can play the role of "spoiler" for the balance of the schedule.

Holden is in a dangerous position because a combination of two losses or two wins by Ryley and Holden won't make the playoffs.

The other four teams in the league are all in the hunt for first place.

Tofield Satellites hold a slim one-point lead over Lamont who in turn has a one-point edge over Mundare while Ryley is nine points out of first place and a combination of five wins by Tofield or two losses by Ryley and the latter will be out of the pennant race.

Games played could have an important bearing on the final standings.

Mundare and Ryley each have a game in hand on Tofield while Lamont has played two more games than Tofield.

Holden will be at home to Lamont on Saturday night while Tofield will be hosting Viking and Ryley will play in Mundare.

Tuesday's action will see the Satellites at home to Mundare while Ryley plays in Viking.

Two previously postponed games, Ryley at Holden and Ryley at Mundare are still to be rescheduled. All other postponed contests have been rescheduled.

Satellites retained their hold on first place during the past week when they walloped Ryley 7-1 and then doubled Lamont 4-2.

Lamont remained in contention for the lead after they blasted Viking 23-2 and doubled Ryley 8-4.

Mundare also remained in contention with two wins when they edged Lamont 6-5 and whipped Holden 17-4.

In the other game that was played, Holden and Viking battled to a 6-6 stalemate.

Toros still leading

Tofield Toros still have sole possession of first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros registered an easy 10-4 triumph against New Norway at home on Friday night.

The Tofield squad will be facing Kingman in the Tofield Arena this coming Friday night in the team's only outing of the next week.

Dale Olsen of the Toros registered the shutout in Friday's victory and lowered his leading average to 3.79 for the season to date.

Laurie Losheck moved into a tie for fourth place in the individual scoring race, presently being tied with B. Sawchuk of Bawlf.

They both trail the Round Hill trio of Wolfe, Dixon and Boychuck.

Picking up points in the New Norway contest moved Gary Olson and Don Hendrikson of the Toros into a tie for seventh place in the race with Dunlop of Kingman and they are just two points behind Keech of Bashaw.

Gary Barton of Tofield has 58 penalty minutes, nearly twenty more than the league's next highest badman.

As a team, Tofield has been assessed the highest total with 687 minutes, but after Friday's game, New Norway has moved to within twenty-two minutes of the Toros while both are considerably higher than Round Hill who has picked up only 297 penalty minutes.

Friday's game with New Norway resulted in a 10-4 triumph for Tofield with the game being tallied in the final seconds of the third period after penalties left New Norway without enough skaters to complete the game.

Losheck and D. Hedon paced the Tofield attack when each notched two goals while singles were netted by Dennett, Friesen, G. Olsen, Hendrikson, Herricks and Schmidt.

Tofield notched the victory 58-28 and were assessed only seven penalties to 23 for New Norway.

Scoring

Tofield	9	3	3	99	99
Bawlf	7	1	9	84	99
R. Hill	7	4	3	99	63
Bashaw	6	4	362	73	15

Hospital Auxiliary busy

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary informed those attending that to date in excess of 430 hours have been donated by various members towards the good of hospital patients in the Tofield Hospital.

Members of the Auxiliary have been extremely busy in their formative months as was outlined by a review of the December activities.

Irma Reichhardt and Vivian Wilde were responsible for making tray favours, a Christmas baking hamper was provided by the Auxiliary to the staff of the hospital for coffee break, a Christmas stocking was made and stuffed for hospital administrator Dan Roth and on Christmas Eve, each patient was presented with a little gift to brighten their stay.

The Tofield Brownies have agreed to make the tray favours for February and anyone with spare time was encouraged to take home materials and patterns necessary to make gifts for the patients.

Community residents who wish to drop off gifts or the like may use the convenient drop box at the Owl Drug Mart.

Anyone making stuffed animals for the children are asked to sew eyes on as opposed to glueing them.

A perogy supper is planned for March 5 in the Tofield Legion. The project is part of the fund raising efforts of the Auxiliary.

From Feb. 27 to March 13 a spice sale will be held to further the fund raising.

A garage sale is expected in late April or early May.

The tack cart has become an instant hit with patients at the hospital. The cart is laden with all sorts of essentials or 'treats' for any patient. The cart used by the Auxiliary was made by Brook Gray.

Pat Litwin was presented with a special badge to commemorate her status as volunteer of the month.

To date the Auxiliary has donated two lap robes, three pairs of sleepers, five pairs of kiddies' slippers, two baby bed sheets and a walking stick.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held February 21 in the Tofield School Library, commencing at 8:00 p.m.

Those interested in attending are most welcome to do so.

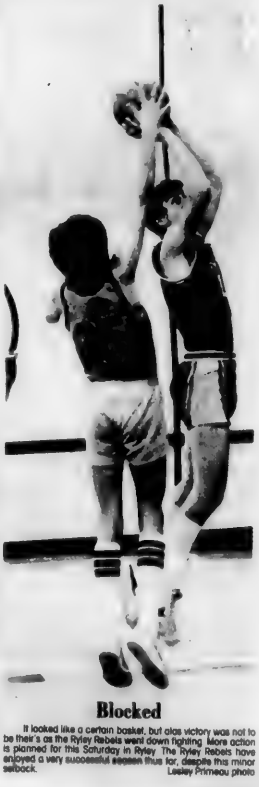
Gymnasts organize

Almost fifty Tofield gymnasts have registered for the second session of gymnastics and instructor Kathy Bunney anticipates a good session.

There is still room in some of the classes for interested youngsters who need only to call Kathy for more information.

Two major functions promise to be the highlites of the season; a gym meet and a gym-o-rama. The gym meet is set for February 26th with gymnasts from Sherwood Park, Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan meeting in Tofield to compete.

The gym-o-rama is scheduled for March and will involve all participating gymnasts who will endeavour to raise sufficient funds to purchase a balance beam. Currently these registered are involved in a large number of skill training including these that involve the matts, the uneven bars and the spring horse. This session, Kathy Bunney is aided by two junior instructors, Mel Jensen and Cheryl Jeffrey.



Blocked

It looked like a certain basket, but alas victory was not to be their's as the Ryley Rebels went down fighting. More action is planned for this Saturday in Ryley. The Ryley Rebels have enjoyed a very successful season thus far, despite the minor setback. Lesley Primeau photo

OPEC worry

OPEC, the Oil Producing and Exporting countries cartel which has governed the price of international oil markets over the past decade, is in serious trouble. There is some danger that international controversy may spark a price war, and the price of oil may come plummeting down on international markets.

When the countries, mainly Arab, banded together a decade ago to force up the price of oil, there was a shortage of oil for world markets, and the OPEC countries had only to stand together and watch the free world play into their hands.

Ever so slowly, new sources of oil, such as the North Sea, Mexico, offshore Canada and many others, cut back on the shortage, while energy conservation measures in countries like the United Staets, Canada and the European Common Market, further cut back on needs, so that suddenly oil seems to be in surplus supply at least temporarily.

But it would be ruinous for us to rejoice over that situation, to attempt to force OPEC to the level where they chop prices precipitately in order to stay in business. It's definitely in our interest to see the price of international oil come down, but it should be in a more gradual manner, so that the economy can adjust slowly.

It's almost hard to believe, but too much of even today's depressed economy has a big stake in seeing oil prices remain more or less high. Rapidly rising oil prices played a major role in rapidly rising wages, rapidly increasing costs of houses, automobiles, indeed just about every aspect of life. Including taxes.

Sure, we'd all like to see taxes reduced. Federally, provincially, locally. And we'd like to see the cost of gasoline drop, the price of fuel oil and electricity, baking and booze.

But if all these things dropped back suddenly, so would the value of everything we own: homes, businesses, motor homes, tv's, refrigerators, summer homes, and so on. And if the value drops, the mortgage companies would be moving in overnight, because the level of the mortgage owing would still be on the books.

It's lovely to think of falling prices. But falling too rapidly and we'd see far more people lose their homes, lose their life savings, lose their pensions, than are doing so today.

We all have too vested an interest in inflation to see it drop overnight. It took a decade for oil prices to rise the way they did, inflating our whole economy in the process. We'll probably be lucky if it takes a decade for them to come down, allowing time to involve adjustments in our lifestyle by gradual increments, rather than by dramatic but deadly crashes.

Ottawa announces priority winter employment program

Ernie Isley, the minister of Manpower has announced that the Government of Alberta has approved funding of $88.47 million for an expanded winter Priority Employment Program.

It is expected that at least 7,000 Albertans will benefit from the program.

Mr. Isley said, "In direct response to numerous demands from small business operators, we have created a special support element of the program which is expected to maintain and generate jobs in the private sector. As well, the program includes funding for employer-based industrial training projects to retain existing employees and upgrade their skills."

Mr. Isley added, "Another component provides support to unemployed Albertans for training in certain skill shortage areas at private vocational schools."

The Priority Employment Program (P.E.P.) is administered through the Special Manpower Programs branch of Alberta Manpower, and has been in operation since 1972. Last year, $3 million was allocated to provide 702 jobs through provincial government departments.

Those are the five elements of the program and their basic guidelines:

Small Business Support Element
- Small business enterprises in Alberta with gross annual sales of less than $5 million may participate.

- Participating small businesses will be subsidized on a cost-shared basis, with the maximum provincial government contribution being $2.50 per hour per employee.

- Employers will be subsidized for up to three positions.

- Jobs providing full-time employment will be subsidized from January 3, 1983 until April 30, 1983.

- New jobs subsidized are to be in addition to the regular number of full-time positions, and cannot in any way affect the hours or period of work of any existing employee.

- Applications will be accepted until January 17, 1983.

Alberta Industrial Training Element
- The main thrust is to provide assistance to small businesses in meeting training and work force requirements with existing employees.

- In general the level of reimbursement will be 80 per cent of trainee wages and up to 100 per cent of instructor and course development costs.

- The Manpower Training Branch of Alberta Manpower will be responsible for the approval, monitoring and evaluation of employer-based training programs.

Brochures and application forms outlining details of the Small Business Support and Industrial Training Elements will be made available as soon as possible at field offices of Employment Development, at Alberta Career Centres, and at regional offices of the Small Business Division of Tourism and Small Business. Further information is available immediately from Special Manpower Programs - toll-free number: Dial 0 and ask for Zenith 22078.

Private Vocational Schools Support Element
- Funding will be provided to licensed private vocational schools to cover instructional costs in specifically identified areas of skill shortages. Schools offering clerical or computer-related training, food services or drafting programs may be eligible to participate.

- Approved programs will be four months or less in length with a minimum of 35 hours per week of in-class instruction.

- Tuition fees, certain books and supplies will be paid for qualifying unemployed Albertans.

- Depending on individual cases, students may receive training allowances.

- The Field Services Division of Alberta Advanced Education will be responsible for the approval, monitoring and evaluation of private vocational schools projects.

Advertisements will appear in daily and community newspapers to inform unemployed Albertans of the programs being offered at private vocational schools in their area.

The Provincial and Municipal Government Elements of the Priority Employment Program began on November 1. To date, some 1,369 provincial government projects have been approved to facilitate the hiring of approximately 1,650 employees for up to six months at an hourly rate of $6.50. In addition, 302 municipal government projects providing 435 jobs have been approved and others are under consideration. The provincial government reimburses the minimum wage to participating municipalities for project employees.

Having their cake, and eating it too

By W. Roger Worth

Even high interest rates, a recession and mounting unemployment haven't caused Canadian banks to cut back on advertising appeals to consumers. All borrowers need, it seems, is a reasonable credit rating, a 20 percent down payment, and presto, anyone can have a $10,000 car or truck sitting in the driveway.

If the borrower fails to pay, the bank simply sells the collateral (the vehicle) to pay off the loan.

Now consider the plight of an entrepreneur arriving at the same bank for a business loan. Unlike the 20 percent down payment for ordinary consumers, the banker will require collateral valued at as much as four times the amount of the loan. In fact, there are few small business people who haven't pledged their homes, properties and other personal assets when they borrowed.

That's just one of the intriguing facts that turned up in a study prepared for the 64,000 member Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

"We were astounded," says Patrick Johnston, Vice-President of the organization. "Smaller firms are being treated unfairly."

Johnston says the study indicated the average amount of collateral pledged on each business loans in Canada is a massive 279 percent of the amount borrowed, of which two-thirds is personal security. New firms were forced to put up an unbelievable four times the value of the amount borrowed.

To put the situation in perspective, in the United States, more than 30 percent of the value of bank loans is unsecured by collateral.

For small business and the country, the collateral loan is crucial because, under the present rules, financially unsuccessful entrepreneurs are less likely to go into business, thus depriving the nation of badly needed jobs. The banks, of course, are winners, taking very little risk as they charge relatively high interest rates.

Perhaps it is time our banks started to emulate their counterparts south of the border, rather than placing so much emphasis on consumer lending. As it stands, the bankers are having their cake, and eating it as well.

Bursaries presented

Three area students have received scholarships from Athabasca University.

Elizabeth Marchand of Ferwelburg, Patricia Erickson of Sedgewick and Bonnie Hart of Tofield were the scholarship winners.

Marchand is studying history while both Erickson and Hart are taking English courses.

To qualify for a scholarship, a student must have the highest grade (over 80 percent) in each [illegible] and another upper [illegible] course.

Does Delta exist?

by Lesley Primeau

The on again off again saga of Delta Cable continues as more than two hundred residents in Tofield wonder whether cable will ever come to Tofield and if it does, will it be supplied by Delta Cable Company?

Early last fall, Delta Cable collected subscription fees from Tofield residents with the promise of cable in November, then December, then January and finally February.

Last week, it was learned that the offices of Delta Cable had been closed and company president Christopher Gay was not available for comment.

There was some discussion of a possible fraud.

However, in a January 20 story carried by the Edmonton Journal, Staff Sgt. Richard Floyd of the RCMP's Commercial Crime unit in Edmonton, stated as far as he was concerned no crime had been committed, although he did admit his department had been investigating the company.

In a recent story, again published by the Journal, Christopher Gay blames the government for not determining who has access to the air waves. He claims investors of his company backed out because of fear for possible legal entanglements.

He further claims he has backers in Calgary and that cable will still be coming.

Many aspects of the matter remain dubious and Gay has called a press conference for Wednesday.

Until that time, residents of Tofield can only assume that cable is pending; pending what remains a mystery.

Parents organize

A general meeting of parents was held recently in the Ryley School.

There were 37 parents in attendance.

Objectives were presented to those there by a group, which had been meeting for several months.

The objectives outlines were to preserve and maintain grades 1-12 in the community, offering satisfactory matriculation and general program and have a fair and equitable treatment throughout the whole county in terms of instructional teaching per student.

A motion was made that the organization be formed so it could support the school and work along with the teacher.

Nominations took place and the following are now the executive of the Ryley School Supporters.

President - Leo Lauber; Secretary-Treasurer - Madeline Andruhew; Village Director - Janet Winsnes; North Directors - Alice Munkedal and Bev Knudslein; South Directors - Bob Dueck and Sanford Boettger.

Interested parents are asked to call any of the above for further information.

A memebership fee has been established of $2 per person per year.

The Tofield 4-H Beef Club will hold their Public Speaking competition on March 9th in the United Church basement.

The speakers will be divided into two categories, junior and senior and there will be several speakers taking part in each category.

Any interested persons wishing to attend and hear the members' speeches may do so.

At the next regular meeting of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club, on Feb. 9th in the Arts and Crafts room, a public speaking workshop will be held to help members with the writing of a speech and the delivery.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Reil

David Reil has been a patient in the Tofield Hospital since last Wednesday.

Ada Histetler returned home from Costa Rica after spending three weeks with her son and family.

Leanne Heisler spent the weekend with her grandmother, Brenda Helgeland and uncle, Andy and returned home to Viking on Sunday evening.

Clara Kosack, Gloria and Clifford Knudslien motored to Jarvie last week to attend the funeral of their aunt, Annie Lake of Fawcett who passed away in the Westlock Hospital.

Paul Kosoway underwent surgery in an Edmonton hospital.

Colin Grier died suddenly Jan. 16, in Sidney, B.C. age 33. He leaves his wife Linda; daughters, Tanya and Alana at home; his father, Tommy Grier; his mother, Faye Winchcombe of Vancouver (Faye Solberg, formerly of Ryley); sisters Karen McManus of Calgary, Janet Grier of Vancouver; and brother, Terry Grier of Fort Saskatchewan.

On Jan. 18, Selmer Helgeland, Sigvart Helgeland, Leonard Helgeland, Signar Helgeland, Ida Hunka, Lena Reil and Ezra, all first cousins of Selmer Holmes, attended Selmer's funeral in Viking at the Golden Valley Lutheran Church. Rev. Tim Johnson officiated. Interment was in Scandinavian Cemetery.

Many are enjoying the cash bingo which is being held every Monday evening in the Ryley Community Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

A Valentine dance will be held in Ryley Community Hall on Feb. 12th.

A lovely evening was held at the Marilyn Campbell home on Jan. 20, to help her celebrate her birthday. Those attending were Dianne Campbell of Round Hill, Dianne Bratrud, Don and Gwen Campbell, Irene Campbell, mother Ida and Stan and uncle and aunt, Ezra and Lena. Lunch was served and a decorated birthday cake made by Dianne Bratrud was served.

Be Low Energy Wise

There's a lot of work involved in building an energy-efficient home, and sometimes it's hard to know where to start. A new publication by Alberta Agriculture entitled "Low Energy Home Designs" may be just what you need.

This highly-illustrated 94-page book subtitled "Design Guidelines and Plans for Energy Efficient Housing" contains the latest information about energy conserving homes for the Alberta climate. Written by Alberta Agriculture's Home and Community Design Branch, the book is divided into two sections. The first 45 pages show details of 25 different low energy home plans. The final half of the book addresses the design, construction and operation of low energy homes.

The wide assortment of plans range from compact bi-levels, to medium size passive bungalows, through to larger two storey homes. Each design includes floor plans and elevation drawings - some also show [illegible] and alternative layouts for the same plan. Every page is packed with details on everything from window sizing for solar collection to open-planning concepts for good heat distribution and solar greenhouse design. Most of the plans are equally suitable to rural or urban settings, with some showing special features such as large airlock entryways particularly useful for rural homes. Energy cost [illegible] are also [illegible] for each plan. A typical house from these plans would have a space heating cost of $180 per year when insulated to R40 ceiling and R30 walls

The [illegible] second half of the book begins with all-important rules for interior and exterior design. Here also is one of the book's most useful sections titled "Adapting a Plan". It shows how any house plan can be adapted to both make it energy-efficient and suit your family's needs. A chapter on low energy home construction discusses the wide variety of methods used to construct superinsulated, airtight homes. Each building technique is illustrated in detail. Heating and ventilating systems (including passive solar systems) and water and electrical energy conservation are covered under low energy home operation. A number of tables provide data on insulating values of building materials, degree days, etc. There's even a word on housing trends for the future.

If you're considering designing and building a low energy home, this book is a necessity. It's available free of charge from the local Alberta Agriculture office in Ryley at [illegible].

P.S. Don't forget the Home Energy Conservation Seminar in Vegreville, Feb. 4. Phone for more details.

primeau's play pen

by Lesley Primeau

I am resigned to the fact that death, however much we try to postpone it, is inevitable. However I do console myself somewhat with the belief, that for those whose mere existance on earth provided some measure of joy and comfort, there is a life beyond. A life where laughter fills the heavens and pain knows not the light of day. I believe this for all God's creatures in an abstract way.

Could anyone who has lived in Tofield for any length of time not have seen a lop-eared, shaggy mutt, in a grey flannel fuzzy suit prance the streets of Tofield in search of wonders of the world? Could maybe you have seen this four-footed marvel carrying the mail home? Or carrying one of five bland children's books? Or Toys? How about the days when he used to 'graze' with the horse? Call on friend Lucky to come out to play? Carry meat home from [illegible] with nary a bite [illegible]?

Sure, the being 97 companions and friend to Hilda and Arney, their five children and seven grandchildren, was laid to rest last week. It was a sad day, inevitable as it was. Simon was getting on in years, those years having passed making life better for children and grownups alike. Pets came to us as gifts; gifts that will enhance our very existance, keep us ever mindful of the fact that love comes to us if we simply learn to accept it.

Close your eyes carefully and I'm sure you can see those big round eyes smiling and that heart just a beating. He used to visit downtown, take a leisurely stroll to the post office with Hilda, wait and carry the mail home. Sometimes he went shopping, to bring the bacon home, so to speak. How many do, do you know would be able to resist the temptation? Simon was special, in all ways to many people He had character and personality he hadn't even begun to use.

It would be almost a sin to think that for all he was and for all he did to bring those extra rays of sunshine, he wasn't going to get some reward. Simon was a town institution, everyone knew him, he was part of a very large family. I prefer to believe that somewhere there's a doggy heaven, childish as that may be. A place where Simon can romp and roam, enjoy t-bones for dinner, cheese for treats and a warm basket to lay his little head in.

Death makes a house quiet, a memory linger. But it also makes us realize just how deeply our lives can be touched. For Simon who brought years of pleasure and was never demanding or temperamental, always friendly and laughable, there will always be a special place in the hearts of those he touched. Tribute to a dog, silly as it seems, is almost a foregone conclusion if you had known Simon. Yes indeed, I believe in a hereafter, if just for Simon.

RYLEY

During the month of November, many elementary students took part in the M-S Read-A-Thon. This Read-A-Thon has encouraged students to read books and has also raised vital funds for research into the mysterious disease, Multiple Sclerosis. This year, $610.15 has been raised and a big thank you goes out to all students who participated.

The following are the winners from each grade: Grade 2 - Carrie Tucker; Grade 3 - Pamela Kope, Robin Resun; Grade 4 - Anita Zemiak; Grade 5 - Kerri Lyale; Grade 6 - Brian Hamm.

These students received various prizes and every student who participated will receive an M-S Button.

Both Senior High basketball teams are having successful seasons. Both are in first place in the new league we have joined. The new league has added teams like Provost, Coronation and Sedgewick.

The girls' team won first place at a tournament in Manville, this past weekend. The boys also played in a very competitive tournament in New Norway on the weekend, but lost out in the consolation finals.

We are holding an invitational tournament here on Saturday, Jan. 29th. Interested spectators will be welcome to show their support of our teams. The tournament will start at 9:00 a.m. with final games being played at 6:00 and 7:30 p.m. The teams entered are Ryley, Bashaw, Tofield and St. Jerome's of Vermilion.

We will also be hosting the "A" Girls Zones on March 11 and 12. The winners of this tournament will go on to provincials, the following weekend at Bashaw.

Good luck to the Ryley teams in these up-coming tournaments.

Are You Losing
this much 1 ONE ONTOP N.A.D.A. $ 0
Of Your Heating Dollar?
If your present gas furnace is over 5 years old, it's probably in the range of 55-60% fuel efficient, which means that you're losing up to 43% of available heat
Compare these figures to the new Lennox Pulse furnace - it's 96-98%★ fuel efficient
The Pulse operates on a principle of pulse combustion, the most significant breakthrough in heating technology in 40 years, providing unprecedented heating efficiency. The result is lower fuel bills. In many areas, the Pulse will pay for itself in 2 - 3 years.
In addition to the 1 year warranty on the furnace, there is a 20 year warranty on the heat exchanger.
The Pulse is eligible for the up to $800 Government 'oil-off' grant. For more information on the most efficient gas furnace on the market, contact:

Between The Covers

On the new book table this week, you will find Southern Cross by Terry Coleman, a novel of the first turbulent decades of the Australian settlement. Also, The Lions of Judah, by Ted Willis, a suspense novel set during World War II; a novel of moral choices drama and shock, based on true incidents.

In non-fiction, How to Interpret Your Own Dreams, by Tom Chetwynd, explores an area we have all been curious about at one time or another. Arranged as a dictionary, with symbols to identify some recurring meanings. Another sewing book this week, Kid's Clothes by Meredith Gladstone uses only four basic patterns to provide a year-round wardrobe for boys and girls aged 1 to 5. Many ideas for decoration, and variations on the basic themes are included.

A beautiful new picture book by Janet Lunn is The Twelve Dancing Princesses, a favourite fairytale. The illustrations by Laszlo Gal are perhaps the best part of the book, and will delight readers of any age. A humourous new school story, by Sharon Kastick is Mr. Radagast Makes an Unexpected Journey, in which his seventh grade class manages to THINK him out of existence.

Residents of the Tofield Senior Citizens Lodge will be receiving Mobile Library Service beginning this week, on Thursdays at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. Phyllis Fels will be happy to bring a selection of books of your choice to be borrowed by residents. A small fee will be charged for a borrower's card and book bag. Books in Large Print as well as regular print will be available.

Are you dropping your hard-earned bucks all along the highway?

No need to roam... SHOP WITH US The best shopping's here at home

Let's face it. With the cost of gasoline out of sight and at times hard to find as well, it makes better cents, and dollars too, to shop locally.

Driving all over the countryside just to save a few cents just doesn't make sense.

The small amount of money you might save may be more than eaten up by the cost of gas. Shop locally, and save time, your energy, fuel and money.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Canteen a success

by Lesley Primeau

The Marketing Munchies hit the Holden School early last fall and became so popular that $894.43 was raised for the grade twelve graduation ceremony.

What exactly is a Marketing Munchie?

That's a group of grade ten, eleven and twelve students who opened a canteen during the lunch hour and offered good things to eat.

Under the guidance of teacher Bea Fredricks, the class offered such health munchies as sunflower seeds, fruit juices, cheese and crackers, milk, sesame snaps and even popcorn.

The Board was responsible for ordering the products, pricing them and selling them to the student population.

Board president was Darlene Steinwand; vice-president was Blair Ewasiuk; secretary-treasurer was Karen Ewasiuk. Other Board members included Brenda Bilyk, Kelly Story, Samantha Chrystian and Daniel Skibinski.

Following semester break, the operations will fall under the jurisdiction of the Students Union but, the experience gained by running their own store will travel far with the Marketing Munchies.

Scouts recount adventure

by Lesley Pitmore

Strange things remain in the minds of many Telfield Scouts after their fascinating excursion down under.

They remember that MacDonalds hasn't any ketchup, that fish and chips come wrapped in newspaper, that "tea" means a major meal and that Doug Brown's camera can't body surf worth a darn. These and many more memories make up 30 days of adventure for the Telfield Scouts who raised some $40,000, enabling them to take this once in a lifetime journey.

After more than 27 hours on airplanes, in airports and waiting rooms the Scouts landed in Auckland, New Zealand and lost no time in seeing all they could in the one day they had there. One of the major tourist attractions was "one tree hill", reported to be a hill with one massive tree planted in the middle of it.

While in Auckland the Scouts quickly determined that "Big Macs" taste strangely enough like fish and that french fries are just plane ole 'chips'. They scrambled up the side of a dormant volcanoe and then spent time cruising the hillside on their way to Rotorua.

On the way to this spectacular home of the Maori culture centre the Scouts encountered hill after hill covered in sheep. At the agridome sheep ranch the boys were privilege to sheep shearing at its finest.

At the culture centre the Scouts were able to witness first hand the wonders of the "bubbling mud", made possible by the fact the town is situated on geysers. Many of the Scouts felt the entire area smelt as foul as the 'hedgepole' well in Alberta. Local Maori children would dive for coins thrown in the water and it was discovered that the metal the Scouts stayed at was heated by thermal heat.

Three hours aboard a ferry took the Scouts from the north island to the south island by way of the Cook strait across the ocean. The group then travelled on to Christchurch where they spent two days exploring different culture and lifestyles. In a distance of perhaps 5-6 kilometers the Scouts counted 186 curves and that excluded the number of u-turns they made travelling in the wrong direction.

While in Christchurch the Scouts attended a lamb-chop bar-b-que, met with some local Ventures and Scouts from Avon and saw a huge seal colony. Early one morning the fellows opted to watch a surfing com- petition over a visit to the local cathedral. Many of the boys had their first taste of ocean swimming in Christchurch and many enjoyed the fun of a water slide.

A quick plane ride took them to Sydney where the Scouts met their host families. Three Scouts and their leader, who shall remain nameless to protect the innocent, hopped in a cab and were given a 90$, unplanned tour of the city of 5 million, before being dropped off at their location some twelve blocks from where they had originated the cab ride. This little episode was ironed out quickly and the Scouts were the guests of Rockdale, a suburb of Sydney. Mayor Rathbone of Rockdale met the group at the town hall and presented each Scout with a book on the history of the area. The mayor also presented the leaders with cufflinks and a tie bar.

The Scouts spent a total of six days with their host families which enabled them to visit a varied number of different areas and take in many activities. A number of the boys were able to tour the world famous Sydney Opera House while others toured the harbour Bridge, others were able to journey to Canberra to see the Blue Mountain and many went to Koala Park.

Christmas was spent in Sydney swimming in the ocean and enjoying a most unusual and non-traditional Christmas without snow The Scouts were surprised to learn that 'tea' was a main meal and that something called 'vegemite' was spread on bread the same as jam is spread here; but vegemite has no where near as pleasant a taste Oddly enough for breakfast beans on toast was popular as was toast on toast.

The Scouts boarded three cars enroute to Taree, but before they could leave Sydney two of the vehicles broke down and even when they were joined the broken-ups discovered that traffic on the freeway was moving at roughly 3 km an hour. Traffic jams were found in the strangest places and for apparently no reason.

The group was told that Brisbane was just a bit up the road possibly, 150 kilometers or maybe 180 miles; but in reality the Scouts were to discover it was really a 600 mile drive that took almost 15 hours.

Over 22,000 Scouts, Leaders and personnel took part in the Australian Jamboree that lasted nine days. Scouts came from Japan, Fiji, China, Singapore, Canada, the United States and Iran to join their Aussie counterparts. Trading of badges, clothing and gear was vigorous.

During their nine-day stay the Scouts engaged in a number of Scouting activities and found great interest in such activities as cricket, chariot races, the popular pillow fights, mini golf, sailing, bowling, BMX races, grass skiing, various workshops and other activities too numerous to mention. The day commenced at 6:00 a.m. and went through until 11:00 p.m. with activities planned for almost every waking minute. The Scouts were able to determine the extent of each day's activities and the Telfield Troop made the most of it.

There were hours off the camp site but on site activities were in abundance including two water slides, scuba diving, car wrecking (an ingenious way to tap a young 'bloke's' energy), boomerang making, go-cart racing and just about every other activity imaginable.

Following this packed nine days the Scouts headed up to Nooseheads to see the coloured sands There is reputed to be at least 72 different colours of sand from black to yellow and everything in between. While on the beach, the ocean apparently attracted Doug Brown's camera. The tide attacks again!!

Four days were spent in Fiji, lying on the beach, exploring the country and resting. Fiji remains noted for its beach a-plenty and its 45 degree weather A number of the Scouts went snorkelling and were amazed to see the large schools of fish. Some fish even swim up to the underwater boys and take coconut from the hand.

The troop spent a day on the beaches of Waikiki before spending three days in Los Angeles. Disneyland was enjoyed by many and Knotsberry Farm was an extra bonus. Most Scouts report that custom officials around the world gave them superb treatment.

On their return the Scouts suffered from jet lag for the first week, but after a few lazy nights of sleep they were willing and able to discuss their trip The parents of the Telfield Scouts felt a round of thanks had to go to Scout Leader Don Kendral for his efforts in making the trip possible and for making sure the Scouts all returned in good condition.

The days spent with the boys can never be repayed. Without his support and encouragement, most parents feel a trip to Australia would have remained, at best, a dream.

From the Ground Up

Box 299, Ryley, Alta.

RUDY J. WARAWA & BARBARA BENNETT
Dist. Agriculturist

Here is an interesting article on bulk fertiliser storage, published in the January 17, 1983 issue of Agri-News.

Weather Proof Your Fertiliser Storage Bin

If you are planning to buy fertiliser this winter, make sure that the bin that you intend to store it in is water proof.

This advice comes from Phil Dixon, district agriculturist at Rocky Mountain House, who points out that it is extremely important to keep moisture away from fertilizers to prevent them from caking and from corroding a metal bin. He recommends using a polyethylene vapor barrier in both metal and wooden bins, and caulking all joints, and using weather stripping around hatch and door openings in the wooden bins.

In addition to being waterproof, a bin that is going to be used for storing fertilizer should be stronger than one used for storing grain. While the bulk density of wheat is 48 pounds per cubic foot, the bulk density of fertilizer is 58 pounds per cubic foot. If you are planning to make a fertilizer bin, Mr Dixon recommends that you use more studs, thicker plywood, extra floor supports and additional tie rods compared with what you would use for a conventional grain bin.

He says ammonium phosphate (11-48-0, 11-55-0) is the easiest nitrogen fertilizer to store and that urea is the [illegible] phosphate is the easiest because it absorbs very little moisture from its environment, and hence, remains free-flowing.

Ammonium nitrate (34-0-0), on the other hand, draws moisture from its environment, including the air, and the surface of the pile cakes badly in the presence of moisture. Even though the caking will break down when the pile is disturbed, the fertiliser will not flow freely, Mr. Dixon says.

Urea is the most difficult nitrogen fertiliser to store because it can draw moisture right into the centre of the pile, making a soft mushy [illegible] caking will occur [illegible] way through the pile; not just on the surface as in the case of ammonium nitrate.

Improve Your Cattle Showing Expertise

The Beaver County Cattle Showing Course will be held February 5, 1983 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will be at Saurer's Arena, two miles south of Viking on Highway #36. Lunch is available at the arena.

We're expecting a good response to the program. The sessions include: Dale Engstrum [illegible] Pat Kallal and Bob Antoniuk - grooming, trimming and fitting; Gordon Rattray - showing; and Gordon Klein - judging.

Please call our office ([illegible]) to pre-register.

Let's use our local talent and learn about the cattle showing trade!

Postage hikes get postponed

The 37-cent letter rate which was to have been introduced Jan. 15 has been delayed until April 1, the Post Office announced Monday.

The rate, which will be applicable only to metered and permit mail that does not include the postal code or meet postal standards such as envelope size, has been delayed so businesses will have time to adjust.

All letters bearing the postal code and all personal correspondence will remain at 30 cents until Feb. 15, when the rate will become 32 cents.

On Jan. 15, the first increases in postal rates became effective.

They included increases in special delivery, certified mail and registered mail.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their annual Lodge birthday party on Saturday evening in the Holden Community Hall, this being their 47th year in the Order. Members entertained husbands, sweets and invited guests and enjoyed a buffet supper catered by ladies of St. Gregory's C.W.L. Later, several card games were played with prizes given to high and low scorers in the whist games. H.R.L. Mary Semotiuk hosted the evening. At the conclusion of the games, coffee and lunch was served including a birthday cake made by P.H.R.L. Ethel Fleming and decorated by Mrs. Dawne Pusey.

P.H.R.L. Irene Strilchuk of Ryley attended the Royal Purple birthday party on Saturday.

Emily and Jack Ognowski were recent weekend visitors with Pauline and Ludvick Banack at Niuku, going with them to one of the north lakes to do some ice fishing. They also called on their families, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ognowski and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chappell in Edmonton, before returning home.

Mrs. Grace Appleby was the winner of $75.00 at the 7th anniversary sale of Heritage Paints and Carpets in Vegreville.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Harum were Saturday visitors in Tofield. Mrs. Kate Nichols also went along and visited with Roy Nichols in Tofield Hospital.

At the Ladies' Club meeting last week a new vice-president, Margaret Berg, was elected. The president, Lois Fenne and secretary-treasurer, Ede Miller remain the same. Anne Ryan, from the Strathcona County Community Services division, led an interesting discussion on roles in the family.

On Thursday evening the Community League elections were held, and the presidents chair remains vacant - anyone interested should contact Richard Kuss (662-3481). The vice-president Rob Schneider, agreed to serve another term. Edie Miller is the new secretary-treasurer and Irene Salisbury will be program co-ordinator. Elaine Efford will continue as social convenor.

Call Jan Addison 663-2104, or Irene Salisbury 663-2720, if you want to join the Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation workshop or the Women's Self Defence Course.

Around the town

by Lesley Primeau

The bulb sales for the Youth group are encouraging and canvassing is expected to continue. The Town of Tofield is expected to be reached this week so be prepared to buy a light bulb for a good cause.

Welcome home Jack and Inga Hardy, Marian and Glen Winder and kiddies Brad and Jody. These lucky people have just returned from an exotic holiday in Desert Springs where they were lucky enough to swim every day in a beautiful pool. Temps hits an average high of 80-85 degrees on the old scale. The younger set really enjoyed the two days spent in Disneyland.

Basketball action hits Ryley this Saturday, good time to get out and cheer on your favourite team.

Don't forget the Robbie Burns dinner this Friday night at the Tofield Legion.

If you have any news or sporting events you'd like covered or a picture taken, contact the office and leave a message. Give us a bit of notice with the right times and such and we'll be there with banners.

TOWN OF TOFIELD
THE PLANNING ACT 1980

Take notice that the Council of the Town of Tofield proposes to pass an amendment to the Land Use By-Law, pursuant to The Planning Act.

The purpose of the proposed by-law is to amend By-Law #769 to establish the minimum floor area for bi level and split level residences the same as I storey residences, namely 93 m² (1000 sq. ft.)

A copy of the proposed by-law may be inspected at the Town Office during regular business hours.

Written submissions regarding the proposed by-laws will be received by the undersigned until 12 noon Friday, February 11th, 1983.

At 7:00 p.m. on Monday, February 14th, 1983 a Public Hearing will be held in the Council Chambers at which time objections to the proposed by-law may be heard and considered.

Dated at Tofield this 20th day of January, 1983

Holden and district news

The Holden and District Historical Society held a very successful cash bingo on Friday evening in Holden Community Hall. All proceeds will be going towards printing cost for the history book.

The winners were Dawn Pasay, Eugene Shimko, Natalie Hynbida, Helen Smeyk, Frances Lasiecki, Mary Fraser, Anne Kornelsky, Martha Tiedemann, Jessie Chwiliuk, Rob Hyde, Pearl Shiminski, Adeline Halvorson, Minnie Tymchak, Andrea Lukawiecki, Sarah Dejarlais, Irene Yarema, Ann Scherger, Audrey Pratt, Adela Story, Helen Haas, Elsie Bilyk, Loran Hrybiuk and Darlene Fleming.

Door prize was won by Myrtle Kostenuick.

The Historical Society will be holding another bingo on Feb. 25th.

Walter Yasinski is a patient in Tofield Hospital after being ill for a few days. George Scrimshaw took him there.

The Albin Lukawiecki family and Mrs. Kate Nichols went to Vegreville on Sunday afternoon, attending a concert and in the evening, drove to Tofield to visit with Roy Nichols who is still a hospital patient.

Several members of Holden L.C.W. were visiting with residents at Holden Senior Citizens Lodge, giving a short program and taking goodies for lunch which was served later.

John and Mary Semotiuk went to Vegreville on Sunday to visit with John's mother who is not very well.

OUR MOST IMPORTANT TRANSMISSION LINES ARE BETWEEN PEOPLE

The most difficult part of supplying electricity is often a question of balance.
Balancing the needs of all Albertans with those of an individual whose land must be crossed by transmission lines.
Balancing the desire to maintain low rates with the need to ensure the security of future supply.
Listening to all points of view is important to us, because this helps us balance the interests of our customers, our shareholders, and all the people of Alberta.
If you have questions about TransAlta or our operations, please, drop us a note or give us a call.
Our lines are open.

Jim Williams of the Tofield Legion was presented with his life membership last Friday evening following the traditional Robbie Burns dinner. Owen Jones made the presentation after Mr. Williams was piped in by Gordon Kyle and presented by Ed Ferguson.

Delta can't be reached

by Lesley Primeau

Efforts by The Mercury to contact Delta Cable Company president Christopher Gay, to discuss the apparent problems of supplying cable to Tofield, have been to no avail.

Approximately 300 residents of Tofield will join an estimated 1,200 other Albertan residents who are presently wondering whether they will ever see cable television in their community and if not will they ever see their subscription/connection fee again. It appears doubtful at this time that either will transpire.

Questions arise about Delta's ability to ever have provided a service to the community.

Delta Cable Company Ltd. is not a company registered with the Companies Branch nor is Delta Satellite Systems Ltd. the alleged parent company.

However, Delta Cable Company Bruderheim Ltd. was registered with the Companies Branch in late August of 1982 with no reference to other shareholders.

Funds made payable to Delta Cable were deposited, for the most part, in Bruderheim Treasury Branch. However, claims made by Delta to various communities that trust funds would be set up in each community proved false.

An estimated 24 communities were approached by Delta and in these communities service groups were approached to provide the canvassing. Communities not canvassed by a service group were canvassed by Delta personnel.

Several former employees of Delta Cable Company claim the company owes them an estimated $40,000. Efforts by Labour Standards to obtain payroll accounts have been fruitless and employees are uncertain whether they will ever be paid.

Gay was reported to have been making efforts to obtain financial backing in Calgary but as of last Monday, no announcement has been made with regard to backing. Commercial crime investigators in Edmonton have so far indicted that no fraud has been committed but will not confirm whether the case is closed. The C C Unit of the RCMP were called to Whitecourt to investigate Delta's operations there.

Delta Cable is not licenced by the CRTC and has been warned by the federal body that they will be prosecuted if they attempt to set up their system. Delta blames the provincial government for their problems, claiming that they have not backed up their claim that the air waves belong to everyone.

In an Edmonton Journal report, the landlord for the office Delta Cable occupied claimed that furniture was seized due to non-payment of rent and phone service was disconnected almost a month ago. The office for Delta Satellite Systems has also been cleaned out, although the incident may not be related.

Tofield residents were canvassed by the Lions Club, who have made no formal statement to the press. However, some members have expressed concern over the situation, feeling their community image may have suffered.

Delta Cable Company may yet prove they have a service to offer, but it would seem that without some financial backing they are unlikely to progress any further.

Until regulations are made governing the right to provide such a system, cable television for Tofield seems elusive.

Williams is honoured

by Lesley Primeau

Following the successful Robbie Burns Night held at the Tofield Legion on Friday evening, the Legion executive presented Jim Williams with a life membership while the Ladies Auxiliary presented cash donations to a number of youth groups.

The Robbie Burns dinner was a spectacle to be seen. Two haggis, totalling 15 pounds, were piped in by Gordon Kyle to a crowd estimated at well over two hundred. With the haggis was served roast beef, 'neeps and tatties' (which means turnips and potatoes), peas and mixed. Dessert completed the meal which was enjoyed by all those attending.

Following the meal the piper led Jim Williams to the front of the hall where Legion President Munro Coleman made the presentation of a life membership. Those attending the presentation gave Mr. Williams a standing ovation.

Ladies Auxiliary president Marie Eaglesham then presented generous cash donations to the 4-H Beef Club, the Tofield Crafts and Leagles, the Minor Hockey Association, the Girl Guides and the Boy Scouts. For the past three years the Auxiliary, through various fund raising projects has extended these generous donations to non-profit youth groups in the community.

Among those presenting the donations were Dian Ryan, Gladys Brown and Francis Oszmer. Accepting on behalf of the Beef Club was Dan Woods and Jon Brown; on behalf of

CUPE is decertified

by Lesley Primeau

An application was received for revocation from six CUPE members in Tofield, thus decertifying CUPE as the bargaining agent for town employees.

Last year, in a surprise move to many town residents, the employees of the town voted to have CUPE act on their behalf in all further salary negotiations with the town.

The Union acted on behalf of the employees during last year's salary negotiations and exactly why the local is defunct has not been revealed.

The Union was met with some initial distrust when it was formed but, over the course of the year little has been heard.

At the time, some town employees thought they might not be getting a fair shake from the town and thought the Union might strengthen their position.

The Town went through a lengthy bargaining procedure last year to finally settle the dispute which at one time threatened the town with a strike.

Gravel bid accepted

by Lesley Primeau

Ernie Pearson's Excavating of Camrose has been awarded the gravel contract for the County of Beaver with a bid of $202,774.00.

The bid was the lowest of six submitted, the highest being worth over $300,000.

The contract will be for the crushing, hauling and stockpiling of slightly more than 31,000 tonnes of gravel.

Representatives from each firm submitting a tender were present at the last regular meeting of the County Council. Council has also decided, in a related matter, to pay each landowner, on whose land gravel is stockpiled, a sum of $300 yearly.

Alberta Transport representatives Mr. Werbowsdd and Mr. Hetu attended the meeting to discuss the following matters: the University Ranch; Highway 834; Highway 623; the Y Road; Highway 617; Highway 615; Highway 870 and the possibility of allowing room for graders to turn around on the access roads that will be under construction.

Following a lengthy discussion which outlined the possible need to cutback in improvements due to a cutback in funding, Council concluded that a meeting with the Minister of Transportation was needed.

Council will at that time confer also with the Minister of Agriculture and local MLA's.

The County of Beaver will also be purchasing one 1980 Champion 700 Motor Grader and one 1981 Champion 700 Motor Grader from Ferguson Supply for a total of $180,000.

The County is also endeavouring to sell a 1972 and a 1974 Wabco grader.

After reviewing the financial statement of the Beaver Regional Arts Centre as supplied by the Village of Holden, Council has agreed to pay utilities in a maximum of $5,000 for 1983.

Village Council had informed County Council that without some financial assistance the Village would be forced into closing the facility indefinitely.

Doug Morris and Lyle Wack of the Tofield Fire Department attended the second day of the County Council meeting to discuss further the possibility of jointly purchasing a new communications system for the Tofield area.

The two gentlemen explained how the radio and telephone interconnect system work and reported the total cost would be $15,386.65.

Following a lengthy discussion and taking into consideration the needs of the fire departments across the county, Council declined to invest in the system of communication.

Skater

The Tofield Skating Club's annual Ice Concert is set for the 26 and 27 of February and those two skaters are getting in all the practice they can. Or rather one is, the other seems to be along for the ride. Tickets for the Concert Princesses are also on sale.

6 & 5, Tory style

How in the world did the Conservatives ever get themselves in the position of having to have a leadership race because one third of the party didn't support their leader? By contrast two thirds did.

Prime Minister Trudeau has made 6 and 5 rather famous as his targets in the fight against inflation, with not over six percent increases this year, followed by five percent next year.

But surely the Tories brought a new understanding of democracy to 6 and 5 last week-end in Winnipeg, when everyone agreed that 5 out of every 9 votes was quite good enough to elect a president, but 6 out of 9 wasn't good enough to be party leader.

Peter Elkings was elected party president with only 55 percent of the votes. Which means 45 percent of the voters didn't support him. Not only that, the same 45 would vote against him next week, too. But he'll continue to be president.

So why do the voters so blandly accept the pitch of the carnies that one out of three is too much opposition?

Sure Clark has his failings. Sure he's made mistakes. Sure he doesn't project as great a TV image as do some others, but so what? Have we reached the point that all we look at is charisma? Do we look just for good looks, television image, or a repertoire of punch lines? Have we dropped so low we'd elect Charlie McCarthy, because he's so sharp, so "with-it", and defeat Edgar Bergen because he's so straight, so dull?

Clark is charged with being ineffective. Yet can anyone really forget that it was Clark . . . and only Clark . . . who forced Trudeau to delay his juggernaut program of patriating the Constitution for almost a year? It was Clark who forced time for the Supreme Court to make their ruling, time enough to let the provincial premiers in for their session. Many of us aren't particularly happy with the constitution and the charter of rights we did get, but we rarely think how much more unhappy we'd be if Clark hadn't watered down the Trudeau dream.

We forget the determined opposition of the Conservatives, led by Clark, against the blockbuster omnibus bill, containing almost 40 different pieces of legislation, introduced a year or so ago by the Liberals. It was sparked, it was led by Clark. And the tactic was so successful that even a hint of its repetition persuaded the Liberals only a few weeks ago to back off from another smaller omnibus bill.

Only hours after announcement of the vote, one of the Calgary M.P's, who had pushed for a leadership review, Stan Kushner openly praised Peter Lougheed and hoped he'd win the next leadership race, so he could put things in shape. Yet we're sure Mr. Lougheed won't count too heavily on Mr. Kushner's endorsation: he'll find it hard to forget the mocking insolence and the twitting taunts he faced from the same Mr. Kushner as he tried to sell Alberta's oil policy to Ottawa. He fully realized Kushner had escaped from the Lougheed discipline when he traded his job as an MLA for one as MP, and was only getting his own back.

And he'll realize he can't count on support any more than Joe Clark could.

Justice, not revenge

Dear Sir:

There's no doubt about it, this country is the ideal place for criminals, especially the heartless, brutal type. They don't have to suffer the least bit of pain for what they did or do, are put in a place to prevent someone from dealing with them in a manner they deserve. They are fed better than many Canadians, plus the cost of keeping, and rehabilitating them.

When some people even so much as suggest that they should be hanged, a lot of good-hearted souls have a fit, and say it isn't right to seek vengeance. What nonsense, it's not to seek vengeance, there is such a thing as justice. If those people love their fellowmen as much as they pretend to, how come when someone, a child or one or more young persons are brutally murdered, they don't rise up in arms about it?

What kind of people are you anyway? There are protest marches over many issues, but I don't hear of any demanding the return of Capital Punishment.

Whenever that is brought up at election time, some politician who couldn't earn less about those who were murdered or will be every year, makes out he isn't in favor of it as there's no indication that it is a deterrent to murder. Hmm if it isn't, I know that many will agree that when someone is killed, often in a sickening manner, the murderer or murderers should pay with his or their lives as well. They don't have any qualms about taking another's life, why should we hesitate to do away with them?

The attitude of most people on this matter is beyond comprehension, and almost makes me sick. About the only time they become aroused for a little while, is when one of their relatives has been murdered. If most people had to witness some of the crimes that are or were committed, and what it was like for the victim, they might come to their senses.

If we had Capital Punishment now, I sure would like to be the judge at the trial of murderers like Olson in B.C., and the two guys that murdered two young girls in Southern Alberta quite recently. Just hanging is too good for these . . .

I would sentence them to life lashes, and to be hanged within six months, that's justice. There's no point in being humane with these type of criminals.

How long will danger are people going to be content to let some politicians decide for us what's right, or what we should have in this country?

If there isn't a just penal code here in Canada in the near future, I'm leaving.

I won't live in a country where murderers are allowed to keep on living, and most of the victims' families by themselves because of the horrible evil deed they did, and get away with it.

Camrose

One World Institute

by Lizzie Hyme Paul

Ten Days for World Development is being celebrated in Camrose this week, January 29 to February 5. The small display on Central America and the brown bag luncheon featuring the speaker from El Salvador have been paving the way to the main event. Friday, February 4 sees the arrival of Father Bob Stark, a Catholic priest from Nicaragua, who has been flown to Alberta especially for Ten Days activities. Stark will be giving the key-note address on Friday evening, following the potluck supper at the United Church Hall. While in Alberta, Father Stark will be participating in conferences and speaking engagements in Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Red Deer, Edmonton and St. Paul.

"Bob Stark doesn't sound like a Nicaraguan name," many people comment. It's true that Stark originates from New Mexico but his involvement in Nicaragua over the last few years has been so unique that he brings with him not only a report on the country's struggles but also a personal drama.

Rev. Stark is a member of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament and has been working out of the central Nicaraguan parish, Christo Rey, in the town of Bocana De Paiwas. Although he calls this parish home, he serves a much broader area in the country. As his biographical report states, Father Stark shepherds a total of 33,000 parishioners and 33 chapels. It takes him 2 months to make 1 rounds of the chapels as he travels by foot and mule-back.

One and one half years ago, the town of Bocana De Paiwas was attacked by a patrol of the Somoza National Guard who had crept in over the border from Honduras. Nicaragua has been suffering many such attacks from remnants of the Somoza National Guard and sympathizers from neighboring countries. Stark was taken captive but all of the worshippers in the church were shot to death and the patrol chopped down the building. Many villagers were killed in the surprise attack as well.

Although we have no more information on how Father Stark was held in captivity or how he escaped, it does make for an interesting story and one worth hearing from Stark himself.

For the past few months, Father Stark has been in Washington, D.C. helping plan a national conference [illegible] strengthening relations between Nicaragua and the U.S. government.

Those interested in hearing Father Stark's story are welcome to attend the pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m. on Friday evening at the United Church. Father Stark will give his message at 8 p.m. Arnold Malone, M.P., Crowfoot, will give a response on behalf of Canada's policy for aid to central American countries.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Just as all that glitters is not gold, all that trembles is not Parkinson's disease. There are many causes of tremors or shakiness, including liver disease, alcoholism, an overactive thyroid and some tranquilizers.

Parkinson's disease is a specific condition characterized by a somewhat unique tremor. The disease was first described by James Parkinson, an English physician, in 1817. It was not until 150 years had passed that a specific treatment was introduced.

The disease is associated with the lack of a material called dopamine in the brain, although why this material is lacking is not fully understood. Dopamine is needed for the transmission of signals between nerve cells, facilitating the passage of impulses from one cell to another. The message is garbled or blocked if dopamine is not present.

One of the relatively minor symptoms of Parkinsonism is drooling. Atropine, a drug known to dry up oral secretions, was tried many years ago and did relieve this problem. Surprisingly, it has also reduced the tremor and body rigidity and various atropine-like drugs have been the mainstay of treatment of Parkinson's disease for years. Their effectiveness, however, was limited.

We now have a new class of drug which effectively replaces the missing dopamine in the brain. In many cases, the medicine will allow bed-ridden patients to become mobile, while severely afflicted patients are improved enough that they do not appear to have the disease.

There are problems associated with the drug. It becomes less effective after a few years. Sometimes the patient suddenly "escapes" from the drug, and the symptoms return for a short period.

Nausea and vomiting may be a problem, particularly with the original drug in this class. One of the B vitamins (B6 or pyridoxine) blocks the action of the drug, making it ineffective.

It appears that second and third generation dopamine-providing drugs are on the way. They should make the treatment of this disease even more gratifying than it is now.

Surgery, never very effective for Parkinson's disease, is seldom used.

A number of people have won cash by attending games featuring talents of the Beaverhill Hockey League while others have won by purchasing tickets from the Tofield Figure Skating Club.

Recently Rhonda Wenz of Tofield and Paul Howrish of Holden won $500 each from the Beaverhill Hockey League. Five hundred dollars is being awarded every month to one person who purchased a ticket from any team within the league.

Each team, according to Joe Komarnisky of Holden, was given 25 tickets to sell. At the time the league had eight teams but since the beginning of the season two have dropped out of league play. Remaining teams include Viking, Holden, Ryley, Tofield, Lamont and Mundare. A total of 200 tickets were sold enabling the clubs to garner some need operating capital.

The Tofield Skating Club is again operating their $100 a Month Club and will announce each month the name of one lucky ticket holder. The first draw was made during last Saturday's Satellite hockey game. Winners were Richard Ahl of Edmonton and Fern McManus of Tofield. Ken Stauffer made the draw of the winners names.

The next draw will be held Feb. 26, which coincides with the annual Skating Club Ice Carnival. Tickets can be purchased from any skating club member. Further times regarding the concert will be announced.

UPHOLSTERY FABRIC

There's more to selecting upholstered furniture than meets the eye; some of the most attractive pieces of furniture can be the poorest performers.

Thicker fabrics, closer weaves, and tightly twisted yarns result in better overall durability of an upholstery fabric. Resistance to abrasion and wear are of primary concern when selecting upholstery fabrics. Firmness of the fabric is the most important factor in durability. A thick cotton/rayon fabric for example can be more durable than a thin flimsy nylon, even though the nylon is a stronger fibre. The fabric should feel substantial. Hold a sample up to the light and note how easily you can see through the fabric. Cotton prints are often thin, resulting in poor abrasion resistance because there is so little fabric to wear through. If you do choose a thin fabric use it only where it will receive minimal wear.

Latex or acrylic backings are found on the majority of upholstery fabrics on the market. Coatings are used to: 1) prevent smooth yarns from flipping and unravelling, 3) give the fabric additional body and stiffness, 3) stabilize yarns against shrinkage, and 4) maximize soil and stain penetration into the fabric and stuffing. Be cautious, however, of an overly thick coating; such fabric can be stiff and often camouflages an inferior fabric. The backing can peel and crack from mechanical action in normal use and wear. When the backing is totally or partially lost, the fabric shreds because the loose weave is no longer held in place. This type of problem is very common with less expensive cloths and cloth-blend fabrics.

Loosely woven fabrics, fabrics with fancy yarns and fabrics with floating yarns such as satin, damask and frieze, are prone to snagging. Snagging contributes to decreased wear and loss of surface appearance.

Fabrics which have a raised surface design, such as matelasse and brocade, or yarns that are more pronounced than others will encounter problems with uneven concentrated wear.

With pile fabrics such as velvet, corduroy and frieze, note the type of fabric composing the pile. It is the fibre that will receive the most abrasion. The denser the pile, the longer it will wear. Short, dense pile resists crushing and matting extremely well. It is also important that the backing, or ground fabric, be closely woven. This helps ensure that the pile does not come out. When choosing a pile upholstery fabric pick gently at the pile; the pile should not be easy to pull out or snag.

Flocked fabrics, though they resemble pile fabrics in appearance and feel, are made very differently. Small particles of fibres are attached with an adhesive (usually latex) to the surface of a background fabric. Flocked fabrics are found mainly in less expensive furniture because they are less costly to produce than true pile fabrics. They are, however, not as durable. The pile can loosen from the adhesive and be scraped off. The adhesive can degrade through time and be adversely affected by drycleaning solvents thus releasing the pile. Bare patches in areas of wear can result. If considering a flocked fabric, scratch the surface of the fabric with your fingernail. If the fibres come off or if the surface appearance of the fabric is altered permanently, the fabric may not be as durable as desired.

Heavily ribbed fabrics such as Haitian cotton are subject to uneven wear and fabric splitting. The fine warp yarns cannot withstand wear as well as the thick filling yarns, causing splitting in the crosswise direction. The floating warp yarns may also catch, snag and break. Fabrics with such an unbalanced construction should be avoided.

Pilling, the formation of little balls of fibres on the surface of a fabric, caused by abrasion in wear contributes to a worn appearance. Pilling occurs more readily in synthetic fibres and the balls are often difficult to remove. To test for end of pilling pull gently at the yarns, noting if any loose fibre ends become exposed. Rub fibres around and they may form a ball.

Note the fabric texture. The fabric should be firm, not scratchy or harsh. If it is pleasing to the touch it will be comfortable to sit on.

For a more complete look at choosing upholstery fabrics ask for the publication "Upholstery Fabrics" from this office.

FLORAL AND FANCY

Floral and Fancy of Ryley has re-opened in larger, more lush surroundings on main street. Located in the old ag office, the flower shop has expanded and taken on two new employees. Shop owner Divana McKeon has hired two ladies to guarantee good service at all times. Lorraine Koop will open daily, except Monday, at noon and Fleur and Fancy will remain open daily until 9 p.m. Sharon Good will help out with orders and shop supervision part-time.

Offered along with an extensive line of tropical plants, fresh flowers and floral arrangements is a wide array of wickerware, dried flowers, silk flowers and arrangements, a number of craft ideas including paper tole and assorted gift ideas. The shop will also carry a variety of cake decorating ideas and has on hand a number of pan sizes and novelty shapes for rent.

Divana hopes to hold some classes in crafts and perhaps in cake decorating. She feels her previous shop, located in the family garage, indicated that there was many in the Village who would enjoy taking a couple of classes. More information on these classes is available at the flower shop.

Last Saturday during the grand re-opening 50 roses were given away as a way to welcome visitors to the shop. The ladies were kept fairly busy throughout the day with orders for fresh flowers and Divana anticipates a number of requests for Valentine's Day.

Special days such as Valentine's or Mother's Day always keep the shop busy, but Floral and Fancy is most pleased to stop and discuss various plant problems with friends who drop in. Floral and Fancy is right on main street. Phone 663-3947 for more information.

Exciting finish ahead

With just over two weeks remaining in the regular schedule, a lot of decisions are still pending in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

So far, all that actually has been decided is that Viking won't make the playoffs and that Ryley, Holden and Viking can't take first place.

Holden is in a dangerous position as the team must win all of its remaining games while Ryley loses all of its games in order for Holden to advance to the playdowns.

All Ryley really needs is a tie to ensure a playoff position.

Tofield Satellites are still in sole possession of first place but, only by two points over both Mundare and Lamont.

What makes it really interesting in this race is that Mundare has a game in hand on the Satellites who in turn, have a game in hand on Lamont.

The final playoff berth could be decided on Saturday night when Holden and Ryley tangle in Tofield. Saturday's other contest will see Lamont visit in Viking.

The race for first place will continue on Tuesday night when Tofield will host Holden and Viking travels to Mundare.

Satellites retained their grip on the lead when they blasted Viking 18-1 and then, saw the race remain interesting when they were toppled 3-1 at home, by Mundare.

Ryley moved closer to a playoff berth when they dumped Mundare 9-3 and then were stunned 7-4 by a carefree team from Viking.

In the other game that was played, Holden kept its playoff hopes alive with a strong showing against Lamont in a game that ended in a 5-5 stalemate.

The regular schedule is due to be completed on Feb. 18th. In order to meet that deadline, five postponed games must be played.

Ryley is involved in both games, one of which is scheduled for Holden and the other is in Mundare. No dates had been set by presstime.

Ministik and district news

Once again there was a good turnout at the whist drive held in the Crafts Centre last Friday evening.

Winners for men were - first - Pat Paterson and second George Lee, consolation John Vandermeer.

Ladies - first - Margaret Paterson; second - Lillian Berreciolt and consolation Willie (Vandermeer) Magnan.

Lunch was served by the ladies. Another whist drive was announced to take place on Friday.

Mrs. Rachel Barnes, who was in Tofield Hospital for a long time, is now making her home in the Allen Gray Auxiliary Hospital in Edmonton.

Jean and George Kleinschroth made their yearly trek to Lac La Biche last Sunday for their supply of [illegible].

The January meeting of the Crafts Centre was held at the centre with a very good attendance.

Joan Dunham gave her treasurer's report which showed that the centre is in good financial position.

A raffle of a quilt and shawls and a sleeping bag will be raffled at the annual spring bazaar to be held on April 30th.

Other plans for the bazaar will be made on the February meeting. Several people met Monday afternoon at the centre to make use of the skating lane, and will meet again next [illegible].

David Wright, who has lived in the Ministik area since coming here from Manitoba in 1939, passed away on January 22nd from a heart attack. David went to Ministik School and when he was through, he decided he would like to be a farmer, which he did well, until impaired health forced him to [illegible] farm. He leaves to mourn, three sisters, Mary Jones of Devon, Elsie Rippinger of Edmonton and Mabel Van Rickle of New Sarepta, and one brother, Sydney of Mayerthorpe.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday from [illegible]'s Funeral Home.

Several from the area attended the bingo held in the Legion Hall in Tofield recently. Jean and Bonnie Ferguson were among the winners.

Schedule planned for Arts Complex

Members of the Beaver Arts Society gathered in Holden recently to discuss activities for the Beaver Regional Arts Centre.

The Society hopes that various activities might encourage further use of the centre and be instrumental in keeping the complex open.

The members of the Society breathed a sigh of relief when the County Council agreed to pay utilities for the Arts Centre for this year.

The County has deemed that they will invest no more than $5,000 towards the continued [illegible].

Last year the Society endeavoured to attract as many audiences as they could through various productions including the H.M.S. Pinafore.

Tentative dates include a night of Gospel singing set for Feb. 26 and a variety night concert set for March 19. The Gospel Night will feature the vocal stylings of at least five religious musical groups.

Although it has not been finalized, the Society hopes to present a dinner theatre production on April 14. However, confirmation has yet to be received or the date firmed.

Many other possibilities lead themselves to use of the complex including a magician show, choral groups or the like that might have attraction to the family group.

The Arts Society hopes that these programs will entice people to treat the Arts Centre as a viable family entertainment facility and hopefully the patronage will grow and postpone the closing of the multi-use building.

Any member of the Society can be contacted for ideas for future shows and announcements will be forthcoming in The Mercury.

Rodeo planned

Plans are being made by the Tofield Ag Society to hold the first annual Sod Buster Rodeo, May 28 and 29th. The two-day event would be held at the Tofield Gymkhana Corral and Fairground and is approved by the Lakeland Rodeo Association which has a membership of over 500.

Tentatively there will be seven events offered including saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping and ladies' barrel racing. As with most rodeos, a queen contest is planned.

Organizers of the rodeo included Glen Jones, Earl Rose, Barry Jones, Bruce Telford and Jim Kalla.

Sharon Telford has agreed to be responsible for the organizational duties of the queen contest.

Other events that may be included include a Saturday night dance, a major barbeque and a pancake breakfast.

Although many details have yet to be worked out, the Ag Society expresses a great deal of optimism that the first annual Sod Buster Rodeo will be a roaring success.

Further information will be forthcoming in The Mercury.

You have to be fast to get the best of a jump ball situation. During some exciting exhibition basketball action in Ryley, many a ball was jumped for. The girls fought until the end, loosing by a mere three baskets.

Basket??

It's hard to tell from this angle whether a basket is about to be made or not. But, it does look mighty close. There was some excellent basketball action in both Ryley and Tofield this past weekend.

Toros cling to lead

Tofield Toros are still holding a slim lead in the fight for first place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros eased over a narrow win in their only outing of the past week to remain ahead of Bawlf in the standings.

Round Hill and Bashaw holed down the next two spots and both are still in the running for the lead.

Kingman has fifth place with that team's playoff hopes still alive while New Norway has now been eliminated from playoff contention.

First place will be on the line on Friday night when the Toros will be at home to Bawlf.

The game will also be a clash between the league's top two goalies, Olsen of Tofield and Stang of Bawlf.

Toros are trying to finalize arrangements to have a postponed game (at home) with Bashaw rescheduled.

Toros also must play a second game with Bashaw in Camrose. This game had originally been scheduled for Sunday past but, had to be postponed.

Olsen of the Toros has a goals against average of 3.71 for about a one-half goal edge over Stang in a close race.

Lashack of the Toros is the only Tofield player with a spot in the top seven in the individual scoring race as he currently holds fourth place.

In a penalty-studded contest in Tofield on Friday night, Tofield edged Kingman by a 4-3 margin.

Lashack scored twice to lead the Tofield attack while the singles were netted by Friesen and G. Olsen.

Dunlop had two goals for Kingman whose other marker came from Ekstrom.

Thirty-two penalties were called in this game with Kingman having 18 while Tofield picked up 14.

Last rites are held for Mrs. Ann Ozubko

Mrs. Ann Ozubko, wife of Mike Ozubko of Bruce passed away on December 27, 1982 in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton, at the age of 64 years.

Ann had a fall on Dec. 6, which resulted in a broken hip and a broken leg. After surgery she was recovering very well in the Glenrose Hospital taking therapy. She spent Christmas Day and Boxing Day with all her family at the home of her daughter, Betty and Lawrence Kachuman.

Ann Ozubko (Zkaczyk) was born at Radway in 1918. She moved with her parents, Fred and Katie Zkaczyk to Holden in 1938. She attended Vermilion Valley School. There she met Mike Ozubko and they were united in marriage in 1954. They moved to Bruce and farmed there until the time of her passing.

Ann is survived by her loving husband, Mike; four daughters, Betty and Lawrence Kachuman, Jean and Albert Heflin, Gloria and Orest Penich, all of Edmonton, Sharon and Jim Giebelhaus of Holden; four sons, Marvin and Nancy Ozubko, Reuben and Betty Ozubko of Edmonton, Vernon and Elaine Ozubko of Bruce and Gerald and Melanie of Calgary; 23 grandchildren; five great grandchildren; three sisters and five brothers. She was predeceased by a granddaughter, Jeannie in 1976.

Prayer services were held Dec. 29 in the Holy Heart of Mary Roman Catholic Church in Viking and the funeral service was held Dec. 30th with Father Kuether officiating and interment was in Bruce Cemetery.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

If February is your month to tackle craft projects, a time to finish all those items you didn't have time for before Christmas, or a time to begin something new to enter in the Fair, then we have books for you. Books on embroidery, books on quilting, books about needlepoint, about weaving, about knitting, crochet and macrame, books about tatting and beadwork. There are books on photography, drawing, and painting; there are books about leatherwork and raffia work; and there are books about jewelry, pottery and dried flowers. In fact, if you need a book about any particular handicraft, and there isn't one in the Tofield Library, then we will make every effort to get it for you. Come in and see the display of some winter crafts and craft books. Borrow a book to refresh your memory on a familiar art or craft, or learn a new one.

On the new book table, you will notice twenty or so newly processed paperbacks, in a variety of fiction categories. Titles such as Year of the Dragon, The Centurions, Donors, The QE 2 is Missing, or A Woman of Two Continents may catch your eye or your interest.

On the children's display table may be found a number of new picture books; The Grey Lady and the Strawberry Snatcher by Molly Bang is a story without words, a Caldecott Honor book for its beautifully painted illustrations. The Little Girl and the Tiny Doll by Edward Ardizzone is a title at least fifteen years old, but an enchanting story for preschoolers and elementary students. Come in and enjoy a quiet time reading to your child in the Library, open Tues. 1-5, Thurs. 3-5 and 6-8, Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Drugs turned in

by Lesley Primeau

Jack Cargill, of the Tofield Town and Country Drug Mart, reports that over 50 bottles of questionable and outdated drugs were returned during the province wide drug round-up.

The program was spearheaded by the Alberta Safety Council, the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association, the Alberta Medical Association, the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses and the Alberta Social Services and Community Health.

The program's organizers contend that outdated prescriptions can be of serious consequence to younger children who may get their hands on the drugs.

Every year, hundreds of children are treated for drug poisoning.

Mr Cargill reports that, in addition to the number of bottles returned, a great many people took the time to ask questions regarding drugs they have in the home. Many inquiries were raised as to the problems arising from drugs left after due dates and those whose labels have worn off. The local druggist found the time most opportune for some counselling.

Students of the C.W. Sears School were given posters to colour dealing with the topic and the winner, Sherri Kaufman, was awarded a stuffed animal for her winning entry.

Around the town

by Lesley Primeau

First on the menu of local tidbits . . . where are the blueberry muffins that used to be was at That Place?? Return, return. . .

The Ryley Busy Beavers have had a busy first month. They have a bake sale planned for Saturday at the United Church but the big event was the Ice Capades. At least 46 of the little Beavers attended a show and thoroughly enjoyed it. Mothers are to be thanked . . . who else would subject themselves to that torture . . Gracious mums, thankyou.

Photos hanging in the Tofield Mercury office are yours for the taking. If you see [illegible] someone you know take it. They won't hang for long and then it's garbage city so if you happen to be strolling thru town, stop.

You know that hot dog skiing son of Barb Johnson, Doug Harbec, I think is his handle . . . well get this, seems he fell off a mountain a while ago and will spend the better part of this month in a body cast. The brave boy will doubt recover and has already been telling everyone he plans to attach mirrors to the cast so he can ski again. Some people's children'' But Doug is alive and well so's the mountain for those keeping track.

Hello to Mrs. Innes up at the Tofield Hospital getting some great care we trust. Mr. Innes took some time out the other day to stop in at the Mercury office with some excellent, homemade tomato soup. Can't be beat, let me tell you. Except perhaps by the delicious lemon tarts he brought with the soup. Now that beats coffee anyday. Thanks Mr. Innes and get well to your lovely wife.

And the lovely and charming Mrs. A. Anderson was carried off by that roving reporter, mouth about town, Lesley Primeau to Edmonton where she visited with Mrs. Laura Hansen for a day. Seems the two ladies spent a great deal of time talking, shopping and taking the city by storm.

Excellent basketball action in Tofield and Ryley last Saturday If you missed it dou- [illegible].

Remember if you have any tidbits of news you'd like to pass on give us a call, we're only too delighted to stop and talk . . . keeps us from working.

And on this my parting shot I offer you a small poem . . . are you ready to take notes?? Here goes.

There once was a young lady named Cathy,
For Wayne Gretzky she had no apathy, for her 15th birthday she yearned
[illegible]
for that young girl named Cathy . . . if you wanted it to rhyme, you should have asked . . . Happy Birthday Cathy Brown . . . sweet 15. . .

primeau's play pen

by Lesley Primeau

Would you believe it?? Me [illegible] the state of your grammer . . . my grammer lives in Ottawa. [illegible] new year with hardly a beef, or a lamb for those keeping score. The winter, if that's what it is, is a delight . . . more more . . . my bus is running . . . sans in heater; but then I have never owned anything with four wheels that had heat, so it's not like I know the difference . . . come to think of it, I have never owned anything with two [illegible] had heat.

No one has dared to break into my apartment, steal my bus, flood the kitchen or living room and best of all, my prized collection of lithuanian trufflesnooters is intact. Now I don't know how you view this all, but it makes me think that perhaps it's either gonna rain cats, dogs and two hefalumps or I am a candidate for sainthood . . . or the national conservatives. Come to think of it perhaps this is the time to make the supreme sacrifice and toss my hat into the ring . . . I don't have a hat, I don't vote conservative and I don't belong to the party . . . but what the heck . . . what choice do they have???

Let me see . . . a string of good luck?? Is that possible or might this be a dream and if it is do I dare wake myself . . . this is like being on easy street . . . speaking of which perhaps in light of the lack of prostitution laws we should rename easy street so as not to offend the moral or amoral majority . . . we could call it leisure lane . . . catchy, don't you think??

Yup, I think if I had a spare dollar I might want to invest it in a good game of chance, after all didn't I pick the redskins?? Lady Luck, that's what they'll call me from now on . . . assuming they call me at all. They didn't last year and as yet I have no reason to presume a change. . .

And face it . . . I did have a string of the best cheesie jokes in the world, second only to the pickle jokes. A streak I tell you, a streak . . . I tried that once . . . at the tender age of 20 . . . know what you could catch your death that way. . .

Best of all, you're on a streak too. Know why?? This is all for this week . . . and you thought I had no heart. . .

Keep Canada Beautiful . . . Pitch-in Holden plans playground

The Holden Creative playground committee was formed at a meeting held January 17

Purpose of the committee is to co-ordinate the construction of a playpark at Holden School. Research on the project was initiated by interested kindergarten parents in April, 1982. The County of Beaver Board of Education approved the northeast corner of the schoolgrounds at their June, 1982 meeting.

The officers of the Committee are. Co-chairmen - Mrs. Susan Tymchak and Charlie Mathews, Treasurer - Lyle Andrusky; Secretary and Promotions - Mrs. Bobbie Schweitzer; Design Committee - Mrs. Pauline MacKenzie, Miss Carol Klontz, Mrs. Eleanor Ogonoski and Mrs. Lynn Hannah.

The committee hopes to have enough funds to construct a combination tire and log park. Once the design committee has viewed parks already constructed and decided on structures for Holden's park, final approval must be obtained from the Board of Education.

A great deal of work must be done before the proposed construction day of June 18th. While some funds have been set aside by the Village of Holden Recreation Board in the Village Master Plan, the committee will be contacting area service groups, businesses and individuals for donations of cash, labor, equipment and materials.

A contest for Grade 1-6 students called "Name Your Park" has been initiated by the committee. Deadline for entries is Friday and a prize will be given to the student with the best name.

The committee hopes to give the students a number of ways to become involved in the building of their park.

Powder Puffs plan a game

The ladies of the Tofield Powder Puff team have proven again that they can hold their own on the ice.

Challenged by the Mighty Mites, over this past weekend, the Powder Puffs skated their way to a 5-1 victory.

The youngsters on the Mighty Mite team gave the ladies an excellent game and an even better workout and the Powder Puffs are certain that a return match will provide an even better challenge.

After a number of excellent games between the Powder Puffs and teams of various sizes, sex and skill, the ladies have decided it is time to tackle other major women's hockey teams.

The Powder Puffs will tangle with the Chipman Ladies this Sunday in the Tofield Arena.

CATTLE SHOWING REQUIRES PRACTICE

Cattle showing takes practice! But qualified instruction can show you what to practice.

We have a number of respected showmen in Beaver county. Through good herd management and a "learn to do by doing" philosophy, these cattlemen continue to be very successful in the show ring.

We're fortunate to have a few of them involved in the Beaver County Cattle Showing Course. They're willing to share some showing tips by instructing the requested sessions. Pat Kallal and Bob Antoniuk will demonstrate grooming, trimming and fitting the show animal. Gordon Rattray will share some ideas on showing the calf. How to judge the animal will be explained by Gordon Klein. Proper nutrition is essential to a successful show animal and Dale Engstrum from Alberta Agriculture will talk on the subject.

The day should be enjoyable and worthwhile to all cattlemen. Interested farmers are invited as well as 4-H members, leaders and parents. The course will be held on Saturday, February 5 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Lunch will be available. The location will be at Sauers' Arena, two miles south of Viking on Highway 36. Please call our office (663-3555) to pre-register.

Watch for other interesting courses through Alberta Agriculture. We'll all be too busy in the spring for such extra activities so take advantage of them now. Dates have been set for courses in Wills and Estate Planning, Dairy Production and The Welding Skill Course. Call our office for more information.

Tourney is held

On Sunday the Ketchemust Creek Family Horse Club held a cribbage tournament at the Beaverhill Family Centre (Bush Hall).

Many turned out for this novelty afternoon.

Due to the large turnout the event was decidedly successful.

First prize was awarded to Walter Krystal; second prize to Jerry Tiedemann; third prize to Phil Lovell. The booby prize was awarded to Teresa Williams who received the lowest score.

LEG JUN 7 PONT...

Happy anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Laderoute celebrated their 62nd anniversary and were in for celebrations at the Tofield Lodge. Residents of the Lodge put together an afternoon of entertainment with readings, songs and music. Mr. Laderoute even played his violin to the delight of many. The couple's family was on hand to enjoy the festivities and the Ladies of the Eastern Star provided lunch.

Seniors seek support

Members of the Tofield Golden Club will be canvassing the town of Tofield in the near future in an attempt to gain donations that will go towards the cost of renovating the old fire hall that will eventually become the senior's drop-in centre.

The Golden Club hopes to get a government matching grant that will allow for the enlarging and furnishing of their new home.

To date, the plans have been drawn up and grant plans are being made for the inside which will possibly hold a pool table, shuffle board, dart boards and complete kitchen facilities.

It is the Club's hope that the community will support their canvass and realize that sooner or later they will benefit from the centre.

Residents of the area who have reached their 55th birthday may join the Golden Club and take advantage of all they have to offer. In due time, all residents will become of age and the members hope canvassed residents will take this into account.

The more the proposed centre is used the more often it will remain open.

The seniors also emphasize that it is not solely for their use.

Often on a shopping day when families are in town, little ones often need one of the washroom facilities and the centre would serve nicely in that capacity. The centre would be a meeting place for friends to get together.

There are three Golden Club members who hope they may be able to put on some forms of entertainment for the community and other functions that would further justify the opening of the facility.

The members of the Club ask that residents be generous when canvassers knock on their door.

Mite tournament set

by Lesley Primeau

Thirty-two boys between the ages of 9 and 10 will be anxious to tackle their first Mite Hockey Tournament set to start Thursday in Tofield. The tournament will run the 10, 11 and 12th with six games the first day, ten the second and four on the final day.

Teams expected to participate will travel from Josephburg, Ardrossan, Fort Saskatchewan, Fultonvale and Holden.

Both the Mite A's and Mite B's from Tofield will be competing in the three-day tournament.

At stake is the Perpetual Trophy which will carry the winning team name and each player on the winning teams will receive a trophy.

Also available will be participant trophies for each player in the tournament.

The Mites on both teams get together at least two or three times a week for practice and generally play on the weekends. Coaching the Mite A team is Dave Berreckieh with help from Lawrence Rude and Graham Buchingham.

Coaching the B team is Dave Carlson with help from Kelly Phillips.

The teams have enjoyed excellent support and encouragement from their families who can easily be spotted in the stands during games.

Playing on the A team this year is Dennis Swan, Clayton Simpson, Lorne Rees, Allen Buckingham, Gordon Jessage, Robert Zindel, Leslie Anderson, Robby Berreckieh.

Fund-raising is launched

The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary is launching a fund-raising campaign.

Between Feb. 27 and March 13, they will be taking orders for over 30 different spices and seasonings.

The spices were chosen because of the Auxiliary's ability to pass on substantial savings to the householder.

The spices are offered in specially lined, resealable flavour bags. They will be available in 5 oz. or 16 oz. sizes.

All spices are identical in quality to those sold in gourmet spice shops and quality retail establishments.

The profit will be used to purchase various necessary items for the hospital and the patients.

If for some reason you are missed and would like to make an order, contact any Auxiliary member or call Louise Berube at 662-2138 - Ruby Sears at 662-2288 or Penny Fowler at 662-3914.

The Auxiliary will have a table at the March 11th Farmers Market to anyone who would like to place orders.

The Auxiliary also plans a perogy supper on March 5th in the Legion Hall.

Queen Candidates are named

by Lesley Primeau

Once again it is time for the annual Tofield Skating Carnival and with it the annual Queen contest.

This year, four Tofield School students are vying for the honour of becoming the 1983 Ice Carnival Queen.

In the running are Tracy McShane, Liana Nahirnik, Cathy Brown and Kathi Coombes.

TRACY McSHANE

LIANA NAHIRNIK

Cathy Brown is the eldest daughter of Harold and Doris Brown and is currently in grade ten. The youngest princess this year, Cathy has aspirations to become a nurse and hopes her interest in life will prepare her for those challenges. Sponsored by the Beaverhill Light Horse Association, Cathy has an active interest in all school sports, teaches skating with the Skating Club, plays piano and is active in the 4-H Beef Club.

CATHY BROWN

Kathi Coombes is presently in grade eleven and hopes that when all is said and done she will be a qualified interior designer. Sixteen-year-old daughter of Kay and Ron, Kathi passes her free time with horseback riding, skating and teaching power skating to a group of youngsters. She

Erickson wins spiel

by Lesley Primeau

A good crowd was on hand Sunday evening to see the Randy Erickson rink defeat the A. Goodwin rink to win the Tofield Farmers Grand Challenge.

Third was won by the Dale Whiteman rink while Vic Weiss placed fourth.

Playing on the Erickson rink was Dan Swarz, Gordon Schmidt and Robert Appleby. The team won the Bank of Montreal trophy as well as sets of socket wrenches courtesy of Oren Automotive and Tofield Auto Body.

In the second event, the Cecil Stannard rink captured the Tofield Building Supplies trophy by ousting the Harry Skyba Rink. Along with their trophies, Doug Capagrace, Ken Nilson and Bill Sleggen took home seat covers from Kallal Motors.

Taking third place was the Ernie Dean rink while fourth place was won by Bill Skyba's rink.

Third event was won by the Stan Voltzer rink who, along with their Uniform Trophies won clock radios courtesy of the Town and Country Drug Mart and the Farmers Curling Association. Playing with Voltzer were Dale McLachlan, Laura Eglesez and Doug Murray.

The John Moore rink took third place winnings while the Terry Magnuson rink claimed fourth place.

Fitting punishment

We'd like to be as naive as Gilbert and Sullivan that we shall achieve in these our object all sublime of making the punishment fit the crime, etc.

An Edmonton judge a few days ago meted out a number of sentences, adding up to nine years in prison, for robbing a Safeway store there. Two sentences, seven years and two years were consecutive, the others concurrent, involving charges such as robbery, carrying a weapon, wearing a mask, and so on.

We have no quarrel with the judge or his sentence.

What makes us really wonder about the punishment fitting the crime is to look at numbers of other cases, and the punishments meted out.

Lawyers who embezzle as much as four million dollars worth of clients funds, for instance, and get no worse sentencing. Drivers who slaughter people on the highways, and walk away with two and sometimes three year sentences. Drivers who ignore the seizure of their licenses, almost with impunity. Drivers who "blow" 80 milligrams of blood alcohol (over SIX times the legal limit) yet draw only a $500 fine. Rapists who get off with anywhere from several months to just a suspended sentence for their degrading assault.

Law and jurisprudence, we know, is a developing science. But we don't think we're advancing when there is such a remarkably wide variation in penalties, with seemingly greater severity attached to the more minor crime. It appears almost to fit into one more variation of Murphy's Law: Punishment tends to decrease proportionately as the severity of the crime increases.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

One of the freedoms we take for granted is freedom of the press, largely because we have never been without it in North America. Like breathing, we assume that we have it there. I recall when we used, print what we want and in addition, enjoy radio and TV. Yet we rarely think of man's search for this right and means of communication.

Perhaps, the newspaper is one of the world's biggest private enterprise businesses - including, of course, the continual publication which has long since become a tool of propaganda.

Would you believe that the ancestor of the newspaper dates back to Rome of 400 B.C.? At this time, officials of the Senate deposited official documents and speeches in the Temple of Ceres, where slaves made hand printed copies for distribution to wealthy citizens. Later, sporting events and gladiatorial combats were added. The first "Letter to the Editor" was from Cicero in 51 B.C. when he was fighting overseas and complained that he did not want to read about stale gladiatorial combats but rather what home was saying about him!

The world's first official newspaper might well be The Acta diurn (The Daily Acts) authorized by Julius Caesar in 60 B.C. which was posted in the Forum for common citizens to read the news of finances, elections, politics, births and deaths.

The invention of the printing press changed the nature of communications. The first regularly published newspaper was the Avisa Relation oder Zeitung launched in Germany in 1609. The first English language newspaper sheets were printed in Amsterdam in 1620 and shipped to England. The world's newspaper fleet was first created by a reader writing to The Dublin Courant in 1670 when he asked for a subscription to the news paper (as against the news sheets).

News letters were circulated in Virginia as early as 1620 and gave the news of name, public appointments and ships arrivals. Boston's first News Letter printed only 300 copies although Boston had a population of 16,000. Subscription was $4 a year or a penny a copy on the streets. By 1800, there were 7,000 newspapers in the USA alone.

Needless to say, the world's newspapers have performed many valuable services besides presenting the news. The New York Herald financed the sending of Stanley to find Livingstone. They also fitted out the ill-fated De Long expedition to the North Pole. Newspapers have often been in the forefront of raising funds for disaster areas and funds for medical research.

Oddly enough, the revered "Fourth Estate" was to soon include a radical Underground Press, a strange new media of pornography, pot and revolution. As against those weird splinters, the larger newspapers will often involve a staff of over 2,000. A single piece of machinery might cost over $200,000. Between News Agencies, Newspaper Unions and Newspaper Guilds, we have probably come a long way from the town shouts posted in the Roman Forums.

A glimmer of hope amid the gloom

By W. Roger Worth

The nation's smaller firms have been hit hard by the worst economic slowdown since the 1930's, yet there is a glimmer of hope amid the disappearance of 80,000 companies in the last year.

The good news: 150,000 new firms were created in 1982. Better still, the 64,000-member Canadian Federation of Independent Business estimates another 200,000 new companies could be set up this year, providing Ottawa delivers the right budget.

Nevertheless, the job creation efforts of the small business sector have not been enough to keep up with spiralling layoffs. As a result, there are no jobs for at least 1.5 million Canadians.

While it is difficult to assess blame, particularly when the world economy is in such a slump, it is becoming clear that the macroeconomists and other "experts" in the corridors of power simply don't understand the nature of entrepreneurs, and their importance to our success or failure at creating jobs.

A recent article in Britain's respected business magazine, The Economist, bluntly outlines the facts:

• Since 1969, about two-thirds of America's new private sector jobs have come from workplaces with fewer than 25 employees. (A similar situation exists in Canada.)

• What's more, these small companies lose less than 1 percent of the days lost through labour disputes by companies with more than 1,000 employees.

• Small firms produce an unbelievable 24 times as many innovations for each research and development dollar as large companies do.

• Japan's manufacturing industry has had greater success and less unemployment because 58 percent of the employees are in workplaces with fewer than 100 employees, compared to less than 25 percent in the industrialized countries of the West.

The Economist asks this question. Are countries and businesses adopting the correct quickly-changing entrepreneurial mechanisms to put new technology into productive effect?

Sadly, from a government policy viewpoint, the answer to that question in Canada is "No!". Rather than spending millions to bail out the corporate losers, the Ottawa establishment should make a concerted effort to foster the entrepreneurial spirit, perhaps our country's greatest resource. As well, policies to better support such risk taking should be put into place.

It's one of the few ways Canadians can be assured of jobs, in both the short term and the long term.

Past Time Pastimes

by Stacey Shaw

February 4, 1897 - The community of Edmonton, then only 1,500 people, agreed with the Federal government to pay $25,000 towards the cost of a railway bridge over the North Saskatchewan River. At this time, Edmonton was not a trans-Canada railline. However, the CPR did have a branch line from Calgary to the town of Strathcona, across the North Saskatchewan River from Edmonton. Edmontonians feared that Strathcona would outgrow their own town if the town bridge was not built. When the bridge was completed five years later in 1902, Edmonton's status as a city was assured.

February 4, 1970 - The Liberian oil tanker Arrow ran aground on Cerberus Rock in Chedabucto Bay off the coast of Nova Scotia. Storms and gales broke the tanker in half and hampered efforts to salvage the load of bunker type oil. Leaking oil soon fouled the water and beaches of the bay. Attempts to minimize the environmental damage were only partially successful, despite the efforts of scientists and biologists.

February 5, 1945 - The Red Deer Fish and Game Association reported at its annual meeting that they had set a new provincial record for the number of crows and magpies killed in a province wide campaign. A total of $1,093 was paid to children in the Red Deer district for 10,750 pairs of magpies' feet and 2,175 pairs of crows' feet.

February 7, 1775 - In order to attract immigrants to Upper Canada (Ontario), free land was offered to citizens of the United States if they settled in Canada.

Sun chilled

(IDRC) - Solar cells developed for the American space program are being used on experimental solar-powered refrigerators to preserve vaccines in rural clinics in India and several African countries.

Electricity supplied by small solar panels is being used to power super-insulated refrigerators that can keep precious medicines cool and safe, even in tropical temperatures of up to 43° C (110° F).

The trials with solar refrigerators may be the key to expanding health protection in developing countries. According to the World Health Organization, one of the greatest obstacles to mass immunization programs is the destruction of vaccines from exposure to heat before they can be administered. To remain effective, most vaccines must be kept at a temperature between 4.4° C (39.48° F), and a temperature of -20° C (-4° F) is needed for long-term storage of polio and measles vaccines.

Ryley district news

by Lorna Hall

Relatives and neighbors of Stan and Ida Hanks have been completing the country south of Ryley, weather fair post, four-year-old black Labrador dog.

The homecoming games were held in Ryley Gym on Saturday. The volleyball game was won by Ryley.

Paul Kenoway is still a patient in an Edmonton hospital.

Monday was the Lion's bingo in Ryley Community Hall. Bonanza winner was Sophie Sadowyk. Last Monday evening, Sarah Desorlan received congratulations on her win.

The Cavell Rebekah Lodge are having their tea and bake sale on Saturday in the Senior Citizen's Centre.

The Ryley 4-H club enjoyed helping out at the bake sale in the United Church kitchen on Saturday afternoon.

Elmar Andersen and Jorgen Davick are patients in the Tofield Hospital.

Legion holds raffle

The annual Tofield Legion vehicle raffle garners a gr eat deal of interest in the Tofield area.

This year, the Legion is raffling a 1983 Ford truck that is presently parked outside of both Motors for those interested ticket buyers to ke spect.

Holding a raffle is not quite as simple as it appears in that there are government regulations that must be adhered to. According to those regulations half of the proceeds from a raffle must be given to a charitable or deserving organization. The first truck raffle sponsored by the Legion resulted in a trust fund being set up for the new Tofield Hospital.

Last year, two cars were raffled off and proceeds from that interest also put into the Hospital trust fund. This year, however, the Legion will be awarding the proceeds from this raffle to the Tofield Golden Club's Building Fund. The Tofield and area seniors are currently embarking on a project that will see the old fire hall become a seniors drop-in centre.

Sale of tickets will cease on March 11 when all ticket books must be returned to the raffle manager, Tony Osmon. No tickets may be sold after that date. All ticket stubs will be held in the Bank of Montreal vault and will be brought to the Legion Hall in time for the draw March 18th.

Those wishing tickets on the new Ford truck need merely contact any Legion member.

Ladies hold bonspiel

by Lesley Primeau

Sixteen ladies' teams from Bruce, Daysland, Tofield, Ryley, Mundare, Vegreville, Edmonton, Red Deer and Holden competed in the annual Ladies' Bonspiel held at the Holden Complex.

Taking the A Event was the Marie Malick rink of Holden with Alice Hide, Adelle Shury and Carol Klein who captured the Denver Motors Trophy and a set of dishes to boot. Second place was won by the Bobbie Schreiner rink of Holden, third by the Betty Kosloff rink of Daysland and fourth was won by the Christine Mackay rink of Holden.

The Holden UFA Bulk Trophy was won by the Darleen Gallinger rink of Tofield who was the B Event and took home portable mixers for their effort. Team members include Joyce Pollock, Linda Sears and Ann Adamson. Placing second was the Irene Talaga rink of Mundare, third was the Gladys Whyte rink of Tofield and fourth was won by the Lee Bruce rink of Ryley.

The C Event was won by the Isabelle Land rink of Bruce. The rink with Arlene Field, Trish Reniston and Marie Chrystian captured the Lucky Dollar trophy as well as punch bowls. Placing second was the Bernice Wellner rink of Edmonton. Third went to the Allison Langger rink of Holden and fourth to the Pat Nelson rink of Vegreville.

United Grain Growers and the Royal Bank were also contributors to the 1983 Holden Ladies Bonspiel.

HOW SMALL BUSINESS CAN BUCK THE TREND THIS WINTER

The application deadline for the small business support element of P.E.P. — the Priority Employment Program, has been extended to February 18th, 1983.

If you operate an Alberta business with gross annual sales of up to $5 million, you could still be eligible to hire or maintain employees.

P.E.P. makes it possible for eligible small businesses to recruit up to 3 new employees, and pays 50% of their wages up to a maximum of $2.50 per hour.

New employees must be Alberta residents, at least 16 years of age, and legally entitled to work in Canada.

Jobs should offer full-time employment for a minimum of two months and should provide skills that assist employees in finding permanent employment.

Some employers may also qualify for assistance to retrain staff through on-the-job training under the industrial training element of P.E.P. Assistance is available for up to 50% of trainee wages, plus instruction and course development costs.

P.E.P. funding runs until April 30, 1983. Obtain brochures and applications from Employment Development Offices of Alberta Manpower, or Business Development Offices of Alberta Tourism and Small Business.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Something this week for those interested in wines, the history, the culinary, and the making of wines. Cyril Ray's Book of Wine covers all that, and also how to choose and serve wines. Two new small cookbooks that specialize, are told about Muffins by Angela Clubb and A Heavy of a Cookbook published by the Alberta Beekeepers' Association. Both books have a wide range of recipes within their scope, and both give quantities in imperial measure as well as metric.

Two episodes in the history of Canada which make interesting reading are written about in Escape From Canada! by John Melady, and The Little Immigrants by Kenneth Bagnell. The first tells the story of German prisoners of war in Canada, their daily lives, their escapes and riots. There have been many books telling of Allied POWs, but few giving the other side of the story. The second book, equally readable, and also illustrated with photographs, gives the stories of many of Canada's immigrants who arrived in this country as orphaned children. This collection of biographies gives an insight into a neglected corner of Canadian social history.

For all those readers who enjoy a glimpse into the private lives of royalty, The Windsor Years by Lord Kinross, is a lavishly illustrated book version of the television series Edward and Mrs. Simpson. This large paperback covers the life of Edward as Prince of Wales, King, and Duke of Windsor.

Next week brings this session of Preschool Story Hour to a close, but Elizabeth McLachlan and Carol Wideman are busy planning two further sessions. Watch for announcements and posters about the Spring Story Times.

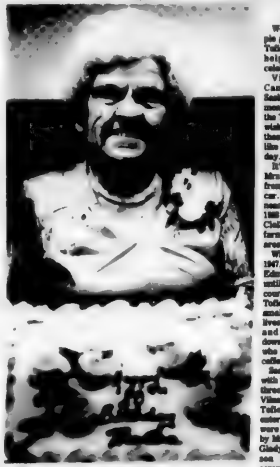
Birthday celebrated

by Lesley Primeau



Well over one hundred people gathered at That Place in Tofield Sunday afternoon to help Martha McClellan celebrate her 88th birthday.

Visitors came from Camrose, Toronto, Fort Saskatchewan, St. Albert, Edmonton, Sherwood Park and the Tofield area with birthday wishes for this lady who for three years made her host the Tofield's Queen for the day.

It's been many years since Mrs. McClellan came west from Woodstock via a cattle car. The Lee family farmed near the Ukrainian area and in 1925 she married Mr. McClellan and together they farmed the Hastings Lake area and the Ardrossan area.

When her husband died in 1967, Mrs. McClellan moved to Edmonton and stayed there until, with the help and encouragement of family in Tofield, she moved back to the small community in 1977. She lives quietly in her little house and every day walks downtown to visit with friends who gather at That Place for coffee.

Seated at the head table with the "Birthday Lady" were three brothers, Wallace of Vilna and John and George of Tofield. A short program entertained the guests who were treated to some readings by Mrs. Elvera Rell and Mrs. Gladys Severson. Vera Peterson acted as master of ceremony for the afternoon which also highlighted the songs and music of Ray and Vera Peterson. Gordon Kyle played a few selections on the bagpipes for Mrs. McClellan who considers the pipes her favourite instrument.

Following the singing of "happy birthday", lunch was served as was the delicious cake.

Powderpuffs have a win

After a number of exhibition games the Tofield Powder Puffs thought it was high time they tackled another ladies team and set up a game with Chipman.

Last Sunday at the Tofield Arena, it was a battle of ability, not sex or age, and the ladies did themselves proud with a 3-1 victory over their worthy opponents.

An enthusiastic crowd was on hand to cheer the ladies on in their first real game. The ladies showed they had learned a lot in the weeks they have played together and proved their ability on the ice with their victory.

Hot on the heels of this victory for Tofield Powder Puffs hope to do as well against the Ryley Ladies in Rosalind Rink Sunday afternoon.

Lend a hand to clean up your land!

SUMMERTIME CAKE

This newest rage has run its course for this year - but what do you do with all that juice? I have received many calls from people wondering if the starter juice can be frozen. It should freeze satisfactorily, although sometimes there may be a problem. People have reported an off-flavour after the juice was defrosted.

An alternate is to use the fruit and starter now and make a new starter next year. (I do have the recipe for starter).

To use the starter, pour fruit and syrup over ice cream, pound cake or custard. Or drain off the syrup and serve as a liquor.

SNACKS THAT COUNT

Anyone with youngsters knows that these little ones are on the go from morning till night. Little wonder they need snacks between snacks throughout the day. Because their bodies are more in tune with eating small meals many times a day it is essential that these snacks provide nutrients as well as energy. With the small amounts they eat at meals, snacks are essential to fulfilling the daily requirements for calcium, protein, iron, vitamins and minerals.

Here are a few ideas for snacks to brighten up any day:

Ants on a log - celery stuffed with peanut butter, dotted with a few raisins on top.

Cheeser's Special - V8 juice with a celery stick.

Fruit Pops - frozen orange juice, apple juice, fruit puree, or just about anything, in paper cup holders. (We go through at least 2 of these a day).

Banana Dog - spread peanut butter on half a slice of bread and wrap around half a banana.

Use your imagination, but choose foods from the four food groups for most snacks rather than depending on sweets and empty calories to round out your child's diet.

Three teams compete

Tofield has three teams entered in the provincial minor hockey playoffs.

The trio are entered in midget, bantam and pee wee age groups and all are entered in the 'C' classification.

The road to a provincial crown for any of the three teams could be a long one because Zone 2 had numerous entries in all three age groups.

Fourteen teams are entered in the zone title in the midget ranks, nineteen are in contention in the bantam grouping and another sixteen are competing in the pee wee ranks.

The midget team is meeting Lloydminster in a 7 game total series in Zone 2 elimination. Game.

The first game was in the Tofield Arena on Saturday evening at six o'clock with the second game in Lloydminster the following day.

Tofield Bantams met St. Paul in the opening game of Zone 2 elimination and destroyed the visitors 20-0, thus ending the need for a second game.

Mike Donovan led Tofield's attack with seven goals, Cam Sadoway's netted four markers, Robbie Roth picked up a hat-trick, Barry Hulsart notched a pair and singles were scored by Kevin Clouston, Allan Dunnan, John Bruce and Paul Strong.

Tofield now advances to the same quarter-finals against Fallowvale. Although dates for that series hadn't been finalized at press time, it was thought that the first game would be played in Tofield on Feb. 20th.

Tofield Pee Wees are facing Sunday Lake in a total-game series in Zone 2 eliminations.

The first game was played in Tofield on Monday night with Smoky Lake winning a hard-fought 5-4 decision. Craig Donovan netted a hat-trick for Tofield whose other tally came from Trevor Bellock.

The second game in that series goes in Smoky Lake on Friday.

The winner will advance to the zone quarter-finals against the winner of a series between Saddle Lake and Vermilion.

Toros drop to second

Tofield Toros have dropped to second place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros were whipped by Bawlf on Friday night and that loss, combined with another Bawlf victory on Sunday night, moved Bawlf past Tofield into sole possession of top spot in the standings.

Bawlf now has a three-point edge over the Toros and the Tofield team hasn't a chance to regain the lead for at least two weeks because they have only one game scheduled this week.

Toros will be going to Bashaw on Friday night where they face a fourth place team that has shown improvement in the past few weeks and which has moved into a position to challenge for top spot.

Next home action for Tofield isn't until Feb. 19th when Kingman will supply the opposition.

Round Hill is in third place, only two points behind the Toros in what has developed into a torrid pennant race.

New Norway was earlier eliminated from the hunt for a playoff berth and now, Kingman is in a position where one loss or, one win by Bashaw, will eliminate all of Kingman's playoff hopes.

Following Friday night's game with Bawlf, the goal-tending race became extremely interesting.

On an individual basis, Olson of Tofield has a slim .15 edge over Sieng of Bawlf.

The trophy is presented to the goalie playing the most amount of time for the team allowing the fewest goals and at the present time, Bawlf has a narrow .33 edge over Tofield.

Lenhack of Tofield is the only member of the Toros in the top seven in the individual scoring race and he is in seventh place.

Gary Sarien of the Tofield squad is away ahead in individual penalty minutes while as a team, Tofield tops the penalty parade.

Bawlf blasted Tofield 10-4 in Tofield on Friday night when Campbell picked up four goals while Larsen, Fyrnech and Trifrey each had two markers.

Hendriksen led Tofield with two markers with his singles coming from G. Olsen and Haycock.

Each team was assessed twelve penalties.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. O.H. Taylor

Pete Ogonoski and Mrs. Kate Nichols were visiting last Thursday afternoon with Roy Nichols, in Tofield Hospital.

The St. Gregory's Sub Council of Holden are planning to hold a cash bingo in March.

The Allan Warawa of Edmonton spent the weekend in Holden visiting with the Alvin Chomics and with Mrs. Chomic Sr.

Mrs. Olive Good was a recent visitor in Leduc with her daughter and family, Judy and Gene Danilak.

On Feb. 1st, Mrs. Paraska Semotiuk of Vegreville, formerly of Mundare, mother of John and Nestor Semotiuk, passed away at the age of 89 years. She is survived by five sons, Peter of Wainwright, Steve of Mundare, Harry of Vegreville, John and Nestor of Holden; four daughters, Mrs. John (Mary) Prelypchan of Victoria, B.C., Mrs. George (Olga) Dowhaniuk of Mississauga, Ont., Mrs. Tom (Anne) Nikiforuk of Hussy, B.C., and Mrs. Roman (Elsie) Warawa of Mundare; 27 grandchildren; 16 great grandchildren; and one brother, Nick Tymchuk of St. Paul. She was predeceased by her husband, Eli on December 14, 1971 and her mother, Maria, father, George, a sister, Sophie, one brother, Tom and a grandson. Prayer service was held Friday and Divine Liturgy was held on Saturday in St. Vladimir's Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Vegreville with Rev. J. Pak and R.R. Semotiuk officiating, with interment in Rich Kolomea Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Louise Lukawecki drove Mrs. Kate Nichols to Tofield on Saturday afternoon to visit with her husband, Roy, in hospital.

Lyle and Vernice Grosland with Jim and Helen Zwierachke were in Vegreville on Friday evening to attend the prayer service for Mrs. Paraska Semotiuk.

On Monday, Mrs. Berthe Chetney celebrated her 69th birthday and a number of friends called on her to offer their congratulations, including Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, Mrs. Kathleen Hornen, Mrs. Annie Laube, Mrs. Irene Olson, Mrs. Agnes Phillips, Jessie Chwiloka and Mrs. Vernice Grosland. Mrs. Brekstad took along a birthday cake. Lyle Grosland dropped in later.

A former Holden district resident, Mrs. Bill (Myrtle) Logan of Edmonton passed away on Sunday morning. The Logans resided on the farm now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Komarnisky. They were one of the old-time families of the district. They sold the farm and moved to Edmonton around 1947.

A meeting of the Friendship Group will be held next Thursday afternoon (Feb. 17) at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson.

Hastings Lake

The Cutler Club will meet at Robbys' on Sunday, Feb. 13 at 1 p.m.

The last bingo of the season will be held Monday, Feb. 14, 8:00 p.m. at the hall with a magic jackpot to be won.

On Thursday, Feb. 17, the Ladies' Club will meet at the hall at 1 p.m. and the Community Association at 8 p.m. All residents of the area are welcome to attend.

MASANKOWSKI REQUESTS AID FOR DAIRY FARMERS

Noting the very serious financial difficulties impposed on these dairy farmers in Alberta, who face a reduction or loss of their milk quotas, Dan Mazankowski, M.P. (P.C. Vegreville) asked the Minister of Agriculture during Question Period what interim measures he was considering to assist those producers. In particular, Mr. Mazankowski requested that "because between 30 and 40 per cent of the producers in northern Alberta are affected, would the Minister ask his department to make recommendations to the financial institutions that finance these particular producers so that there could be some leniency in that particular area?" In response Mr. Whelan stated "if it is brought to my attention that there is some area where people are suffering undue hardship naturally I will make that kind of representation".

While not providing any more specific guarantees of support, the Minister of Agriculture went on to defend the concept of supply management and blamed American over-production for problems in selling Canada's surplus dairy products on world markets.

The problem, said Mr. Mazankowski, is that dairymen need to increase productivity to pay-off high interest loans. Instead quotas are being reduced and farmers are being heavily penalized, to the extent of $30 per hectolitre for any production over the quota "this further exacerbates their difficult position", he commented. At a time when farmers' costs are continuing to rise it is important that steps be taken to provide interim support for producers until demand and the export price recover.

Mr. Mazankowski noted that the Minister's response was somewhat encouraging but he feels individual producers will have to make their difficulties known to the Minister. Meanwhile Mr. Mazankowski said he would continue to focus attention on this urgent condition faced by Alberta dairy farmers.

"No place to go"

February 5, 1983

Dear Sir,

I agree with M.L. Hartman's point of view regarding the love affair between the courts and criminals but, when he suggests "leaving" the country, I'd like to know where he's going because I want to go too.

It sure won't be my home country south of the border because the situation is just as bad or worse there.

Am Afraid that the only place left to go in order to see justice done for the victims of criminals is "Back in Time".

Magician will appear

The Beaver Regional Arts Centre has acquired the talents of the outstanding Calgary based magician, Murray Hatfield.

One 90-minute show has been confirmed for February 24 at the Arts Centre. Members of the Arts Society are convinced that this young man's extraordinary talents will be a definite family draw and are encouraged by the response thus far.

The Arts Society is embarking on a number of programs they feel will create a large audience appeal. In that regard, the Society has engaged the singing talents of five musical groups for their Gospel Music Night which will be held February 19 at the Centre.

Participating in the Gospel Night will be the 'Celebration Band' and the Ukrainian Catholic Singers from Holden; the bands 'Believer' and 'Isaiah' from Ryley and district and the gospel trio 'Sounds of Liberty' from the Tofield area.

The wide variety of programs the Society hopes to draw to the Centre will hopefully encourage further use of the facility that may be closed if interest can not be found within the county. County Council has just recently agreed to underwrite the utility expenses of the facility to allow the Society some extra time to see if the centre would possibly become a viable entertainment facility.

More information regarding these and future programs for the Beaver Regional Arts Centre will be following in The Mercury.

Weekending at Vern Rosum's was Stan Chappell of Calgary who had just returned from a five week trip at Miami Florida. The Vern Rosum's met him at the airport and on Saturday visitors at V Rosum's were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sevan, Stan's daughter of Calgary.

William Tennant, 82, Passes

William (Bill) David Tennant was born in South River, Ont. July 23, 1900. He passed away Jan. 27, 1983 at the Daysland Hospital after a lingering illness.

With his family he came to Manitoba in 1905 and in the spring of 1907 they moved to the homestead near Dinsmore, Sask. In the fall of 1918 the family came to the North Bawlf district to reside.

In Nov. 1934, Bill married Sophie Brown of the Lilacnes district, and to this union twins Norman and Norma were born.

Bill leaves to mourn his wife Sophie, Norman and Norma and daughter-in-law Kathleen; two grandchildren, Daryl and Marilyn, one brother Clifford and wife Irene, one sister Laura and her husband Bill Walker of Barrhead, also many nieces and nephews and friends.

Funeral services were conducted Jan. 29 at the Bawlf Lutheran Church with Rev. Mina Pool, Pastor Lee Woolery and Miss Nancy Mayne officiating. Organist Gwen Hagen. The Bawlf quartet sang. Interment in Bawlf Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Chester Ferre, Evert Carlson, Ernie Cleven, Gordon Hilland, Keith Bratrud and Ed Aker. Burgar Funeral Home, Camrose in charge of all arrangements. The Bawlf U.C.W. served lunch after the interment. In the evening the family, pallbearers and wives were supper guests at Norman and Kathleen Tennants.

Grand champions

The Erickson rink was declared grand champions of the Farmers Bonspiel and with that honour goes the Bank of Montreal trophy, presented by bank manager Mr Harper and socket sets. Winners were Randy Erickson, Don Sware, Gordon Schmidt and Robert Appleby. Lesley Primeau photo

Hoop action

You couldn't have asked for a better game. The Home Town men's vs Edmonton at the Tofield School last Saturday was one of the best basketball games of the season. It was a close game that went right to the wire with Edmonton squeaking out their 82-81 victory. The Home Town team is comprised of men from the Tofield-Ryley areas.

Around the town

Wilf and May Lede.oute celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary this month and part of the program put on by their friends at the Tofield Lodge included the following poem. The couple celebrate in style and the poem by Mrs. A. Anderson sums up the entire party and the last 62 years.

Well, Wilf and May have been wedded for 62 years

They've had a heap of gladness and I s'pose their share of tears

But they're thankful for their blessings the Master sent their way

And they're looking for their children home to celebrate the day.

Wilf's voice gets a little shaky as he drums an old time lay

As for May, she's not so youngish as she was that far off day.

But her heart is just as loving

And I know that she will say, that she loves him more than ever

On this, their Anniversary day.

Other folks may live in mansions, count their welath in heaps of gold

But there isn't one among them that's more happy when they're old.

Wilf and May may be old and wrinkled

But their hearts are young and gay

For they've lived and loved and waited for this, their Anniversary day.

Keep Canada Beautiful

primeau's play pen

by Lesley Primeau

I have long thought that winter is not conducive to very much. I seen neither the need or desire to stray much farther than my front door for any reason and I certainly don't understand why people engage in winter sports. There seems little sense in getting all dressed up with forty pounds of clothing just to enjoy one's pitootie.

However, perhaps I will rethink that thought . . . I doubt it . . . but I thought I should at least acknowledge that a thought had occurred. I was out at the Brown's farm last Sunday. You see I went to retrieve Mackenzie who was only too pleased to be left in the reckless abandon of Dale. While there, for only a minute I hasten to add, I gave way to an inner urge to drive a Ski-doo or snowmobile . . . as Ski-doo is a trade name. Be that as it may, the entire sport looks almost silly to me, but I am game for almost anything.

I climbed aboard this machine on skis, took whatever time was necessary (30 sec.) to figure out it didn't have a seat belt. Not only does it not have a seat belt . . . it hardly has a seat.

I did remember to put on my mitts and Mackenzie, Deanna and I headed off, not for the wild blue yonder, but the nearest ditch. My first attempt at getting out of the ditch resulted in my lifting the machine out first. The second attempt proved something more of a trick. The two midget nerds on the back said it was a simple matter of applying more vaaroom power, by stepping on the gas (if that is possible with one's hand) and flying over the ditch . . . Easier said than done . . . most certainly the machine flew over the ditch . . . I myself flew over the ditch and cleared the second ditch . . . the nerd midgets however were left in the first ditch looking somewhat bewildered. I guess they had thought they should have accompanied me in the next ditch. It is my firm opinion that had that beastly machine of Daniel Brown's had seat belts we would have all cleared the second ditch.

Fair enough, I now know that applying gas has a certain degree of strategy to it as does turning one of those things I quickly discovered that snow machines of any description do not turn with the same ease under just anyone's direction. After all Dale seemed able to turn on a dime . . . I recall the last Fort Knox stands on.

The midget nerds were again at my behind, having pulled themselves out of the ditch I dumped them in. They were most eager to tell me that turning was just an art, like ditch driving I assumed! All you have to do is lean in the direction you want to turn . . . what they neglected to tell me was one must lean only so far at such a speed. How was I to know that Daniel's bomb hadn't gotten the same nerd instructions.

Needless to say I got a crash course as that machine skidded on its side into the granary. the midget nerds were again left behind while I continued on my way down the road on my side. I surmised that I leaned the wrong way, the I haven't had the heart to inform that machine of its ill temper.

Basically I came through the thirty minute crash course with nary a broken bone, but that is about all. I spent the remaining time chasing down a black sheepie I plan to keep, now that I have saved it from a fate worse than death (now really what is worse than death) and I have named him Blackthorne. I'm positive that he loves me . . . after all, he's still walking around . . . but limping as much as I am . . . but walking

Race goes to wire

The only race left in the Beaverhill Hockey League is the one to decide first place.

Three teams are in contention as Ryley has been knocked out of the running while both Holden and Viking won't make the playoffs.

Tofield Satellites currently hold down top spot with a slim two-point lead over Meadow who, in turn, has a similar edge over Lamont with the latter only having a chance to tie for the pennant.

Tofield and Lamont each have two games remaining while Meadow has three.

In Saturday's last contest, Tofield and Ryley will tangle in Tofield.

On Tuesday night, Holden will travel to Meadow while Ryley will host Lamont in Tofield.

Viking is the only team to have completed the regular schedule.

Two postponed games are also to be arranged. Ryley must play in Holden and Meadow and at premtime, no word had been received as to dates for these games.

The regular schedule is supposed to end one week from Saturday.

Only the top four teams over the entire season make the playoffs with the top two teams having home advantage during semi-final play.

Satellites maintained their grip on sole possession of first place when they blasted Holden by an 11-4 count.

Mandare remained in contention for first pennant by blanking Viking 10-0.

Lamont's slim chance of taking top spot remained alive when the team eked out a narrow 5-4 decision over Viking.

In the only other contest that was played during the past week, Holden surprised Ryley by racking up close 7-6 triumph.

DIAMOND CONTINUOUS COURSE

On February 1st and 2nd, the Edgerton Agricultural Society and the Wainwright District Office of Alberta Agriculture hosted a 2-day seminar on managing continuous cropping systems. Both the content and the information presented were excellent. In attending the first day of the seminar, I had a chance to take some notes and the following is a brief summary of those notes. Barb attended the second day and will summarize her notes in next week's column.

The day's activities started with a presentation by Dr. Bill McGill, Soil Science Department of the University of Alberta Faculty of Agriculture. Dr. McGill's talk centered around organic matter in continuous cropping vs conventionfallow systems. Three main principles were emphasized:

1. Soil is like a "leaky bucket". If the additions of organic matter are low or non-existant, then the bucket or organic matter pool is depleted to the point where serious problems arise. Summerfallowing can accelerate these losses.
2. There are no solutions to dramatically increase or decrease the organic matter pool in the short term.
3. Maintaining good fertility is important in maintaining organic matter levels and legumes can play an important role.

It was also recognized that today's high input costs and low cash flow faced by farmers makes adherence to these principles very difficult indeed.

In a comprehensive Provincial sampling study between natives (undisturbed) grassland and cropped areas, Dr. McGill has found that organic matter losses through the years have been very significant and the amount of organic matter lost varies with the amount of erosion and with local weather conditions. Hence, Black Soils appear to have lost a larger percentage of organic matter when compared to Brown Soils. These losses are also accelerated when summerfallowing, burning or continuous stinging are practiced.

Strongly emphasized by Dr. McGill was the fact that it would be difficult and not economically feasible to try to bring organic matter levels back up to original levels (native levels) but that levels can be stabilized at a point where soil physical properties and some chemical properties pose less of a problem to farmers. Here, I am speaking of physical properties such as tilth, erosion potential, crusting and horsepower requirements.

Regional Plant Industry Representative, Elda Treffry, then chaired a producer panel where three farmers presented their views on continuous cropping and to what degree they have incorporated the concept into their farming operations. Elda ended these presentations with some information on crop rotations work done at the Bindfert Research Station. Four interesting points were emphasized:

1. rapeseed or canola blended to yield significantly higher when seeded on wheat or barley stubble.
2. flax produced better when on wheat or barley stubble.
3. wheat and barley appear to do well on rapeseed or flax stubble.
4. many crops appeared to do better on a Polish rapeseed stubble as opposed to an Argentine rapeseed stubble.

Discussion also arose regarding the fact that continuous cropping systems must have adequate moisture as a prerequisite. At the same time, if summerfallowing is used to insure adequate moisture a few facts become significant. For example, a sandy soil has a holding capacity of about 6 inches. Anything in excess of these amounts can result in leaching of nutrients out of the rooting zone of most plants as well as contributing to salinity problems.

Walter Yarish, Provincial Weed Control Specialist, concluded the day with a presentation on the influence of continuous cropping on weed populations and weed control. Two main concepts were emphasized:

1. Annual populations of perennial and perennial weeds are usually associated with continuous cropping systems.
2. Green Fextail, Canada Thistle, quackgrass and vetch are some examples. To combat them, farmers have to change their herbicide use efficiency and place more emphasis on an effective weed control program. How can this be done? One way is to maximize coverage, especially when weed densities are very high. If recommendations are 8-10 gallons of water per acre, aim at least 15 gallons per acre. Another way is to place emphasis on nitrogen banding rather than broadcasting. Evidence indicates that broadcast N increases the germination of some weeds, especially wild oats. Recommended rates of 2,4-D is notorious for this.
3. A very significant proportion of weed seeds germinate in the first year. If the land is fallowed, this percentage is locked either by cultivation. If continuous cropped, the weed control program must now account for this percentage and hence the effectiveness of the program must be increased. In other words, cultivation becomes important for weed control and the difference must be accounted for with chemical usage.

In summary, the day's events at Edgerton were very interesting and informative. Next week, Barb will discuss the second day of the seminar dealing with fertilizer types, placement, air seeders and the economics of continuous cropping.

Talk to someone close to you
Over the years we've been growing throughout Alberta and we've been growing with Alberta. And that means you'll not only find a Treasury Branch agency close to you, but you'll find the kind of friendly, personal attention and the wide range of financial services that keeps you growing.
And when you think about it, that's a pretty good reason to come in and talk to us. We're Treasury Branches. We're close to you.

also works part-time at Kelsey's. Sponsored by the Tofield Lion's Club, Kelsi is avidly interested in basketball and spends a great deal of time on the court.

Liana Nehirnick, the daughter of William and Doris Nehirnick of Ryley, is sponsored by the Ryley Minor Hockey Association. A grade eleven student she has aspirations of becoming a kindergarten teacher. Currently she counts as her main interests is 4-H, drawing, roller skating and piano playing. An exercise buff, Liana is enrolled in the aerobics class which she finds is a good workout.

Tracy McManus has only been in the Tofield area for the past year and a half but finds the country life very much to her liking. The daughter of John and Donna, she hopes to major in science when she finishes school and will possibly become a geneticist.

Horseback riding takes up a fair bit of her free time but she still has time for the fine arts of stitchery and needlecrafts. Sponsored by the Ketchmont Creek Family Horse Club, Tracy has enjoyed the contest thus far.

The four girls will be judged by a panel of three who will take into consideration the number of tickets sold, personality, community work and other related matters.

The Queen will be crowned at the Ice Carnival on February 26.

Jan. 30 visitors with Yagyer Brennan at the Yorville Center in Edmonton were Myren Brennan and Sharon Krzanowski. Yagyer has since been moved to St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose.

Several children gathered at the Krzanowski home on Jan. 27 after school to help Cory celebrate his birthday. Those attending were Jason and Robbie Kienke, Rob and Kenton Bewick, Doris Bastian, Niki Wigg and Yvonne Stoben.

Mr. Bill Ingram was a patient in the Tofield Hospital recently. He has since returned home.

Sunday visitors with the Sandys were John and Nellie Kosack, John Thomas of Camrose, Ann and Larry Kosack of Duffield, Audrey and Rozelle Thomas of Camrose and Rosie Kosack.

Garry and Colleen Wenger returned home last week from a two-day holiday to Kawal, Maui and Oahu along with others who were on an Alberta Wheat Pool farm tour.

Jan. 26 supper guests at the Steve Krzanowski home were Ken and Eleanor Mareck and family of Camrose, Mr. and Mrs. William Krzanowski, Gladys Johanson, Jane and Danny Kerr, Martin, Jessie and Raymond Peterson and Peter Milsner.

Hospital design done

by Lesley Primeau

Final design for the new Tofield Municipal Hospital has been approved and the project is reported to be on schedule, within budget and well into working drawings.

Hospital administrator, Don Roth reports that the working drawings should be completed by May and ready for tender.

If all goes according to plan, as it appears to have thus far, the hospital may begin construction by July and will hopefully be completed by July of 1985.

The hospital is expected to cost $10,972,938 in November '82 dollars.

To date, the committee has gone to tender on X-ray equipment for the hospital which includes the main X-ray machine complete with flouroscopic equipment, a protable X-ray machine, automatic processor and all associated equipment. The X-ray equipment will be designed right into the facility and therefore requires specifications as soon as possible.

As well, reports Mr. Roth, all soil testing for the hospital have been completed and reports indicated the hospital will be on solid ground. The hospital will be located in the Tofield Belvedere subdivision and is expected to be completely landscaped to blend in with the community surroundings.

The Tofield Hospital at present is becoming increasingly busy and the new facility would provide considerable more room.

Forty beds have been designated for acute care, 20 for the nursing home and 20 for auxiliary. The complex is being designed by Roman Kajeth who hopes to have a display model available to the community in the next month or so.

The working drawings that are presently being completed specify all details in every room. Such things as intercoms, nursing call systems, mechanical and electrical systems, floor coverings and cabinets will be included in the working drawings.

All specifications for all built in equipment must also be included in the working drawings and a list with all movable equipment is being prepared. Staff at the hospital has been an integral part of determining the needs of each department.

Mr. Roth has expressed hope that a sod turning ceremony will be held to initiate the start of construction on Tofield's multi-million dollar hospital, nursing home and auxiliary complex.

Ryley break-in checked by police

by Lesley Primeau

Tofield RCMP are investigating a break-in at the Ryley Treasury Branch.

The break-in apparently took place over the weekend and suspects are being sought.

It is not known at this time how many are being sought or, how they gained access to the Treasury Branch.

It is known that the person or persons responsible were unable to gain access to the vault despite efforts with a welding torch, which, along with other related equipment, was left behind.

RCMP remained at the scene of the crime throughout Monday and normal Treasury business was referred to the Tofield Branch as Ryley was closed for the day.

RCMP will not confirm whether this incident is at all related to a prior break-in almost two months ago.

At this time, RCMP will only confirm that the entire matter is under investigation and they ask public assistance of anyone who might have seen anything unusual during the weekend.

Split County rejects annexation for waste

... garbage or hazardous

by Lesley Primeau

In a 4-3 decision, County Council voted not to agree with the Village of Ryley annexation of 640 acres of land needed for the possible siting of the provincial hazardous waste treatment plant. The decision, though not entirely unexpected, forces Ryley to refer to the Local Authorities Board if they wish to continue pursuit of the complex.

Ryley has been actively campaigning for the facility since village residents voted 80% in favour of such a project last year. In the country-wide plebiacite held last year the Ryley area voted 3-1 in favour of investigating the feasibility of such a plant.

At the same time the Bruce Viking Agricultural Protective Association and its president, Don Ronaghan, have been lobbying against the facility being housed anywhere in the county of Beaver. The BVAPA met with Environment Minister Fred Bradley last Friday to reiterate their position and to ask the minister to respect the outcome of the county plebiacite.

On the other hand, village residents feel their wishes should be respected and they have requested that Environment at least study the area. Recently, soil samples were taken from the land adjoining the village that could possibly prove favourable for the plant. Results of the testing will not be known for some time.

The Village of Ryley, as of Tuesday, had not been formally told of Council's decision regarding the annexation, but after the BVAPA's meeting with Bradley, Ronaghan announced the outcome of the vote. The annexation question did not appear on the agenda for the day and was discussed by council without the presence of either reporters or the recording secretary. Following discussion, Council reconvened and entertained a motion to allow the annexation. That motion was defeated by a vote of 3 to 4. By the next day it was heard on radio, prompting some village officials to question how news teams had gotten the story.

As far as County Council is concerned the matter is closed. As for the Village, they await formal notification by the Council before proceeding any further.

No regional landfill

At the regular meeting of the Council for the County of Beaver the question of allowing a regional landfill was brought up and in a surprising move Council voted 3-4 against passing a by-law that would allow environment officials the chance even to conduct studies of a proposed sight.

The landfill would serve the needs of the Town of Tofield, villages of Holden and Ryley and also the County of Beaver. It is well known that the Town of Tofield will soon need a new landfill, and with the outcome of Thursday's meeting it becomes clear that Tofield may have to act alone.

John Warner, councillor for Division 7, felt that Ryley was not an appropriate site for such a landfill and questions were raised as to its proximity to the proposed site of the hazardous waste treatment plant. Warner felt that the far west end of the county should be looked at and cited the fact that the largest portion of county residents live west of Tofield.

Warner felt also that the County of Strathcona should be approached with regards to a landfill that would serve the needs of both counties. Discussions are not presently underway but Warner did not rule out future talks.

The Town of Tofield at their Monday meeting passed a bylaw that would allow studies to be conducted on potential sites, but the outcome of County Council's meeting all but dashes the hope of a regional landfill.

When it's Quebec vs Alberta we haven't a prayer

For an object lesson on who matters and who doesn't matter in Canada, take a look at what has happened to Ottawa's much-dampened zeal to update Canada's grain transportation system. What Ottawa told us, in effect, last week was that opinion in Quebec counts heavily in federal policy where opinion in the West counts for nothing.

I hesitate to say that the subject at hand is the Crow rate. Pass freight rate because I suspect that the mere mention of that ancient issue instantly discourages nearly all readers. They have heard the matter discussed so many times; they don't understand it, and they have long since given up trying to. Yet the fact remains that the economic well-being of the whole province, the future of our children and our long-term prosperity after the oil and gas are gone are all closely bound to what Ottawa now does about the Crow. And as long as we groan and ignore it, we invite misfortune upon ourselves, and a catastrophe upon our cattle industry at least as grievous as that which has befallen our oil industry.

In days of double-digit inflation, the phenomenon of the Crow rate is almost impossible to believe. Nearly 100 years ago as the West was opened to agricultural development, we seem to have had far more clout than we do now. Hence as the pioneer grain farmers increasingly feared they would forever be subject to the exploitation of the railways, they persuaded the politicians to extract an astonishing concession from the Canadian Pacific. In exchange for allowing that railway to unveil a line through the Crowsnest Pass and develop the rich base metal and coal potential of southeastern British Columbia, CP agreed to move grain to the Lakehead at half a cent per ton per mile forever. Later in the mid 'twenties when the West was smart enough to send the Progressive party to Ottawa, the Liberals were prowled into making another great concession. The special Crow rate was written into the laws of Canada, and made to apply to both railways (CN and CP), on grain travelling to both coasts - Hudson forever.

Until the mid 'sixties the railways actually made money on the Crow rate, though they were reluctant to admit it. After that, however, inflation costs rapidly rendered it disastrously inadequate. The railways growled that the Crow wasn't paying more than a quarter of the actual cost of moving the grain. They refused to invest in grain cars. They abandoned branch lines. They pleaded with Ottawa to let them off their ancient pledges before the losses wrecked the whole rail transportation system. Their contention was altogether believable.

But in the meantime the Crow had been wreaking another kind of damage. Few city people realize how much grain they eat. Ask them, and they will casually mention bread and pastry. What they do not recognize is that the eggs they had for breakfast, the ham at lunch, the beef at dinner, all came from livestock that are raised on grain. The pork, beef, poultry and egg industries all depend upon it, and the economics of those industries are so tight that a few pennies down or up in the price of a pound of grain can make the difference between profit and bankruptcy. As the price of everything else rose and the Crow rate remained fixed, the effect was to make grain almost as cheap at Toronto and Montreal as it is in the West. To make it cheaper still, the federal government added its own subsidies on feed grain movement. Hence more and more cattle and hogs were raised in central Canada, fewer and fewer in the West. Since the packinghouses must operate where the animals are raised, the whole meat industry began moving eastward. To exacerbate the process, Ottawa began paying handsome subsidies to its hog farmers. Where 30 years ago Alberta raised most of the hogs in Canada, today our total stands far below that of Quebec. Our cattle industry now faces a similar disintegration, largely because the Crow rate takes away its advantage of location near the source of the grain.

But any proposal to terminate the Crow instantly spills the beans, and cattle farmers along with the railways demanding that the "Crow must go". The majority of the grain farmers, acting through the wheat pools, demanding it remain. Let the government pay a subsidy to the railways to cover the losses on the Crow, said the pools, but let the old rate stay put. While this would solve the problem for the railways it would do nothing for the livestock industry since the old rate would continue to hire the most industry eastward.

Finally last year Prof. Clay Gilson of the University of Manitoba was called to work out a solution. His recommendations: the Crow must go, and a gradually declining subsidy must be paid - not to the railroads - but to the grain farmers directly. Otherwise the western livestock industry, old as Alberta, would be destroyed. In vain the pools protested, fearing that once the principle of the Crow had been compromised the subsidy would be short-lived and their historic advantage forever lost. Transport Minister Jean-Luc Pepin left no doubt, however, that he was resolved to push the Gilson report, pools or no pools. But it was then that the pools played a trump card. They went to Quebec. Last, they told Ouebec's agricultural organizations, if the Crow rate goes, your meat industry will go with it. It will return to the West. The Quebec organizations were swift in their responses. Within a week Quebec MPs were pressuring Mr. Pepin to save the Crow rate. Its removal, said one, would give an "unfair advantage" to the country meat industry, and cause a "distortion" in the country's agricultural economy, the distortion being that the West would far more draw an advantage from its geographic location.

Last week the outcome became known. Ottawa was sending out changes in the Gilson recommendations. The railways would probably get the subsidy and Quebec's position would be thereby protected. The news, if true, could be a death blow to our cattle industry. Our famous product, Alberta Beef, would become a thing of the past. Instead it would become Quebec Beef. And once again we will have learned who matters in Canada.

"It's finders/keepers, Cosgrove... find the file and you keep your job!"

Suicide offer

Widely respected Alberta MLA and, presently Member of Parliament Gordon Taylor has introduced a private member's bill to Parliament to reintroduce the hangman's noose in Canada for just one occasion, that of hanging Clifford Olson, who a year or so ago gained notoriety as the killer of a number of young girls in or near Vancouver.

Taunting Taylor with being mad, and an idiot for trying to get him executed, Olson takes refuge behind the Canadian Charter of Rights, and suggested he'd be willing to kill himself if his victims' families were to share a million dollars guaranteed by Bob Kaplan (the Solicitor General).

Once more Olson display himself the unprincipled, unfeeling, unreasoning killer, bereft of any motive, who enjoys the limelight, thinks he can buy the gratitude and forgiveness of the parents of his victims with less than a hundred thousand dollars apiece (he admits to killing eleven), then scurries behind the Charter of Rights for his own protection. One might ask how much importance he placed in the Charter as he tortured and killed each of eleven victims.

But Tough Talking Taylor comes out winner in this, as Albertans have become accustomed to see Taylor do. You can almost hear the scorn, and feel the disdain, in Taylor's voice as he rasps out "This creature doesn't have the guts to kill himself. He's a coward who kills little girls."

His proposal (to re-introduce the death penalty) has gathered a great deal of support, but Taylor tends to feel it may well go the way of many other private members' bills . . . collecting dust for a year or two before being deliberately scrapped.

Really, it's a pity. For there are many members, on both sides of the House, backed up by thousands upons thousands of voters, who would want to see the death penalty re-introduced, and especially in the case of Olson.

There are even those who support it only in the case of Olson. In the overall picture, they're not so certain, but the case of Olson seems different. If only he indicated the slightest contrition . . . If only he ever wavered in his tough guy portrayal . . . If only he indicated the slightest remorse . . . If only he didn't convey the impression that, if freed, he would feel no compunction in doing it all, all over again.

Oppose metric

January 26, 1983

Dear Sir:

On January 18, 1983 a Toronto butcher, Michael Desborough, filed suit in federal court charging that Canada's metric laws are in violation of the Charter of Rights. Mr. Desborough is represented by one of Canada's best known lawyers, Clayton Ruby.

What many of the news reports failed to mention is the fact that Mr. Ruby was retained by an Ontario based organization fighting forced metric, Measure Canadian, and that this citizens' group is paying all Mr. Desborough's costs.

Measure Canadian was founded in February 1980 by a group of small businessmen in Brockville, Ontario. Since that time, we have grown to have members in all provinces of Canada and from all walks of life and age groups.

Measure Canadian was formed because of our frustration with the failure of political institutions, and a multitude of other organizations such as the Consumer and Civil Liberties Associations and the Canadian Labour Congress, to represent the concerns of Canadians over the way in which metric is being implemented in this country. It was obvious Canadians needed a credible vehicle to carry the fight to the government and Measure Canadian grew out of that need.

The directors of Measure Canadian are all responsible and respected members of their community. They include several aldermen, a newspaper editor, a former M.P., a police sergeant and an accountant.

Measure Canadian is committed to paying all costs for the first stage of Mr. Desborough's challenge out of funds raised primarily in eastern Ontario. The directors of Measure Canadian have given freely of their time and money to carry the fight to this stage but to continue, a much larger number of Canadians must get involved. We are fighting a Metric Commission with a 26.5 million dollar budget and the only effective way we can combat them is with money. If only one million Canadians gave just a dollar, we could not only take on the Metric Commission in the legal front but also counteract their massive advertising and promotion campaign!

Measure Canadian has provided Canadians with a credible, viable and respected vehicle of protest against forced metric. Our court case is providing Canadians with their first day in court and I urge caring and concerned citizens to help in the fight. Get involved! Write: Measure Canadian, P.O. Box 418, Brockville, Ontario, K6V 5V6.

Yours truly,
Robert W. Runcie, Jr.,

by Lesley Primeau

Let the bells ring out and the banners fly . . . it's too good to be true, but if you just grab a chair and sit down, tis the time to grab your rooty toot horns and wish the ever charming always friendly, easy going and most delightful Miss Dorothy a very happy birthday.

I know what you mean, it is indeed hard to believe that Miss Dorothy is herring up to thirty. But there you have it . . . and what's even more, a group of her best friends popped in to see her the other day complete with surprise cake and everything.

Of course that means that Miss Dorothy and I are no longer talking . . . seeing as how I didn't get any cake. It is certainly a great pleasure to take out this time in my very own column to tell one and all that without doubt the week belongs to Mr. Bert's other half . . . Happy Birthday Miss Dorothy . . . and many more.

Do remember to look in your basement and see if you happen to have an old set of Mercuries or would that be Mercury's . . . anyway for the last couple of years would be nice. It appears that one of the things lost in the fire was my collection and it would be nice to get them back.

Now that the sun had decided to re-appear and disappear, I have begun to wonder if it might be at all possible that spring is just around the corner . . . and with that new buns, fresh flowers and maybe a bus that works. I know, after all I said the new year coming in rather peacefully . . . well don't believe it . . . I lied.

Landfill bylaw passed

by Lesley Primeau

Ignoring the precedent set by the County of Beaver, the Town of Tofield has passed a by-law that will allow the Department of Environment the opportunity to test various sites within the area for a landfill site. The by-law was passed unanimously on Monday night, following lengthy discussion on the matter.

County Council has recently turned down the opportunity to join with Tofield in a regional landfill study.

The town finds that by the end of this year, possibly as soon as the summer they will be in dire need of a new landfill site. The town has not yet announced possible sites and must confer with provincial authorities before anything firm can be announced.

The Town of Tofield joins the Village of Ryley in planning such a by-law. The regional landfill idea needed the approval of one rural municipality before it could become a reality. No explanation was given by County Council regarding their decision.

The Council for the Town of Tofield also briefly discussed the Mutual Aid Agreement they hope to set up with joining municipalities with regard to fire prevention. The matter has been tabled pending further information.

Council briefly discussed the upcoming budget but declined to get to specifics, when it became apparent that without the requisitions from school and hospital authorities, the discussion would be premature. However, it is possible that out of this year's budget, slightly more than 19% could be designated to the recreation board.

John Prast and John McBeth have been named to the Tofield Library Board. Their appointments become effective immediately.

Rebekah's tea

These are some of the ladies who are from the Covell Rebekah Lodge in Ryley They are also responsible for the success of the recent Valentine's Tea and Bake Sale. The ladies are involved in a number of community projects.

Twins have 85th

Saturday afternoon in the Holden Masonic Hall, literally hundreds of well-wishers gathered to wish Elizabeth Keith and Mary Gableman a very happy birthday, on their 85th birthday. The twins were treated royally on their day.

Born just north of Stony Plain in 1898, the ladies were well known in the Holden area.

Elizabeth and her husband lived in the Holden area for well over 50 years. Together they had three sons, three daughters, thirty-one grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mary has resided with her only daughter for the past few years. She has three grandchildren and one great grandchild. Family members indicate that the twins are in very good health and the best of spirits.

Out of town relatives came from Westlock, Drumheller, Edmonton, Calgary and Red Deer.

Birthday congratulations were received from the City of Edmonton, the Town of Stony Plain, City of Calgary, Village of Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mazankowski, Premier Peter Lougheed and radio station CFCW.

The party went on for the better part of the afternoon and allowed old friends and neighbours a chance to get reacquainted.

Board is named

The 1983 members of the Holden Recreation Board have been announced.

Chairman of the Board is John MacGregor who can be reached at 688-3648.

Vice-chairman for this season will be Sean McKibbin whose number is 688-2112.

Secretary for the Rec Board will be Karen Danesik, reachable at 688-3547.

Representing the Village of Holden for another term will be Anna Shevchenk whose home phone number is 688-3939.

Other board members include Irvin Berkholtz at 374-3878, Garth Fleming at 688-2324 and Paul Sitskal at 688-2147.

The Rec Board will hold meetings on the last Tuesday of the month in the village office. Meetings will start at 8:00 p.m. and input from the community is always welcome.

Court Report

Benjamin Bayrae was fined $600 for driving while impaired and will receive a six month licence suspension.

Robert Hammer was found guilty of breach of probation and fined $50. He was given an additional $600 fine and a six month suspension for impaired driving.

Donald Heese was given a $500 fine and a six month suspension for driving while over .08.

Robert Kowalchuk was found guilty of driving with a blood alcohol level exceeding .08 and given a $600 fine and a year's licence suspension.

The Earl Bellehumeur were visiting Sunday near Edmonton.

Ida and Stan Hunka were Sunday supper guests at Dan Campbells.

The Elsa L.C.W. met Feb. 9 at Mrs. Diane Brostrucks when 13 ladies were present. Leading the Bible lesson was Mrs. Ken Brstrud. Devotions by Bernie Bellehumeur. The vice-president, Mrs. Lyle Brstrud, presided as the president was in Calgary. Cause of the month to go to Canadian Missions for February.

Thank you notes read from Rev. and Mrs. Les Weakey and girls, Children's Home at Gwynne, the C.L.B.I., Camerose, also from their foster child Wilfred Martin Acuse in South America and from Christian Blind Mission.

Next meeting with Marilyn Brstrud, March 9. In closing Jeanette Knudsen read the meditation for this month.

Cecil Throndson, Camrose, and Dwayne Kense, Obsion, were Thursday callers at Joe Knudsens.

AGT seeks hike

AGT has applied to the Alberta Public Utilities Board (PUB) for a general rate increase of approximately six per cent and if approved by the PUB, would be effective on April 1.

The present economic situation, increased operating costs, and a loss of $62 million in 1982 have made the application necessary, according to AGT officials.

Minimal growth in long distance calling and a drop in constructing and housing activity over previous years have left AGT's 1982 operating revenues $197.2 million less than expected. The rate increases and strictest internal cost cutting measures including a $275 million reduction in the 1983 construction program, and a continued freeze on hiring new employees could put AGT in a financial break-even position by Dec. 31. Without a rate increase however, AGT could face a further substantial loss of $92.2 million in 1983.

AGT's last general rate application was made in January, 1985, with the PUB approving interim rate increases effective April 1, 1982.

Residential rates rose by approximately 10 per cent and business rates by approximately 15 per cent.

NEW DIRECT REBATES FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS

Are you eligible for a new rebate for using natural gas in primary agricultural production?

To ensure that Albertans will continue to enjoy the lowest natural gas costs in Canada, the Province now provides new direct rebates for primary agricultural production under the terms of the Natural Gas Price Protection Plan.

This additional rebate is in the amount of 50 cents per gigajoule (GJ) - or 52.7 cents per 1000 cubic feet (Mcf) on annual consumption exceeding 300 GJ (285 Mcf), and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf). In dollar terms, this translates to a maximum rebate of $4,835.

Those eligible for the rebates include Albertans engaged in the production and processing of field crops, livestock and poultry operations, greenhouses (including ornamentals), irrigation grain drying, and sod and peat moss farms. Renters responsible for their natural gas costs are also eligible.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

1. The rebate will apply on consumption of natural gas of over 300 GJ (285 Mcf) and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf) used during a calendar year by an applicant.
2. Users may apply for rebate anytime for the calendar years 1982, 1983 and 1984.
3. The program is retroactive to January 1, 1982 and will terminate on December 31, 1984.
4. The rebate will be calculated on the total consumption of an applicant, regardless of the number of gas meters or service outlets.

HOW DO YOU APPLY?

Information brochures, including rebate application forms, are available from your natural gas distributor, District Agriculturist, or by writing:

ALL RESIDENTS WHO LIVE WITHIN THE TOFIELD FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT

For several years eight members of the Tofield Fire Department have volunteered to rotate Fire Phone Standby Duty. Therefore, the member on standby duty is confined within his or her home for the entire weekend.

Thus, the public received the best service possible with the equipment at the Fire Department's disposal.

In 1982 the Fire Department requested an improved fire alerting system from the Town of Tofield and the County of Beaver No. 9, on a cost shared basis. This would enable the Fire Department to answer an incoming fire telephone call from anywhere within a mile radius of Tofield and to alert the remainder of the firemen from that point. The Fire Department would achieve a greater degree of mobility and a more rapid response to the fire would result.

In the February 3, 1983 issue of The Mercury it was noted that the Council of the County of Beaver has "declined to invest in the system of communication".

The Fire Department members are more than willing to provide a fire fighting service but not a telephone "baby sitting" service. Based on County Council's decision, we are not prepared to continue the above weekend standby schedule. We will, of course, answer the fire phone if we are home. If the eight members who have fire phones are not home, then the fire call could go UNANSWERED.

We REGRET the position we have taken but we feel this action is necessary to allow the firefighters and their families the freedom they so rightly deserve, after such a long standby vigil.

Artists get change

In an effort to allow all artists of varying talents a chance to 'get into the act' the Beaver Regional Arts Society has adopted a policy that will permit comely artists the opportunity to display various art, photography, crafts and the like in the foyer of the Beaver Regional Arts Centre.

The first artist will be Dean Jeffreys, whose many photographics of varying topics will be on display for both the Gospel Night and the Night of Magic.

Mary Hallett of the Arts Society is more than willing to discuss with artists their ideas for presentations in the foyer.

This project is just one of many the Society is taking on to promote the Arts Centre as well as the talents of local artists, be they performing or visual.

The Gospel Night which is set for Sunday features the work of six groups, the latest addition is a group from Viking. Basically the entire country will be represented at Gospel Night and according to those in the know, a good turnout is expected.

Murray Hatfield, a well known magician in the Calgary area, will be performing a 45-minute show on Feb. 20th.

Skaters compete

Six girls from the Tofield Skating Club took part in the North Regional figure skating championships held February 9-13 in Sherwood Park.

Approximately 300 skaters competed in the five-day competition.

The girls from Tofield, Angela Zilkie, Buffy Siler, Kerry Kendalien, Mitchell Wellians, and Lori and Cathy Brown all did well in their respective categories.

The top four skaters in each flight advanced to the championship finals and the top eight skaters from that competition advanced to the provincial championships in Lloydminster.

Cathy Brown placed second and hence advanced to the finals but, was not among the top eight in that event.

Barbara Barton, the most advanced skater in the Tofield Club, did not compete because of a knee injury.

All the above skaters plan to take a very active part in the annual Ice Carnival on Feb. 26 and 27.

Ryley news

by Lone Rail

Elmer Anderson is happy to be home again after spending a few days in Tofield Hospital.

A birthday party was held for Mrs. Albina Boyarowski of Round Hill last Thursday, she was 88 years old. Her son Fred and wife, Steve and Beverly Biro and great grandmother, three-year-old Lindsay, also Stan and Ida Hunka attended.

Gerald and Lucie Owen of Camrose and Lucie's brother from St. Paul visited in Ryley last Thursday with Gerald's sister's, Dorothea Kirkelund and Dean. They also called in at the Hails and S. Hunka's on their way home.

Wilfred and Carol Helgeland of Camrose were in Ryley on Saturday to visit.

On Sunday, the Ryley Light Horse Association held a sleigh ride at the Glen Hillerud farm. Teams were supplied by Mr. Hillerud and Mr. Arbon. A total of 38 members were present and a lunch was served after the ride.

Bob and Lenore Wiklun of Edmonton and Maggie Wiklun of Tofield visited relatives in the Ryley area on Sunday.

Your correspondent and husband had a busy weekend. On Saturday, on their 40th anniversary, they were guests at Elvera Reil's in Tofield to enjoy dinner. Mrs. Martha McClelland also was a guest who just celebrated her 98th birthday. So we missed the visitor's who came to their home in Ryley. On Sunday, sister, Ida and Stan had them and Ruby and Pete Hunka of Tofield for dinner and in the evening, Hilda Jenson, Neil and Bernadette Jensen of Ryley and Dana and Shirley Bowden and Kristina of Camrose were guests.

Ted and Edna Gjerde of Camrose visited with Edna's uncle, Elmer and Kathleen Anderson.

Another fall house in the Community Hall on Monday night for cash bingo.

Firemen won't stand by ... in Tofield area

by Lesley Primeau

In a full page ad in The Mercury, the Tofield Fire Department will be announcing that they will no longer provide a weekend standby service for the Tofield area.

The ad states that while the department is more than willing to provide a fire fighting service, they will no longer provide a telephone babysitting service.

This ad is in direct response to the County Council's position that they are not prepared to invest in a new communications system for the Tofield area.

The County's position states that they are reluctant to continue pouring money in fire fighting equipment solely for the Tofield area until they have had a chance to assess the conditions of fire departments throughout the county.

If, in the Tofield area, a call comes in on the weekend and it is answered, then the fire department will naturally respond. They do not however, guarantee that the phones will be heard. There is some concern over possible ramifications to this action.

Laurie Westhorlt, County Fire Chief has done a preliminary assessment of the county-wide concerns and reported to council, at their last regular meeting, that in Ryley the most fervent need is for equipment and supplies that are fomn related. It is understood that foam would not be essential in all communities as Ryley has suggested that perhaps every other community be equipped.

In Holden, it is being apparent that present facilities to house the trucks has become outdated.

Presently, the town truck is parked in one location while the county truck is in another location, a situation that Westhorlt feels is not the best.

Westhorlt represent hope that an equitable balance can be worked out with the county and the village and that either a new building can be found or an older one renovated.

In Bruce, the fire hall is in need of some needed improvements that again will have to be looked at with the entire county situation.

In both Kinsella and Viking, a new communications system is needed and there may be some effort to determine whether the two areas could not be tied into each other.

The needs of the county fire departments were assessed by the individual departments who have a better first hand knowledge of the situation. County Council's reaction to this situation will be forthcoming after they have had a chance to review the concerns.

In another fire related manner, it was brought to Council's attention that efforts to provide insurance for personnel throughout the county has met with a snag.

It appears that while insurance companies are willing to write insurance policies in areas under 18 years of age students who may be involved fire fighting, they will not amend the policy to cover fire personnel over the age of 65.

Council discussed whether they could possibly ask older fire personnel to stay on in an advisory capacity and then expressed the concerns of their own liability clause for county fires.

It was decided that before any new policy could be adopted, Council would have to receive advice from legal counsel.

It was Council's feeling that whatever policy is written with regards to liabilities of any nature in the county would have to include every situation. The matter is expected to be discussed at the next meeting.

Westhorlt also pointed out at the meeting that in the month of January only one fire call was received and that by Tofield.

A mobile home fire in the Kingsway Estates resulted in approximately $30,000 in damages. The family was apparently asleep when the blaze broke out but were aroused by the smoke detector.

In all likelihood, according to Westhorlt, the detector saved their lives.

Two teams ousted

Only one Tofield team is still in contention for a provincial crown in minor hockey.

Two teams were eliminated last week.

Tofield's bantam team are meeting Fultonvale in a two-game total-goal series in Zone 2 quarter-final action.

First game in the series was played in Fultonvale on Tuesday night. Second and deciding game will be played in the Tofield Arena on Sunday afternoon, starting at 3:45 p.m.

Tofield had advanced to the quarter-finals after ousting St. Paul in an elimination playoff.

The pee wee team lost out to Smoky Lake.

Smoky Lake had won the opening game 6-4 and then returned home to post a 6-2 triumph which gave them the series (11-6) over Tofield and advanced them to quarter-final action.

In midget playoffs, Tofield was whipped 6-2 by Lloydminster in Tofield and conceded the series to the border city.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Roddick

The whist drive held at the Crafts Centre was once again a huge success. Each drive draws more whist players. Prize winners were: Gents first - George Lee, second - Dolly Roddick playing as a gent, and consolation John Vandermeer.

Ladies first - Linda Peterson, second - Jean Kleinschroth, consolation Marg Berg.

The ladies served lunch and a future drive announced for Friday.

Pupils in the Strathcona County have just completed their winter semester, and this week, on Thursday and Friday, they are home, while teachers attend Teachers' Institute.

Members of the Ladies Club decided on a change from their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon by attending the Golden Club tea and bake sale in the Legion Hall in Tofield.

Truus Vandermeer was the winner of the quilt raffled by the Golden Club at their tea on Wednesday afternoon in the Tofield Legion Hall.

The February meeting of the Community League was held at the hall on Wednesday evening.

A pot-luck supper is to be held before the March 9th meeting. This is for all members and those who wish to become members.

A rock dance is to be on April 2nd. Grant Wilson and Glen Lawrence will convene this affair.

Future entertainment in the hall will be a "play" and a "gong" show.

Oil painting for beginners started on Tuesday evening at the Crafts Centre and will continue each Tuesday evening at 7:30 for eight Tuesdays. There are 10 pupils.

Those who like the game of disking gathered again on Monday afternoon to have some fun.

All who knew Albert Herricks were saddened to hear of his untimely death on January 29th. He passed away quietly at his home with family members around him.

His funeral was held in Evergreen Memorial Chapel on Feb. 2nd with interment in Evergreen Memorial Gardens, which is near where Albert was born and grew up.

Albert first came to the Ministik area in the early '40's when his father George Herricks pastured cattle on the reserve and on land he owned.

He was united in marriage with Barbara Gilbert on Jan. 28, 1949, and five years later they came to the Ministik farm they had purchased.

They acquired more land and together were most successful at farming, which they dearly loved.

They had two sons and families, Clifford and wife, Shirley and Stephen and Laura, Keith and Colleen, Stacey, Kathy and Shannon.

Friends from the area showed their respect for Albert by attending his funeral in the Community Hall.

Survivors besides his immediate family include his father George Herricks, of Nemao, brothers Bud, Bill and Ron and families and one sister Margaret Kreks of Seattle, Wash. Also many other relatives, neighbours and friends.

SUGAR CONTENT OF FOODS

This article was sent to me from our Food and Nutrition Specialist in Edmonton. I think you will find it interesting.

There is information available which includes a list of the sugar content of specific foods. Unfortunately, it is often misleading to emphasize the sugar content of food. For example, 125 mL organge juice and one oatmeal cookies both contain 10 mL sugar. Along with that sugar in orange juice some vitamins, particularly Vitamin C, minerals, some fibre and water. The oatmeal cookie does contain some nutrients but its [illegible] to the diet is sugar. Hence, although there is some sugar in orange juice, the [illegible] is a better food choice [illegible] the oatmeal cookies.

This example illustrates the concept of nutrient density which refers to the ratio of nutrients to food energy (kilojoules) in food. A nutrient dense food has a high proportion of nutrients to food energy. A food that has a low nutrient density has a low proportion of nutrients to food energy. The higher the sugar content of a food, the greater the tendency of that food to have a low nutrient density. Foods low in nutrient density can be tolerated in the diet if the diet is otherwise balanced, if the nutrient requirements are met and if the weight of the individual can handle the extra food energy.

Focussing on sugar content of food can be misleading. An awareness of sugar in food is commendable, but it should not be used as a major criterion in food selection.

SCENTED ERASERS

The federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs has issued a warning about scented erasers. Small children could mistake the fruit-scented erasers, which come in such shapes as roller-skates and lemons, for candy. The erasers are being recalled in Great Britain where there have been reports of children biting and choking on them.

Satellites near flag

A win by the Satellites or a loss by Mundare and Tofield will take first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Following action during the past week, Lamont can't finish any higher than second place while Ryley is assured of fourth spot and the final playoff berth.

The league is now in the final week of the regular schedule and it will be a busy time.

Tonight (Thursday), Holden will play in Mundare in a game that was originally scheduled for Tuesday night.

Saturday's games will see Holden at home to Tofield while Lamont plays in Mundare.

Ryley will go to Mundare on Sunday and play in Holden on Tuesday to bring the schedule to a close.

Semi-final action is supposed to open one week from today (Thursday).

Satellites have a four-point bulge over both Mundare and Lamont in the fight for first place.

A win in Tofield's final game would clinch first place and home advantage in the playoffs.

Should Tofield lose its only remaining contest, Mundare would have to win all three games in order to finish in first place.

Lamont has to win its only remaining contest while Mundare loses all three games in order for Lamont to finish in second spot.

If Tofield wins the pennant, the same semi-final format that took place last winter will be followed with Tofield and Ryley tangling in one series while Mundare and Lamont meet in the other.

Semi-finals will be best of seven affairs.

Only two league games were played during the past week.

Tofield doubled Ryley 6-3 in one outing while Lamont outlasted Ryley 9-7 in the other contest.

Toros hold 2nd place

The race in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey league may be for second place.

Actually, four teams are still in contention for top spot, but Bawlf now holds a five-point bulge following last week's action.

Tofield Toros are still in sole possession of second place with Bashaw moving into third spot only one point behind and Round Hill is only two points behind the Tofield squad.

Bashaw does have an advantage in that it holds a game in hand on both Tofield and Round Hill.

Toros may have lost their chance for first place when they bowed 3-1 in Bashaw on Friday night.

In the only other game that was played during the past week, Bawlf whipped Kingman 6-2 while a New Norway-Round Hill contest was postponed.

All teams are scheduled to see action this coming weekend.

Tofield will be at home to Kingman on Friday night and will travel to Camrose on Sunday for a match-up with Bawlf.

The regular schedule is due to end on the first weekend of next month (March) and will be followed by playoffs.

New Norway and Kingman will not be in the playoffs.

Bashaw surprised Tofield 3-1 in Bashaw on Friday night to move into contention for second place.

Scoring details of this contest were not available because league action required the gamesheets to be turned over to the executive for action after a multitude of penalties were assessed.

OUR MOST IMPORTANT TRANSMISSION LINES ARE BETWEEN PEOPLE

The most difficult part of supplying electricity is often a question of balance.

Balancing the needs of all Albertans with those of an individual whose land must be crossed by transmission lines.

Balancing the desire to maintain low rates with the need to ensure the security of future supply.

Listening to all points of view is important to us, because this helps us balance the interests of our customers, our shareholders, and all the people of Alberta.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, (Feb. 8th) with H.R.L. Mary Semotiuk in the chair. Regular business was dealt with and correspondence read.

Twelve ladies from Irma Lodge attended the meeting, bringing the Travelling Gavel. Report of the birthday party and the Sunshine report were received. H.R.L. Ruby Taylor of Irma Lodge presented the Travelling Gavel to H.R.L. Semotiuk.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a lunch and social hour was enjoyed with hostesses being Ladies Anne Milimaka, Olga Milimaka and P.H.R.L. Helen Bilyk.

Mrs. Kate Nichols, Mrs. Ethel Brekstad and Melvin Fjellstrom visited with his mother on Saturday afternoon in Viking Nursing Home to help her celebrate her 90th birthday. Ethel took along a birthday cake with a bouquet of flowers from the group. Her niece, Harriet Giebelhaus and husband, Marvin also visited with her to celebrate the occasion.

Open house was held Saturday afternoon by the family in the Masonic Hall to celebrate the 85th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Elizabeth Keith and her twin sister, Mrs. Mary Gabelhaus, of Edmonton. Many old friends, relations and former neighbours attended the occasion to congratulate the ladies. Mrs. Keith has been staying mostly with her daughter, Lorretta, Mrs. Thygeson of Calgary, since her husband, Jack passed away several years ago.

Robert Tiedemann drove Mrs. Kate Nichols to Tofield Hospital on Friday afternoon to visit with her husband, Roy, finding him improved and able to walk a little with a walker. Roy has been a hospital patient since early in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Griesle have had Lillian's mother, Mrs. Ruth Chappell, visiting with them for a week, recently.

A number of ladies met Monday afternoon in the United Church parlors to discuss and prepare the World Day of Prayer Service which will be held on March 4th in the Ukrainian Catholic Church, with representatives from all the Holden Churches present. The guest speaker for the service will be Mrs. Dorothy Bateman who with her husband, Rev. R. Bateman and family, resided in Holden for several years.

A former Holden District resident, Mrs. Myrtle Mary Logan (nee Nordworski) passed away in Edmonton on Feb. 6th at the age of 69 years.

She leaves her husband, William; two sons, Bryan of Ponoka, Keith, and Kenneth of Edmonton; one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hickey, of Onoway; four grandchildren; and six sisters, Freda Dorin of Camrose, Minnie Mattie and Gusie Brown of Daysland; Emily Day of Portland, Oregon, and Katie Dombrowski of Chicago. She was predeceased by three brothers, George, Fred and Gustav Nordworski. The funeral service was held on Feb. 9th in the Wild Rose Chapel of Connelly-McKinley Funeral Home and interment was in Evergreen Memorial Gardens with Rev. Carl Welski officiating. The Nordworski family were one of the pioneer families of the Holden district, farming when they had to use oxen for breaking land. Myrtle was the youngest member of the family.

The Holden L.C.W. held their regular monthly meeting on Feb. 10th, the Bible study held before the business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Margaret Olsen and the business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Ethel Brekstad. The convention, to be held this summer, was mentioned. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Olga Harum served lunch.

Mrs. Kate Nichols drove to Vegreville on Monday evening with Robert Tiedemann and visited with her son, Ralph and wife, Emily Gorrie.

Contest draws entries

by Debbie Schmeltzer

The Holden Creative Playground committee had a very difficult time reviewing the 30 entries for the "Name your Park" contest.

All of the youngsters between grade 1-6 at Holden, were invited to think of a name for the new play park.

The winner will be announced on Friday at an Elementary Assembly and receive a prize for their entry.

The committee has been able to finalize plans for two projects which will allow the Elementary students to take part in raising funds for their new play area.

"Hot Dog Days" will be held on Tuesday and on March 22nd.

The senior and junior high school students may be able to take part and donate the monies to the park.

The County of Beaver Board of Education has approved the showing of noon-time movies for the elementary students. The films will be top quality National Film Board movies and will be shown on February 28, Mondays - March 7, 14 and 28th.

Part of the creative playground will be tire structures.

Anyone who has tires (not steel-belted) they would be willing to donate, should contact Charlie Mathews immediately.

The design committee plans to have a preliminary park layout ready for review next week.

The park plans will probably go through many revisions before the final draft is sent to the Board of Education for approval.

An important message from Jim Barnes, AGT President:

Like other businesses, we've been hit hard by today's economic conditions. AGT has been caught between the increasing costs of interest on long term loans and operating costs, and decreasing revenues in profit-generating areas, incurring an overall loss of $62 million in 1982. Therefore:

AGT, on February 1st, applied to the Public Utilities Board for a rate increase of approximately 6%. It is important, I feel, for our customers to understand the reasons behind our decision to apply for an increase.

The application for an increase was not a step we wished to take, indeed we have explored every possible alternative to such an increase, and have implemented some hardline decisions.

We cut our 1983 construction budget by $275 million, continued a freeze on hiring new employees, and have instituted internal cost cutting procedures throughout our operation to further reduce costs.

Even with these measures, however, AGT will require an increase of approximately 6%, just to achieve a financial 'break even' position by the end of 1983.

The increase, coupled with our mandate to operate as efficiently as possible, will help AGT to continue to provide you with the level of service you have come to expect. It will also make it possible for us to continue to be a positive force in the province, and to help speed Alberta's economic recovery.

What the increase would mean to you:

Should our application be approved, rates for residential and business customers would rise by approximately 6%. (Where you live and what kind of equipment and services you have would affect the amount.)

There are seven exceptions to the proposed 6% guideline:

1. Long Distance calls within Alberta Charges for the first minute would increase between 6 - 10% depending on the type of call, distance and time.
2. Extended Flat Rate Calling EFRC charges in the Edmonton area:
   - Residential customers' EFRC charges would increase 5¢ from 10¢ to 15¢.
   - Single Line Business customers' EFRC charges would increase from 20¢ to 30¢.
   - Business customers with switchboards or key equipment, EFRC charges would increase from 30¢ to 45¢.
   - EFRC rates for centrex customers would increase from 7.5¢ per phone number to 11¢.
3. New Rural Individual Line Service An increase from $100 to $200 for new rural individual line service. Cable mileage charges would increase from $25/ ¼ mile (402 meters) to $30/400 meters.
4. Zone One OUTWATS and "800" Service Charges would increase 8% to 10%.
5. Interest on Overdue Accounts Would increase from 1.5% monthly to 1.8% monthly on a balance forward of $20.00.
6. Non-Sufficient Funds Cheques Would incur a $10.00 charge.
7. Directory Assistance Calls Effective November 1, 1983 calls for numbers listed in the Directory would cost 35¢.

If you have any questions, please contact your local AGT Business Office.

Danger

Tea is held

by Lesley Primeau

The ladies of the Cavell Rebekah Lodge in Ryley can always be counted on to provide one of the best tea and bake sales in the county.

Their Valentine tea and bake sale just happens to be one of their best ever.

The bake table was laden with goodies, all home-baked, variety of every kind including cookies, cakes, pie, biscuits, buns and bread. As per usual by the end of the afternoon the table was bare. Many residents from the village as well as many from other communities attended the tea complete with lunch.

This year's Noble Grand is Hazel Patterson who is celebrating her 50th year with the organization that is responsible for many community projects. Vice-Grand this year is Shirley Stenerud and acting as recording secretary is Ethel Pepper.

All the members of the Rebekahs were on hand to help out with the annual tea which was an enjoyable success. The ladies will be attending their annual convention in Medicine Hat this year and will be gone the first week of March.

Puffs lost 1st

The ladies who make up the daring and dynamic Powder Puffs suffered their first defeat, on Sunday afternoon in Tofield, at the hands of the Rosalind Ladies.

Despite their efforts to even the score throughout the final period, the Puffs were defeated by a score of 8-3.

A good crowd was on hand despite the change of locale for the game. Originally scheduled for Rosalind, the game was played in Tofield.

Their next scheduled game will be held in Tofield on Sunday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. against the Edmonton Ambassadors.

On Monday, the ladies will travel to Bruderheim for competitive action against the Bruderheim Ladies.

4-H'ers make plans

Members of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club met in the Arts and Crafts room for a meeting on Feb. 9th.

President Joe Brown reported that he and club leader, Don Wood, had been presented with a check for $479.15 from the Tofield Legion Ladies. Paul Laarhuis moved that we put some of our funds in an account that would earn interest.

It was decided that the club would pay 50% of the expenses for members attending camps and other organized activities.

The Variety Nite in the Bruce School was discussed and members were reminded to bring lunch.

The skit for the program was practiced after the meeting.

Candyce Ray gave a report on the clipping, showing and grooming clinic that she and her mother attended in Viking.

There will be an all-day public speaking clinic in Bruce School on March 19th and all members were encouraged to attend.

Tofield public speaking competition will be held on March 9th at 8 p.m. in the United Church basement.

Tofield 4-H Beef Club will also host the County Public Speaking which will be held on March 12th.

The next regular meeting will be on March 2 in the Arts and Crafts room.

Couple celebrates 50th

An American couple with numerous relatives in this area recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Titus and Eva Brenneman of Hesston, Kansas, had more than 200 friends and relatives in attendance when they celebrated 50 years of marriage during an open house in Hesston Mennonite Church.

The couple were married on Eva's parents' farm near Kingman on Jan. 24, 1933 and moved to the United States in 1939 in search of employment.

Eva is a native Albertan while Titus was born in Milford, Nebraska.

For a number of years, Titus operated a grocery store in Salem, then farmed near Albany before moving to Hesston. All three communities are in Oregon.

Today, Titus is seventy-two years of age while Eva is seventy-three.

Eleven of Eva's brothers and sisters from this area were able to attend the couple's anniversary celebration.

Going from Tofield were Hazel Martin, Naomie Yoder, Edith Wideman, Lydia Wideman and Mathe Lagher, all of Tofield, Ella Barstad of Camrose, and brothers Noah, Leonard, Willie and John from the Tofield area along with Sam of Beaverlodge.

Honour students named

Thirty students, in grades seven through twelve in the Tofield School, have excelled themselves to such an extent, that they have had their names placed on the mid-term honour role. Al Pollock, Principal of the school, said that this kind of hard work and diligence deserves recognition and with the Mercury, has agreed to publish the names of the students.

In grade seven Stacy Neufeld and Michelle Paulsen have both maintained an 89% average; Rashid Kashani an 81% average; Bobbie Jo Connelly has earned an 84.8% average while the top student at mid-term was Connie Thiessen with an 87% average.

Rami Hastings reported an incredible 89% average during mid-term followed by Paul Strong's 87.6% average and Lyle Voltner's 86.2% average. Duane Kugelstadt and John Kallal each posted an 81% average while Cheryl Jeffrey maintained an 80.6% average.

Highest average for grade nine was maintained by Jennifer Neville whose marks earned her an 88%. Armand Eglauer held an 84% average while Trudy Rude earned an 80% average.

Wally Rude's grade ten average at mid-term was 90.3% followed by Ruth Collings with 89.9%; Cathy Litwin with 81.5%; Reva Bohillard with 81.6%; Debbie Undin with 83.3% and the mid-term high average belongs to Terry Rempel with 84.8%.

In grade eleven both Debbie Kallal and Grant Taylor averaged 83% while Howard Koep maintained an 80% average.

Grade twelve high average was earned by Pat Hallonquist at 88%. Pat has consistently placed his name on the honour role through his academic endeavours. Anke Jessen's mid-term average was 85.5% followed by Clinton Laidlaw with 83%; Cheri Wittenburg with 82.6%; Mary Lee Weski with 81.8%; Cindy Hansen with 81.1% and Agnes Gagne with 80%.

The Tofield honour role students have also been outstanding in their various personal interests which include sports, religion and community projects. Mr. Pollock feels it is refreshing to find students who are interested in attaining academic excellence.

Mistake, mistake and apology to the Tofield Golden Club. The story regarding their canvassing efforts should have made mention that Tofield and area will be graciously asked to donate to the drop-in centre project. Now that that is rectified, good luck to all.

Who should be out and about enjoying the Friday sun but Ella Fugleum and Nancy Nahrebeski. Those ladies were definitely out enjoying a day of shopping and coffee with friends. You never know when you might be spotted cruising the streets of Tofield. Nice day ladies!!

And what about crazy Deanna Brown who took a tumble and jostled her brain. Takes one smart cookie to go that far just to get out of school. The little red head was last seen alive and well and in the capable hands of her mother, who promised that Deanna would no longer try walking on her head, as long as she had two good feet.

Happy, happies to the Kendricks of Tofield who are celebrating the birth of their [illegible] son James William. James entered this world on Feb. 10 and joins his brother David as the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. James Petty of Tofield and Mr. and Mrs. William Barrett of Belleville.

Forty-two whacks with a spaghetti tree for that error in last week's paper. It seems that Doris Brown has acquired a new husband . . . Harold or something. Certainly Howard doesn't mind, but in the event that her children do . . . sorry . . .sorry.

Don't forget that if a picture appeared in The Mercury that you would like, there's a good chance that it is hanging up in the office, so please come in . . . it's yours. If they aren't claimed by a friendly face than they most certainly are claimed by the bucket . . . if you catch the drift.

Oh yes, if you have or happen to know of someone who does have back copies of The Mercury for the past couple of years . . . call the office . . . the star and only reporter is interested.

Last week Rudy summerized the first day of the Continuous Cropping seminar held in Edgerton. He discussed organic matter in continuous cropping vs summerfallow systems, continuous cropping rotations and practices and weed control in continuous cropping.

FERTILIZATION

The second day of the seminar was also very informative. Doug Penny, Alberta Agriculture, began the session by discussing fertilization. He first reviewed the basics of plant nutrient requirements. The macronutrients, (Nitrogen, phosphorous, sulfur and potassium) are those which usually need to be supplied to the soil. When changing from a summerfallowing system to a continuous cropping system, nitrogen is the nutrient which needs to be added in larger quantities. The quantity of fertilizer supplying the soil with phosphorous, sulfur and potassium is about the same for continuous cropping as for a summerfallow rotation. In some well drained, sandier soils, sulphur can be deficient.

Mr. Penny pointed out that micronutrients are seldom deficient.

The term "steady state" was explained in his presentation. When the soil is in a steady state the organic matter level does not change. Organic matter decomposes on summerfallowed land, however, and nitrogen is released. As crops use up the nitrogen it has to be replenished either by fertilizing or manuring the land.

Erosion also causes nitrogen loss. Almost all nitrogen is found in the 6-12 inches of soil. This top soil can be lost through erosion. The same holds true for phosphorous. Some sulphur can be lost through erosion. Potassium can not.

A discussion was held on exactly how much nitrogen is removed from the soil by cropping. From 56-60 lbs/acre of nitrogen is removed when a 40 bu/acre wheat crop is harvested. This increases by approximately 25 lbs/acre if the straw is baled. This is what should be replenished by fertilization. Cereals and rapeseed removed about the same soil nutrients. The nutrient removal of flax is considerably lower.

Mr. Penny mentioned what Dr. McGill referred to as the "leaky bucket". Leaching and denitrification losses occur. In waterlogged soils, nitrogen can be lost by leaching down through the soil, or returning to the atmosphere as gas (denitrification).

Natural inputs of nitrogen such as rainfall and lightning, result in very few lbs/acre. Legumes can fix nitrogen and return it to the soil. Experiments have shown that, depending on the local conditions, the plow down of alfalfa or sweet clover can produce from 100-270 lbs/acre of nitrogen.

Ellis Treffry, Alberta Agriculture Plant Supervisor, commented that a plow is not necessary for plowdown. In fact, a heavy disc does a better job. Work the field length ways and then cross ways.

The forms of fertilizer were briefly discussed - granular, liquid and gas. There is little difference in the time it takes to release the nitrogen from these forms. Two interesting questions arose:

1. Does anhydrous eventually harm the soil? Mr. Penny said that this was not true as far as current research shows.

2. Are organic fertilizers recommended? Regarding the nutrient value of organic fertilizers vs synthetic fertilizers - a pound of nitrogen is a pound of nitrogen. Organic fertilizers aren't more concentrated than synthetic, but are more expensive.

FERTILIZER PLACEMENT

Dr. Jim Robertson, University of Alberta, very capably relayed information on fertilizer placement. Fertilizers can either be top dressed (broadcast on the top of the ground), or placed within the ground. Methods of the latter are:

- broadcast and incorporated
- placed in the seed row
- banded - seed depth and 1 inch to the side; - below and to the side of the seed; - below the seed and mid row.

The method of placement depends on: the soil, climate, type of product, form of product (granular, solution, etc.), [illegible] changing soil systems and type of equipment. One form of placement may be better than another depending on the circumstances.

Fertilizer placement affects the amount of nitrogen loss, the efficiency of nutrient use and possible seedling injury. When fertilizer is drilled in with the seed about 25 per cent of the phosphorous nutrient is used in the first year. Only about 10 per cent is used when the the fertilizer is broadcast and incorporated. The application then has to be doubled. Phosphorous does not move in the soil like nitrogen and placement is very important.

There is a limit to the amount of nitrogen that should be drilled in with the seed. No more than 30-35 lbs/acre of nitrogen should be drilled in with the wheat seed. Soil moisture has a bearing on this.

USING AIR SEEDERS

Murray Green, Farm Machinery Specialist for Alberta Agriculture, spoke on the use of air seeders in continuous cropping. One strong point that came out in his presentation was that deep banding doesn't mean as deep as the shovels will go. Put the fertilizer into the moisture, but probably a four inch depth is adequate.

For good incorporation of herbicides, harrow behind the chisel plow.

ECONOMICS AND MARKETING

The last sessions of the day are less clear cut. Charlie Pearson and Neil Blue, Alberta Agriculture Economists, encouraged everyone to use their own pen and paper to calculate the economics of continuous cropping. Individuals have to figure their own cash costs, non cash costs, interest opportunity costs and returns. Other factors, such as agronomic and quota considerations were touched on.

Market advice was difficult. Charlie Pearson outlayed the alternatives Keeping "a close eye on the market" was the advice he suggested. He recommended two publications - "The Weekly" and "The Quarterly", as good market information pamphlets. We could assist your getting on these mailing lists.

The two-day seminar had a remarkable turnout. The continuous cropping program is being adopted by some farmers. Soil conservation is one main objective of continuous cropping. The realization that our soil is a "non-renewable" resource is definitely increasing the interest in continuous cropping.

IN MEMORIAM

LEMKO— In loving memory of my dear husband, father and grandfather John who passed away Feb 17, 1981

Often our thoughts do wander,
To the grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear husband and father
Just two years ago today.
The things we feel so deeply,
Are the hardest things to say
We're the family who love you
In a very special way
They say memories are golden,
Well maybe this is true,
But we never wanted memories
We only wanted you
If only tears could build a stairway,
And heartaches make a lane,
We would walk the path to Heaven,
And bring you back again
Our family chain was broken
And nothing seems the same,
But as God calls us one by one
The Chain will link again

—Always loved and sadly missed by your wife Jean, Jerrold & Anita, Sharon & Allen, Cathy & Jamie, Grandsons Jonathon & Shawn 24c-5470

SOPRWNYK— In loving memory of Michael who passed away February 23, 1981

The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there

—Sadly missed by his loving wife Mary, daughters Gen & Stella, sons-in-law, Orest & Walter & numerous grandchildren 24c-4641

Bantams reach semis

. . . in Zone 2

Tofield has advanced to the Zone 2 semi-finals in bantam 'C' provincial playdowns.

Tofield ousted Fultonvale in quarter-final action with both games played during the past week.

The Tofield team will now go against the winner of a series between Ardrossan and Fort Saskatchewan and, as that series had not been completed by presstime, the exact opposition and dates for the two-game total-goal series was not known.

The semi-final series must be completed by March 5th and the zone championship series is to be completed by March 12th.

The zone champions will advance to the provincial finals tournament which will be held in Vulcan during the final weekend in March.

Tofield travelled to Fultonvale for the opening game in the quarter-finals and picked up a 7-5 triumph.

The second game was played in Tofield with Fultonvale edging the home team 6-5 but, Tofield won the total goal [redacted]

In the opening contest, [redacted] with a hat-trick while Donovan had a pair and singles were netted by Sadownyk and Clouston.

The second match saw Tofield get goals from Gillrie, [redacted] Sadownyk [redacted]

The team competed in the Highway 14 Bantam Hockey League during the past season, finishing the regular schedule in third place, only three points behind the [redacted]

Tofield is meeting Calmar in a best of three league semi-final series.

Tofield won the opening game over Calmar 4-3 and then, Calmar deadlocked the series at a game each with a 4-2 victory.

The team is coached by Mike Doepel with Kai [redacted]

Day care centre planned

by Lesley Primeau

A group of mothers in the Tofield area have been investigating the possibility of opening a day care centre in the area to accommodate the estimated 60 children who would qualify for such a program.

Organized last May, the group, now called the Tofield Child Development Society, filed all necessary papers to become a society and have begun applying to all necessary government bodies for grant dollars.

President May Korobko feels the area needs a day care program and hopes interest will be generated within the area and from that, help with the program.

Currently, the tots indoor playground program, which is held at the United Church, is run under the auspices of the T.C.D.S.

The Society has also engaged in a number of fund raising projects including the sale of carpets and crafts at the Farmers Market.

A perogy dinner will be held April 14 to aid the various undertakings.

The society would like to eventually aquire a space suitable for use as a day care.

Board members include Sheila Stout as secretary-treasurer and Marilyn [redacted] Addison and Sandra Van Engelen as directors.

The Society welcomes input from the community and feels with the proper exposure, the day care issue might take precedence in community thought.

The Society feels that the Tofield area is in dire need of such a service and hopes to receive a great deal of support.

Satellites take flag

Tofield Satellites have won the pennant in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Playoff opponents have been deter . ined and the semi-final match-ups will be [redacted] winter.

Tofield will tangle with Ryley in one best of seven [redacted] Lamont in the other round.

All games in the Tofield-Ryley series will be played in the Tofield Arena and the series will open on Tuesday evening

[redacted] was a bit difficult to schedule because both teams are involved in provincial playoffs but, at presstime, there was an indication the series could get underway tonight (Thursday) in Mundare with the second game in Lamont on Tuesday

Satellites won their final three games in a row to grab the pennant, finishing the regular schedule two points ahead of Mundare who, in turn, were two points ahead of Lamont, with Ryley taking the fourth and final playoff berth.

Although the team made its best showing since joining the league, Holden ended up in fifth place while newcomer, Viking, finished in the basement.

Although the league finished the season with six teams, there were eight at the beginning but, Andrew dropped out early and Killam dropped out towards the end of last year (1982).

Based on the past season, Tofield should oust Ryley while the other series should be up for grabs.

Satellites easily won all four meetings with Ryley during the regular schedule and outscored Ryley 32-13.

Mundare and Lamont split their four games with Mundare outscoring Lamont 21-19.

Tofield clinched the pennant in their final outing with an easy 11-2 triumph over [redacted]

Mundare grabbed second place by blasting Holden 25-4 and then they doubled Ryley 12-6. Lamont edged Mundare 4-3 and in the other game that was played, Ryley outgunned Holden 14-6.

Gym meet is set

Gymnasts from Holden, Sherwood Park, Fort Saskatchewan and Tofield will compete in a meet on Saturday in [redacted]

The meet will start at 9:00 a.m. and run throughout most of the day culminating with the presentation of awards late in the afternoon.

The meet is expected to provide good competition for the local gymnasts who have been practising for some time now.

Great competition is expected to come from the Sherwood Park Club, which has several members slated to enter the Alberta Winter GAmes later this season.

Medals will be awarded to the top three competitors in each event. Competition will be held in mats, the balance beam and the uneven bars.

The Tofield Gymnasts Club, under the guidance of Kathy Bunney, has become a very viable recreational outlet for the Tofield area. The Club's attendance has grown over the past couple years and the school finds itself in the position of having a number of very talented gymnasts.

Curious

Curiosity killed the cat but there was never any mention of Beavers or Cubs.

These youngsters have gathered for the annual Scouting Association's pot luck supper. Well over 200 attended the event held in the Community Centre

Changes to income tax

Could you be benefiting from one of the rebate assistance programs offered in the amended federal budget of June 28?

Merle Good of Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch explains the June 28 budget amendments and how they affect the farming community.

The Six Per Cent Solution

[illegible] tion years, the indexing adjustment for personal exemptions and tax brackets will be limited to six and five per cent respectively. In addition, Old Age Security (OAS) and Family Allowance programs are subject to the same restrictions. Full indexing will resume on January 1, 1985. The Child Tax Credit and the Guaranteed Income Supplement will be subject to full indexing. The net effect of this change will be an increase in taxes to an average taxpayer of $130 in 1983 and 1984.

Although the six per cent solution appears not to directly affect most farm businesses, the opposite is perhaps true for egg, poultry and milk producers. In his budget speech federal finance minister MacEachen announced that all federal agencies regulating prices for public transportation, communications and foodstuffs must adhere to the six per cent guidelines.

Small Business Investment Grant

A grant, up to four percentage points, is being made available to reduce interest costs on borrowings for two years by small businesses in order to finance new investment, research and development. Eligibility for the benefits of the temporary assistance program will be similar to the Small Business Development Bond tax program announced last year.

Loans will qualify for the new assistance program if they are used for the following purposes:

- Financing purchases after June 28, 1982 and before March 31, 1983 of new depreciable property to be used in an active business in Canada
- Financing expenditures on scientific research after June 28, 1982 and before March 31, 1983.

Loans to finance purchases of used equipment, land, automobiles or property for lease will not qualify.

Both small business corporations and unincorporated enterprises that carry on an active business can qualify. Basically the federal government will pay four percentage points of interest on the outstanding loan on behalf of the borrower to the financial institution for two years after the loan is issued.

The total amount of eligible loans will be limited to $[illegible],000 and to [illegible] loans must be for at least $10,000.

The four per cent grant will be reduced if any other assistance plus the [illegible] reduces the interest rate on the loan to less than 12 per cent.

Financial Assistance To Farmers

A new assistance program for farmers is being delivered through the Farm Credit Corporation (FCC).

Over the next two years, [illegible] available through FCC. The loans will be made at the regular FCC rate (currently 16.5 per cent) but a rebate of four per cent will be provided for the first two years of the program. This program is in addition to the one of last [illegible] under which FCC will spend $30 million over two and one-half years for a five percentage point subsidy on loans to farmers in financial difficulty.

Lending under the program is to commence immediately. Loans to farmers will be available provided that the following criteria are met:

- Only farmers in financial distress will qualify. A person in financial distress is defined as one who requires the loan and associated interest rebate to survive in the short run, but who in the long run can be expected to generate sufficient income to meet commitments.
- Farmers able to obtain financing under the Small Business Bond program will not normally be considered.
- Loans will be normally for debt consolidation but may in certain situations have a portion of the loan used for investment purposes (e.g. the completion of a farm building) necessary to ensure final recovery.
- Farmers will be required to submit a recovery plan acceptable to FCC. The FCC customary lending arrangement will apply - a maximum of $300,000 for individuals and $600,000 for partnerships.

Mr. Good concludes that your immediate course of action to follow is to determine if you qualify for any of the rebate assistance programs in the amended federal budget of June 28.

If you require more information on any of the amendments to the Income Tax Act, please contact Merle Good, Agricultural Economist, Farm Business Management Branch, Alberta Agriculture, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta, T0M 1P0, Phone: 556-4421.

Save Dome

Months of speculation have told the world how seriously Dome Oil was affected by the shocking rise of interest rates, on top of unexpected drop-offs in oil consumption. For weeks and weeks the future of the huge company has hung in the balance, at least until word came that an arrangement had been made whereby the dominion government and the chartered banks would bail the company out with a billion dollar loan.

Unfortunately, there were more than the usual strings attached. And inherent in their 'generous' offer were conditions which would have delivered the company completely into their control. An eight billion dollar operation being picked up for one.

Many shareholders, market analysts, and others in various avenues of the money market were scandalized. If the government, if the banks, could shaft a huge company like Dome, how long would it be till they were able to move in on other kinds of operations, too? Not just in the oil business, either, where PetroCan would soak them up, but how about Canagrex, for instance, taking over some of the packing plants? It's no more of a stretch of the imagination.

Anyway, it was highly interesting a few days ago to hear speculation that Dome was considering the possibility of offering a huge public sale of shares.

Which would be a wonderful idea. Not only would it save the value of shares already invested by the public, but it would give thousands of small investors a chance to gain larger equity in the national dream company.

Naturally, there's only one way to find out how such a move would work, and that is to try it. But we're confident that executives would be literally amazed. The provincial government took that tack only this week expanding the holdings of the public in the Alberta Energy Company, with astonishing results. TransAlta Utilities was literally amazed earlier this spring when it experimented with a program of raising equity from its customers. And only just recently, similar results were experienced in a move by Trans Alta to move a number of its shareholders into shares of Canadian Utilities.

We haven't any idea whether there's a billion dollars out there available on the stock market. And we do know that takes a lot more work than just getting the money in a single check. But in the long run it would be a lot more safe for the continued wellbeing of the company.

And we say again, we think there is probably far more money to be raised than they ever dreamed of. Just to keep it public, and to keep it Canadian.

Winners selected

Rinks from Forestburg, Hay Lakes and Tofield will be going to provincial high school curling playoffs.

Zone playdowns were held in Bawlf over the past weekend.

Forestburg took top honours in the boys' category when they beat Camrose in the finals.

Top honours in the girls' category went to Hay Lakes who stopped Viking in the finals.

Tofield took the mixed crown when they beat Consort in the finals.

Forestburg and Hay Lakes will be going to Coleman while Tofield travels to Spirit River, with all provincial playdowns set for the March 4 and 5 weekend.

Sale set

The Alberta Quarter Horse Racing Association has an important event scheduled for Camrose next month (March).

The association will hold its annual "Legend of Speed Sale" at the new fairgrounds site on March 26th.

Thirty-five quarter horses will be sold on this occasion and all will be on public display on the day previous to the sale.

Prior to the sale, the services of sixteen stallions will be auctioned.

A banquet and dance will be held in conjunction with the sale

Mainstream Canada

The deficit dilemma

By W. Roger Worth

The facts about the matter are relatively simple. In November 1981, Ottawa forecast a deficit of $13.3-billion for the 1982-83 fiscal year. Seven months later, that estimate was revised upward by 50 percent to about $20-billion. Then last fall, a new Finance Minister changed the forecast again, projecting a revenue shortfall of $23.6-billion, bringing the total federal debt to more than $114-billion.

To many Canadians, these astounding numbers are snippets of news that are read and easily forgotten. Yet these numbers have a tremendous impact on all of us.

Here's how. A $25-billion deficit in 1982-83 (that's a conservative estimate) means Ottawa will have to borrow the equivalent of $2,500 for each and every worker in the country. More importantly, even at a 10 percent interest rate, it will cost the equivalent of $250 per year per worker to finance the debt. Added to Ottawa's previous debt load, this means the government will be spending roughly 30 cents of every tax dollar it receives to pay interest on the [illegible].

But that's only the present fiscal year. Now some experts and well-connected observers are predicting a staggering deficit of $35-billion for 1983-84. The problem, of course, is that we can't go on living on borrowed money forever.

In the United States, for example, the financial markets are extremely uneasy about a U.S. deficit that may reach $200-billion next year. Yet on a per capita basis, Canada's deficit is expected to be much, much higher.

As Canadians know only too well, heavy deficits can mean higher interest rates if governments start to compete with businesses and individuals borrowing money. This would be a heavy blow to employment and job creation, particularly among smaller firms. So with interest rates on the way down, it would seem foolhardy to reverse the trend by budgeting for an exorbitant [illegible].

The basic political question, of course, is what to do about the 1.5 million jobless Canadians. Some suggest borrowing an extra $5-billion to $6-billion to spend on job-creating public works programs.

While such a political solution may appeal to government, the effort will be wasted if such activity prevents interest rates from falling and real economic recovery and job creation from taking hold. Nor will entrepreneurs be encouraged to invest in new businesses and expand older ones.

The sad fact is, unemployment levels are too high. But borrowing larger and larger amounts of cash is not a solution to the dilemma.

Frosty February

It has, without a doubt, been a beautiful winter. With all the warm weather you can become almost nostalgic over a frosty February morning like this. Hoar frost makes mornings almost pure, almost breathless. Lesley Primeau photo

Round Hill district notes

by Evelyn Law

The Round Hill Elks sponsored a hayride for the children in the town and district. There were around 55 to 60 boys and girls who enjoyed the hayride all afternoon. There were also children riding horseback. The mothers served lunch to the children and the last ride of the afternoon was for the mothers.

Johnny and Myrna Petryshen and Janice and Darrel Watmough were in Edmonton Saturday and Sunday where they were guests with Joann and Leonard Kochan and with Pauline and Adam Petryshen.

Stewart and Gail Law and Bill and Judy Topolnickie were visitors in Camrose on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wilson.

Mrs. Olga Banack, Mrs. Helen Hokewsyzyck and three other ladies left on a trip to Las Vegas Feb. 17 by plane from Edmonton and will return home Feb. 21.

MICKEY BANACK PASSES

Mickey Banack of Bawlf passed away in the Daysland Hospital Feb. 13 at the age of 58 years.

He leaves to mourn his passing his wife Irene, one son Gordon and four daughters, ten grandchildren, his parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banack, four sisters and six brothers, and a host of relatives and friends. One son predeceased him in 1981. Funeral service was held in Camrose at the St. Francis Xavier Church and burial was at the Round Hill Cemetery at the St. Stanislaus Church.

Lunch was served at the Elks Hall in Round Hill.

Vehicle license fees set

A uniform licence plate fee of $30 has been established for all passenger vehicles, for 1983.

This fee replaces the former three-tier scale and applies to all vehicles used for personal transportation – automobiles, small vans, pick-up trucks and motorhomes but, not vehicles used for commerce.

The basic automobile licence fee has not been adjusted since 1968. Simplifying the fee structure is part of a program to improve service to the public by the motor vehicles division.

There are two elements in the licence fee for passenger vehicles: the basic licence fee, plus the levy for the motor vehicle accident claims fund. Both are paid at the same time, as a combined fee.

The basic licence plate fees were last adjusted in 1968 and they have remained unchanged for 15 years.

The motor vehicle accident claims fund levy (which protects the motorists from hit-and-run and uninsured drivers) was last increased three years ago and will remain unchanged for 1983. Since 1980, the combined fee for passenger vehicle plates has been $20, $25 or $30, depending upon wheelbase.

Although the adjustment to a uniform fee represents an upward adjustment for many motorists, the Alberta passenger vehicle licence fee is still the lowest one in Canada. The average of all provincial fees for passenger vehicles is about $46 (not including the premium for Government-operated insurance in those provinces requiring it).

The old three-tiered system created delays in the issuing offices, and is no longer a fair way of associating the licence fee with the size or value of the vehicle. Since it was introduced many years ago, conventional automobiles have been "down-sized", and there is greater use (as personal transportation vehicles) of pick-up trucks, small vans, small but expensive luxury cars, and motorhomes. Thus the wheelbase scale is no longer meaningful.

Renewal notices and application forms will be mailed to all vehicle owners (except commercial trucks) during February.

Motorists renewing their plates this spring will receive green validation tabs – to be applied to their present yellow and black plates. For those wishing to avoid a trip to an issuing office, the renewal transaction may be completed by mail. The mail-in program has proved increasingly popular with motorists in recent years.

All classes of vehicle plates (except commercial trucks) expire on March 31, but the legislation allows motorists until April 30 to complete their renewals. The deadline for commercial trucks (classes PSV, E, CV, DU, and PT only) is June 30 this year.

Late in 1983, and as the new computer system is phased into operation, a staggered renewal system will be introduced for all categories of vehicle licences. This will have the effect of eliminating the spring rush for the public, and will distribute the work of the motor vehicles division throughout the year. New metal plates will be issued in association with the staggered renewal system.

The date the new plates will be introduced has not yet been determined. However, the change to a system of staggered renewal dates will not result in an additional cost to the motorist for the current licencing year.

Gardeners meet

The February meeting of the Tofield Garden Club was held in the Anglican Church meeting room with Myrtle Nerland as hostess.

After the regular business of minutes and finance report, members were reminded of the annual horticultural meeting in Red Deer on March 5 and 6th.

The same officers were asked to carry on in 1983. It was decided to have the edges of the tables repaired.

Keitha Brown then told of trying the New Explorer potato seed. The seed must be started indoors and transplanted to the field. Due to the very dry spring some new plants died, but the potatoes when harvested were of good eating quality and size. They are a white potato, supposed to be disease free.

The Fair prize list was gone over and some changes in the vegetables and flowers planned.

Lunch was served. The next meeting will be at the home of Rose Charters next Wednesday (March 2) when Gwen Peterson will have something of interest.

GRAIN FARMERS CANNOT AFFORD 'USER PAY'

Parliamentary writers are preparing the first draft of a Bill which may transfer uncalculated freight costs to farmers.

No relationship between farmers' ability to pay and grain freight rates is included in the government's plan.

Freight costs payable by farmers will escalate drastically after 1987, even with modest inflation.

Farmers are invited to a public meeting at the Lamoureux Hall, Fort Saskatchewan at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 3rd, 1983. The meeting is designed to help you understand how the plan announced February 1st by J. L. Pepin will affect grain producers. Be there if you care about your future.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

The Holden Cemetery Committee held a meeting on Friday evening at the home of the secretary, Mrs Ethel Brekstad with Lyle Gronlund in the chair. A tentative date was set for the Cemetery clean-up, this being June 26th. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Brekstad served lunch.

The decorated cake presented to Mary Fjellstrom on her 90th birthday on February 12th was baked by her niece, Mrs. Harriet Giebelhaus, and Mrs. Ethel Brekstad took a large cake to be given to the residents of the nursing home to help Mary celebrate the day.

Mrs. Bertha Chetney was taken to Tofield Hospital on Friday evening but, was able to return home Sunday evening after a check-up.

At Holden Lutheran Church Sunday morning service Dan McMurray and Dean Headlund will be in charge of the service.

Residents of the Holden area are reminded that the Holden and District Historical Book Society are holding a bingo on Friday in the Holden Community Hall. Proceeds of which go towards the editing and printing costs of the book.

On Feb. 14th the Holden Ladies Legion Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion held a regular meeting with President Helen Stecyk presiding. It was decided during the meeting that members hold the usual Easter bake sale on April 2nd. At the close of the business meeting, lunch was served with Mrs. Emily Ogonoski being hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kashman and family visiting with them over the weekend

A full house at the Arts Centre in Holden on Sunday evening gave an enthusiastic response to the musical contributions of six County of Beaver gospel musical groups. Planned for this Saturday, is a top family entertainment with Magician, Murray Hatfield, while a variety night is planned for March 18.

The Friendship Group met for their first meeting of 1983 last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson, who was also in charge of devotions. A story of the Other Wise Man was read. The next meeting will be held on March 18th at the home of Mrs. G.H. Taylor. At the conclusion of the meeting, the hostess served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Robert Tiedemann and his brother, David of Edmonton, spent the weekend at the lake, doing some ice fishing.

A former resident of Holden and district, Henry Giebelhaus of Bruce, passed away on Feb. 14th at the age of 75 years. He is survived by daughters, Jean Clark of Toronto, Joy Giebelhaus of Wash., D.C., Mrs. Andy (Carol) Kayter of B.C. and Mrs. Kenneth (Donna) Poirier of B.C., a son, Jim Giebelhaus of Coalman; 13 grandchildren; sisters Emma Giebelhaus of Edmonton, Mrs. Jack (Katherine) Dennington of Lacombe, Mrs. Christine Nicholson of Edmonton, Mrs. Minnie Giebelhaus of Edmonton, Mrs. Clara Haight of Wenatchee, Wash., Mrs. Conrad (Peggy) Giebelhaus of Edmonton, Mrs. Armand (Helen) Roemer of Sheboygan, Wisc. and Mrs. Steve (Pauline) Melnik of Gunn; and one brother, Christian Giebelhaus of Camrose. He was predeceased by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Adam Giebelhaus; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Aberhart; and one brother, John A. Giebelhaus. The funeral service was held on Saturday in the Bruce School Auditorium with J.E. Bennett of Viking officiating and interment was in the Holden Cemetery.

The World Day of Prayer Service is being held this year in the Holden Ukrainian Church on March 4th at 2:00 p.m. with ladies from all Holden churches taking part. The guest speaker will be a former Holden resident, Mrs. Dorothy Bateman (nee Gesson) of Camrose. Ladies of the church will serve lunch at the conclusion of the service. All are welcome to attend.

On Feb. 15th, six ladies of Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple attended the meeting of Irma Lodge Order of the Royal Purple.

Schools entered

by Lesley Primeau

Tofield RCMP are investigating break-ins at the Tofield School and C.W. Sears School.

The incidents reportedly occurred over the weekend with robbery the apparent motive.

Until consultation could be held with teachers in the schools, it is not presently known, what, if anything, was taken.

RCMP will not disclose whether any cash was taken from either premise but, will say that neither school was vandalized a great deal.

The Sears School had an amount of dry chemical sprayed in some areas, but aside from the points of entry, neither school suffered much damage.

School custodians worked overtime to assure classes could be conducted Monday morning as usual.

RCMP are looking for anyone who might have information regarding the two incidents and are investigating all leads.

Teachers' convention slated for next week

Students in Central East Alberta will get a three-day holiday next week.

But, it won't be a holiday for teachers.

Teachers from this part of Alberta will be going to Edmonton for their annual convention which opens one week from today (Wednesday).

Included among the 1,000 persons expected to attend will be teachers from the City and County of Camrose along with staff from the Counties of Beaver and Flagstaff and the Killam School Division.

In addition, about two hundred teachers from the Lloydminster and Onion Lake (Saskatchewan) areas will be in attendance.

Two of the main speakers at the convention will be Dr. Zacharia Clements from the University of Vermont and Dr. Lloyd Dennis of Ontario.

Numerous workshops will be conducted during the convention including one on pension information which will be conducted by Herb Specht of Camrose.

Commercial displays of educational material will be available.

The convention is organized and funded by locals in the Central East Alberta Teachers Association.

NOTES FROM THE ANNUAL MEETING

As we move ahead in 1983, it may interest some of you to know how the Library Board has evaluated progress during the year 1982. In the Tofield Municipal Library, there has been growth and development as a number of fronts, as we settle into the attractive new building.

The hours of operation have increased by 21%, from 14 to 21 hours per week, and the days and hours were adjusted to suit popular request. Many people are discovering the pleasure of visiting the Library simply to browse, to read for a while, or to enjoy a quiet time with a child.

Many new books were added during 1982: 520 books were purchased and 129 donated, while a further 130 were removed for a variety of reasons, such as damaged condition, loss, or being replaced with more up-to-date material. In addition, 1198 paperback books were added, and 480 discarded. These new books include those in all categories: fiction and non-fiction, children's and young peoples' books. They represented a 12% increase in the collection, to 10, 258 books, and a considerable investment of time in their selection, classification and processing. A further 273 books were borrowed from other Canadian libraries, for use by Tofield patrons.

All those new books, and a good many of those already on the shelves were well-used by library patrons. Book circulation, that is, the number of items borrowed, increased by 22.5% over the previous year, to 17,631. New items circulated included a small collection of records, and a number of popular magazine titles.

Several new programs have begun in the last year, including the summer film program for children, the preschool story hour sessions, the mobile library service to the residents of the Tofield Lodge, and this regular weekly column outlining library news and new books. All of these programs, and the increased Library hours would not be possible without the assistance of ten volunteer workers.

Other services which continue to be offered by the Tofield Library, as in the past, are interlibrary loans for materials which we do not have, large print books, and access by request to foreign language books and talking (recorded) books for the visually impaired.

The number of membership has increased by 38.7% over 1981, to a total of 323; 134 of these represent whole families, not just individuals. An interesting fact about these memberships is that approximately 45% of them are county residents, readers in the rural areas who want library service in spite of having to pay a higher non-resident fee.

Many people question this difference between resident and non-resident fees. This is a step which the Library Board was reluctant to take, and they avoided it for as long as possible. The explanation is simple. The Library is funded by the Town of Tofield from the tax dollars of its residents, and by a partially matching grant from the Provincial Government. Together, these grants make up about 85% of the budget. (The balance comes from fees, fines, book sales and donations). Notice that the County of Beaver contributes nothing. No county tax dollars are set aside to provide library service to County residents. Consequently, the librarian of this county also miss out on those matching provincial grants. The difference in the town and rural membership fees makes up for a part of those missing dollars. If the County of Beaver contributed to the support of the three libraries in the county, on behalf of its reading tax-payers, there would be no need for a higher non-resident membership fee.

New books on the shelves this week include George Abbott's Women of Canada, a collection of photo-portraits, accompanied by interviews, of dozens of outstanding Canadian women. Cowboys, by Royal Heinrick is "the real story of cowboys and cattlemen" with many illustrations and photographs.

Scapegoat by Anthony Scaduto, purports to be the "truth about the Lindbergh Kidnapping", that scandal that gripped the public interest in 1932.

TOWN OF TOFIELD FINANCIAL STATEMENT

For the Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 1982

AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Mayor and Council of: THE TOWN OF TOFIELD.

We have examined the Consolidated Balance Sheet of The Town of Tofield as at December 31, 1982 and the related statements of Combined Operating Revenues and Expenditures, Combined Capital Financing Acquired and Applied, Taxes Levied and Grants in Lieu, Consolidated Statement of Surplus (Deficit) and Consolidated Statement of Equity in Fixed Assets for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the municipality as at December 31, 1982 and the results of its operations and changes in capital financing for the year then ended in accordance with the disclosed basis of accounting described in Note 1 applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Dated at Sherwood Park, Alberta this 3rd day of February, 1983.

MUNICIPAL TREASURER'S REPORT

The information contained in the unaudited schedules and reports is as shown by the books and records of Town of Tofield, or is from my own observations and valuations, or is from other appointed or elected officials of this municipality. To the best of my knowledge the schedules and reports present fairly the information requested, and agree with the audited statements where specifically required.

Dated February 3, 1983. Municipal Treasurer (signed) J.H. Brodie

C Event

Ladies champs

B winners

From Ft. St. John in B.C. the Richter rink captured the B Event of the Ladies Bonspiel. Winning the Swanson Meat trophies and blenders were Connie Richter, Brenda Parks, Donna Solodan and Bonnie Isberg. Lesley Primeau photo

B Event

Darlene Gallinger, Joyce Pollock, Linda Sears and Ann Adamson captured the B Event of the Holden Ladies Bonspiel. Along with the Holden UFA trophies the ladies took home portable mixers for their excellent effort. Lesley Primeau photo

Breakaway

He had it and he went for it. If he hadn't he might easily have gotten a goal. As it was Fultonvale defeated Tofield 6-5 but in total points Tofield won by one. Lesley Primeau photo

C Event

In Holden Ladies Curling action the Lund rink took the C Event and with it the Lucky Dollar trophy and a set of punch bowls. Ken Sharpe of the Lucky Dollar presents trophies to Isabelle Lund, Arlene Field, Trish Roulston and Marie Chrystian. Lesley Primeau photo

Pot luck

How many pots does it take to get lucky ... one, if it's the pot at the end of the rainbow. Scouts, Beaver and Cubs were out in force at the annual pot luck supper and following a scrumptious dinner the youths took part in the campfire. Lesley Primeau photo

Hrabecs celebrate 50th

Peter and Pauline Hrabec were recently honoured on their Golden Wedding anniversary.

The day started with mass and marriage blessings in the Holden Greek Catholic Church which was filled to capacity by relatives and friends.

The couple, their friends and relatives all then went to the Holden Community Hall for a banquet and a short program.

The honoured couple was accompanied at the head table by the original bridesmaid, Annie Andrukow (Hrabec) of Viking and her husband, Mike; Joe Poserniak of Sherwood Park who sat in for his late father, John Poserniak.

The rest of the head table guests were Elizabeth Posernick of Viking; Paulines brother, Joe Kudrowich and wife, Ann of Holden; her sister, Annie Kudrowich of Ponoka; her sister, Caroline Fillinger of Ponoka; Fr. Alex of Holden; sister-in-laws, Annie Hrabec of Ryley, Eva Hrabec of Vegreville Nursing Home; Dorothy Hrabec of Holden, M.L.A. John Batiuk and wife, Rose, niece of the groom; and the emcee Eugene Stracky and wife, Eileen, niece of the groom.

The buffet reception for approximately 220 people started with grace by Fr. Alex.

During the meal, Laura Hrabec of Holden proposed a toast to the Jubilants of fifty years of married bliss!

The emcee Eugene Stracky of Edmonton, after introducing the head table, called on Charlie Fillinger, a nephew of Pauline's from Bashaw to give a resume of Pauline's younger years. He presented Peter and Pauline with a gift from their family.

Joe Poserniak, on behalf of the Hrabecs, gave a resume of Peter's early days coming to Canada, working at Oyen with his brother, Harry and after a couple of years, they sold that and Peter bought his farm south of Ryley where they farmed until they retired to Holden.

MLA John Batiuk congratulated the jubilants and presented them with greetings and scrolls from Peter Lougheed, Premier of Alberta; Frank Lynch-Staunton, Lt. Governor of Alberta; Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau of Canada; Governor General Ed Schreyer; MP Don Mazankowski of Vegreville; MP Joe Clark, Leader of the Opposition; and one from himself and his wife, Rose. He also presented them with Alberta lapel pins.

Mary Ogrodnick, on behalf of the Holden Greek Catholic Church and Ladies Aid, presented a gold congratulatory golden wedding anniversary wall plaque.

Nick Shebinski, on behalf of the town, presented them with a scroll.

The Godchildren of which six attended, presented their gifts and best wishes. Peter Hrabec Jr. presented them with a remote control color television set on behalf of all who attended.

Sophie Rurka, Annie Bydala and Mary Goshko from Vegreville, cousins of Pauline, together with the Holden Church Choir, sang.

Pauline very capably thanked the guests for coming, the gifts, and the people who helped make the occasion such a success.

Guests came from Bashaw, Viking, Edmonton, Ponoka, Sherwood Park, Vegreville, Ryley, Lamont, Bruderheim and Holden.

Puffs have split

The Tofield Powder Puffs were shut out by the Edmonton Ambassadors 6-0.

The Ambassadors, part of the Stingers Division from Edmonton, were a handful on Sunday afternoon but, the Puffs remained determined and put forth a fine effort.

Monday, to get themselves on the winning track again, the ladies ventured to Bruderheim and rode home victorious with a 6-3 win under their belts. The ladies plan to head to Rosalind on Sunday for a rematch with the Rosalind Ladies with game time at 4:00 p.m.

Coaching the ladies is Warren McKenzie and Garry Hilkewich with out of town help from Phil Wiese and David Berrecloth, both of whom take the team for out of town games.

The team is still interested in getting more ladies out to play for the remainder of this year and possible candidates for next year. Interested ladies should contact Anne Pradine at 662-3613 or Pat Jones at 662-3625 for more information.

Hefty . . . help!!

Poor Smurfette . . . It looks like duck soup for her . . . But what is this?? Why it's Hefty to the rescue . . . and so another story unfolds by the Language Arts students of the Holden School. The grade eights were marvellous in their morning of theatrics.

Ryley news

by Lana Bell

Stanley Heigeland was home for a few days from his job up north, and he flew back again on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennet Owen of Patricia were callers on Mrs. Dorothea Kirkeland and the Gerald Owen's in Camrose last week. Dean Owen has returned to her home Edmonton after spending some time with Dorothea.

On Thursday evening the Sea Cadets were bused to Holden for their meeting.

Derrick Mason of Calgary has been visiting his relatives in Holden, Ryley and Tofield areas and also visited his grandmother, Mrs. Mason, in Edmonton.

Mrs. Helen Sadowuyk passed away on February 17 at the age of 70 years.

She is survived by one son and two daughters, Ernest and his wife Gloria of Ryley, Mrs. Elsie Holtz of Red Deer, Mrs. Sylvia Dziwenka of Sherwood Park; 13 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; seven brothers and two sisters.

Funeral was held on Tuesday in Holy Trinity Ukrainian Catholic Church in Vegreville.

Mr and Mrs. Scott Carl were really surprised on Sunday afternoon when about 30 neighbors called on them to welcome them to the district. Mr. and Mrs. Carl and children are making their home on the Gerald Owen farm, southeast of Dodds.

Lucy Anderson was the lucky winner of $200 in the Lucky T.V. Guide draw.

A lovely noon was held at the Fred and Ada Hostetler home, with Curtis and Marion Roth at home too, and also Lowell. Ezra and Lena Reil were callers.

Elida and daughters of Viking visited with her mother, Brenda Heigeland and Ab. y.

The Philip Bednarski family of Sherwood Park visited family in Ryley and Holden areas over the weekend.

Billy Kirkeland of Edmonton and a friend enjoyed a trip to Costa Rica.

John Wall and wife enjoyed a holiday in Phoenix, Arizona, California and Mexico.

Plays are presented

by Lesley Primeau

Grade eight drama students of the Holden School presented two short plays for the learning enjoyment of the students in the elementary classes.

Under the guidance of Divana McKeen the students wrote, directed and produced the plays themselves.

The first play presented was entitled "Freeze Frame" and was directed by Kevin Sharpe who also doubled his abilities by performing as the crazed professor intent on taking over the world.

The hero was played by Lane Calliou while Vincent Lukaweski did his best as the damsel in distress. Roxanne Woiskoff, in the play's second role reversal, played the father of the damsel. Carol Zemiak was the lone rebel.

The second play directed by Penny Chomic was entitled "Soup a la Smurfette".

Cast members included Wanda Sawers as Smurfette, Danny Fydenvoll as Hefty, Laurie Kowalchuk as Poppa Smurf, Penny Chomic as Aerial and Dean Komaraisky as Gargamel.

The play had wonderful costumes, much to the delight of the children, and cute little stage bits to entice interest.

Prior to the commencement of the plays, Charlie Mathews, [illegible] of the Holden Creative Playground Committee presented Owen Ligard with a digital pen watch for naming the new playground the 'Hide-a-way'.

The students were asked to enter names for the new facility which will be located on the northeast side of the school. The committee felt the children's [illegible] was needed so that they could be made aware of the entire process.

The committee hopes to begin construction on the new playground by mid-June.

The children of the Holden area currently use the playground located near the arena but, many residents felt 13S children needed a larger area in which to play.

TOBIN CANOLA
HIGHER YIELD THAN CANDLE
Tobin is a new Polish canola variety which outyields Candle by 7% while maintaining similar quality.
Tobin has the essential characteristics of low erucic acid oil and low glucosinolate meal to qualify as canola. This quality is required by all domestic crushers and is preferred by export buyers as well.
Tobin is the first Polish canola to be resistant to white rust or staghead. The early maturity of Polish canola means Tobin is particularly suited to areas with shorter growing seasons.
If your choice is Polish, your choice should be certified Tobin.

Holden has spiel

Holden Curling Club hosted a very successful men's open curling bonspiel.

Ed Smith of Vegreville emerged with top honours when he defeated the Hamby rink from Gladstone in the finals.

Other members of the winning rink included Ekasse Michaelchuk, Lawrence Kusick and Terry Serafinchan.

Third place in the First Event went to the Michlick rink while Vincent Hrabec's family foursome took fourth place.

Bob Kolotyn won the Second Event with other members of this rink being Harry Styles, Kerry Dewart and Herbie Eliot.

Ernie Doris of Bruce was the runner-up while third place went to Doug Hardy of Tofield and R. Erickson of Tofield was fourth.

The Third Event was won by Red Tkaczyk of Bruce whose teammates included Jim Tkaczyk, Wally Heber and Rich Tkaczyk.

Runner-up was the B and B Construction quartet from Daysland and they were followed by Vern Gaubault of Tofield and Don Hoffman of Holden was fourth.

Winner

Owen Ligard is the winner of the Name the Playground contest held in Holden. Students of the Holden School were asked to name the new facility, set for construction in June and Owen's winning name, the Hide-a-way will probably adorn the playground

Scout banquet is held

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Scouts, Beavers and Cubs pooled resources and food for their annual pot-luck supper held Sunday afternoon in the Community Centre.

The over two-hundred youths and their families partook of various dishes prepared by the mothers and after the dinner took part in the early evening's program.

Dick Thomas, master of ceremonies and president of the Scouting Association kicked things off by welcoming everyone. Brian Warner led the crowd in the singing of O Canada and Shane Weatherill said grace to initiate dinner.

Al Pollock of the Tofield Lions and principal of the Tofield School gave the boys a brief talk on the many games of life. Using hockey to illustrate his point he proceeded to involved the boys in a talk that demonstrated that like hockey life is made up of goals, practice, involvement, teamanship and challenge. He illustrated the rules by which we play and the motivation necessary to excell at whatever game is chosen.

Brent Eglauer responded to Mr. Pollock's statements with thanks from the different groups. Marie Englesham was on hand for the Legion Ladies Auxiliary and was thanked by the youths for the continuous support provided by the ladies.

Mr. Pollock was presented with a plaque from the Scouting movement to the Lions for their never ending support of the boys and their projects.

Wendy Ritter followed all conversation with a traditional campfire. Many songs were sung with many suggestions from the crowd present.

Responsible for the Lindbrook Beavers this year is Richard Ratke and Gloria Knudslien. The First Tofield Beavers are led by Alice Sparrebeom and Karen Johnson while the second group is headed by Myrna Kendrat and Lillian Renner.

Taking the helm of the Cubs this year is Laurie Weatherill, Kay Procter, Chuck McBurney, Jim Armstrong and Jeff Fisher. Scouts are headed by Don Kendrat and Evan Jensen.

DIAMOND BARLEY
A JEWEL FOR HIGH YIELD AND EARLY MATURITY
Barley growers in Central Alberta who choose certified Diamond seed will find that this variety consistently outyields Galt and Klondike, yet is two to four days earlier than either.
Diamond is five days earlier than Johnson and has better lodging resistance.
Where early maturity is needed, or where seeding has been delayed, Diamond barley should be the first choice.
Get the complete story from a SeCan member or your local seed dealer who handles SeCan varieties.

Congratulations to both Senior High basketball teams for capturing the County titles, on Saturday, Feb. 12th.

Both teams have had successful seasons, not only winning the County titles, but also placing first in the new league seasonal play. Our league finals are this weekend (Feb. 19th) in Viking. The teams that made the finals are:

Girls: Ryley, Viking, Hughendon and Coronation.

Boys: Ryley, Viking, St. T.A. Provost and Provost Public.

The girls provincial zones competition is to be held in Ryley on March 11 and 12th. The winner of this level will advance to the provincial finals.

The basketball teams will be providing supper for the Teachers' Computer Workshop on Wednesday, February 23rd. The money earned from this supper, will be used to offset some of the travelling costs the teams are incurring.

Wishes for good luck go to both teams as they approach the Zones finals and perhaps even the provincials!

Toros drop to third

Tofield Toros are in somewhat of a slump and it is costing them in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League standings.

Toros have managed only two victories in their last five games and have dropped from first place down to third spot.

Tofield is now seven points out of first place and would have to win all remaining contests while Bawlf was a total loser, in order to regain the lead.

Toros are only one point in back of second place Bashaw but, the latter has a game in hand on the Tofield squad.

Tofield must stave off Round Hill to keep third place as they presently hold a four-point edge but, Round Hill has a game in hand.

What could decide the final placings is the fact that Tofield has two games left with Bashaw and one with Round Hill.

Tofield has only one game scheduled during the coming week and that will be on Friday night when they will be at home to New Norway.

Stang of Bawlf has taken the lead in the goal-tending race, leading Olson of Tofield by 0.19 goals per game.

No members of the Tofield squad are listed in the top seven in the individual scoring race.

As a team, Tofield will probably end up as the most penalized squad while Gary Berten is likely to be the league badman.

Tofield had a split in two outings last week when they walloped Kingman and were beaten by Bawlf.

Both games were filled with penalties.

Tofield walloped Kingman 11-3 when G. Olson and Friesen had hat-tricks and singles were scored by Dennan, Hendrikson, Haycock, Loshack and Miskew.

Dunlop scored twice for the losers whose other goal was netted by D. Penner.

Bawlf stung the Toros 7-3 with Beck and Triffery leading the way with a pair each and singles were netted by Orcheski, Campbell, and Bateman.

Hendrikson notched a pair for Tofield with the single coming from G. Berten.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
RYLEY / MARCH 8, 1983

To help celebrate Agriculture Week last year, our office and the Agricultural Service Board sponsored a Pancake Breakfast at the Ryley Legion. The event went over so well that we have decided to expand upon this idea somewhat and make an entire day of it.

Even though the present economic situation and low level of enthusiasm in agriculture limit the operation of many farm units, there are a number of items and practices that should never be misunderstood or [illegible]. It is with this concept in mind that we have put together a day of food, fun and information. March 8, 1983 is the date we have set aside for this year's Agriculture Week celebration. "Food For Thought: is the theme, and the day will consist of a pancake breakfast and lunch, displays, demonstrations and presentations on various topics, such as the safe and proper use of pesticides, anhydrous ammonia and electricity, as well as other topics that never really seem to fit in to any of our sponsored courses and seminars. A curling "Turkey Shoot" is also planned. Because of the number of events planned for the day, this open house session will beheld at both the Ryley Curling Rink and the Community Hall.

Therefore, mark March 8 on your calendar and plan to attend at least part of the day.

GRAIN AND OILSEED OUTLOOK CONFERENCE

Maximizing cash flow in the year ahead will be critical for grain farmers. Making the best crop choices is particularly important in 1983.

If these concerns are on your mind, plan to attend Alberta Agriculture's grain and oilseed outlook conference, ACCENT '83. It will be held at the Convention Inn South in Edmonton, March 22 and 23.

First on the program is a presentation on the economic environment facing agriculture in the coming year, followed by a summary of world weather crop conditions expected for 1983-84. Speakers will then discuss the world and Canadian situation and outlook for oilseeds, feedgrain and wheat.

At the luncheon Wednesday, March 23, a representative of the American Soybean Association will talk about market development. It's an opportunity to hear how our competition is attempting to increase sales in the world market.

ACCENT '83 will begin at 1:00 p.m. Thursday, March 22 and end at 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, March 23. Full registration, which includes the sessions, proceedings, and meals, is $80. If you'd like further information or a registration form, please drop in at our office.

Chamber has officers

Officers of the Holden and District Chamber of Commerce were inducted at a recent meeting.

Serving another year as president is Matt Halfrich; 1st vice-president is Howard Sewers; 2nd vice-president is Ken Sharpe; and secretary-treasurer is Christine Markey.

Four directors will be elected at the March meeting.

At the well attended February meeting, members decided on the Chamber projects for the year.

In April, a community potluck supper will be hosted by the Chamber to welcome all the newcomers to the area.

In addition, the Chamber will be constructing a float for the Farmers Day parade, sponsoring the Christmas Days and Santa Claus, forming the 1984 Homecoming Committee and continuing to sponsor the Future of Holden School Committee.

Once again meetings will rotate with a supper meeting one month and a business meeting the next month.

Membership sales are moving well and may be purchased at the Village Office.

The March supper meeting, scheduled for Tuesday in the Community Hall, will feature a guest speaker, Ron Hancock, Alberta Tourism and Small Business, from Camrose.

Hancock will be speaking on the Alberta Management Assistance Program which the Chamber is hosting on behalf of its members.

The public will be invited to attend an energy conservation seminar, which the Chamber is hosting on March 19th, in the Community Hall.

So the academy award nominations are out and I bet you're just dying to find out just what my predictions are. Well to tell you the truth ... I do have a few. For the entire year I have maintained that Victor Victoria was without a doubt the best picture and despite the fact that it isn't nominated I still go with that choice. Or rather I did until I saw Sophie's choice last weekend. Without a doubt there is no movie in the last five years that can compare to the brilliance of this film ... alas the movie is not nominated ... but ray of hope ... Meryl Streep is and got it [illegible] for best Actress. Best picture ... Verdict with Paul Newman, who I believe should also get best actor. Dustin Hoffman was great in Tootsie ... but?? Best supporting actor ... Lou Gossett in Officer and a Gentleman and best supporting actress ... Lesley Ann Warren for Victor Victoria.

I was disappointed that Carol Burnett was not nominated for Annie and somewhat aghast that Cher missed out on Come Back to the Five and Dime Jimmy Dean. The film was one of the years best, depending on your choice of movies. Picking movies is a real trick and you can never be sure how the members will vote, I guess that's why they hold People's choice awards just prior to the Oscar event.

And what about ET ... well I saw ET and I loved it ... but not as best picture. I think perhaps we should include a new category in the Oscar race ... best 'other than human' award ... that way with all the new science fiction stuff we could put them in a group they can relate to.

Now that you know what I have chosen ... mark yours down and we'll see what develops. Other than that it has been a quiet week, but next week I promise you something different ... it's a secret until then ... adios amigos and according to my freind Ziggy ... part watermelon.

AGRICULTURE WEEK

The week of March 7-13 has been chosen to salute the agriculture industry in Alberta. Watch for various activities here and in Edmonton. A big shopping mall promotion is planned for Southgate, March 10-12. Alberta Food Processors will be there as well as 4-H and the American Saddle Horse Association. It is a chance to tell the agriculture story to urban neighbours; a responsibility of all rural dwellers.

Celebrations locally include a pancake breakfast and open house by the Ryley Agriculture staff. We will be flipping pancakes at the curling rink for both breakfast and lunch. Between pancakes there will be seminars on proper use and management of pesticides, electrical hazards on farms, numerous displays and demonstrations and even a turkey shoot. Hope to see many of you there; we're anticipating a fun day.

MUKLUKS AND MOCCASINS

I have arranged a one-day workshop on making mukluks and moccasins, in Tofield, March 18 from 9:30 - 3:30 p.m. Upon registration you will receive a list of supplies and materials needed. A registration fee of $13.00 will be charged which does not include lunch or supplies. To register, phone 663-3666 before Thursday, March 10.

Palmer—Earling district news items

Sunday afternoon visitors at Clara Ferre's were Ernest Claire and Kathy Ferre, Gordon and Marjorie Cook, Calgary, Lawrence and Connie Hovland, Leroy and Esther Ferre, John and Sophie Brace and Lucille McKee and Melinda Roth. On Monday callers there were Rev. Ken Hansen and the Joe Knudsen's.

Charlie and Liz Charpentier and Mrs. Ken Blain and daughter, Camrose, were Sunday visitors at Art Knisely's.

Clifford and Ruth Bratrud weekended at Caroline with her brother, Orval and Annie Kathan.

Irvin and Anna Pedersen and Edna Naaland were visitors in Viking with Andrew Naaland.

Vic Bladon weekended at Sherwood Park with the Doug MacRae's.

Denis and Annette Hamby were in Lethbridge to attend the funeral of Harry Baldwin's father, 90, on Feb. 11 and also visited their daughter, Denise, the Harry Baldwin's.

Dan and Gwen Campbell and Diane Bratrud spent Tuesday assisting at the Larry Johnson home, Camrose.

The Bluebonnets L.C.W. met Feb. 16 at the church parlors when 15 ladies were present.

The Bible lesson was led by Emma Emerson.

Many reports were adopted as read. The financial report was very good. Edna Aker had sent out six cards. The visitation committee, Laurie Farmen and Helen Vansberg, had called on eight families in the past month. These on above duty for March are Dianne Olson and Valerie Ferre.

Thank you letters had been received from Clayton and Hazel Sandberg, now in Pakistan, Sophie Tyrant and the Norman Tomsic, John Hines, Rev. Harvey Jorgenes, of Children's Home at Gerynne, and from World Mission Prayer League, Canada.

Next meeting at the church March 16.

Mrs. Alberta Bolding, Camrose spent a few days with her daughter Diane - the Elmer Bruce's.

Dan Wenas and Kathy Pedersen, Edmonton, were Sunday visitors at Basil Pedersen's.

It's so easy . . .

Distress??

The, shall we say, quaint damsel is indeed in distress but have no fear, the hero is near. Trying to conquer the world, the poor misguided professor will run amuck when he tangles with the hero . . . all is fair in love and war

NEW BOOKS

"The Wedding Dress"
Marian Weds

Seared into Rebecca's memory were her mother's final words, "the trunk, guard it carefully. There is in it your only hope." This book will compel, stir and move you to tears and to joy before you turn its final page.

"Margarits' Story"
Euginia Price

A thrilling and inspiring novel of one woman's fight for family and love in the war-torn south. From the Seminole Uprisings to the Civil War, they fought for their beloved plantation, their family and faith . . . This book along with "Don Juan McQueen" & "Miarra" completes the Florida trilogy.

NEW DIRECT REBATES FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS

Are you eligible for a new rebate for using natural gas in primary agricultural production?

To ensure that Albertans will continue to enjoy the lowest natural gas costs in Canada, the Province now provides new direct rebates for primary agricultural production under the terms of the Natural Gas Price Protection Plan.

This additional rebate is in the amount of 32 cents per gigajoule (GJ) - or 52.7 cents per 1000 cubic feet (Mcf) on annual consumption exceeding 300 GJ (285 Mcf), and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf). In dollar terms, the maximum rebate is $3,200.

Those eligible for the rebates include Albertans engaged in the production and processing of field crops, livestock and poultry operations, greenhouses (including ornamental), irrigation grain drying, and sod and peat moss farms. Farmers responsible for their natural gas costs are also eligible.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

1. The rebate will apply on consumption of natural gas of over 300 GJ (285 Mcf) and up to a maximum of 10,000 GJ (9500 Mcf) used during a calendar year by an applicant.
2. Users may apply for rebate anytime for the calendar years 1982, 1983 and 1984.
3. The program is retroactive to January 1, 1982 and will terminate on December 31, 1984.
4. The rebate will be calculated on the total consumption of an applicant, regardless of the number of gas meters or service outlets.

HOW DO YOU APPLY?

Information brochures, including rebate application forms, are available from your natural gas distributor, Distinct Agricultural, or by writing

Apartments are opened

by Lesley Primeau

A number of government dignitaries were in Tofield Friday afternoon for the official opening of the Beaverhill Heritage Apartments.

Among those attending was the Honourable Larry Shaben, Minister of Housing who unveiled the ceremonial plaque that will hang in the apartment complex.

On hand to mark the official opening was Dr. Walter Buck, MLA for Clover Bar, Dr. W. Freebury, Mayor of Tofield, Brian Magee, Canada Mortgage and Housing, Ted van de Giessen, Project Manager for Alberta Housing, Angus Murray, Tofield Lions Club and Rev. Dan Newell who led the gathering in a dedication prayer.

Terry Renner of the Tofield Lions acted as master of ceremonies and introduced each guest who offered comments on the completion of the apartment project. Mrs. Bertha Phillips, a resident of the apartments accepted the [illegible] on behalf of her fellow residents.

She expressed her gratitude to both governments for their foresight in placing such a complex within the community.

The apartments, located directly north of the Senior Citizens Lodge, was built for use by senior residents of the area who might benefit by the comraderie provided by the complex and who might feel they would prefer to reside in town, in a managed building where they would not have to worry about upkeep and the like.

Twelve, one bedroom units comprise the one storey building. Alberta Housing Corporation committed $605,562 for the land and construction of the project with financing provided through the Alberta Investment Division of the Heritage Savings Trust Fund. Operating deficits will be shared by provincial and federal governments.

The Tofield Lions are the management body responsible for the care and maintenance of the building. Members of that management board include Angus Murray, Bob Calder, Tom Lyle, Terry Renner, Al Fath and John Wall.

Residents of the Heritage Apartments include Tillie Yurkowski, Odd and Lisa Orbeck, Mary Mosher, Mary Woods, Mary Rustad, Bertha Phillips, Audrey McHeffey, Margaret Langal, Pete Kerbic, Josephine Paulson and Fred and Edna Johnson. The tenants have access to common laundry facilities and a combined lounge-kitchenette within the building as well as parking adjoining the complex.

Any inquiries regarding rental in the Heritage Apartments may be directed to the Tofield Lions Club.

Variety concert set

Plans are proceeding for the variety concert scheduled for the Beaver Arts Centre on March 26.

About twelve different acts will be presented, ranging from individual musical presentations to gymnasts, square dancers, a family band and a clown.

All participants will be from the County of Beaver.

The concert, sponsored by members of the Beaver Arts Society who are endeavoring to keep the Arts Centre in Holden functioning, follows two recent well-attended and successful programs. Gospel Music Night and Magic Spectacular both brought favourable comments from those attending.

Ryley gets AGT plan

AGT customers in the Ryley area will be given the opportunity to reduce long distance charges through optional calling plans.

Two Optional Calling Plan (OCP) trials are available to Ryley area customers to reduce long distance charges on calls to adjacent exchanges and communities within an 84 km (50 mile) radius, according to Doug Noble of AGT Stettler Switchboard.

Customers may reduce their long distance bills by purchasing "blocks" of calling time, Noble said.

The OCP trial in the Ryley area becomes effective on March 22.

Two Optional Calling Plans are available. Under OCP I, customers will receive 30 minutes of calling time to any adjacent exchange for $2.30 a month. Ryley area customers choosing this option may call Mundare, Vegreville, Holden Sawtl and Camrose at this reduce rate.

Each additional 15 minute period will cost $1.15, an AGT news release says.

Customers choosing OCP II will be able to call any exchange within an 84 km (50 mile) radius of the village for 30 minutes at a cost of $4.60 per month.

Customers will pay $2.30 per month for each additional 15 minute period.

Ryley area residents may dial approximately 30 exchanges under this plan including Edmonton, Sherwood Park, Leduc, Wetaskiwin, Two Hills and Viking.

The Optional Calling Plan trial was introduced by AGT in June, in 1982 in six exchanges around the province. Ten more exchanges, including Tofield, received the optional service in October, 1982.

With the addition of 22 exchanges to the trial this year, 41 communities will be able to reduce their long distance charges.

About 30 per cent of the town of Tofield population took advantage of the trial with about 1,000 AGT customers in that area eligible for the service.

Postmaster

Dale Lawton, formerly from the Bassano area, is the new postmaster for Tofield. Dale has taken over for the retiring Eva Nolan. He has been in Canada Post for the past eight years. Dale now makes his home in Tofield with wife Joy and their children Darren and Keri. The Lawtons are expecting a third child soon and feel the way of life offered by the community of Tofield is the right environment in which to raise children. The Tofield post office is one of the busiest in the area.

Tofield wins

Tofield and Mundare were the winners in the opening games of the Beaverhill Hockey League playoffs.

Tofield Satellites are meeting Ryley in one best of seven series while Mundare tangles with Lamont in the other round.

In a close encounter in Tofield on Tuesday night, Satellites edged Ryley by an 8-6 count.

The other game was played in Mundare with the home team stopping the visitors 9-4.

The next three games in the Tofield-Ryley series will be played tonight (Thursday), Saturday and Tuesday with all games to be played in the Tofield Arena.

All Ryley home games are played in Tofield.

The other series will resume tonight (Thursday) in Lamont with a game in Mundare on Saturday and the fourth game will be played in Lamont on Tuesday.

Satellites finished the regular schedule in first place and were followed in the standings by Mundare, Lamont and then Ryley with Holden and Viking not earning playoff berths.

Official statistics for the regular schedule have been released and may be found in a separate story.

Just at presstime, The Mercury was informed that the second game of the Mundare-Lamont series would not go until Tuesday with the third game in Mundare one week from today (Thursday).

Carnival Queen

Representing the Beaverhill Light Horse Association, Cathy Brown was crowned the 1983 Carnival Queen. The crowning took place at centre ice during the Saturday night Decade on Ice performance. Cathy is the daughter of Doris and Howard Brown of Tofield.

Too fast

Crowfoot Member of Parliament Arnold Malone wrote recently expressing interest and applause for the remarkably quick response of a number of doctors in this region when Health Minister Monique Begin made a number of threatening moves in the field of Medicare, and balance billing. Their opposition was quick, he pointed out, directed to exactly the right place, and effective.

He then went on to wonder why farmers have not been far more vocal in their opposition to the Minister of Agriculture's long-mounted attempt to establish his umbrella-type farm control through the Canagrex Bill, a bill, according to Mr. Malone, which strikes at the pillars on which every farm in the country is established.

Exactly the same could be said about Jean Luc Pepin's drive to abolish the Crow rate for grain. The ramifications are impossible to foresee, but they should strike terror in the hearts of most of us.

The bill is being supported by numbers of livestock producers, (who account for roughly one third of all agricultural products, according to their statistics) and it is also supported by some "hard-headed business men" in the larger cities, such as Edmonton and Calgary . . . businessmen who think the health of oil, gas, manufacturing and so on is far more important than the health of the grain growers.

But it is stoutly opposed by the Alberta Wheat Pool, by Unifarm, by the Saskatchewan and Manitoba Pools, by the Canadian Wheat Board, by the National Farmers Union, and by many others who are just as surprised to see the company they're in. Even farmers in Quebec are opposing the program.

Certainly it's a matter for the farmer to be concerned over . . . in less than a decade it threatens to raise the price of shipping his grain to five times the present level. Even with interest rates dropping, every economist has predicted a serious falling-off in net farm incomes, and their forecasts didn't take into account shipping costs soaring like that.

Just as certainly it should be a concern of every citizen outside the metro cities. Calgary can get along on its oil . . . maybe . . . Edmonton can get along on government . . . maybe . . . and there are a very few like Fort McMurray with oil, Banff with tourists, and Coleman with coal, . . . but the vast majority of us NEED the farm industry. We need it healthy and prosperous.

It doesn't matter whether it's Lethbridge or Lougheed, Red Deer or Rosalind, Camrose or Castor, our economics are built on the businesses of supplying farm machinery and equipment, handling farm production, providing supplies, repairs, services, advice, opportunities, entertainment and much more.

The Livestock producer is obviously important, too, but both will suffer if the economy is thrown so far out of balance as rapidly as Pepin proposes.

Critics snort that the rates are almost a hundred years old! So obviously they're outdated, they're impractical, they're uneconomic, they're overdue for modernization.

Oddly nobody complains that Confederation is over a hundred years old. Nobody complains that the Ten Commandments are four thousand years old, and needing change. Even the railways didn't complain for the first seventy years or so, while the rates were making them money. At the expense of the farmer.

We'll concede that the proposition that change must come is gaining ground. But why should it come in such a short time . . . in terms of history it's almost overnight. In terms of industry, five years, or ten years even, is just a flicker of time. If we must face change, why could it not come over the same hundred years the railways have enjoyed, moving, possibly, one percent a year.

That way, there would be time for everyone to adjust. Intelligently. There wouldn't be such sudden disruption, such wholesale disregard of the effects throughout the whole agricultural community. Not just on the farm, but in town, too.

We'll admit such a proposition is slow. But everyone would be able to compute the consequences . . . and we'll bet the railways would find another escape clause before the hundred years was up.

New lead for fallowing

Herbicide treatments may soon replace mechanical tillage on some prairie farms. A nine-year study by researchers at Agriculture Canada has found that using chemical weed killers on fallow land may cut costs by as much as 22 per cent on some wheat farms.

On Western prairie farms, fields must often be left fallow in order to conserve moisture. Turning the soil over with mechanical cultivators is necessary to control weed growth.

The problem with this tillage is that the soil loses moisture and is vulnerable to erosion after it is disturbed.

After testing experimental plots near Lethbridge, Alberta, Drs. R.P. Zentner and C.W. Lindwall found that using herbicides instead of ploughing saves labour, fuel and machine repairs. Depending on the price of the herbicides, the chemical treatments could cut farmers' costs by 16 to 22 per cent without affecting crop yield.

USC COOPS CLOSE PROTEIN GAP

In the mountains of Lesotho protein deficiency is endemic, increasing the demand for eggs. For the past ten years the USC has helped small local poultry farmers organize into cooperatives with a central marketing system, standard grading and improved storage facilities. Lesotho now produces four-fifths of its domestic egg requirements, reducing dependence on expensive South African imports.

Mainstream Canada

How UI hikes really hurt

By W. Roger Worth

For Canada's already hard-pressed smaller firms, Ottawa's decision to increase unemployment insurance premiums by about 40 percent carries not only a direct cost, but may affect the perennially positive attitude of the entrepreneurs who are so important in the job creation process.

At a time when more than 1.5 million Canadians are unemployed, this is bad news indeed.

The simple question is asked: will small companies lay off workers because employers have to pay as much as $4 per week more for each employee they have on staff?

As in all things simplistic, the simple answer is no. Yet there is a very real disincentive to add staff, and it's that much easier to justify layoffs. Mostly it's a matter of attitude.

The problem, of course, is that many smaller firms are already on the fringe, dealing with reduced profits or actually losing money.

So, under the circumstances, it isn't surprising that the unemployment insurance rate increase will play a minor part in the entrepreneurs' decision to add or subtract jobs.

The cost is significant. Companies now paying the top rate of more than $385 per week in insurable employee earnings, will now pay $12.40 per week in unemployment premiums for each worker, up from $8.09. Where employees earn less, the unemployment premium is obviously lower.

Employees will also be forced to pay premiums that are 40 percent higher.

But it is the attitudes of entrepreneurs, managers and proprietors of smaller firms that really count. If, as has been forecast, the economy turns around, it is these people who will create the jobs we so badly need.

Only a year ago, for example, the smaller companies were still creating jobs, even while the multinationals and major companies were pruning the employment rosters.

The same thing may happen if the economy reverses. A surprisingly resilient small business community will be first to take advantage of the situation, creating jobs as they expand their operations.

What's important is that the positive attitude that exists among this group of risk-taking entrepreneurs is not stifled. There is no question the unemployment insurance rate increase has deflated a lot of the enthusiasm that existed, and probably cost us a lot of jobs.

Perhaps it's time the bureaucrats in the nation's capital started to understand that attitudes matter. At some point, when taxes and payments to government become too high, there is less incentive to really succeed in business.

Sees role for monarch

69 Dietz Avenue South
Waterloo, Ontario N2L 2J8
519-[illegible]

Dear Sir:

Prime Minister Trudeau's recent Asian tour has highlighted four monarchies - Brunei (an absolute monarchy); Malaysia; Thailand and Japan (constitutional monarchies like our own).

Queen Elizabeth told Quebeckers in 1964 that "the role of a constitutional monarchy is to personify the democratic state". Our constitution distinguishes between a head of state who is above partisan politics and a head of government who is at best the successful leader of a party.

Also constitutionalized is the role of the Governor-General, who represents the Queen but is chosen by the Prime Minister and only approved by the Queen. Mr. Robert Borden referred to the Governor as "an elected president".

Because we still share our sovereign with the United Kingdom, some Canadians think that our maple crown is somehow "colonial". Mr. Jules Leger noted that, on the contrary, "down through the centuries . . . a system under the crown . . . has enabled us to develop as a free people, despite our vast territory and cultural diversity."

If Canadians can no longer be content with a sovereign who comes here only at the Prime Minister's invitation, then either annual visits for the Queen could be recommended or a member of the royal family could be asked to reside here to assume duties now carried out by the Queen and her Governor. Canadians would continue to respect Elizabeth II as head of the Commonwealth.

Yours truly,
Ron Walker

Ice show presented

by Lesley Primeau

It is indeed hard to believe that this year's ice concert, presented by the Tofield Skating Club, marks the tenth year of operation by this growing community group. To commemorate this event, this year's presentation was aptly entitled a Decade on Ice.

A Decade on Ice was even bigger and better than its predecessors with over seventy skaters taking part in a spectacular skating presentation. Randy Benson was the master of ceremonies.

Sharon Porisky skated in the Canadian flag, followed by Jodi Yurkowski and Lorna Veltner who carried the Skating Club banner. Following the singing of O Canada, it was time to join the party with Jessica Coleman, Candace Regehr, Robin Carter, Rachelle Weatherhill, Jill Widemann, Erin Van de Wetering and Shannon Quinn. The little partiers were joined by amateur coaches, Roxy Knudslien and Teresa Prast.

Lori Brown followed the opening presentation with the evening's first solo. A grade seven student, Lori is presently working on her second figure, junior bronze dance and junior bronze freeskate.

Gadfilli, led by amateur coaches Cathy Brown and Sharon Porisky, was a 50's number with Kristen Hellesen, Shane Ryan, Erin Lee, Kim Posticher, Pam L..oens, Jennifer Lee, Michelle McAdam, Michelle Widemann, Bonnie Allen, Trevor Clarke, Sharon Ryan and Shannon Larin.

From Ryley, Roxy Knudslien travels weekly to work out with the Tofield Skating Club. Roxy is currently working on her first figure as well as her junior bronze dance and preliminary freeskate. Roxy's solo was an exciting prelude to Tofield's answer to the Miss World contest.

Dory Warkentin, Jody Saito, Kim Hummel, Sherri Kaufmann, Jennifer Whyte, Carmen Whyte, Denise Clarke and Jennifer McSloy portrayed the beauty of different countries including Ireland and Japan. The girls were guided by Michell Whillans and Jodi Yurkowski.

Buffy Siler was the third soloist of the night.

Last year, one of the most enjoyable groups, and certainly a top crowd pleaser, was a group of little quackers. This year, with mama duck, Lorna Veltner, Roxanne Yoder, Matthew Gates, Michelle Dodds, Mandy Anderson and Serena Foster donned the quacker costumes and again, wowed the capacity crowd.

Jarred Lee, Michael Irwin, Errol Warkentin, Danny Coleman, Severen Regehr, David Saito and Jeffrey Van Englen, dressed like little sailors for their rendition of Ships Ahoy. Help was given by Angela Zilkie and Lori Brown who commenced the eighth number by taking a tour around the arena pulling a little toy boat.

As in the past decade the Skating Club has endeavoured to provide the skating expertise of a guest skater, usually from the Glenora Club in Edmonton. This year, Karyn Scherban, delighted the Tofield crowd.

Rounding out the first half of Decade on Ice were [illegible] downers Cathy Brown, Lori Brown, Sharma Adair, Barb Borton, Kathi Coombes, Candace Duchscher, Chris Legault, Sharon Porisky, Teresa Prast, Buffy Siler, Roxy Knudslien, Lorna Veltner, Diane Miskew, Stacey Wall, Sheri Weatherill, Michell Whillans, Tracy Widemann, Deanna Yoder, Jodi Yurkowski and Angela Zilkie.

Following a brief intermission came, what is undoubtedly one of the most interesting parts of Decade on Ice, the crowning of the Carnival Queen. Prior to the crowning thank you's were extended to Marj Moller and Jeanette McLean for their professional contributions to the club. A special thank you was extended to Yvonne McAllister who celebrates ten years with the club, in many capacities, from president to costume maker.

Randy Benson introduced the candidates for this year's crown. Representing the Katchemut Family Horse Club was Tracy McShane, the Tofield Lions were represented by Kathi Coombes and Liana Nebrinsk represented Tofield Minor Hockey.

This year's Queen, on behalf of the Beaverhill Light Horse Association is Cathy Brown, eldest daughter of Doris and Howard Brown. Cathy was duly crowned and the reigns of power handed over by last year's queen, Barb Borton.

Because the concert was held on Saturday and Sunday this year, Michell Whillans, Teresa Prast and Cathy Brown skated the first night while Angela Zilkie, Teresa Prast and Barb Borton skated the afternoon matinee.

Alice in Wonderland followed quickly with Stacey Larin, Kim Loutitt, Tina Jensen, Paula Foshaug, Robin Sundal and Robin Knudslien. Buffy Siler led the little ladies in their program. Cathy Brown, this year's Carnival Queen was the second half's first solo artist.

Marching Brigadiers led the way with Ian Hrybirchuk, Dwayne McSloy, Keith Reichenbach, Michael Kaufmann, Shawn Norman, Bradley Hummel, Richard Armstrong, Robert Wichert and Chris Armstrong.

Angela Zilkie and Michell Whillans performed solos. Angela on Saturday and Michell on Sunday.

Deanna Yoder, Candace Duchscher, Sheri Weatherill, Dianne Miskew, Sharma Adair, Stacey Wall and Tracey Widemann came on the ice as the Good Fairies of Disneyland.

Definitely the most exciting number on ice was that of Greased Lightning which featured the talents of the senior skaters. Barb Borton, Roxy Knudslien, Chris Legault, Angela Zilkie, Cathy Brown, Michell Whillans, Lori Brown and Buffy Siler. All done up atypical of characters right out of the movie Grease.

The finale for a Decade on Ice took in the lighting of the birthday cake and the grand parade around the arena by all the club's members.

A nice touch for the entire evening was the introduction of the previous Carnival Queens. Many were on hand and came down to ice level for introductions.

Previous queens include Miss 1974 Debbie Kruzewitt, Miss 1975 Dixie Rose, Miss 1976 Kelly Haigh, Miss 1977 Vanda Jones, Miss 1978 Kelly Morris, Miss 1979 Heather Williams, Miss 1980 Christy Watt, Miss 1981 Lorna Veltner and Miss 1982 Barb Borton.

'50's smash

Look at those poodle skirts . . . Doesn't that just bring back memories of golden oldies, guys and dolls, blue jeans and Marlon Brando? Decade on Ice had something for everyone and both performances were packed.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Although the patient was over 70, she had recovered from her bout of pneumonia very well and was ready for discharge from hospital. The head nurse asked if she had a friend that she could call to pick her up and take her home, or would she prefer a taxi?

"Neither", said the patient. "I will call my mother; she can come and get me."

Sure enough, not long afterward a spry, alert 90-year-old arrived to pick up her daughter and drive her home. The nurses are still talking about that one!

Mrs. Johnson was in the office the other day, all aglow. She had just made another trip to Reno, and this time she came out ahead. She had gone on the non-stop bus ("It was cheaper"), had seen several shows and, in her words, "had wowed them at the crap table."

"And you know, doctor, during the whole week I needed to take only a couple of extra nitroglycerin tablets."

Mrs. Johnson is 92.

With the increasing age in our population, more attention is being given to the aging process. Why do some people burn out at 60 and others remain healthy and alert at 85?

Doctors are beginning to realize that, along with studying the diseases and handicaps that are associated with increasing age, investigations of the healthy senior citizen should be done to try and determine why they have remained so well.

There are probably certain factors, physical or mental, or both, as yet not understood, that have resulted in a long and enjoyable life for certain individuals. Somehow I do not think the secret is to be found in a physician's prescription or a pharmacist's tonic.

Some drinkers and smokers live to a ripe old age. Some joggers die young. There are reasons that some defy the statistics, and it is time we tried to find out why.

If I do discover the secret, I will let you know - just as soon as I get it patented!

EFFECT OF HIGH NITROGEN FERTILIZATION OF GRASS FOR SILAGE

A good article was recently published in the field crops issue of Canadex. It goes like this. . .

In the early sixties, there was interest in what effect high levels of nitrogen fertilization of grass would have on the quality of silage produced. Today, it is becoming a concern.

Part of the reason for the renewed interest in heavy applications of nitrogen comes from its uses in growing annual ryegrass. Ryegrass grows very rapidly and must receive ample nitrogen fertilization to give high yields; up to 500 kg/ha per year of ammonium nitrate is used over several applications. This may be good for ryegrass but for timothy or other grasses it can create serious problems.

Most grasses cannot use nitrogen as efficiently as ryegrass. As a result, when heavy applications are applied, the crop absorbs the nitrogen faster than it can convert it to protein. The result is a buildup of non-protein nitrogen.

Part of the non-protein nitrogen is present as nitrates. If their level exceeds 1.5% of the dry matter, the crop is toxic to animals and can cause death.

Even if the nitrate content is below the toxic level, the total non-protein nitrogen may be enough to cause problems.

The problem is made worse by poor fermentation in the silo. The non-protein nitrogen breaks down to ammonia in the silage. This acts as an alkali and neutralizes some of the acids produced which are necessary to lower the pH and preserve the silage. With the acids neutralized, fermentation continues longer, more dry matter is lost and the pH may not be lowered enough to produce a stable silage.

A slow drop in the pH of newly made silage encourages an undesirable clostridial type of fermentation, especially if the silage is low in dry matter. Such a silage usually has a strong smell.

Another problem from high non-protein nitrogen in silage is the reduced intake of dry matter per day by animals fed such silage. We found that the addition of some ground barley and a preservative when the grass was going into the silage improved the fermentation and helped to prevent the depression in feed intake when the silage was fed.

Chemical preservative such as formic acid or mixtures of formic acid and formaldehyde are useful when heavily nitrogen-fertilized grass is ensiled. The formic acid gives a quick drop in pH, decreasing the fermentation and ammonia production. Formaldehyde helps prevent the breakdown of protein to non-protein nitrogen.

It is impossible to say how much nitrogen fertilizer can be safely used on grasses. This varies with fertility level of the soil, whether or not manure is used, how much legume is present in the sward, and so on. The best advice is to follow the recommendations of the provincial agricultural officer

More than the usual recommendations of nitrogen fertilizer will give an increase in yield. However, each additional kilogram of nitrogen gives a smaller response and the cost of the fertilizer may exceed the returns

Do not be misled by analyses of grass silages that show crude protein contents of 15 to 20% of the dry matter. Much of this crude protein is in the form of non-protein nitrogen and will not be used efficiently by the cattle.

In the laboratory, the chemist analyses crude protein by measuring the nitrogen present, and multiplying by 6.25 This is because all protein contains nitrogen and, on the average, 16% of the weight of protein is nitrogen. Sixteen divided into 100 gives 6.25.

The method used for feed analyses lumps all nitrogen together Although the analyses shows 15 to 20% crude protein, the true protein level is likely only 10 to 12% of the dry matter and this figure should be used in balancing rations.

One additional word of caution: do not use urea-containing concentrates when feeding silage from high-nitrogen fertilized grass.

"FOOD FOR THOUGHT"

Don't forget our celebration of Agriculture Week. "Food For Thought" will be held on Tuesday, March 8th, in the Ryley Rink and Community Hall. The chefs will serve pancakes for breakfast and lunch.

Puffs lose

Stormy weather and poor driving conditions could not prevent the Tofield Powder Puffs from travelling to Rosalind for their weekend encounter with the Rosalind Ladies.

Unfortunately the ladies tenacity and forbearance did not pay off as they went down in defeat 10-1.

The ladies nevertheless had an enjoyable game and will possibly set their sights on a rematch. The Powder Puffs have no games scheduled for this week but, are ready for their March 13th rematch with Bruderheim.

Game time is set for 1 p.m. at the Tofield Arena and until that time, the Powder Puffs will be honing up their skills in order to guarantee a win.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arnston

The Hay Lakes Senior Citizens held their annual meeting on Feb. 23. Returned by acclamation as President was Alex Marusak. Richard Pearson was elected as vice-president. Doris Holdsworth was returned as treasurer and Evelyn Pearson was elected as secretary. Mary Groeller, Frieda Herzog and Elsie Zacht will serve as social conveners.

The World Day of Prayer service will be held at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Hay Lakes on March 4 at 8 p.m. Participating in the service will be members of the six churches in the community, Holy Cross Ukrainian Catholic Church, St. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church, Scandia, St. Joseph's, Our Savior and Wilhelmina Lutheran churches.

Members of the Scouts and Guides paraded at Our Savior Church on Sunday morning. Following the service Cubmaster Bob Kupka presented a framed certificate to Our Savior Church in appreciation for being the sponsoring body of the local Scouts. Out-door activities planned in observation of Baden-Powell day were cancelled due to the heavy snowfall.

A joint Cub Camp of Fourth Camrose and Hay Lakes will be held at Miquelon Park Lions' Camp grounds March 4-6.

The Wildrose District Council meeting will be held on March 14 at the Scout Hall in Camrose.

Arthur Beiaz dislocated a should while skiing recently.

The Series on the Child is presently being held at the Hay Lakes Youth Centre each Tuesday evening. Registrations are still being accepted at $5 a night.

The Hay Lakes boys high school rink participated in the Zone playdowns held at Bawlf on Feb. 18-19 after taking the "B" Event in County and Regional playdowns. However they lost out in the zones. The rink was skipped by Ken Harke with rink members being Terry Soch, Curtis Fuernkranz and Grant Tober.

Gail and Ken Likens of Calgary and Sharon and Gary Crane (and Kirsten Crane) of St. Albert were guests at the William Rost home while here to participate in the mixed bonspiel.

Ordinary People

Brian Rechon

Twelve-year-old Brian Rechon is not just the boy next door. A grade seven student at the Tofield School, Brian has been the neighbourhood paperboy for the past three years and just recently was recognized for his outstanding service to his customers.

The Edmonton Journal presented the son of Gloria and David Tripp a certificate which reads in part; that Brian '. . . has displayed the qualities of excellent service and collection habits, a devotion to duty and good citizenship . . .' that qualify him for special recognition by the Journal. In addition to the framed certificate, Brian also received a small plaque, a Journal cap and a cheque for $50.

And what does Brian do with this extra, hard earned money? He purchased his own ten speed bike, a golf cart and annually buys Christmas presents, school supplies and items he feels he would enjoy. The rest of his money is simply tucked away in the bank.

In his spare time Brian is an avid collector of many things including a 24-piece hub cap collection, a humungous coin collection and a 72-piece badge collection. He motors about in the summer on his motor bike and during the winter is a ski-doo freak.

Brian's grandparents, Marion and Florence Chubaty of Tofield have taken a great interest in their grandson's ambitions and provide him with plenty of encouragement. Brian Rechon, the boy next door.

Club holds first meet

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Gymnastics Club held their first fun meet last Saturday at the Tofield School and were extremely pleased with the calibre of talent evident from the attending gymnasts.

Taking part in the meet were clubs from Fort Saskatchewan, Sherwood Park and Tofield. In all, at least 65 young gymnasts were involved in the fun meet.

The gymnasium at the Tofield School allowed a good number of spectators to be on hand for the day-long affair. Those participating could also partake of a lunch prepared by the mothers of Tofield gymnasts. Local business helped out with contributions of various nature.

Judges were given an outline by which they could judge each event. Competition was held on mats, the vault and uneven bars. Gymnasts were judged on difficulty, originality, composition and technical execution.

Judges for the day included Yvonne Brown, Candace Vollema, Jackie Jensen, Gwen Thompson, Sharron Mattinson, Maureen Jeffry, Cheryl Jeffry, Ingrid Middlatch, Linda Barthing, Denise Otto and Karen Jabbs.

The gymnasts aged anywhere from six to sixteen and were proficient in varying degrees. Youngsters who participated but did not place within medal standings were given ribbons and all those competing left with 'goodie' bags.

Medals were given to first, second and third place winners, although points were given to the first five placers. In all round competition in the open category Tammy Rae placed first, Mel Jensen placed second and Barb Jabbs placed third.

Kathy Bunney, coach of the Tofield gymnasts and organizer of the first fun meet handed out medals and ribbons to the following:

I have always been a great fan of Carol Burnett's. She had one of the best shows television ever brought to the public eye. And from that I offer this little anecode I think most appropriate now;

I'm so glad we had this time together, just to laugh or sing a song seems we just get started and before you know it, comes the time we have to say
. . . so long . . .

And with that I bid you adieu, for now the time has come for me to bid farewell to Tofield. Laugh and giggle will you! ! Ready for a cheezie joke? Actually to be serious for a minute March 11 will be my last day in Tofield and with the approaching of that day comes a wash of memories. Over the past couple of years, we won't discuss the length of tenure, it will only age me . . . I have come to feel like part of an extended family out here. I feel privileged to have been a part of this community, a community that stretches into Ryley and Holden. Being a part of the Merc has allowed me a rare and extraordinary view of country life through a delightfully coloured window. I doubt that I could find suitable words to describe the feelings I have for those people who now make saying goodbye difficult.

But like all adventures and all encounters with new people, you come away changed, hopefully for the better. I certainly feel that my walk through life has been enhanced by my season here. Now of course I can't be held accountable if you turned into a toonie bird. Wanna a cheezie joke now? ? Anyway, I just thought you should hear about my departure from me and not the local vine. Not that there is anything wrong with the vine, I use it often myself.

Now you have to admit the office will never recover from my presence will it? ? Franky I'm not all together certain that I will ever recover from knowing the office? ? ? Without a doubt it has been interesting. But I must remind you that if something really important comes up there is a good chance that I will show up . . . I mean after all I don't want to miss out on too much. Besides this is not really a goodbye . . . it's more like a sabbatical. I'll just go and learn something else new and wonderful like I did here . . . and then I'll be really smart . . . wanna bet. Anyway don't forget to drop by the office and say hello before I say goodbye.

Oh ya, what's green and pink and goes slam slam? Give up? A two door watermelon . . . Could the girl go too soon? I think not.

Around the town

by Lesley Primeau

Happy birthday to you . . . Nellie Geolandchak alias Helen Karenko, that all star resident of Ryley and trustworthy employee of the Treasury Branch. And what did Nellie get for a birthday present? Well you may find this hard to believe, but she got the gift of sight!! And for that she will no doubt be eternally grateful. Helen received a cornea transplant for her birthday, a gift among gifts. Three years in the coming, it was worth waiting for and it couldn't have gone to a nicer person. Now perhaps, Nellie will read signs that say, bake sale at 2:00 and realize that 2 does not mean 1:45. She always gets those goodies . . . Happy Birthday you cookie fiend. . .

Welcome home Marion and Florence Chubaty. This lucky couple spent two weeks in Hawaii, courtesy of Bawden Drilling. Seems Marion has been with the company 35 years and they felt he deserved some sun, sand and surf.

Our very own Hilda and Arney and Aunt Sue and Ike ventured south of the border for the last couple of weeks. The sun of Arizona is something else. Everyone came back a little browner and very rested. Nothing like a change of scenery to pick up your spirits . . . unfortunately when they returned to Tofield, so did winter.

Guess who finished spending a week in the tender loving care of a group of nurses at the Tofield Hospital?? Peter . . . meaner than . . . Brown. Must have been the great food right?? Ever wonder why those beds have bars on the side?? Ask Peter. Wonder why he got his very own room?? Ask Peter. I suppose some guys will do anything for some T.L.C. and some R and R away from home. What that guy won't do to get out of chores.

Beaverhill stats released

Final statistics for the regular schedule in the Beaverhill Hockey League have been released by the statistician, Lloyd Maslak.

The goal-tending duo for the Tofield Satellites, A. Nachtigal and Kissel, lead the league with a 3.40 goals against average, topping Mundare's trio by one-half goal per game.

Nachtigal posted a 3.54 average in eleven contests while Kissel had a 3.22 mark in nine games.

Swabb of Mundare won the individual scoring race with 60 points, two ahead of Ryley's Costley.

The next three positions were held by Tofield players including E. Nachtigal, D. Nachtigal and Chamberlain.

G. Dermott of Holden was the league's badman when he was assessed a total of 90 minutes in penalties, nine more than Brennan of Ryley.

Viking was assessed the fewest penalty minutes (228) and was followed by Holden (373), Mundare (373), Lamont (423), Ryley (436) and Tofield (483).

Raffle end nears

by Lesley Primeau

The Tofield Legion's 1983 Truck Raffle will be winding down and tickets will be sold up to and including March 11 and none afterwards.

In keeping with requirements specified by government regulations, all ticket books must be called in by midnight of March 11.

Ticket books will then be checked and placed in the Bank of Montreal vault for safe-keeping until draw night. To date, ticket sales on the 1983 Ford Truck, parked in Swift's lot, have been brisk and the Legion ticket committee anticipates a good return.

Draw night will coincide with the annual St. Patricks Day supper and dance. Music for the evening will be provided by the Celtics Band, a musically group of Irishmen and the Ladies Auxiliary will provide the meal.

At 9:00 p.m. Dr. W. Freebury, Mayor of Tofield, will make the winning draw and the proud recipient of that ticket will own a new truck.

The Legion has had two prior raffles and each was a success. Proceeds from this year will be used, in part, to help the Golden Club in their pursuit of a drop-in centre.

Fully 80 percent of the wine consumed in the United States is domestic. Americans drink more than two gallons a year. While far less than the 30 gallons the average Frenchman or Italian puts away annually, wine consumption is rising steadily.

District news from Ryley

by Lorne Ball

Recent visitors at the Leonard and Violet Heigeland home to help their son, Charles and daughter, Darlene celebrate their birthday were, Elvers Reil of Tofield and her friend, Martha McClellan, Ida and Stan Hinds, Dilla and Ekra and Lena Reil. The time was spent by playing crib, scrabble and watching hockey.

Kerry Benaraki and daughter, Janine and Amanda of Sherwood Park spent the day with grandparents in Ryley on Thursday while Phillip attended the C.N.R. meeting in the Community Hall. Kerry and girls also visited with Brenda Stefura.

Gwen Campbell received the sad news last week that her brother-in-law, Sandy Carter, age 61 years, passed away in B.C. after being in ill health for some time.

Helen Helgeland of Rocky Mountain House also received the sad news that her father, Mr. Schmidt of Bonnyville, passed away. Helen and Douglas Helgeland drove up for the funeral last week and left their twin daughters with Brenda Helgeland in Ryley. They returned home on Sunday.

Henry and Irene Hafen and grandson of Viking visited with Irene's folks, the Elmer Andersons last week and also took in the Ryley Curling bonspiel where their son, Vernon and wife competed.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

The Holden Historical Society held their second bingo in a series on February 26th in the Holden Community Hall. The winners were: Victoria Panak, Pearl Allan, Stella Pasemiuk, Mary Gardecki, Katie Mizyk, Anne Scherger, Helen Hrabec, Darren Tkaczyk, Emily Ogonoski, Betty Saunders, Pearl Allan, Mrs. Mary Kwasiuk, Nancy Semotiuk, Mary Gardecki, Norman Morgan, Louise Hallmundt, Emily Ogonoski, Sophie Jober, Mary Gardecki, Delores Gossman, Sophie Shyba, Emily Ogonoski, Mrs. Katie Howrish, Anne Scherger, Deirdre Howrish and Vicky Fiesel.

Black out was won by Emily Ogonoski, Marven Globellinas and Katie Mizyk.

The door prize was won by Bruce Budd.

The next bingo will be held on March 26th.

John Lashuski, who had been a patient for almost three months in an Edmonton hospital, after having open heart surgery, returned home last week and is feeling much improved.

Several members of Holden U.C.W. visited at the Senior Citizens Lodge on Wednesday afternoon of last week, entertaining the residents and taking along goodies for lunch.

Mae and Bessie Redd were last Thursday visitors with Marjorie and Ken Campbell, in Leduc.

Mrs. Frances Hanson has been a patient in Daysland Hospital since last Friday afternoon.

Holden United Church was filled to capacity Saturday when friends and relatives from far and near gathered to pay their last respects to Henry Ray Nichols who passed away on Thursday in Tofield Hospital at the age of 83 years, after a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife, Katherine; one son, Herman of Ponoka; two step-sons, Norman Gerrie of Onoyaon, B.C. and Ralph Gerrie of Vegreville; six grandchildren; one step grandchildren; and two brothers. He was predeceased by his first wife, Ruby in 1984. The funeral service was held with Rev. Dan Newall officiating and interment was in the South Hill Cemetery in Prince Albert. Pallbearers were: Albin Lukawiecki, Ed Knudson, John Girczy, Laurence Heveland, Peter Ogonoski and Wyman Lockhart.

A guest speaker at a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting held in Vegreville was Jim Stanton, a member of a former Holden family, Mrs. Margaret Stanton of Edmonton and the late Annie Stanton. Jim Stanton of Edmonton is the manager of promotion and publicity for Universiade '83.

The Stantons resided for several years in Holden after the 2nd World War when the late Annie Stanton and Norman Saboe, now of Grande Prairie, operated a garage, service station and car dealership in the building occupied by Beaver motors. Jim took his schooling in Holden School and high school in Vegreville when the family moved there.

Arthur Olson of Camrose was in Holden on Saturday visiting his brother and also attended the funeral of Roy Nichols.

The World Day of Prayer will be held on Friday in the Greek Ukrainian Catholic Church at 3 p.m. The ladies of the church will serve lunch at the conclusion of the service.

Saturday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their family from St. Albert, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor, Ronald and Cathryne, with all going over to Viking and being guests with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor.

Race goes to end

The final standings in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League are not likely to be determined until the final games in the regular schedule have been played.

Bawlf has two games remaining and needs only a tie to clinch first place and the pennant.

Kingman and New Norway are out of the playoffs with the latter squad having folded last week.

The race for second place could go right down to the wire.

Bashaw currently holds the runner-up position, one point ahead of the Tofield Terns who in turn, are just two points ahead of Round Hill.

However, Bashaw has four games remaining while Tofield has three and Round Hill has only two.

The two more important games are clashed between Tofield and Bashaw with one game in Tofield last night (Wednesday) and a second meeting in Camrose on Sunday.

Terns' other contest is equally important as it is against Round Hill and will be played in Tofield on Friday night.

Individual races will also go right down to the end of the schedule, at least as far as scoring is considered with two players from Round Hill fighting it out for the crown.

Unless someone goes wild in the final games, Gary Berten of the Terns should end up as the league badman and Tofield, as a team, should be the most penalized squad.

Unless he has a complete letdown, Stang of Bawlf should end up with goaltenders' honours.

Semi-final action will get underway one week from Friday. Between now and then, league officials must determine if there will be a format change.

In former years, semi-finals were best of three affairs while the finals were best of five.

Earlier in the year, it was proposed that the semi-finals might be increased to become best of five and the finals be changed to a best of seven.

Terns were to have hosted New Norway on Friday night but, New Norway couldn't ice a team and the game was forfeited to Tofield.

In an exhibition contest, Terns and the Edmonton Eskimos (football) played to an 8-8 draw.

Lashack, Garner and Haycock each had a pair for Tofield whose singles came from Gilbert and Friesen.

HOUSEWARMING PARTY

Sunday afternoon neighbours assembled for a house warming party for Scott and Donna Carl and four children on the Gerald Owen farm. Mrs. Bob Dick of Dodds presented a miniature house made by Mrs. Diane Martin and in the chimney was a purse of money for Scott and Donna. They both expressed their thanks. A pot luck lunch was served to about 30.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

The Palmer Red Cross campaign goes in March. The volunteer canvassers are Leslie and Joyce Mendahl, Bawlf north, Rueben Hoveland, Holden South, Joe and Emma Knudson, Ryley South. Your donations supports free blood transfusions, tracing and reunion, water safety, veteran services, Red Cross Youth, emergency services, sickroom equipment, loan services, crutches, wheelchairs, etc.

TWIN BIRTHDAYS

Mrs. Elizabeth Keith and her twin sister, Mrs. Mary Gebbehaus celebrated their 85th birthday Feb. 12 at Holden Masonic Hall when hundreds of well wishers gathered for open house.

Weekending at Rueben Hoveland's were Raymond Hoveland of Gleichen and Glenn and Helen Hoveland of Dalhousie, the latter, were also callers in Camrose with Martha Haigrun, her mother.

Gerdy and Cheryl Pope have returned home after a three-week holiday in Mexico.

Jorgen Devick has gone to Whitehorse, N.W.T. where he will attend the dog races and visit his daughter Sharon, the Jerry Dehnens.

Mrs. Esther Pedersen and her two grandchildren Darlene and Darren Rose, Edmonton, were Saturday visitors at Willie Lien's.

Visitors at Ruth Chappell's from Sherwood Park were George and Donna Chappell and Monty and Sherrie.

Peter Rasen, Camrose, was a county caller Tuesday with his sons here.

Thursday visitors at Leroy Forre's were Ken and Marilyn Olson and Jamie.

Mrs. Nora Chrystian spent a few days in Edmonton with her son and daughter.

Weekending in Calgary were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Forre and Darryl, and Mrs. Clara Forre with the Ernest Forre's and Ray and Shirley Johnson.

Joe and Emma Knudson were Saturday evening callers at Rueben Hovelands and Leslie Mendahls.

Joe and Helen Chrystian were Edmonton shoppers.

Leroy and Esther Forre and Mrs. Clara Ferre were Thursday, Edmonton callers.

Computer twins aid athletes

Athletes at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver will soon have computer "twins" capable of predicting their levels of performance.

The "twins" are programs containing all information about the athlete's physical capabilities, programmed by Professor Arthur Chapman, a biomechanist in the university's department of kinesiology (physical education).

If an athlete wants to know if he should develop a certain set of muscles to better his performance, Prof. Chapman simply changes the data on the electronic twin and the computer projects the result. Or, if a sprinter wants to see if running with his knees higher will improve his time, Dr. Chapman once again reprograms the data to find the result.

"With this computer modelling system, we will be able to give athletes very specific advice," says Professor Chapman, who was a consultant to champion figure skater Karen Magnussen.

"We will be happy to help anybody who wishes to increase his performance, who has a real interest in working hard to become a good athlete," he says.

Prof. Chapman's research was aided by a three-year grant from the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council.

Bad vibrations injure hands

by James Outlaw

Cold white fingers, tingling in the hands and serious circulatory disorders eventually affect most people who work constantly with hand-held, vibrating power tools. Dr. Tony Brammer of the National Research Council is finding out how this disease, called vibration-induced white finger (VWF), can be prevented.

The immediate cause of the disease, says Dr. Brammer, is an interruption in blood flow to the fingers. Constant vibration overstimulates specialized receptors, called "Pacinian corpuscles". They cause the small blood vessels of the fingers to constrict suddenly and cut off circulation to the fingers.

The fingers turn white and feel numb, but will quickly return to normal if the vibration is stopped. However, repeated exposure to vibration increases the hand's sensitivity and repeated occurances of VWF can damage nerves, bones and joints irreversibly. In rare cases, gangrene may set in.

Dr. William Taylor of the University of Dundee has identified several stages in the development of this disease. First, there is a latency period of several years before any symptoms are felt. Then, in the intermediate stages, white fingers rarely appear. Finally, in the last stage of the disease, the fingers can become numb and white at any time. Permanent damage may occur in the last stage.

Since no cure seems possible, Dr. Brammer has concentrated on finding out the duration and intensity of vibration necessary to cause the disease, and how to insulate the hand from dangerous vibration.

Dr. Brammer's findings have been used to predict safe levels of exposure to vibration, which have been adopted by the International Organization for Standardization. In Canada the Canadian Standards Association has set higher allowable limits than those calculated by the scientist. According to Dr. Brammer, the association believes the recommended values of formatory work, where most exposure takes place, allows a recuperative period.

In the last few years chainsaw manufacturers have equipped their products with anti-vibration devices. If these devices are maintained, Dr. Brammer calculates, they may extend the latency period of the disease from about four years to as long as ten in most cases.

Dr. Brammer believes that the only way to prevent white finger disease is to protect the worker from vibration as much as possible. This means that anti-vibration devices must be kept in good repair, padded gloves should be worn and the power-tool should be held properly. Above all, workers should not exceed exposure guidelines.

OWI's Solar, Wind speaker series begins March 14

The Camrose One World Institute's Solar and Wind Speaker series begins March 14 and an impressive list of speakers has been scheduled to attract those interested in energy conservation in Canada and the Third World.

Co-ordinated by the OWI's Dale Breitkreutz, the series will follow a similar format established during last year's series. This spring's series will try to create an awareness of energy and conservation not only in Canada but also in the Third World. The series will study research and education within the energy field.

Last year's series focused on alternate forms of energy while this year's will be more general in scope. Breitkreutz said this year's series will be along the same lines.

"Some of the series will target specific groups, such as rural, college or church communities," said Breitkreutz. Citing an example, he said an appropriate technology lecture will be aimed at the church and college community.

Appropriate technology is the term used to describe the right choice of technology for a specific country, for example, supplying a tractor to a Third World nation having taken topography and climate into consideration.

Other lectures will have more of a local emphasis and such things as the use of wind power and the accessibility of solar energy will be considered.

The series, which will be free of charge and held at the District Home Economist office, 6808 C st St. beginning at 7:30 p.m., will commence March 14 with a talk on the building of energy-efficient housing.

This talk will be given by Douglas Dale, a University of Alberta mechanical engineer, and will deal with ways in which houses may be constructed in Canada with conservation in mind.

The second speaker on March 21 will study Solar Energy Possibilities For the Future. Given by Dan Wheaton of Alberta Agriculture, the talk will explore the possibilities of solar energy.

The third lecture by Bernie Luft will study wind power. Last year this lecture proved popular and attracted more than 60 people Luft, from the Solar and Wind Energy Research Program, will discuss the status of wind power research and wind energy application. This lecture is March 28

There will not be a lecture April 4 Easter Monday and the series will continue April 11 with an appropriate technology talk Given by Peter Apedaile of the University of Alberta, the lecture will study appropriate technologies for developing countries.

On April 18 the final lecture in the series will be held and it will feature Ed Thornton from Alberta Agriculture discussing Alternatives on the Farm.

Further information about the series may be obtained by calling Dale Breitkreutz at the OWI, 672-5780.

Family farm seminar is slated for Camrose

Family farms will be featured during a four-week seminar which opens in Camrose this week.

The seminar will be held one night each week for four successive weeks and is being co-sponsored by Alberta Agriculture and the Camrose Agricultural Society.

Each session will be held in the Norsemen Inn.

The opening workshop is a dinner seminar which will be held on Friday evening, and will commence at 6:30 p.m.

The guest speaker for this occasion will be a leading farm economist, Garry Bradshaw

The other three sessions will begin at ten o'clock in the morning and will be held on March 16, 23 and 29.

Mr. Bradshaw will return for the March 16th session and will be joined by Marlene Juvenvil, family communications specialist.

Agricultural law solicitor Colin Simmons will speak on March 23 while labour management specialist Bob Simmermon will address the March 29th workshop.

The theme of the four-week seminar is entitled "You can farm together without family trouble".

LOW USC OVERHEAD BRINGS CONTRIBUTIONS

"If you were to ask why I assist the USC," a contributor from St. John's recently wrote, "it would have to be for your very high standards in getting the most out of every dollar for your projects overseas." Low overhead and administration costs mean that almost 90 cents of every dollar entrusted to the USC goes to support the agency's over 200 programs in developing countries. USC headquarters are at 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, K1P 5B1.

AFGA suggests plant site

. . . near the capitol

by Lesley Primeau

In a press release received by The Mercury late Tuesday afternoon, the Alberta Fish and Game Association has announced that they 'strongly recommend that the Provincial Government site the proposed hazardous waste treatment plant within a 100 km radius of Edmonton'. This statement came out of the Association's annual meeting held in Grande Prairie recently.

The release goes on to say that the Association, representing more than 23,000 Alberta conservationists in 120 clubs across the province, supports the department of Environment in its approach to environmental safety in siting the multi-million dollar facility.

This action by the Association could possibly affect the position of opposing parties who have gone on record as saying the proposed plant would be a definite detriment to wildlife and nesting fowl in the Beaverhill Lake. In a brief presented to Fred Bradley, Minister of Environment by the Bruce Viking Agricultural Association, concerns were raised, again, as to the proximity of nesting grounds of water fowl to the proposed Kinsella site. The BVAPA has maintained that the County of Beaver is not the logical candidate for such a facility.

According to Ron Gladish, President of the Fish and Game Association, the Association has been monitoring the siting situation throughout the province and we are convinced that interest groups who oppose the project do not base their arguments on credible information . . . The Association agrees with the ECA's judgement that the system proposed, 'will not constitute a threat to human health or the environment.'.

In the BVAPA's brief to the minister the opening remarks state ' . . . the good people of Alberta could help you find a good site, but there would have to be dialogue of a more open nature between all parties concerned . . . Some members of the County Council find this statement incredulous considering the outcome of Council's attempted public meetings of last year. During many of those meetings, information regarding a possible plant was literally shouted down by those who felt the government was attempting to force the plant on residents in the County of Beaver.

The BVAPA feels Ryley has no right to pursue the housing of such a facility after the county residents voted against having such a facility within the County of Beaver. The plebiscite, which was ruled invalid by the Provincial Court, excluded residents in town and villages. The Village of Ryley felt the plant would be a viable industry and has set about investigating the possibility of housing it. A plebiscite was held with 89% of the residents voting in favour of council pursuing this action. In the county plebiscite the Ryley area voted 3-1 for the plant.

The BVAPA has said that southern Alberta would be a far preferable sight, sighting the fact that the area is presently being looked at in the south have fewer people. A local opposition group in the south feels the plant should be housed within the 100 km area as siting by the ECA.

Interestingly enough in the ECA report, on page 114, the committee suggests, ' . . . if it is clearly in the provincial interest to do so, the province must have the power to site the facility even if local municipal authorities object . . . '. The clause goes on to further justify their statement, claiming that if local concerns cannot be resolved the provincial government must make the final decision.

Many of the concerns outlined in the brief presented to the minister have already been answered on many occasions, however suitable answers have not affected the position of the BVAPA. The province in the Beaverhill has been monitored with their soil testing in southern Alberta, the Ryley area and Sewan Hills. The results of these tests have not been made public.

Ryley's attempt to annex the necessary land from the county was turned down by Council Following the county plebiscite Council adopted the position of remaining neutral on the matter of a waste disposal plant saying they would no longer investigate the possibility

When Council first approached the subject of hazardous waste they requested that before they make any decision all available information should be made available to people of the county Their attempts to provide this through a series of meetings proved almost disastrous. Tires and near riots occurred. Opposition groups held meetings to counter attack the county meetings Council was forced to drop holding a plebiscite that was later ruled non-binding. Hazardous waste became a battle ground issue county wide and pitted residents against each other.

The Department of Environment has refused to be pinned down as to a possible date for site selection. Southern Alberta special areas will vote in a plebiscite next week. The outcome may have a bearing on the future of the hazardous waste treatment facility.

Meanwhile, the Village of Ryley is still interested in housing the plant they feel will be of value to their community. The plant would provide a good tax dollar for the village and may possibly encourage some growth within the area.

As stated by the Alberta Fish and Game Association, "it is time we took responsibility for waste disposal".

Patricia Young Says . . . . .

While the free world continues to work hopefully for the continuance of an uneasy "peace" we must at the same time be realistic in facing historical fact. This ranges from recognition of Lenin's statement: "Promises are like pie crust, made to be broken". (Pages 280-281: Collected Works of Lenin, Vol. 9 Russian 4th Edition.)

Notwithstanding the fact that some 40 countries and territories have come under communist dictatorship since 1919, we must recognize that most were swallowed by way of broken promises and "peace" treaties - more than 100 of them.

History has recorded broken "non-aggression" pacts with the Ukraine, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Georgia, Finland, Armenia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Hungary and others.

On November 16th, 1933, the USSR signed an agreement with the USA not to distribute communist literature nor organize groups in return for official "recognition". Once recognized, communist newspapers and propaganda flooded the country.

On January 1st, 1942, the USSR signed the UN Charter pledging to seek no more territorial expansion. Between 1944 and 1975, they took control of East Germany, Bulgaria, Poland, North Korea, Cuba, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Mongolia by way of supplying arms and "advisors". On June 11th, 1942 they signed the Land Lease Agreement with the USA to return all undestroyed ships and equipment given them in World War II. Eight Hundred Million dollars worth of equipment and 94 ships were never returned.

When they signed the Korean Armistice July 21st, 1954, it was to refrain from introducing arms, aircraft and to permit on-sight inspection by the UN, a treaty that was violated continually and on-sight inspections forbidden. The nuclear bomb testing agreement was broken September 1st to October 30th 1961 as more than 50 nuclear weapons were tested, all more powerful than any tested before. On October 26th, 1962, Krushchev wrote President Kennedy promising to remove troops and nuclear weapons from Cuba. While some missiles were eventually removed, no on-sight inspections were ever permitted.

The sorry story of broken "pie crust" promises continued to be evidenced in the supplying of arms and advisors to North Vietnam. In 1969, the US Senate Judiciary Committee listed and itemized those 100 broken agreements and Treaties. Yet, like a child's faith in Santa Claus and the Good Fairy, the West continues to put its faith in "detente" and the Soviet signature.

Little wonder that many citizens view the whole silly business with raised eyebrows and a yawn. Little wonder that more and more people are reminding us of the Biblical advice to be as gentle as a dove but as wary as a serpent.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Spring may not be quite here, but the first Spring Session of the Library's Preschool Story Hour will begin on Tuesday, March 8, at the new time of 10 to 11 a.m. A recent workshop has provided a multitude of new and exciting ideas for the Story Hour, so be sure to register your three or four year old right away. A small fee is charged for the six-week session.

On the new book shelf this week may be found two new biographies, those of Jerry Lewis and Henry Fonda. Also, by the author of Total Woman, there is the sequel, Total Joy, a book describing principles of renewing the joy in your marriage.

For those who have enjoyed the book Raffles on my Longjohns, there is now Ralph Edwards of Lonesome Lake, the complete biography of the well-known naturalist and conservationist. This account of his pioneer style life in the interior of British Columbia is written with warmth and humour.

A useful book for many do-it-yourself mechanics is the Readers Digest Complete Car Care Manual with its accompanying Tune-up Data supplement. In language that even complete beginners can understand, the design and functioning of various parts of the automobile are described and many maintenance and repair jobs are spelled out in detail, step by step. Clear diagrams, specified tools and time and difficulty estimates contribute to the book's utility. The Tune up data gives engine specifications and so on for both domestic and imported vehicles for the years 1975-1981.

For young children with a new baby in the family, or expected soon, a storybook by Rosslyn Banish called I Want To Tell You About My Baby, with its many appealing photographs may ease the way to acceptance of the new little brother or sister. A book just for looking at, and one that teases the eye, is Topsy-Turvies by Mitsumasa Anno. Visual absurdities and amusing circumstances invite a time of quiet examination and pleasure. Four new storybooks by the popular author Bill Peet may also be found on the children's reading table.

Medically speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

RUQ in medicine refers to the right upper quadrant of the abdomen - the area just below the rib cage on the right hand side. The liver and gallbladder live here, with the duodenum and pancreas as neighbours.

Pain and tenderness in this area is most frequently due to disease of the gallbladder - either an infection, gallstones, or both. The physician will generally try to prove the presence or absence of gallbladder disease early in his investigation. The preferred method of doing this, until recently, was by using X-rays.

A dye, given by mouth or by vein is concentrated in the liver and excreted by the gallbladder, making that organ visible to X-ray. Stones, if present, would usually be discernible, and a non-functioning gallbladder would not cast an image.

There are problems, however. The dye tablets may not dissolve in the stomach. When given by vein, the dye may cause a severe reaction. If jaundice is present the liver may be unable to concentrate the dye. Exposure to X-rays is required, and occasionally nausea, although present, do not show.

The preferred method of diagnosing gallstones is by the use of ultrasound. High frequency sound waves are stopped by gallstones, producing an "acoustic shadow" which is unmistakable. The test is completely safe and uses no radiation.

The functioning of the gallbladder and the bile ducts can be demonstrated beautifully using the imaging techniques of nuclear medicine. The scan obtained is more definitive than an X-ray.

Many hospitals now offer ultrasound, and a few have a nuclear medicine department.

Ultrasound is very useful in obstetrics, and may be overused (due to patient pressure), and this may make the government leary of increasing its availability. Some mothers-to-be want an ultrasound image of their baby to use as the first picture in their baby book!

HOMES HOME IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The Seniors Home Improvement Program replaced the Pioneer Repair Program effective December 1, 1982. This program provides a grant up to $5,000 to homeowners who have an annual income of less than $20,000.

Homeowners who are age 65 or over are eligible for the grant if the home is their place of residency for at least nine months of the year, if they have been residents of Alberta at least one year prior to application, and if they are Canadian citizens or have Landed Immigrant Status with at least ten years residency. Widows and widowers age 55 to 64 may also be eligible.

One grant per household is allowed, but the grant applies to single family dwellings, duplexes, fourplexes, row houses, condominiums and mobile homes.

The grant can be applied to alterations or repairs to the interior or exterior of the house or garage; the purchase, installation, maintenance, repair, cleaning or improvement of heating systems, electric power or gas systems, fire systems; general decorating, repairs or additions; and the purchase, installation or repair of stoves, refrigerators, washers, dryers, air conditioners, deep freezers and dishwashers.

Additional information is available from the Home Improvement Branch, Devonian Building, Box 3453, 11136 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, T5J 3S8, Telephone 427-8760. Toll free calls: Dial operator and ask for Zenith 2300.

EMERGENCY DIRECTORY

Just hot off the press, this guide lists all refrigerators, freezers, ranges, washers, dryers and dishwashers sold in Canada, and rates them according to energy consumption. The purpose of the directory is to enable consumers, once they have decided on the main features of the appliance they want to buy, to determine which model consumes the least energy. With energy prices as significant as they are today we should all be thinking in terms of energy efficient appliances.

If you're wanting an energy consumption rating for a new appliance, please phone me at 663-3885.

Dairyman has new hobby

At told to Mrs. Joe Knudsen by Mrs. George Knudsen.

George Knudsen was born on a farm six miles north of the Village of Ryley in 1928.

His father and mother ran a mixed farm on a half section land. He has one brother, Elvin.

George received his elementary and junior high education at a little country school called Thule. He took his birth school in Ryley but, never quite completed his grade twelve.

A year or so later he decided to be a farmer so he purchased a farm south of Ryley. He ran a dairy farm for almost thirty-years with the help of his wife and family of seven.

He has been a councillor for the County of Beaver for eighteen years and has served as reeve for the last eight years.

Due to ill health, George sold his dairy herd and rents his land out. He still lives on the farm in a recently renovated home.

George always had many interests.

He could do carpenter work, metal work but, just in the last few years, decided leather work was what he really liked most and so converted one of his garages into a shop.

It has taken three years to accumulate six large harness and industrial machines and all the tools to go with it.

He also has a full line of shoe repair equipment.

George sells shoes, cowboy boots, saddles, halters, bridles and related riding gear.

He also takes orders for chaps, gun scabbards, saddlebags and designs and sews them himself.

Almost anything in the leather line he will make to his customers specifications.

Presently taking orders for driving harness, pony cheakwagon harness, work harness plus repair work of all kinds. George is kept very busy.

Last year, George made a cheakwagon harness for Ray Adamson of Camrose and whenever there was a glamour class, Ray's harness was the ensemble.

Evan Sheets of Camrose, an auctioneer and a former cheakwagon driver, who takes an avid interest in leather work, there was in particular, assists George from time to time in his shop.

George is keenly interested in what he is doing and everyone is welcome to come and see his shoe and harness shop.

He is open six days a week for business.

Could this possibly be painful? Will your brains move up to feel level so they can still be on top of things? How long can one remain suspended in this position? For these and more answers contact the Tofield Gym Club.

Shoot planned

There'll be a "shoot out" on Sunday.

The Camrose Skunk Hollow Muzzle Loaders are hosting their eighth annual winter [illegible].

The black powder shoot will be held at the Camrose Rifle and Revolver Club's outdoor range, located south of the city on 56 Street.

Termed as the March Hare Shoot, action will commence at 10:30 a.m. with a wide variety of competitions.

If there is snow on the ground, one competition will be a blanket event with all shooters wearing snowshoes.

If there is no snow, this event will be replaced by another competition.

The different competitions that are scheduled include a pistol duel, ribbon cutting, bullet splitting, grouse picking, a traditional target shoot and a skunk shoot.

Hastings Lake news

by L. Pease

The Community was saddened by the news of the death in a car-accident of 19 year-old Denise Telford, whose family has been very active in helping with the Association, and in particular with the Pleasure Horse Club. The Pleasure Horse members will be meeting on Sunday at 1:00 p.m. at Harvey Wade's for a workshop on Harnessing and Driving.

The next meeting of the Community Association has been moved to the evening of Wednesday, March 16th, and will focus on the future plans of the Playschool Group, so all interested parents should try to attend.

Be an "Early Bird" Apply Now for CANADA-ALBERTA
Crop Insurance

If you held a crop insurance policy in 1982 you can be an "early bird" and confirm your 1983 policy NOW. No waiting – and you beat the seasonal rush.

Canada-Alberta Crop Insurance - it's the best way and just about the only way to protect yourself against the financial loss that results when crops are severely damaged by bad weather or other natural hazards.

Last year Alberta farmers insured more than seven million acres of grain crops, and earned about $550 million of protection. Then - as a result of 1982's drought, hail, frost and other perils, they were paid over $60 million in benefits.

If you had that kind of protection last year, there's no way you want to be without it again. So take advantage of the "early bird" opportunity to sign up now before the April 30 deadline.

APRIL 30 IS THE DEADLINE
- for electing crops, coverage levels and insured values
- for hail endorsement elections
- for unseeded acreage
- for policy alterations
- for new applications

CLBI sets festival

The Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute is uniting two festivals from former years into one major festival this year.

Fellowship Week and Missions Festival are joined together in forming a Fellowship and Missions Festival, to be held from Sunday to Wednesday.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday. Morning sessions will be held beginning at 9:00 a.m. until noon, Monday through Wednesday. Afternoon sessions will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday at 1:45 p.m.

Theme of the Fellowship and Missions Festival this year will be "Spiritual Renewal in the 80's", and will accent evangelism and missions.

The guest faculty for this festival are Dr. Mark Thomsen of Minneapolis, Minnesota and Rev. Karl Keller of Matsqui, B.C.

Holden Chamber is busy

Members and interested persons turned out in full force to hear Ken Hancock, from Alberta Tourism and Small Business, address the March dinner meeting of the Holden and District Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hancock spoke enthusiastically on the Management Assistance Program that the Holden Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring for interested members.

The program, set-up through the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, has successfully assisted over 3000 Alberta small businesses.

The businesses that register, receive consulting expertise from private consulting firms, who meet with the businessmen on their territory, and attempt to assist them in solving any problem areas they may have. A small registration fee of $20.00 will be charged and interested businesses are urged to contact Ron Mulick, Co-ordinator, at 985-3635, immediately.

A free workshop on energy conservation will be held in the Holden Community Hall on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The workshop is designed and presented by the Alberta Energy Conservation Branch, with the main purpose being to reduce rising utility costs.

In other business, Chamber members voted overwhelmingly to support the crow rate.

Agriculture Chairman Howard Sawers will be setting-up an ad hoc committee to gather information on rising costs of farm operation.

The committee will report back to the Chamber with the intention of presenting resolutions on agriculture to the Alberta Chamber of Commerce at their annual meeting in May, 1983.

Representatives to a Chamber leadership workshop, scheduled for Vegreville on March 15th will be Sharon Gill and Bobbie Schweitzer.

Directional signs for the Holden Campground and Recreation Grounds were discussed with the Village Council and Chamber representative, Ken Sharpe, reported that progress was being made.

A date of April 13th was confirmed by chairman, Sharon Gill, for the Community Welcome Pot-Luck Supper. Plans will be finalized in the near future for this new event.

Secretary, Christine Mackay, reported that 17 to 20 service groups had responded to letters requesting their participation in Holden's 75th anniversary homecoming slated for August, 1984. The Chamber representative will be Ken Sharpe, Bill Dery and Christine Mackay.

The annual Christmas dinner-dance has been set for December 3rd and the band will be booked.

Election for the 1983 directors were held with Marlor Samotish, Mel Hess, Paul Therriault and Sharon Gill filling the positions.

Bobbie Schweitzer reported on the Future of Holden School Committee relating the progress of the committee.

President Matt Heltrich reminded the members that the next meeting is a work meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on April 5th in the Community Hall.

Firemen help

Members of the Tofield Fire Department were among many who lent pride in the recent contribution of $735,000 to the Burn Unit. The money was raised by various Edmonton Firemen and marks the sixth year the firefighters have given money to this worthwhile cause.

Each year the Tofield Fire Department also makes a contribution to the Burn Unit and as fire fighters they can appreciate the severity of burns. Of the $735,000 collected, $500,000 will be set aside with annual interest to be matched by the Province of Alberta to establish an endowed professorship dedicated to the treatment, teaching and research related to burn injuries. The professorship will be known as the Firefighters Chair in Burns.

The Firefighters Burn Treatment Society estimates that firefighters in and around the City of Edmonton donated in excess of $50,000 man hours of volunteer time to make this donation possible.

In a somewhat related matter, members of the Tofield Fire Department have been asked by Gaetz Edmonton counterparts to take part in this year's Klondike Days Dunk Tank. Every year firemen allow themselves to be dunked, at the fairgrounds, in an effort to raise money for the burn unit.

Tofield wants landfill

by Lesley Primeau

The Town of Tofield Council in a letter drafted recently, has asked the County of Beaver Council to reconsider their opposition to a proposed regional L-fill.

At the last regular meeting of County Council, the by-law necessary was defeated by a 4-3 margin.

The passing of this by-law would have allowed the Department of Environment to do a feasibility study on land outside of Ryley. Tests must be made to determine whether the land is suitable for a regional landfill.

A regional landfill provides that the provincial government purchase the land, build the necessary facility and provide all ammenities needed to make the project viable. The municipalities would pay the operating costs on a shared basis. Before Tofield, Ryley and Holden can progress with a feasibility study the County must concur.

The proximity to the proposed hazardous waste treatment facility was brought up as a negative factor for the landfill. County Council felt there were other considerations that

Science Fair held

The Holden School Science Fair was held recently. Forty-eight students from grades 4-12 participated, exhibiting a variety of projects.

The winners were high school - first - Dale Lutz and Russell Giebelhaus.

Junior high group projects - first - Joyce Lutz and Judy Grinde; second - Sheri Couch and Sandra Ludwig; third - Tina Seide and Sandy Wilkinson.

Junior high individual projects - first - Betty Snook; second - Irvin Albrecht; third - Dan Young.

Elementary group projects - first - Roxanne Methosh and Kathy Laube; second - Lana Seide and Shala Schweitzer; third - Kathy Gibson and Lori Kraus.

Elementary individual projects - first - Alana Gesellbauki; second - Wesley Kowalchuk; third - Deidre Lakawiecki.

The winners advanced to the County Science Fair held in Ryley on Feb. 28.

County winners will advance to the Regional Science Fair in Edmonton.

B champs

All the way to Spirit River the Tofield Curling Team went and returned victorious. Coach Jim Allen stands with Brent Eglauer, Lorna Vollmer, Blair Neufeld and Vonita Eglauer who went undefeated in county bonspiel and zone bonspiels and lost only one in provincial playoff action. Tofield went on to win the B event championship and with that the congratulations of their schoolmates.

Tighter trusts

Weeks of reporting has filled Canadians with what they thought were all the grisly details with respect to mismanagement of trust funds in the Crown Trust affair in Ontario, coupled with speculation that affairs weren't all in order in the cases of Greymac Trust, Seaway Trust, and possibly Kilderkin Trust, as well.

Investigators probing into the tangled affairs of the companies suggested that large numbers of Seaway's investments were grossly undersecured, that depositors in the firm were seriously underprotected, and that large amounts of funds seemed to have been used in anything but a trustworthy manner.

Now comes word that the Ontario government has also placed Greymac Trust under receivership, following Crown. Both, it may be noted, had been owned by the same man, who was attempting to merge the two companies prior to the government's sudden intervention.

It should be pointed out, too, this intervention came about not because of any concern over the lack of security, or the probity of investments, but simply because of major concern that the sudden sale and resale four times of a number of apartments, (so that rents could be raised) seemed to lack credibility, and indeed, indicated the possibility of collusion or conspiracy.

Much to her credit, Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Connie Osterman moved immediately to freeze Alberta-based assets of Crown once problems with Crown were announced, with the idea of saving Alberta depositors as far as possible.

Possibly it's too early to tell what impact Crown's troubles will have on its operations here. Possibly it's too early to know how much, if anything, Alberta depositors will lose. Possibly Ontario papers don't even know about the company's operations here, or think that they figure very large into the overall picture. Regardless, we have heard no further word of the outcome in Alberta, or its effects on Alberta depositors . . . or borrowers.

But surely it more than points the need for changes in the laws governing trusts. Surely it should be illegal for any one owner to hold more than ten percent of a trust, as is the case with the chartered banks. There may be a need for grandfather clauses, but surely it is not in the best interests of the country, of its business operations or its people to see multi-million dollar trusts, even into the billions, in the hands of one or two people, such as the Belzbergs in Vancouver, the Allards (no longer involved) in Edmonton, the Rosenbergs in Toronto, or several other names well known to many Canadians.

We're not suggesting by any means these people are involved in illegal or immoral operations. But the opportunity is there, where it should not be.

Crown Trust was an old, established, highly regarded and broadly held firm for many years. But through dint of astute acquisition, it was gradually turned into the instrument of one man . . . to do with, basically, as he wished. Sure, there are government requirements, audits, guarantees, inspections, balances and distributions. But they're not sufficiently frequent or stringent that a skillful manipulator cannot work around them.

Government regulations and caveats and flats in cases like these can never be as effective as the insistence that ownership and control be widely spread, even though it might well be possible for ten trusts each to be owned by the same ten people, a circumstance which doesn't seem all that inconceivable in light of manipulations these days.

Past Time Pastimes

by Sherry Shank

March 5, 1871 - One day after British Columbia joined Canada, Prime Minister Macdonald appointed Stanford Fleming to conduct surveys west of Thunder Bay to determine the best possible railway route. Fleming's main task was to find a suitable pass through the Rocky Mountains. In total, Fleming surveyed six possible routes. The Yellowhead Pass, now used by the CNR, had the easiest grades. However, the southern Kicking Horse Pass was chosen, for two reasons. One consideration was a possible Russian-British war. The major consideration was the desire to have an east-west railline close to the border with the United States. This would prevent the Americans from building raillines northward into Canada.

March 5, 1496 - King Henry VII of England granted John Cabot a charter to conduct a voyage across the Atlantic Ocean and to raise the English flag over, and acquire dominion, title, and jurisdiction over those towns, castles, islands and mainlands so discovered. In the subsequent voyage, Cabot landed near Cape Broken in Nova Scotia.

March 7, 1778 - Captain Navigator James Cook sighted the Oregon coast. Cook, a British explorer, was in charge of an expedition sent to explore the Pacific Ocean. Cook sailed up the British Columbian coast in the ships Discovery and Resolution, and disproved the existence of the Strait of Anian, a mythical waterway connecting the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans.

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

Time and time again we look into the world's problems, (outside of nature's destruction) and wrought about by willful men (as well as more than a few women!) Since man discovery his free will at an early age, he begins to make choices. The child chooses to eat his vegetables or throw them on the floor! The teenager decides whether or not to accept the stick of pot or not! The adult with his free will decides whether he is going to pursue the golden idol of money and success — or be satisfied with home, hearth, loving family and simple sustenance.

The world would indeed be a different place if man had been created without free will, superior intelligence and speech. Under such circumstances, our instincts would be programmed, our desires dulled and our ambition confined to feeding ourselves and finding a dry spot to sleep. Oh, we would procreate — as do the animals — with programmed instincts and a programmed time for such activities.

To be sure, man was created the highest form of life inasmuch that he was given control of himself. That man rends a mean of this creation is not the Creator's fault, but man's. The animal that stalks and springs upon a victim bears no blame because he has no free will to dictate pity, compassion or kindness. Yet anyone who has been served by a faithful dog might argue that the animal kingdom is thereby better off. By the same token, a rosebud that simply sits and grows is better off still, if being tended is the be-all and end-all of existence. But it is the free will of man and all of its hope, struggle and aspirations that affords him the opportunity to grow and develop as a supreme creation. The trouble is, man takes his free will for granted, now knowing the emotional, physical and mental limitations of the animal. Man's will, rather than being a yardstick for what is the better choice, has developed into little more than the selfishness of self interest, self satisfaction and often self destruction. It makes one wonder what might happen if the animal kingdom inherited the earth. Programmed for more survival of the species, it might be a little more peaceful and a lot less greedy! But it wasn't intended that way. It was intended that man be given the opportunity to acquire the glory of the stars!

Mainstream Canada

At the moment it's a consumers' market

By W. Roger Worth

These are heady days for Canadian consumers. While companies large and small are earning reduced profits or losing money, competition among the participants for the consumer dollar is downright cut-throat as they attempt to maintain sales.

Yet Canadians have been slow to react, putting away their hard earned cash as they save for a rainy day. In fact, Canadians are now saving about 12 percent of personal income, up from 6 percent only 10 years ago.

One reason, of course, is the high interest rates that have provided a very real incentive for people to save rather than spend. But rates are coming down. Last year, for example, the interest rate on Canada Savings Bonds was 10-1/2 percent. This year's rate is 12 percent.

A more fundamental reason for the increased savings, though, may be the same fear and uncertainty in business that has created bargain-basement prices in the market place. With more than 1.5 million unemployed and new layoff announcements appearing daily, Canadians have now become conditioned to the fact that they could be jobless in months to come.

Still, it really is a buyers' market, and consumers would be wise to shop around, seeking the most competitive prices. In their search, they shouldn't neglect the smaller shops that may not look like they can compete with the huge department stores, but in fact may have the best prices in town.

Many consumers may not realize it, but they are also picking up food at fire-sale prices. Someone, of course, has to pay. And in this instance it's the farmers and fishermen who are earning very little for their efforts, or in fact losing money on every pound of produce they sell. This can't go on forever, but while it lasts, consumers are winners.

Again, as housing, the consumer is "king" (or "queen"). House prices have dropped dramatically in most areas of the country, and mortgage rates are down six or seven percentage points in the last year or so. In addition, the federal government is offering a $3,000 grant on the purchase of a new house, as well as a first time home buyers. Some provincial governments are also subsidizing mortgage rates on homes.

All of this underscores the point that things are not entirely bad. While the recession has created a huge army of unemployed, it has also sparked the heated competition that produces bargain prices, which is at least something.

Our Heritage

OUR HERITAGE
by Mary E. Sanford

The shadows are now getting long, dear friends
We are nearing the end of the road.
The wonderful things we have known, on the way,
To cheer us and lighten the load.
Our pathway led far, over valley and plain,
The obstacles met, but bolstered our aim,
To press on, to the end of the day.

Some hills were steep, they were hard to climb,
They taxed all our strength and our will.
Oh, how we rejoiced, and enjoyed the expanse,
As we stood on the top of the hill.
Our days have been varied,
We learned thru them all,
To grin, and to bear,
And at last, stand tall.
Just now, we are waiting to reap the reward,
Of failures, and victories too,
We cannot retrace, for life is a race,
That challenges all that we do.

Town of Tofield . . .

had to be taken into account.

John Warner, councillor for division seven, stated that in light of the fact the west end of the county produces most of the garbage and waste, a landfill site should be located in closer proximity to the County of Strathcona. Warner mentioned that the County of Strathcona had prepared a study which sited several locations within the county that would possibly be suitable and thought perhaps it was time for the County of Beaver to enter into serious negotiation with the County of Strathcona for joint use.

The Town of Tofield feels that the shoulder requires urgent consideration in view of the fact that the present landfill will no longer be usable by summer. Tofield is placed in the position of finding an alternative to their landfill by that time.

The County Council is expected to deal with the matter at the next regular meeting slated for March 11.

Use caution when handling animals

by Tracy Hansen
Alberta Farm Safety Branch

"The ox and lamb kept time pa-rum-pa-pum-pum" is a line from a carol that describes docile animals hovering adoringly over the baby Jesus.

However, since farm animals seldom behave as predictably as this, caution should always be used when handling them to avoid injuries.

Calm and deliberate speech should be used to avoid startling or angering an animal. And remember, gentle handling achieves better cooperation than rough handling or abuse, because animals will always remember rough treatment and act accordingly.

Only people with plenty of strength and experience should handle a large animal, and children should be warned to stay away.

Children need to be instructed on how to treat animals. They should be taught not to reach into pens to feed or tease animals, and to never try to approach a mother animal with her young.

Every year people are injured by farm animals in accidents that could have been prevented. By following the above safety tips from the Alberta farm safety branch injuries can be prevented and your family kept safe for the holiday season.

High yielding flax

McGregor flax, available through SeCan Association members, was developed at the Agriculture Canada Research Station, Morden. McGregor is a later maturing variety similar to Dufferin, but with consistently higher yields.

McGregor outyields the older variety by at least 7%. It is well adapted to all areas of the prairies where later flax is grown.

In addition to yield, McGregor has several other outstanding features. It is resistant to rust and moderately resistant to wilt. A straw provides excellent lodging resistance, even under conditions of high moisture and fertility.

For more information, contact a local SeCan member or dealer.

4-H has plans

by Lori Brown

On March 2nd, members of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club met at the Arts and Crafts room of the Tofield Arena.

Members decided to take part in the highway clean-up on May 7th.

A fun gym night at the school is planned for March 26th beginning at 7:30 p.m.

It was decided to invite the members of the Crafts and Laughs 4-H Club in the gym night.

The tour to see the calves was planned for April 23rd. We will meet at Marshall Ekanah's at 10 a.m., have lunch at the Charles Rays farm and end the tour at the Howard Brown farm where a practice judging will be held.

A clipping and grooming demonstration will also be held.

The Tofield Beef Club will hold the County public speaking competition in the United Church basement on March 19th.

Satellites lead

The semi-finals in the Beaverhill Hockey League could be over this week.

Tofield Satellites and Mundare have taken solid leads in their respective semi-final series.

Satellites have put Ryley's backs to the wall with a 5-0 lead in the best of seven series while Mundare leads Lamont two games to none.

Tofield and Ryley will meet tonight (Thursday) in Tofield with Ryley as the home team.

If Tofield wins, the series is over and the Satellites will advance to the league finals.

If Ryley wins, the teams will meet again in Tofield on Saturday night. If it is required, game six will be played in Tofield on Tuesday night.

Satellites won the open 9-4 in a close encounter and then proceeded to post easy 8-3 triumphs in the next two games as they took a stranglehold lead in the series.

Mundare tripped Lamont 9-6 in the opener of that series and on Tuesday night, posted a 7-3 victory

Game three goes tonight (Thursday) in Mundare with the fourth game in Lamont on Saturday. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played in Mundare on Tuesday

Curlers win

A long line of winning bonspiels led the Tofield Senior mixed team to the Provincial High School curling championships held this past weekend in Spirit River

The team, Brent Eglauer, Lorna Voltzer, Blair Neufeld and Vanita Eglauer came home having won the B event, placing fourth in overall standings.

Tofield started their winning ways at the county bonspiel by defeating Ryley and Viking.

They attended the area playoffs held in Coronation and were undefeated against Consort and Sedgewick.

Zone playoffs were held in Sheriff and again, Tofield remained undefeated

Stan Voltzer of Tofield drove the team to Spirit River in a seven-hour drive

Tofield lost their first game against Austin O'Brien of Edmonton and proceeded to win subsequent games in the B event. Their last game was played against Beaverlodge.

On the final day in Spirit River, the team was awarded their crests for placing fourth in the province.

Accompanying the team were Mr. and Mrs. Eglauer, Mr. and Mrs. Neufeld, Mr. and Mrs. Voltzer and the team's winning coach, Jim Allan.

COLUMBUS WHEAT

Demand for Columbus wheat seed is expected to be heavy when the new high-yielding variety goes on sale at Prairie seed outlets this fall.

The SeCan Association, distributors of the new hard, spring variety, had hoped to have adequate seed to meet the demand for 1982 planting, but frost cut into the harvest. There will be enough, however, to plant about 5 per cent of Prairie wheat acreage.

Once farmers have experienced its higher yield, disease and rust resistance and its ability to withstand weathering without sprouting, SeCan is confident that Columbus will quickly replace Neepawa as the major wheat variety grown on the Prairies Extensive tests underway since 1975 have shown that Columbus will consistently out-yield Neepawa by 3 to 5 percent.

"The West Discovers Columbus" is the catchy slogan SeCan has come up with to promote the new variety, although the Association is confident that the grain will sell itself The word is already out on the benefits of Columbus and seed dealers don't expect to have enough seed to meet the demand

Dr K.H. Tipples, director of research for the Canadian Grain Commission, says that the sprouting and weathering resistance of Columbus means that farmers can expect to save a grade - A CWRS-2 perhaps instead of a CWRS-3 - in wet harvesting conditions

The benefits of Columbus will go beyond the farm to the export market where its low alpha-amylase content will make it more attractive than other varieties, particularly in the Japanese and British markets. Alpha-amylase is an enzyme that affects the baking quality Buyers in Britain and Japan have been critical of what they consider unacceptable alpha-amylase activity in wheat. Columbus is the latest in a long line of successful grain varieties developed by Dr. Barrie Campbell and his team of plant breeders at Agriculture Canada's Winnipeg Research Station.

"Farmers will see the benefits of Columbus in yield and the chance of getting a better grade because of its resistance to sprouting," Dr. Campbell explained. "Farmers won't be able to use the higher quality, but it will be reflected in better markets."

Dr Campbell, who has been at the Winnipeg Research Station for 33 years, has been involved in the development and introduction of seven new wheat varieties.

Work on Columbus began back in 1968 with Neepawa and RL-4137 as parents and using the back-cross method RL-4137 is an experimental variety that was never licensed, but had good dormancy Six crosses were made between 1969 and 1971 and then the next nine years were spent refining and testing the new variety. It was licensed in 1980, but it has taken until now to multiply the seed to marketable quantities

In all areas where early maturity is not a prime consideration, Columbus is expected to set new standards for CWRS wheat. It is two to three days later in maturity than Neepawa.

Pamphlets describing the new variety, and listing its qualities for each of the three Prairie provinces, are available from all SeCan members.

SeCan was established in 1976 as an agency to promote and market publicly-developed plant varieties and to ensure that newly-released varieties are increased rapidly and made available to farmers. Its membership includes some 180 seed farms and 1,300 seed growers Agriculture Canada and all provincial Agriculture Departments except Newfoundland are also involved.

The promotional program for 1983 will cover 27 varieties, 14 of which - including Columbus - are being promoted for the first time.

Meeting the challenge

Meeting it head on as a matter of fact. This little goalie obviously feels it is time to get right out there and take control of that puck. At least that way he won't have to worry about who has it. There was some excellent Mitey Mite action in Tofield this past weekend. Lesley Primeau photo

Farmers are responsible ... for living standards

As Canadians, we don't need to be told we are fortunate to enjoy the standard of living we do. But how many Canadians stop to ask why? How come we're so fortunate?

The answer is found in one word: agriculture.

Human beings have some essential needs that must be met every day. The most critical of these is food. If our basic nutritional requirements aren't met, our bodies weaken, we become susceptible to disease and our zest for life is reduced.

In many parts of the world, the daily quest for food is a full-time occupation. Not so here. It takes us as little effort to provide ourselves with food, we have time and money left over to pursue other aspects of life - those aspects of life which give us enjoyment.

The average Canadian spends only 17 per cent of his income on food. In Europe, residents of some countries must spend twice as much of their income on food. In Spain the figure is 36 per cent and in the United Kingdom and Italy, 31 per cent.

In third world countries, food costs are often the single highest expense consumers have. In South Korea, food takes 45 per cent of the average income; in Sri Lanka, 55 per cent and in India, 49 per cent.

Canadians enjoy inexpensive and abundant food because of the high productivity of our agricultural industry. Through the past several decades, agricultural technology has made amazing strides forward. New machinery, new farming techniques, fertilizer and chemicals, improved animal and plant breeding have all contributed to increases in productivity.

As a result of modernization, agricultural productivity per person hour has increased at twice the rate of that in other industries. In 1850, one Canadian farmer produced enough to feed himself and two others. Now, almost a century later, a single farmer feeds himself and 67 others, an increase of over 30 fold.

Our standard of living is the highest in the world that are not exporters of food products. It's significant that those four countries have a sense of the highest standards of living in the world.

In Canada during the 1980s, agriculture generates and affects 69 per cent of the nation's gross national product (GNP), yet only four per cent of the work force is directly employed in farmwork. Agriculture's efficiency extends a long way into the economy.

Growing our food is only the beginning of a chain of events which eventually sees our food into the supermarkets. After a crop is harvested, it must be transported, processed, packaged to a wholesaler and finally delivered to the shelves of a grocery store. Through the process, jobs and dollars are generated - jobs and dollars that total 40 per cent of all economic activity in Canada.

The way a dollar works its way through the economy is referred to as the multiplier effect. One dollar spent in one place gets spent again and again, and in the process several dollars worth of goods and services are added to the economy. Every dollar spent in the construction industry adds $2.69 to the GNP. In the petroleum industry, one dollar adds about $3.90 to the economy. In agriculture, that same one dollar generates $7.80 as it spreads through the economy.

While only a small percentage of Canadians actually farm the land, the effect of those few has far reaching implications for all of us.

Because most of us don't have to farm our own plot of land to produce our food, the Canadian labor force is available to produce a vast array of other products and services. So many of the good things in our life - cars, good homes, holidays, art, music, fine architecture - are available to us because of our rich land resource and the people who cultivate, plant and harvest it.

Pitch-in and Keep Canada Beautiful

Nutrition now ... and save

Eating nutritious foods and saving money is the theme of this years Nutrition Week, March 7-13. There are many ways to improve your eating habits, as well as cutting down on the grocery bill. Below are a few such ideas:

Use reconstituted milk powder instead of fluid milk in cooking to "stretch" fluid milk. Buying plain yogurt and flavoring it yourself with fruit, nuts or frozen juice concentrate not only saves money but cuts back on calories too. Try substituting yogurt or cottage cheese as a base for vegetable dips instead of sour cream, a product too high in fat to be classified in any food group.

Choose plain whole grain or enriched cereals and flavor them yourself with fruit and spices. Ready to eat cereals usually cost 2 to 3 times as much as those you cook yourself.

Generally your best citrus fruit buy is frozen orange or grapefruit concentrate. By choosing vegetables like celery and carrots for snacks rather than fruit you can cut your snack cost in half.

When cooking vegetables, cook just until fork tender to minimize nutrient loss. Steam, bake or microwave vegetables in larger pieces and in a small amount of water to retain vitamins and minerals.

Because meat is our most expensive food item, it makes sense to find ways of cutting costs. One way, is to base only four meals a week on meat. Think in terms of using more alternates such as fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, dried peas and lentils regularly in your menus.

The key to eating nutritionally is eating a variety of foods from the four food groups. In the long run your good health is more than worth any grocery bill. We must eat well to feel well.

Vikings plan school

Young hockey enthusiasts between the ages of seven and 17 will have the opportunity to participate in the Camrose Lutheran College Viking Hockey School, coach Mike Johnston announced last week.

The school is a two-week intensive course beginning on Aug. 14 at the Camrose Recreation Centre.

Johnston said they decided to go with one continuous two-week program because a one-week session just isn't long enough to teach all the necessary skills.

"In order for the students to get the maximum benefit from the program we have developed, it will take two weeks," the head coach said.

Although anyone can register, the school will accommodate only 120 students. The students are divided up into increments of two years, Johnston said.

The coaching roster, which has yet to be finalized, may include Level 5 coach Bill Horn and former Viking and Washington Capital Jim Obrin.

Johnston said activities include two-a-day sessions per day, dryland physical education classes and theory plan who they will try to nurture into university or Jun'er A.

The $210 entry fee should be an added attraction because it is less than what most other schools charge, Johnston said.

Students who are from out of the Camrose area can obtain room and board at the college.

The school will also be held in conjuction with a summer recreational hockey league. Persons who join the league may register as individuals or as a team.

Anyone seeking further information is asked to contact Mike Johnston at 672-1141.

Polish canola outyield candle

Tobin, a new Polish-type canola variety available from Alcan members, outyielded Candle by 7% while maintaining quality and adding staghead resistance in official Co-operative tests.

Developed at the Agriculture Canada Research Station, Saskatoon, Tobin has the essential quality characteristics of low erucic acid oil and low glucosinolate meal to qualify as canola. This quality is required by all domestic crushers and preferred by export buyers as well.

Tobin is the first Polish-type canola resistant to white rust or staghead. Other diseases affect the new variety about the same as Candle. The early maturity of Polish-type canola means Tobin is particularly suited to areas with shorter growing seasons, although it is well adapted to all canola growing areas in Western Canada.

Farmers are happy that a new Wheat Pool elevator is to be constructed soon in Bawlf.

Many are playing The Camrose Canadian bingo.

The Community League is sponsoring a spring dance on April 9th in the hall. Ian Ratcliffe is convenor with help from Grant Wilson and Glen Lawrence.

Leona and Gerry Kluwe are the proud parents of a baby daughter, born on February 26th. She comes to Mom and Anne. Proud grandparents are Bill and Vi Reddick.

Bill and Vi Reddick spent the weekend visiting near Devon giving cousins Carrel and Verne Monson a helping hand on their new home.

Funeral services were held on March 2nd for Mrs. Rachel Barnes who passed away in the Allen Gray Auxiliary Hospital on Feb. 26th. She was the widow of the late Walter Barnes who was a pioneer of the Ministik District.

She is survived by six daughters, Vivian Clarke and Kathleen MacLean of Edmonton, Norah Blacburn of Victoria, B.C., Betty Dunn of Calgary, Muriel Miller of Whitecourt and Sheila Campbell of Glasgow, Scotland; nineteen grandchildren; and fifteen great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Highlands United Church in Edmonton and interment was in Westlawn Memorial Cemetery.

Those who knew her were saddened to hear of the passing of Maggie Hamilton on February 20 in Fort Macleod.

Margaret Catherine Murdoch was born on March 8, 1912 to Catherine and Steele Murdoch, pioneers of the area. She was the first baby to be born in the Ministik District.

She grew up here and took all her schooling in Ministik School.

On February 17, 1933 she was united in marriage to Hector Hamilton of Fort Macleod.

In 1942, they moved to Fort Macleod to make their home and became the janitors of the schools there, until retirement five years ago.

She and Heck made a yearly visit each fall to this area to visit relatives and friends.

They had just recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with family members present.

Maggie is survived by her husband Heck; three sons, Earl of Fort Macleod, Jack of Calgary and Ken of Golden, B.C.; two daughters, Dorothy Murfitt of Bentley and Marjorie Moore of Edmonton; 11 grandchildren; three great grandchildren; two sisters, Jean Rowland of Ministik and Sarah Waters of Edmonton and many nieces and nephews.

She was predeceased by her parents, Catherine and Steele Murdoch; a brother, Steele; a sister, Maude; and an infant daughter, Lillian.

Funeral services were held in Fort Macleod with interment in Union Cemetery.

Talk to someone close to you
Over the years we've been growing throughout Alberta and we've been growing with Alberta. And that means you'll not only find a Treasury Branch agency close to you, but you'll find the kind of friendly, personal attention and the wide range of financial services that keeps you growing.
And when you think about it, that's a pretty good reason to come in and talk to us. We're Treasury Branches. We're close to you.

Pancake brunch

This just goes to show you that those in agriculture can cook. Have you ever seen such contented faces. The blueberry pancakes and sausages were the honorable. The cooks in the kitchen were kept busy for most of the day Lesley Primeau photo

primeau's play pen

Yesterday, which is still the day I will worry about tomorrow, five hours dropped into the office with a wonderful tin of cookies. The way to a girl's heart, her stomach and an extra thirty pounds or so . . . Shallot's you know what kind of a day I had . . . many wonderful people stopped in to my hello . . . . . but only I was not in the office as everyone else ate my cookies. But have no fear the equally charming and lovely Miss Dorothy married to the suave and debonair Mr. Bert sent down some great chocolate chip cookies . . . which I did not share . . . and Harriet Smiley gave me some delicious fudge so you see I can understand why I have to leave the county of beaver . . . I'm going to take a holiday at a fat farm ! ! ! When I went up to cover the lodge birthdays yesterday I was made an honourary lodge-brother . . . You know what? ? It sure is going to be hard to leave this place. I think when you establish Friendship as one of the ones I have I become increasingly diffi...ult to leave the next. For certain the reason I am leaving has nothing to do with the friendships I have been awarded everywhere. In fact I think I shall be hard pressed to find a community where I feel more welcome . . .

But south of this month main stuff . . . home down Friday afternoon to my hello . . . and don't forget the farmers market . . . I myself have to buy another carpet. We'll have a swell time . . . now the guy who invented swell had no idea that the word would be used in such context . . . on the other hand, generally found on the other side of the menu first . . . why invent such a word . . .

It appears to me that I have rattled on long enough about nothing . . . so I shall head back to the book . . . book . . . is this girl mental? ? I always read on Wednesdays . . . takes my mind off things . . .

Do try to have a pleasant and watch the sun returns . . . I should have known it would be impossible to leave . . .

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs. Chrystine is a patient in Viking Hospital, being admitted there on Tuesday of the last week.

Mrs. Bob Earlson and three children of Calgary arrived Thursday afternoon, spending a few days over the weekend with Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, Eric and visiting also with the Andrushys.

Mrs. Edna Brekstad and Melvin Fjeldstrom were visitors last week with Ethel's aunt, Mrs. Frances Hansen, in Daysland Hospital.

Mrs. Ewart had been a patient in Daysland Hospital after scalding her hand and leg.

Jim and Helen Zelmerlahn and Mrs. Ruby Beaton who are members of the Knee Square Dance Club, were to Camrose on Sunday afternoon to attend a square dance potluck supper.

Mrs. Frances Hansen who had been a patient for a week in Daysland Hospital, returned home on Friday afternoon.

The family variety night concert is being held tonight, (Thursday) in the Beaver Arts Center. There will be a varied program with talent from the Valley of Beaver taking part.

A cousin of Don Allen, George William Allen of Edmonton, passed away on February 24th at the age of 100 years. He leaves to mourn his loss, one son, Richard of Wabamun; one sister, Miss Francis Allen of Vancouver; five grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

St. Gregory's R.C. Parish of Holden are holding a cash bingo on March 13th in Holden Community Hall. There are $500 in cash prizes plus bonanza prizes. Coffee and refreshments will be served by the Playground committee.

A former Holden district resident, Mrs. Emily Kiernan of Edmonton passed away suddenly at home. She is survived by her husband, Jim; one daughter, Sharon at home; two brothers, Bill and Mick Laskoski of Holden; six sisters, Stella Wirad of Edmonton, Elizabeth Hunka of Sherwville, Agnes Parks of Vancouver, B.C., Rose Beatty of Woodstock, Ont., Helen Delaney of Daysland and Kate Meyer of Holden. She was predeceased by her son, Shawn, in 1969.

Funeral service was held on Tuesday in Howard and McBride's Chapel with Rev. Edward Purcell officiating.

The World Day of Prayer was held in Holden Ukrainian Catholic Church on Friday with ladies from the Ukrainian Catholic, St. Gregory's, Holden Lutheran and the United Church taking part in the service which was prepared by women of the Caribbean countries, their theme being "New Persons in Christ". The guest speaker was Mrs. Dorothy Buchanan (nee Gesson) of Camrose, a former Holden resident, speaking on the change this makes to one's life. Special music was rendered by Anne Faryna, Mary Ogrodnichi and Pearl Hubbard.

At the conclusion of the service, lunch was served by ladies of the hosting church.

Mrs. N.L. Campbell, who has been a resident of Holden for many years and previously on the farm now occupied by the Stolzwood family, coming there as a bride, is recovering from a severe illness since early December. She has been recuperating for the past several weeks at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Marjorie and Ken Campbell in Leduc and is slowly regaining her strength but, owing to continued health problems (severe arthritis), has entered a nursing home in Leduc where she will make her home. Both, as she is usually known, will be greatly missed by many organizations in Holden.

There was a good attendance at the Driving and Harnessing workshop put on by the Pleasure Horse Association on Sunday at which the monthly meeting was also held. It was decided to hold a cutter drive at the Rabbys' next Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

The Ladies' Club members will be going out for their annual dinner on Friday, when they will be honouring a Founder Member, Kathryn Peterson, now leaving to live in British Columbia. The March meeting of the Club is to be held on Thursday of next week at Margaret Berg's, and the topic will be weaving.

The Community Association monthly meeting will take place at the Hall next Wednesday evening, and the Playschool will be the main topic of discussion.

Around the town

Don't you dare forget that the Tofield Girls Basketball team will see exciting zone action this Friday and Saturday. Their last couple of games were great and if you miss this chance to support the girls it will be on your conscience. They deserve to be cheered on in the same fashion that they win . . . wholeheartedly . .

Time has passed so quickly. Already the Gospel Church congregation has moved to their new church and now the Tofield Alliance has moved into their new home, the former Gospel Church. Pastor Don Miles reminds everyone they are in a new home now.

Welcome home Mr. Ken Kallal . . . you heard right. Ken Kallal has indeed been away from the farm. As a matter of fact he took a 12-day, 3000 mile cruise from Acapulco to Miami. Some of his friends think poor Ken never leaves the farm, but when he does!! Travelling aboard the Royal Odyssey Ken hit such tropical spots as San Blas, Cartagena and Jamaica. He had a wonderful time and was just sorry his friends didn't see him then. . .

Peter Brown, aka St. Peter (ha), aka 'meaner than Peter' recently enjoyed a short hiatus in the Tofield Hospital . . . now that's old news . . . what is new news is . . . guess who saw him his first night out . . . that's right . . . Ruth, dare I mention it . . . Ferguson . . . remember you heard it here first. . .

And it can no longr be any secret . . . March 17th is St. Paddy's day and right after that is the Legion Truck draw . . . if you don't get a ticket by Friday you will be S.O.L. . . and such a nice truck to have in your driveway. . .

..nd while you are in the mood to buy tickets . . . that grand Duchess . . . the extraordinary replicar . . . could be yours . . . Buy a ticket from the Tofield Lions . . . after all the money they make goes right back into community projects. . .

This is my last week for the around the town . . . if you have any tidbits for next week call me by Friday . . . let's have a really great time next making next week's list . . . bring in all your spare info and we'll just go to town. . .

Act protects farmers

Have you recently purchased a piece of farm equipment or had a pice of mechanical equipment installed in a farm building?

Or, are you planning to do either of these things in the future)

Are you aware of the protection that you have under the Alberta Farm Implement Act Administration?

This act covers both new and used farm equipment that has a retail sales value of $1,000 or more. And it states that the warranty of a piece of farm equipment must remain in force for at least a year from the date that the piece of equipment is first used in its normal season of use (i.e. a baler in the haying season, a combine in the harvesting season etc.)

In the case of a newly installed piece of mechanical equipment in a barn, the act states that the warranty period starts when the installation has been completed and the equipment is first used.

The provisions of a warranty that cover farm equipment require that it is made of good material, that it has been properly constructed from the points of view of design and workmanship and that it is in good working order. However, to be covered by the warranty the piece of equipment must be properly operated under reasonable conditions and it must be properly maintained.

The Farm Implement Act Administration also states that the purchaser of a piece of farm equipment must sign a sales contract which contains a complete description of the equipment and/or its components, its serial and model numbers as well as a description of the warranty.

If the contract involves more than one piece of equipment, it should show the purchase price of each piece and/or attachments. And it should state the horsepower of any motor or engine. Anyone who signs a contract to purchase a piece of farm equipment is not bound by the contract until it has been signed by the dealer or by an authorized representative of the dealer or until the purchaser has taken delivery of the equipment, whichever occurs first. If the purchaser takes delivery of the equipment, he does not have to have the contract approved by the dealer for it to come into force.

In the event that a new piece of equipment which has been properly maintained and used under reasonable operating conditions, fails to do its job satisfactorily during the first 10 days of its use, the purchaser should inform the vendor, the dealer and the minister of agriculture of this fact by registered mail. The vendor or the dealer must endeavor to make it perform satisfacorily within seven reasonable working days after having received this notice. If during this period the vendor or the dealer still cannot make the equipment work satisfactorily, he must provide the purchaser with a replacement within 48 hours.

Finally, the Farm Implement Act Administration requires all farm equipment dealers and vendors to be licensed and bonded. Hence, anyone who is purchasing new or used equipment in Alberta should make sure that the dealer from whom he plans to make his purchase holds a valid provincial license. Such a license will contain the inscription "Farm Implement Dealer's License".

Detailed information on the Farm Implement Act Administration can be obtained from Allen Krahn, Engineering and Rural Services Division Albertz Agriculture, 7000 - 113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T5H 5T6.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Reil

Judy and Rick Hanson and girls were visiting Judy's grandparents, Johnny and Margaret Fish of Ryley, recently.

Don and Gwen Campbell arrived home on March 6, after they attended her brother-in-law's funeral in Victoria.

Helen Karenko is home and coming along nicely after having a cornea transplant.

Lawrence and Ann Anderson and children of Thorsby and the Laura Podrusny family were home to visit their mother, Kathleen Anderson in the Golden Manor and their dad who is a patient in the Tofield Hospital.

Martin Oscar Dahl, formerly of Ryley, passed away on February 25, age 68 years, in the Burnaby General Hospital. He served in the last war and was wounded. He is survived by sisters, Charlotte Jackson and Dorothy Moe of Vancouver, Margaret Martin of Portland, Oregon, Ethelyn Black of San Pedro, Calif., and Lucille Knudston of Ryley.

He was predeceased by his father Mons Dahl in 1963 and his mother, Lottie in 1969.

Memorial service was held on March 1 in Vancouver.

Dagny Jeinses is home from the hospital.

David Reil has been in the University Hospital for a few days, having a check-up.

On Saturday afternoon, Lori Cabush, daughter of Bud and Maxine Cabush and Mike Akister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Akister were united in marriage in the First Edmonton Missionary Church.

Later, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

Lori's grandmother, Emma "(Heiem)" Reil, an aunt, Eileen Worthy and children, Kirsten and Geoffrey of Wheeneck, B.C., Elvera Reil, Glenn and Dianne Reil and Fannie Lysle of Tofield, Clara Vergette, Howard and Inez Reil and Lena Reil of Ryley attended the wedding.

Brenda Helgeland's granddaughter, Leanne and Karen of Viking, visited with her while their mother, Elda Heisler attended the teachers' convention in Edmonton last week.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

This week on the new book shelf, you will notice the novels Harper's Mother, by Wendy Simons, a New Zealand novel about a teenage girl and her unusual mother; The Jesus Boy by the Canadian author of The River Gets Wider, R.L. Gordon; and the Peking Payoff by Ian Stewart, a fast-paced intrigue set in the far East.

In a humourous vein, is How to Eat Like a Child; and Other Lessons in Not Being a Grown-up by Delia Ephron. Anyone who has ever had anything to do with kids will recognize instantly, the various ploys and strategies used in such situations as How to Act after Being Sent to Your Room, or How to Hang Up the Telephone, and so on.

In the non-fiction category, you will find Letters of a Woman Homesteader by Elinore Pruitt Stewart, written over a period of years by a young widow, to a former employer, about her new life in Wyoming. By Jane E. Brody, the book You Can Fight Cancer and Win is a comprehensive guide to preventing, detecting, treating and surviving the disease. This book was written with the full cooperation of the American Cancer Society. Another Reader's Digest publication, Complete Guide to Needlework, is just as all-inclusive as others of their books. Many types of needle arts are explained in complete detail, from tatting and quilting to smocking and cutwork embroidery. Of course, standards like knitting, crochet, needlepoint and macrame are covered extensively. How-to's, illustrations, variations and projects are included for every topic.

On the children's book table, look for The Lion and the Rat illustrated by Brian Wildsmith; My Dad Doesn't Even Notice by Mike Dickinson, a story of a lively imagination, and My Daddy's Mustache by Naomi Sales.

Toros start playoffs

Playoffs in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League will open on Friday [illegible].

Tofield Toros will meet Bashaw in one best of five series while Bawlf and Round Hill will tangle in the other match-up.

Bawlf ended the regular schedule in first place and was followed by Bashaw, Tofield and Round Hill with Kingman and New Norway ending the schedule out of playoff contention.

[illegible] be found at the end of this story, a report on individual statistics won't be available until next week because of a missing [illegible].

Despite quite a few postponements during the season, league officials managed to get all games, except one, played by the past [illegible].

A contest between Bawlf [illegible] Bashaw did not have any [illegible] on the final standings [illegible] has been entered in the [illegible] as a tie.

Toros had a 1-1-1 record in [illegible].

Tofield and Bashaw battled to a 5-5 stalemate last Tuesday (March 1) when Tofield got two goals from Lasbeck and singles from Hendrikson, Gilbert and G. Borten.

In a game on Friday night, Tofield doubled Round Hill 6-3 when Hendrikson hit for a pair and singles were added by Dorman, Haycock, G. Borten and G. Olson.

In a game that decided second place, Bashaw blasted Tofield 9-4 with Toro markers coming from Gilbert, Haycock, Schmidt and Hendrikson.

Based on what happened during the regular schedule, the series between the Toros and Bashaw should be close.

In five regular league games, each team won twice and one game ended in a tie. The only edge that was observed came as Bashaw outscored Tofield in the five games by a slim 24-21 margin.

Friday's game will be played in Bashaw and the two teams will tangle in Tofield on Sunday at 6:15 p.m.

My Garden

by Mary E. Rustand

My garden is empty and bare,
White snow is melted away,
Much that I see of the past
Is withering, awaiting decay.
But under the sod there is life,
Slowly it peeps forth so green,
Happily basks in the sun,
Awakened at last from its dream.
The glory of life, as it clothes
The ground, the bush, the tree,
So varied the tints and the shapes,
A Master of Art I see.
Great joy and contentment I find
As I work in my garden so small
Join hands with the Giver of Life
Great beauty He spreads over all.

Thinking Day is held

February 22 is considered "Thinking Day".

It is the day to commemorate the joint birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, the founders of Brownies, Guides, Beavers, Cubs and Scouts.

The Brownies began their celebration by wearing their uniforms to school on Feb. 22. On Wednesday during the regular Brownie gathering, parents were invited to observe a program featuring the 19 Brownies and their leaders.

The program began with the Brownie ring and the Fairies, Scottish Kelpies, and Sprites doing their opening dance. After a review of the pledge, motto and law, each group presented different games played by children in other countries.

After a sing-song, a birthday cake was brought out and each of the girls placed a candle representing a country.

The evening ended with cake, coffee and juice served by the three leaders, Mrs. Korobko, Miss Andrews and Mrs. English.

The Guides held their celebration the evening of Feb. 24th. They opened with a horseshoe followed by the enrollment of Sherri-Lynn Cooper.

One guide, Melanie Scolar, earned her hostess badge by serving refreshments that evening.

The Guides presented a talent show that included recital, singing and skits [illegible] put on an impromptu play.

Primeau leaves

Lesley Primeau has resigned her position with The Mercury.

Primeau has been a reporter-photographer with The Mercury since August of 1980.

Part of her regular assignments during that period was to cover meetings of county council and the Board of Education along with councils in Tofield, Holden and Ryley.

Primeau's final workday with The Mercury will be on Friday of this week.

Covering the beat for The Mercury in the future will be Don Umpherson.

Umpherson is being transferred to The Mercury's coverage area after working for The Camrose Canadian since the first of the year. A native of Ontario, Umpherson spent a number of years working in the daily journalism field before moving to [illegible].

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalen had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through.

With the help of Dale's father, John, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop.

But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down.

That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

Society holds contest

The Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society in Ryley, sponsored their annual colouring contest recently using farm life as a theme.

Students at the Ryley School were given pictures to colour while the junior high students were asked to make a poster or write an essay.

Winner of the poster contest was Joyce Nakonechny while Lori-Ann Phillips took top place honours with her essay.

The kindergarten winner was Charlotte Tucker; grade one winner is Tricia Weber, grade two, Benny Garstad, grade 3, Larry Johansen, grade 4, Tammy Baraniuk, grade 5, Shawna-Mae Ogonoski and in grade 6, Cheryl Kuzyk.

The winning entries were on display at the school. The winners were given their choice of various coloured T-shirts.

How Agriculture Affects My Life
by Lori-Ann Phillips

Agriculture is the world's most important industry. There are many ways that agriculture affects the lives of people living in Canada. It especially affects my life through the food I eat, and some of the clothing I wear.

There are several kinds of agriculture like growing crops, raising animals, and there are other forms of agriculture.

Agriculture has influenced the way man lives throughout history. Without agriculture, man could live only by hunting and fishing. When man learned to raise plants and animals, he could settle in one place instead of wandering about in search of food. Nations have fought wars to win good farmland. About half of the world's population make their income on farms.

Agriculture is a way of life for most farmers. The farmer gets up at dawn. He feeds his livestock and cultivates his crops. The seasons and the weather tell him when to plant and when to harvest his crops.

Farmers specialize in different kinds of farming in different regions. In deciding what kind of farming he should do, a farmer must consider soil, climate, the price of one product, in relation to other products, transportation costs, and the amount of labour and number of machines he can provide to work his land.

Agriculture affects my life because the grain that is grown in the fields are a main part of our food resources.

Some grians that make up our food resources are wheat for flour and cereals. Rapeseed, and oil seed are used for cooking oil and margarine. Barley is used for malting and pearling for cooking and food for livestock. Oats is used for livestock, food and oatmeal. Corn is grown in other parts of Canada besides Alberta, for cornmeal and popcorn.

In Canada the leading farm exports include wheat, barley and livestock. Cattle ranches are common on Prairie Provinces.

Canada ranks as a leading producer of wheat, oats, and barley Canadian farmers use modern machinery and practice scientific farming.

Another kind of agriculture is seed farming. These farms produce the seeds that farmers plant to raise vegetables, flowers, hay, and grasses. The western states, especially those along the Pacific Coast, have many seed farms. The dry climate and absence of plant diseases in the West make it an ideal region for this purpose.

Nurseries grow shrubs, vines and other plants for ornamental and practical uses.

I think agriculture will improve in the future. There will be more automatic machines, computerized tractors, improved herbicides and chemical products. Farmers will have leisure time to do other things besides farming and have larger cooperatives.

Farming is becoming more and more expensive as fuel, seed, fertilizers and machinery are out of line for the price farmers get for their products.

Agriculture is becoming more and more important in our daily lives. More food must be produced to keep the growing population fed throughout the world. It has become the most important industry throughout the world and will continue in the years to come as a way of life for many people.

Lend a hand to clean our land!

Holden skaters perform

This Sunday, the Holden Figure and Power Skating Club will present it's first ever ice show "Music Review".

The show gets underway at 2:30 p.m., in the Holden Arena with all 59 skaters from the club taking part.

Head instructor, Shirley Vollmer and her assistants, daughters, Jeanne and Janet, have been working very hard with skaters and their parents to put on a top notch exhibition.

Last Friday, all club members, except the mass-ski-skate, were tested for their level badges. The tester from Alberta Recreational Skating Association in Edmonton was very pleased with progress made by the skaters this year.

The results of the tests: in power skating, beginners badges were awarded to Michael Peterson, Brian Bilik, Jason Lusk, Michael Harasymchuk, Robbie Langner, Jamie Langner, Scott Shiuka and Greg Martin.

Level 1 badges were awarded to Robbie Langner, Scott Shiuka, Kenny Beida and Kent Schuda.

Beginner, Level 1, Level 2 and junior badges were awarded to Kevin Sharpe and Shelly Lusk.

In the figure skating tests, beginner badges were awarded to Barbara Gibson, Louise Gibson, Christy Cheremshynski, Jodi Tucker, Carrie Tucker, Brenda Shiuka, Annette Hammermaster, Cindy Grinde, Kelly Lusk, Robyn Schweitzer, Kim Bignell, Karen Grinde, Laurie Martin and Roxanne Bruce.

Preliminary 1 badges were awarded to Barbara Gibson, Louise Gibson, Kim Bignell, Laurie Martin, Laverne Kmiarsinsky and Lisa Mathews.

Preliminary 2 badges were awarded to Judy Grinde, Shala Schweitzer, Karen Lusk, Lana Beida and Brenda Bilik.

Bronze badges were awarded to Judy Grinde, Shala Schweitzer, Brenda Bilik, Betty Dauliak and Linda Grinde.

Best project

Lori Brown proudly displays the trophy she has won with her project on embryo transplants. Lori entered the County Science Fair recently and came away a winner. Her project involved some tiresome experiments and some very long hours.

County Fair is held

by Lesley Primeau

The 1983 County of Beaver Science Fair was held in Ryley with over fifty projects in competition from schools in Ryley, Tofield, Holden and Viking.

Subject matter was as diverse as the number of projects entered.

There were projects completed on which popcorn popped best, good life, bowling wind velocity and even one on which manure was best.

Students could enter the science fair as individuals or could be involved in a group project.

Grades four to twelve were represented in the five categories.

Winner of the A category was a project entitled Computers meet the real World done by Dale Lutz and Russell Gabelhouse.

Winners of the B category were Gary Cormack and Barry Petras with their project on Plant Development. Placing second was Larry Jakubec and Jim Walker and placing third was Jody Miviak and Diane Armitage.

C category winners included Calvin Bennett who placed first with his project on Which Glue is Best. Second place went to Betty Rasch and third to Rami Hastings.

The D category was won by Sheila Mickel and Brenda Johar for their experiment on Detergents. Second place went to Roxanne Bielinski and Kelly Lander and third place was won by Stephen Heyland and David Anderson.

Erroll Hastings and his project on Batteries placed first in the E category while Bradley Hodgins placed second and Steven Moss placed third.

Lori Brown of Tofield was the Best Agricultural Award for her project on Embryo Transplants while Gary Cormack and Barry Petras received their second award of the day for their Plant Development project, deemed the Best Environment entry.

Ashley Vanderterre and Darin Schuller of Holden took the energy award with their project, Fuel Energy efficiency from Coal and Kinetic Natural Gas.

VARIETIES AND DISEASES UPDATE

Because of the large numbers of inquiries received by our office on the subject of crop varieties, we have decided to run two short sessions on "Varieties and Diseases". Each of these sessions will be half-day in length and will look at three main areas of concern: current cereal and oilseed varieties, common cereal and oilseed diseases and their control. Elke Tratby, Regional Plant Industry Supervisor and Dr. Louan Evans, Supervisor of Plant Pathology, will be speaking. Times and locations are: Monday, March 14, 1983 - 9 a.m. - 12 noon at the Tofield Curling Rink and 1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. at the Bruce Curling Rink. Identical talks will occur in each location.

We hope that most farmers will be able to attend one of these sessions.

DAIRY SEMINAR

March 15 and 29 are the dates reserved for a two-part dairy seminar to be held at the Ryley Community Hall and the Viking Legion respectively. Both meetings will start at 9:30 a.m. (coffee and registration) and end at approximately 3 p.m. Topics to be discussed on March 15 at Ryley are: field and market share quota, price determination of milk, embryo transplants, sire selection and herd selection. March 29 topics at Viking include the economics of feeding, complete rations versus home grown, protein supplements and partial budget analyses of these items.

As well, the District Home Economist, Maureen Beames will be holding a session in conjunction with the March 29 dairy seminar in Viking. It is for ladies only and will be held in the Curling Rink Club Room in Viking.

Attendance is encouraged at all three sessions. Please preregister with our office as numbers are needed for meal purposes.

Chorus line

A group of chorus line girls link hands as they execute a dance last week in the Tofield Community Centre. Their act was part of a song and dance cabaret featuring acts from many youngsters who took to the ice in choreographed exhibitions Skaters performed in all manner of dress and dance, and were immensely pleasing to the crowd of onlookers.

War is declared on roaming dogs

. . . in Tofield

by Don Stephenson

The Town of Tofield is stepping up its efforts to wage war with wandering dogs.

Councillors agreed to contact Trans West Dog Control and ask them to beef up their patrols for prowling pooches.

"This is the time of year when people have a tendency to turn their dogs loose," Tofield assistant administrator Lyle Wack said.

Tofield has had an ongoing contract for several years with the Wetaskiwin-based Trans West. Since there is no dog pound in Tofield, vagrant dogs are impounded in Wetaskiwin.

Trans West patrols Tofield on an intermittent basis as people won't be able to anticipate their arrival, Wack said.

They also vary their vehicles so dog owners can't identify them with a particular van or truck, he added.

Tofield administrators do not make an extra effort to locate the owner of a dog who isn't licensed. Town by-laws require that all dogs be licensed and kept on leashes at all times.

Town officials say they want to make certain that all residents known the by-law and the problems it can be caused by roaming dogs who get into garbage and gardens.

Contravention of the by-law costs a $20 fine and pound fees in Wetaskiwin. Dog licenses are $5.

Facility delayed

. . . for education

Development of an industrial arts and home economics facility in Tofield may be delayed for a one-year period.

That decision was made last week by the County Board of Education who agreed to seek permission from the School Buildings Branch for the one-year delay.

The request followed earlier financial discussions which saw the proposed 1983 draft budget get approved and it was to be forwarded to County Council for that body's approval.

It was agreed that financial support for professional improvement leaves not be granted in 1983.

During budget discussions Superintendent of Schools Fred Reinboldt was directed to investigate program alternatives for students presently attending the W.P. Wagner School in Edmonton, and was to present a progress report at the next meeting, in April.

A motion to construct a new facility for junior and senior high school students in Holden and that Ryley and Holden High Schools remain as is, was defeated.

Executive members from the Future of Holden School and Ryley School Boosters Association attended the meeting and were advised of the board's financial position and had questions answered.

It was agreed that a committee consisting of the board chairman, county reeve, local town or village member, the superintendent of schools and the secretary-treasurer would meet with individual town and village councils to discuss the 1983 supplementary requisition.

Members were advised that the building committee would be meeting in the near future to assess maintenance needs and plan a program for the balance of the year.

It was agreed that taxi book rentals for 1983/84 would be $35 for students in grades one through nine and $35 for high school students while the fee for driver's education was set at $180 per student.

There was considerable discussion on the need to become involved in long-range planning on school operations in the county.

The superintendent of schools was directed to gather information on various aspects of such long-range planning and present a report for discussion at the Board level.

Holden seeks new pact

. . . for fire fighting

by Don Stephenson

The Village of Holden is seeking to revamp their mutual fire aid program with the County of Beaver.

Village administrators last week discussed with Fire Chief Charles Mathews the possibility of inviting County Fire Chief Laurie Weatherill to Holden's next meeting to discuss the program.

Holden is asking for a Peacetime Mutual Aid Fire Agreement which is aimed at providing better fire protection and service to all town and rural residents.

Under the agreement, fire fighters from various villages map out a plan to assist each other in case of emergency.

Counties in Alberta traditionally have the agreement to assist those living on the border of two counties.

In 1977, Beaver County, Tofield, Viking, Ryley and Holden entered into a similar agreement, but Holden councillors suggested that it be revised.

In other council business, Councillor Dorothy Cooper was appointed to a special board of directors for operation of the Beaver County Regional Arts Centre.

A previous board had been administering the centre under the regional recreation department but had been disbanded, council was told. It is not known at present when the ad hoc board will assume control.

The new board will be comprised of one councillor from Holden, two Beaver County Councillors and two members-at-large.

Operation of the arts centre is found through user groups and donations from private individuals and arts councils.

The Holden Recreation Board has asked for a change in that village's five-year master plan. Under the existing plan, their is no provision for tennis courts in Holden.

The Board has asked for revision of the plan so tennis courts can be erected as part of a school project.

Holden council returned the request to the Recreation Board so they could propose which revisions should be made. Holden requires a five-year plan to be eligible for provincial funding for recreation projects.

Speakoffs held

On March 3, Tofield 4-H Crafts and Laughs Club held their annual public speaking contest.

The junior contestants were Terrie Gleniak, Brenda Gleniak, and Lisa Brodie.

The pee-wee speaker was Shannon Rurka.

The senior contestants were Shelley Herklotz and Bernadette Zintel.

Chosen to represent the club at the County level were Lisa Brodie in the junior section and in the senior section, Shelley Herklotz and Bernadette Zintel.

Judges were Mrs. Doris Brown and Mrs. Dorothy Clark.

On March 13, the county competition was held.

Lisa Brodie won in the junior section with Marcie Otto being the runner-up.

In the senior section, Karen Magneson won first with Cathy Brown being second.

Regional competitions will be held on Sunday in Vermilion.

Gleaming Guides

This pair of smiling faces are just two of many who turned out in Tofield last week for a tea and doll show at St. Pat's School. One can see by the number of styles of dolls created for the display that much imagination went into creating them. At left, Brownie Robin Sundal and Deanna Brown appear genuinely pleased by the event.

Oil and eggs

Readers might be perdoned if they wonder what connection there could possibly be between oil and eggs, and they'd be surprised to learn it has to do with the way Ottawa sees the two.

It's well known that Ottawa drove a hard bargain with Alberta a couple of years ago, restricting increases in the price of Alberta oil to not over three quarters of the world for oil set by OPEC. No matter what Canada had to pay for oil imported from other countries, it would only pay three quarters (at most) of that price, to domestic producers. . .in order to shield Canadian consumers.

It's highly interesting to note that Ottawa has a similar viewpoint towards the country's egg producers. They should get three quarters of what other workers get.

The price of eggs to producers went up one cent a dozen the first of March. Which prompted a press release from the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency to newspapers across the country. There was a similar news story two months earlier, too, when it reported an earlier cent per dozen.

But the January story had several other comments. It pointed out January's was the first month since August when producer prices had increased. Indeed, they had dropped six cents per dozen since September. (Now they're one cent higher than they were last March).

But it's the comments of Jean Brassard, general manager of the marketing agency which really interest us. A probe by the federal government last summer on the cost of producing eggs was based on an "unrealistic" (low) labor rate in calculating the farmgate price, declared Mr. Brassard.

"To correct the low labour rate," continues Mr. Brassard, the agency will cost this component based on 75% (that's right, three quarters) of the difference between the manufacturing labour rate, and the current method (that is, the rate imputed by Ottawa). Even though it's admitted the rate is too low, farm labor can only move up by three quarters of the difference.

Then, to rub salt into the abrasion, Mr. Brassard noted "to SOFTEN THE EFFECT (capitals ours) of these prices on CONSUMERS, the increases will be implemented at . . . one cent a month . . ."

Or to paraphrase it, labor in manufacturing has gone far ahead of the farm laborer, but the very best we'll allow is a very gradual three quarter catch-up. But yYou can't do this all at once . . . just think of the effect on the poor consumer. We'll stage the increase by one cent a month.

Producing oil is mighty big business. Producing eggs is mighty small business. But there's a common thread nonetheless, isn't there. Just ask Ottawa.

Wonderful library

Dear Sir,

I hope that the citizens of Tofield and surrounding area realize what a gem they have in their Library. Do you know that you can actually find a book in the section in which you'd expect to?

You may be thinking that that is what a Library is all about, and you would be right. But where I came from a year ago the Library should have had a sign over the door saying, "Enter at your own risk". Trying to find a book there was like looking for a few extra dollars just before payday.

Fortunately, the Tofield Library has a system that is easily understood. If there was a system in that other Library it remained a mystery to me, not to mention the people employed there. For one thing, it shifted. Not like the ebb and flow of the tides but like a cat being petted by a bulldog. The week you would find the Autobiographies in one section and the next week they would be across the room. No one claimed responsibility. I could only assume that they thought Dewey was a brother to Huey and Louey.

After patronizing that Library for over a year on a regular basis (I do not give up easily), I discovered an area filled with best sellers. Just as I was getting used to finding books I enjoyed, however, they all disappeared, never to be seen again. When I asked, I was informed that they had been scattered, this scattering being called 'put where they belong'. They belong under a neatly printed card such as we have in the Tofield Library, saying "Fiction". But that would have made them too easy to locate.

Apparently when they said, "Come and visit our Library", they meant exactly that. You could visit all day and never take home a book. If those librarians were lonely, why didn't they just ask someone in for coffee?

It got to the place where I was spending as long as three hours at a time in that Library. Impressive, hey? Yes, had the books been as elusive as that feeling of first love. Oh, I found a title that reminded me that I wanted to repaper the bedroom, a whole section of Nancy Drew all huddled together (very likely hiding out from the spring cleaner), and three copies of a popular diet book in three different sections. But I never found anything to read.

None of this would happen in Tofield's Library, where there is a place for everything and everything in its place. In fact, I've heard that Mrs. Hubbard actually encourages people to take the books home. A visit there is worth a thousand words. I've even decided to cancel my membership in Readers Anonymous.

Carol Livingstone

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

It is difficult for us to understand the poverty of some areas of the Third World for the simple reason that few of us have ever experienced real hunger in real. It is even more ludicrous for us to talk about our "poverty wages" when it means little more than not being able to buy a new car, boat or colour TV set. The closest some of have come to real need is that experienced during the Great Depression.

You get an idea of poverty when you've shared four beds with seven other children; when you've fought like a tiger because some young bully wanted to steal your meal tickets, when you were clothed by hand-me-downs until you left school; when heating water was such a luxury that four children had to share the same bath [illegible].

As children we were not asked for our first preferences. We merely lined up like hungry birds with our mouths open! Young 'uns rated neither panties or shoes until they were seven or eight! The most generous thing an older sister could do was lend you a rare time use of her favorite sweater.

You haven't known poverty until you've pawned a wedding ring or the bedsheets or enjoyed a banquet of fish and chips after a week of potato soup, until you've begged on the street or picked up cigarette ends from the gutter. For the rest, poverty is not so much what you don't have but making the best and most of what you do have.

Come to think of it, most of our childhood "punishments" stemmed from the accidental, or careless, use of the family means of sustenance - like breaking a fragile gas mantel when it still had an evenings light left in it, spilling a precious cup of milk or leaving a door open to the cold. Food was left on our plates at our own risk. There was no "gleam" in our vocabulary - just a scurry of helpfulness that might be rewarded sometime in the future!

In essence, we have much to learn from our old timers who survived the Depression. They alone are able to consult grandmas' old recipe books in order to cope with inflation. They alone can forage the family, packaged items, stretch the meat loaf and cook up a pot of soup from an old bone and scraps from the refrigerator. For the best, we are a generation trapped by affluence and the economics of waste. The lucky ones are those whose parents and grandparents passed on a legacy of polishing the windows with vinegar and old newspaper; of saving crusts to make their own breadcrumbs. For a while we may no longer need to know how to clean our washbone corsets or clean our colored ostrich feathers, grandma's book of handy hints and recipes offer much along the lines of thrift - a word we lost sight of as our standard of living improved.

The truth is, thrift might well be the way out of our current dilemma of shortages and high prices. If we don't, we could well go down crying the blues about our "priceless lost" without making any effort to get things blooming again.

Mainstream Canada
Canadian farmers unsung heroes

By Mr. Roger Worth

Once again, Canadians have very real evidence that our farmers are among the finest in the world.

The recent Russian purchase of $1.5 billion worth of Canadian grain should drive home the point that we're extremely lucky to have farmers who are so productive. In fact, they're the unsung heroes of the so-called war against inflation.

Consider what's happening. The Russians have a great deal of land that is similar to the acreage farmed by Canadians. The weather and climate in the growing areas is about the same. Yet continually, the Russians are forced to buy our wheat because they can't produce enough themselves, even for the home market.

Effectively, if the Russians didn't import grain, they'd be in desperate straits, or at least have their already low standard of food intake pruned. It's not a matter of price, it's a matter of whether or not the product is available.

In Canada, wheat is available, and at realistic prices.

While it may be difficult for the Canadian housewife (or househusband) to understand what a great deal he or she is getting when they line up at the check-out counter, at least the products are available.

Complaints about the high costs of various products are debased, yet we all tend to miss the point.

In Britain, families spend about 30 percent of disposable income on food. In West Germany, it's 33 percent. And in Japan, food costs are a whopping 40 percent of disposable income.

In Canada, on the other hand, we spend little more than 22 percene of disposable income on food.

The fact is, Canadian farmers, without much bullshaloo, are generally selling their products at bargain basement prices, which is the major reason we don't really understand what a deal we're getting.

Beset by high interest rates, escalating costs and low prices, it's remarkable that our agriculture community is able to compete in world markets.

Somehow, Canadian consumers have turned to downgrading farmers the minute they increase prices, no matter how slight.

Perhaps it's time city dwellers understood that, unlike Russian consumers, they are able to buy what they want, and at prices that are among the cheapest in the world. Our farmers deserve credit for keeping things that way.

Exercise with care

... not impatience

My usual attempt at exercise occurs once a year in September. Towards the middle of the month the Terry Fox Marathon of Hope is held at Kin Park and I feel compelled to participate.

It's a combination of things that compel me; Fox was an inspiration and showed one could accomplish anything, thus I feel I must contribute something to his cause. Also, at the time of year I'm aware summer is quickly ending and some outdoor activity seems necessary. Finally, not least, I know I should exercise my cardio-vascular system, a thing that should be done at least three times a week.

However, my noble attempt was rather futile. Five excruciating laps around the two km track once a year were wasted because in fitness consistency is the key word, says Fitness Co-ordinator Bev Adams.

Also, if one has not exercised for a long time, it is not wise to engage in strenuous exercise immediately - this can sometimes result in pulled ligaments, tendons or muscles.

If one is between the ages of 18 and 30 and has been inactive "you should ease into fitness", said Adams. "It's a good idea to have a fitness assessment before you start ... start slowly and work up to more vigorous exercise.

"There are different areas of fitness; aerobic (heart and lungs), flexibility, mobility, strength, endurance and weight control," Adams said. "Find out your weak and strong areas and they'll give you an indication of what areas to work on."

Adams said one should check out the local library or fitness centre and obtain some information on fitness and how to conduct one's own program. If information is not available locally certain departments of the federal and provincial governments provide information on fitness.

"People usually rush into fitness because they want immediate results," she said. "They should take it easy at first."

People over the age of 30 should have a check-up prior to beginning a fitness program if there have been any previous health problems. Start out by walking, jogging, cycling, swimming at least three times a week. This initial phase of fitness is "not to improve but to maintain".

If the exercise program consists of three 15-minute periods each week "you should notice a difference after a month," said Adams. "There'll be some improvements, you'll feel stronger, have greater endurance and be able to perform tasks without getting tired."

After the 15-minute period, one can progress into a four-times-a-week 20 minute period. However, with all exercise, it's important to warm up and cool down before and after the actual exercise period, no matter how short it is.

After a while the fitness will become a daily habit and one can also include it in other parts of the daily routine.

"Instead of taking a coffee break take an exercise break", Adams said. "You can do stretches in the chair and limber up."

"Do without the car for a few days and walk to the grocery store as well ... that's a form of lifting weights, carrying groceries home," she added.

One must determine if one is exercising properly and at the correct intensity. This is done by determining the target heart rate for aerobic exercise, said Adams. The maximum pulse rate at birth is 220 and it drops every year by approximately one beat. So, for example, at age 23 my maximum pulse rate is 197. When exercising one should attain 60 to 85 per cent of the maximum rate; my heart rate target zone when exercising is 150 to 189 beats per minute. The pulse rate must be taken during the exercise period, Adams said.

One's fitness program should also encompass other positive lifestyle habits such as good nutrition and adequate rest.

Look out for more fitness ideas in this column in the near future.

Landfill site possible

by Don Engbrecht

The Town of Telfield last week took a giant step toward realizing their goal of a new sanitary landfill site when Beaver County Council reversed an earlier decision and agreed to ask Alberta Environment for a feasibility study.

Telfield has been trying to establish a new site for several years but has been thwarted in its attempts by Alberta Environment who have repeatedly refused to issue a permit on environmental grounds.

The newest site for the proposed feasibility study is on a 200-acre half-section of land south of the Village of Ryley.

In backing Telfield's request to Alberta Environment, the county has rescinded an earlier decision. Telfield councillors had recently asked the county to reconsider, but the majority of county councillors refused.

Should the feasibility study produce positive results, the provincial government purchases the property, develops the site and provides all materials necessary for the project. The various groups who used the site pay for its upkeep on a cost-sharing basis.

At present, Telfield, Ryley and Holden have agreed to use the site. The County's decision last week means there are enough participants in the project to warrant the feasibility study.

Telfield had urged the county councillors to concur with them as soon as possible as the Telfield area sanitary landfill site will close by this summer.

The county had originally rejected Telfield's request on the argument that the landfill site would be too close to a proposed hazardous treatment near Holden.

Telfield received a second setback at its council meeting last week when it was discovered that the town of Viking was refusing Telfield's request to join in the use of the proposed landfill site.

In a letter to council, Viking councillors said they were turning down the offer because they still had about ten years of use left in their own landfill site.

The decision to conduct a feasibility study near Ryley does not necessarily mean that a landfill site will be developed there. Should Alberta Environment reject the proposed site, the town of Telfield will have to start looking for a different site.

Horsemen meet

The Beaverhill Light Horse Association held their annual meeting on Sunday.

Glenn Jones reported on the progress of the rodeo to be held in Telfield on May 28 and 29.

It was decided to haul more fill in the low spots around the gymkhana grounds before grass is seeded and that members should either repair or build a new judges' stand.

The first trail ride will be held on May 22 at Beaverhill Lake.

Gymkhana dates will be June 5 and 19 with memberships to be paid at the first gymkhana if they wish to participate in the July 1st activities.

Don Wyllie was elected president; Barry Jones is vice-president; and Hilda Kerekho is secretary-treasurer.

Directors for three years, are Allan Gill, Lillian McLeod and Glenn Jones.

Anyone interested in partaking in the drill team should phone Hilda at 985-3142.

EMPLOYERS WANTED

The Canada-Alberta New Employment Expansion and Development (NEED) program can offer your organization up to $200 per job per week.

It's a program designed to help you get the job done and provide employment for Albertans, particularly those who've exhausted their Unemployment Insurance benefits or are receiving public assistance.

As an employer, you'll be able to re-activate projects that were either cancelled or postponed due to the economic downturn.

If your projects are geared towards improved productivity, economic recovery and regional development, and can employ a minimum of three people, you could qualify for funding under the NEED program.

Examples of potential projects are plant modernization, equipment maintenance, energy conservation, pre-production activities and similar undertakings. Municipalities, unions and non-profit organizations can also sponsor projects.

By participating, you'll be providing unemployed Albertans with the one thing they want and need most — jobs.

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalen had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through.

With the help of Dale's father, John, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop.

But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down.

That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

Handicapped are people

by Peter Bandy

It is commonly accepted that poor influence is one of the major factors in the development of an individual.

Why should this not apply equally to persons who are mentally retarded?

The usual emotional response to this would probably be that these people are different and should be protected.

Being different in this context infers that they are less mentally healthy than normal; a frequent misconception equates retardation with psychosis.

Thus the recommended protection is, in reality, a shield to prevent the mentally retarded from being integrated into the mainstream of society. If we were to completely assimilate the mentally retarded into our society, the differences referred to would gradually melt away.

The common personality characteristics of some mentally retarded persons stem from a lack of self image that has been deemed them by the absence of the necessary deliberate stimulation.

Society has made parents feel apologetic for having a handicapped child, and the child soon gets the message that he is a mistake.

The result often is a shy, withdrawn child, or possibly one whose contained anger at his inferior position is worked out in aggressive acts.

Lack of positive reinforcement, and verse, sympathy, to so many areas of their lives discourages initative on their part and robs them of enjoyment.

The mentally handicapped person accepts being ignored by the majority and retreats into his own subculture; then segregated schools and sheltered workshops.

The attitudes and appearance of some mentally retarded persons can be seen to be the result of being excluded from the mainstream of life.

Being forced to huddle together in a subculture, serves to reinforce their differences because they really have no one else as a model.

Society has deliberately walled them in and then uses their resultant reactive behaviour as a reason for keeping them apart.

There is no reason for such discrimination to exist in a civilized society.

We have an obligation to release the mentally retarded from the subculture we have condemned them to, and at the same time we will release ourselves from the role of paternalist.

Toros lead in series

Tofield Toros have taken a commanding lead in their County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League semi-final series.

Toros stopped Bashaw twice to take a two-game lead in the best of five series.

Third game in this series was slated for last night (Wednesday) in Bashaw.

If a fourth game is required, it will be played in the Tofield Arena on Friday night.

Should the series go the limit, the fifth and deciding game could be played in Bashaw on Sunday night although that date had not been definitely confirmed at presstime.

Should Bashaw have staved off elimination in yesterday's game, Friday's contest will be the final home date of the season for the Tofield team as far as league play is concerned as all games in the championship finals will be played in Camrose.

The other semi-final series between Bawlf and Round Hill is tied at one game each.

Bawlf won the opener 3-0 with Round Hill rebounding for a 6-3 victory in the second game.

That series will resume this coming weekend with games in Camrose on Saturday and Sunday nights.

The first game in the Toros-Bashaw series was played in Bashaw on Friday night with Tofield winning 7-5.

Friesen paced Tofield's attack with two markers with singles coming from Mathew, Knox, Herricks, Hendrikson and G. Olson.

Trashorras scored twice for the losers who got singles from Moe, Keech and Brown.

The second contest was played in Tofield on Sunday with the home team posting a 5-0 victory.

G. Olson led Tofield with two goals while singles were notched by Friesen, Hendrikson and Lambeck.

Scoring for Bashaw were Rausch, Messing and Brown.

Wolfe of Round Hill was the individual scoring race while King of Bawlf was the top goalie over the regular season.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Best wishes to all the Irish folk celebrating St. Patrick's Day. you'll notice a small selection of books about Ireland and her patron Saint at the Library Desk.

On the New Book Shelf this week you'll find popular author Irwin Shaw's new novel Acceptable Losses, as well as a selection of new paperbacks such as The Dream Traders by E.V. Thompson, The Rendezvous and other Stories by Daphne du Maurier, and Lilacs out of the Dead Land by Rachel Billington.

For amateur astronomers, or for general interest, is Nigel Calder's The Comet is Coming. The comet of course is Halley's Comet, scheduled to make its appearance in 1985-86, the first time since 1910. This book chronicles the historic appearances of this well-known comet, and of others as well.

The Mature Man's Guide to Style by Bill Gale, is just what it says, a book that includes such topics as diet, grooming, exercise and dress for the man over forty; a handbook with tips to keep you looking and feeling young.

For younger readers, Veronica Tennant's book, On Stage Please, is an entertaining and informative story of a young girl and her dream of becoming a professional ballerina. The illustrated History of Rock Music by Jeremy Pascall covers the development of this music form from the 50's to the present, detailing the careers of many popular singers and groups.

The Tofield Library has a small collection of LP's, both childrens' and adult, but would be happy to accept donations to expand in this area.

Check over your collections, and perhaps you will find one or two which you could part with; records of all types will be gratefully accepted.

Concert is hit

A full house attended the variety concert in the Arts Centre in Holden last Thursday night.

From enthusiastic and nimble young gymnasts, to instrumentalists, bands, singers and a clown, the various acts provided a variety of entertainment that seemed to suit all ages.

The variety night, sponsored by the Beaver Arts Society, is the third well-attended and successful event in the Arts Centre since it was given a new lease on life by County Council at the beginning of the year.

Future events include community choirs from Viking and Tofield presenting Easter singing programs on March 28 and April 4 and a Dinner-Theatre night is also planned for sometime in April.

Around the town

Dianne Tiedemann has been invited to enroll in the Honours English program at the U. of A.

Munro Coleman is out and about . . . had a brief stay in the hospital due to a recurring malaria bug.

Mrs. Innes is about to come home from the Tofield Hospital.

Conrad Patterson is in for a short stay in the hospital.

This Friday is the truck raffle draw at the Legion. It's also their annual St. Patrick's supper.

Anne Friesen will in The Mercury office on Tuesdays and Fridays . . . the regular times. She will be filling in for Hilda.

The origin of the song "Yankee Doodle" is unknown, but it is believed to have been composed in England in the 1750s and used to deride American colonists. It became instead a patriotic American air. The first known American printing of the song was as part of Benjamin Carr's "Federal Overture" in Baltimore in 1794.

Pennsylvania was founded because King Charles II owed 16,000 pounds to a dead admiral, who had been granted by his son's endorsement of the Quakers and by his run-ins with the establishment. The king was happy to get rid of his son, William Penn, by settling the debt with a grant of land in America, 300 miles long and 180 miles wide.

The custom of dating events B.C. (before Christ) and A.D (Anno Domini, in the year of our Lord) was introduced about 525 by Dionysus Exiguus, a Roman abbot and astronomer who set Christ's birth 753 years after the founding of Rome.

The Mason-Dixon Line traditionally dividing the North from the South was in no way connected with the Civil War. The line was drawn much earlier to tend a colonial land dispute between the Calverts of Maryland and the Penns. Plotted out in a 1716 compromise in the English Court of Chancery, the line was fixed by two surveyors, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, between 1763 and 1767.

William Howard Taft was the first president to play golf and was considered a good player. In August, 1909, the first year of his presidency, a man bet $1,000 that Taft could not play the difficult Myopia Golf Course in Boston within the required 100 strokes. Taft turned in his clubs at 96.

The Hay Lakes Ladies Open Bonspiel will be held this weekend commencing on March 18.

The local rink was busy during the weekend with the Hay Lakes Blue Knights Football team holding a bonspiel on Saturday and the Big Hay Lake Uniform having the ice for a bonspiel on Sunday.

The Terry Fox film will be shown in the Hay Lakes Rec Centre on March 24 at 7:30 p.m. by the Canadian Cancer Society. The Circle "S" ladies will host the evening.

Several young boys from Hay Lakes, who are members of the New Sarepta Minor hockey team, participated in a tournament held in Camrose during the weekend. They are David Vickers, Clint Rankin, Cody Olson and Shane Nordin. Their team met Fallsevale in the silver medal finals and the game was tied 1-1 at the end of regulation time. However Fallsevale took the game in a shoot-out played without goalies to break the tie. The Sherwood Park team won the gold medal and Lodge the bronze. Other teams participated in the tournament were from Camrose and Ardrossan.

Choirs are touring

Choirs are on the move!

An Edmonton choir is coming to Camrose and two Camrose groups are going on tour.

Concordia College Choir of Edmonton will be in Camrose for March 20th for a concert in Grace Lutheran Church.

The concert will start at 7:30 p.m. and while there is no charge, a free-will offering will be accepted.

Tours have been arranged for the CLC Concert Choir and a group known as Emmaus.

Incomes are expected to fall another 3-3% as prices remain low while costs continue to rise, if not as quickly as in previous years.

Members of Emmaus include Karen Hansen, Jenneane Grundberg, Dianne Ducs, Joy Hendrickson, Liz Pearson, Tim Kopperud, James Hendrickson and Sigurd Leirud.

Emmaus will be on tour prior to and following the Concert Choir tour. All members of Emmaus are members of the Concert Choir.

Emmaus will open its tour in Edmonton and then visit many towns and cities in Western Canada. Following the tour of the Concert Choir, Emmaus will again hit the road with stops to include many centers in British Columbia.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Running a sink faucet or sitting in a warm tub are two common methods of triggering a balking urinary flow Either may work for a short period of time but neither will solve the cause of the obstruction

Blockage of the flow of urine may occur at any age although the problem in newborns is of different origin than that affecting the aged. Males, with their elaborate plumbing systems, are much more likely than women to have voiding problems.

Obstruction in infants may be due to swelling of the foreskin or infection at the end of the penis. This is often associated with a diaper rash and ulcers or abscesses may be present Older boys sometimes trap the penis in a ring or other small objects This may cause swelling and obstruction of the urinary flow

The urethra, the tube that drains the bladder, may block as a result of injury. This may occur when a catheter or other urological implement is passed, or may be due to tearing in a car accident or a fall astride.

Obstruction due to enlargement of the prostate gland is common in older men. This is usually due to non-malignant growth of the gland, but cancer of the prostate is also a [illegible] disease.

Tumors may also occur in the bladder These are frequently frong-like and may block the bladder outlet. Bladder stones may also occasionally obstruct the origins of the urethra. Both the urinary bladder and the prostate gland may become swollen as a result of infection or inflammation, diminishing or blocking urinary flow

Voiding is sometimes difficult following anaesthesia and several drugs in common use tend to paralyze the bladder Rarely, disease or injury to the bladder's nerve supply will disrupt its function

Obviously, a blocked bladder must be drained. Pain must be relieved and pressure removed before the kidneys and other structures are damaged. Drainage is accomplished by using catheters, fine needles pass through the abdominal wall or more elaborate surgical procedures.

UFA has record year

United Farmers of Alberta Co-operative Limited achieved record sales and earnings in 1982.

Sales were 253.7 million dolars as compared to 249.7 million dollars in 1981. Net earnings, before income tax, were 13.1 million dollars as compared to 12.2 million dollars in 1981.

United Farmers of Alberta is one of Alberta's major farmer-owned co-operatives with 134 petroleum agencies and member associations and 27 farm supply branches in Alberta.

The company has total assets of 70.8 million dollars and members' equity is 47.2 per cent of total assets.

Delegates to the annual meeting held March 8-10 1983 in Calgary, authorized the allocatin of dividents for the year amounting to a record $1.4 million dollars.

UFA will return a record 6.4 million dollars in cash to its members in April, 1983. This amounts to 51 per cent of after-tax earnings.

Just skatin' through

This smiling young chap seems to have nary a care in the world as he glides down the ice with his "waltzing mathilda" swung over his shoulder The young hobo was part of the ice capades which went on last week at the Tofield Community Centre ...despite the patches and natty clothes, this vagabond seems contented enough

Report from Parliament Hill

by The Hon.
Don Mazankowski, P.C., M.P.

For the prairie farm community 1982 was a very difficult year. The U.G.G. have estimated that net farm income dropped 20% in the west in 1982.

The outlook for 1983 is not much better and it promises to be another taxing year for the producer. Nation-wide, farm incomes are expected to fall another 3-7% as prices remain low while costs continue to rise, if not as quickly as in previous years.

Recently I have had a number of meetings with farmers concerning two issues of growing importance to the agricultural community.

The first issue concerns the continuing difficulties in the livestock industry and the creation of a National Red Meat Income Stabilization program. The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Whelan, has been pressuring action in this area for more than two years now. His proposal is currently being discussed by Cabinet and indications are it will be announced in the spring. It is widely rumored to contain elements of supply management despite the objections of red meat producers. I believe that the interests of beef producers would be best served by a voluntary stabilization program funded jointly by producers and the federal and provincial governments. The Canadian Cattlemen's Association have devised such a program and the provincial governments support the concept. We will continue to call on the government to adopt a program that is satisfactory to all parties and that serves to stabilize the industry without providing a permanent subsidy. Our Caucus is active in receiving the views of beef producers and will ensure that these views are properly represented when Mr. Whelan's scheme is announced.

The second issue of concern relates to the problems being experienced by many dairymen in the local area and, indeed, throughout Alberta. Due to slumping fluid milk demand, market share quotas have been cut at a time when dairyman, having been encouraged to expand consequently have excess production. The result has been that seventy seven 100 of the previous 1750 dairy farmers are out of quota and subjected to heavy penalties. By the end of March this number will be 300 and towards the summer it will effect nearly half of Alberta's milk producers.

While the quota system allows for an easier adjustment to respond to this problem, the Dairy Control Board of Alberta, after hearing representations from myself and the farmers, has made some changes that may ease the situation. Primarily, they are trying to encourage the sale of some unused quota through the quota exchange. By waiving the requirement that producers must deliver 95% of their quota or face a cutback in next years quota, they hope to transfer some quota to those in need.

At the federal level, we have been asking the Minister to consider action in particularly severe cases and also to place a greater effort in disposing of surplus dairy products such as butter, cheese and skim milk powder. So far, we have not received a firm commitment from Mr. Whelan in this regard, but he is very aware of the serious consequences facing Alberta's dairy producers.

Neither of these two issues, red meat stabilization and dairy quotas has yet been resolved and I will continue to take an active interest in both during the months ahead. I hope that in both cases a solution can be found to promote the continuance of a healthy and viable agricultural sector.

In Ottawa, we have been debating C-142, which would authorize the government to borrow $30 billion between now and mid-summer. This is an average of nearly $1 billion per week!

The Minister of Finance has indicated that the deficit for 1982/83 will be $27.2 billion and it is widely predicted that the deficit in 1983/84 will be just as large.

As a consequence of these enormous deficits, the government will be forced to borrow even larger sums to finance its spending. Many financial analysts fear that this may crowd out private borrowers, causing interest rates to rise and cutting off the beginnings of an economic recovery.

We will be continuing our efforts to persuade the government to reduce the deficit by cutting wasteful and extravagant government spending. Decreased government borrowing would lead to lower interest rates which, in conjunction with other policies, would provide the impetus for renewed economic growth.

Holden has tourney

Holden Minor Hockey Association sponsored a highly successful mite hockey tournament on March 6th.

In addition to a host entry from Holden, guest teams included Bawlf, Sherwood Park and Tofield.

Tofield edged Holden 5-3 in the opening game.

Bawlf then thumped Tofield 8-2 and won the A Event by trimming Sherwood Park by a 7-3 margin.

The winning team from Bawlf was presented with a trophy donated by Holden Oldtimers. In addition, each player on the winning team was presented with trophies.

In the B Event, Sherwood Park whipped the home team 13-1 to emerge with top honours in the consolation playoff.

Most valuable player awards were presented throughout the day.

Winners were: for Tofield - Nitsche and Suchy; for Holden - Bidde and Schaller; for Sherwood Park - Kowalchuk, Neidzielski and Rillo; for Bawlf - Hoddets, Thiessen and Dumont.

Referees for the tournament included Darcy Stoskal, Darin Schaller, Vincent Lukawiecki, Kevin Sharpe, Jamie Lemke, Michael Lutz, Daniel Shinkiski, Ashley Emerson and Graham Paischell.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs. A. Arnston

A former resident of the Hay Lakes district, Stanley George Selin, passed away at Camrose on March 10 at the age of 68 years. He is survived by his wife Hennie; three daughters, Joyce Friesen of Irricana, twins Lois and Linda Selin of Calgary; two sons, Allan of Carstairs and Garry of Edmonton; two brothers, Oscar and Albert Selin, both of Hay Lakes; one sister Jenny Grundberg of Camrose: 10 grandchildren. Stan was predeceased by his parents Axel and Agatha; three brothers, Herman, Oliver and Walter.

Funeral services were held at Wilhelmina Lutheran Church on the afternoon of March 12 with Pastor D. Wenzel officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were six nephews, Norman Selin, Sylvan Johnson, James Selin, Reuben Selin, Carl Selin and Rick Johnson.

Stanley was born and raised in the Hay Lakes District (Landonne). He married Hennie Johnson in 1936 and they farmed in the district until 1973 when they sold the farm and retired to Camrose. During their years of farming Stan served on the church council at Wilhelmina and Our Savior as well as being active in community projects and organizations.

He loved music and shared his talent at many local activities, mainly on the accordion. In recent years Stan entertained regularly at the Camrose Drop-In Centre.

Wayne Rolston, a grade 11 student at Hay Lakes School, has returned from a political orientation held at Washington D.C. from Feb. 26 to March 5.

Wayne was selected by a board of directors and trustees of the Forum for Young Albertans to attend the session. He was the only Canadian attending amongst 430 students, many coming from other parts of the world such as Libia, Italy and Guam. Wayne states it was a great learning experience and boosted his interest in politics. He was surprised at the wide cultural differences among the students coming from the various states in the U.S.A. and felt privileged to be part of the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans.

Wayne is grateful to everyone that supported his trip. Assisting with funding were Hay Lakes Lion's Club, Local ATA, Students Union and teachers at Hay Lakes School.

BARBARA BENNETT

The following writeup came into our office recently. There are a few new crop varieties which have been gaining popularity this spring. Many of you have been asking about these varieties, so I thought this may be of interest.

A few points to keep in mind when reading the article are:
- Leader wheat is not recommended for our area.
- Amber Durum wheats are not recommended for our area.

GRAIN VARIETIES FOR ALBERTA

Of interest to Alberta wheat growers is the new variety of Columbia spring wheat. It is mainly noted for its superior resistance to sprouting and weathering. Columbia yields about three per cent higher than Neepawa and Sinton. It is resistant to leaf rust and bunt, and moderately resistant to stem rust and loose smut, but it is susceptible to common root rot. It is also susceptible to sawflies.

Another variety of wheat called "Leader" is shown on the leaflet but seed supplies are limited. Supplies of "Columbia" seed should be ample this spring and the demand is expected to be heavy.

Recommended varieties of Amber Durum wheat and Red Winter varieties remain the same as 1982.

Two new varieties of barley have been added to this list. They are Harrington and Otal. Harrington is being evaluated by maltsters and brewers, while Otal is early maturing variety and is still being tested.

Rodney variety of oats has been dropped from the list of recommendations. Three other varieties - Cavell, Fraser and Victory may not be described for recommended use in 1984.

Antelope has been dropped from the recommendations of fall rye. Gazelle is the only recommended variety of spring rye.

McGregor variety of flax has been removed from the list, while three others Culbert, Linott and Redwood 65 are three varieties that are marked to indicate they may not appear in 1984.

A new variety of Tobin canola is recommended in all crop zones. This is a Polish type and has good tolerance to white rust-staghead disease and averaged about seven per cent higher in yield than Candle. There should be ample seed of the Tobin variety for the spring of 1983.

A new Argentine type of canola, which is two to three weeks later in maturing than the Polish type, called Westar was recently licensed. Limited supplies of certified seed will be available, but mainly through crushers. This new early variety shows a great deal of promise for areas suited to production of Argentine-type of canola.

A later column will give a more detailed account of some of the varieties grown in our area.

Let us know what you seed and your harvest results this year. Your remarks always help our recommendations for next year.

Annual fish kill

Hundreds of fish, primarily suckers, have died in the annual fish kill at Dried Meat Lake. Suckers spawn in this creek but lack of oxygen under the thick winter ice causes their death, Bill MacDonald, an officer for Alberta Fish and Wildlife, said. Residents of the area have been aware of the kill for years, and Alberta Fish and Wildlife has recorded it since 1952.

Hay Lakes

Several short films for children will be shown at the Hay Lakes Municipal Library on March 19 at 1:30 p.m. There is no admission fee and everyone is welcome.

Charles and Alpha McLean have returned from a five-week vacation. The greater part of their time was spent in Arizona. They also visited Mexico and California briefly.

Elsie Lager is presently a patient at St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose.

A group of children from Grant MacEwan Day Care Center, along with four supervisors, spent an enjoyable day in the country last Wednesday. They visited the Mac Douglas farm where they viewed the baby calves and were taken on a sleigh ride by Mr. Douglas. The children called the horses "Christmas horses" since they wore jingle bells on their harness. A hot lunch was prepared for the group by Viva and Don Arnston at the Magnus Arnston farm. They also viewed the farm pets and were taken on snowmobile rides.

The Hay Lakes Senior Citizens Club held a successful card party last Friday evening. Ladies first prize was won by Anne Aspell and the consolation prize went to Evelyn Pearson. John Groeller took men's first prize with the consolation prize going to Mac Douglas.

Beaver Hill Insulators

Beaver Hill Insulators offers to the County of Beaver a chance to cut down on rising heating costs by doing needed insulation at rates that simply must be seen to be appreciated.

Les Bohna, who has been in the insulating business for the past four years says there is a definite need to re-insulate many older homes and upgrade the insulation in many other homes and [illegible].

According to Bohna, homes built prior to 1977 were poorly insulated and there were no strict government regulations to assure that standards were met. Consequently many homeowners are paying exorbidant heating costs. These costs can be minimized by installing insulation.

Older homes can be brought up to the R 40 attic standards in less than an afternoon. Walls can be brought up to R 20 standards in perhaps a day or two. The cost of insulating is kept competitive by the fact that Beaver Hill Insulators work out of Tofield and have very little overhead. As well when it becomes necessary they can hire local help and avoid having to bring workers in.

Bohna warns that he is not a $40 insulator, referring to the number of contractors who previously charged homeowners $40 for insulation and the government picked up the remaining costs. Government officials are now warning against such contractors saying that most residential [illegible] getting "R-40" worth of insulation. On a small house, that may have been adequate, but on a larger home it simply will necessitate that the insulating will have to be further upgraded.

Beaver Hill Insulators also carry a line of vinyl siding, roofing, windows, insulated window blinds and wall plugs and water heat insulation kits. Estimates are free and under no obligation, jobs are payable on completion. Beaver Hill Insulators carry fiberglass in[illegible].

Insulating your old home or a new home is a matter that requires some good advice. For more answers to the question of insulating Les Bohna can be reached at 662-3519.

Irma, Wainwright lead

Irma and Wainwright are leading the semi-final playdowns in the Battle River Hockey League.

Irma had a commanding three-game lead over Hardisty and that series could have ended when the teams met in Hardisty of Monday night.

Wainwright was leading their semi-final series with Rosalind two games to one and the fourth game in the best of seven series was to have been placed in Rosalind on Monday night.

Game five is slated for Wainwright tonight (Wednesday) and if a sixth game is required, it will go in Rosalind on Saturday. If the series goes the limit, the deciding game will be played in Wainwright on Monday.

If neither semi-final series goes the limit, the finals would open in Irma on the first playoff night (Wednesday, Saturday or Monday) following completion of the semi-finals.

Irma blasted Hardisty 16-4, 16-2 and 8-3 in the first three games of that semi-final series.

Wainwright edged Rosalind 4-3 in the opening game of their best of seven series, Rosalind came back with a 6-3 triumph and then Wainwright recovered the lead with a 7-3 [illegible].

There are 865 species of trees native to the continental United States, including a few imports that have become naturalized so that they now reproduce themselves in the wild state. The oldest living trees in the world are reputed to be the bristlecone pines, growing on the arid crags of California's White Mountains. Some are estimated to be more than 4,600 years old. The oldest known redwoods are about 3,500 years old.

Guides hold annual tea

by Lesley Pilmore

The Tofield Guides held their annual St. Patrick's Day Tea last Saturday in the Tofield Community Centre.

In addition, the Guides and Tofield Brownies displayed a number of doll collections in the meeting room. The display was made possible by the many girls who brought their dolls for the occasion.

The Guides, headed by Guider in Charge, Lynn Tiedemann and Guider Inger Paulsen served the tea. The Guides, Sara Lang, Yvonne Van Der Eley, Mary Beth Fels, Yolanda Brown, Michelle Paulsen, Bobbie Jo Connolly, Sandra Pariaky, Ann Tiedemann, Melanie Scolar, Renee Agree, Candy Macdonald, Liza McLean and Sherri Lynn Cooper helped make customers comfortable and brought tea, coffee and lunch to the tables. The girls also helped with the bake table which was laden with homemade goodies.

Mrs. Elaine Pariaky and Mrs. Anne Connolly made sure there was plenty to eat. As kitchen supervisors, the ladies were responsible for providing sandwiches and squares. Mothers of both the Guides and Brownies brought goodies for the afternoon.

Mrs. Elaine Macdonald was in charge of putting together the doll display which was viewed by well over 70 people. Bobbie Scandal and Deanna Brown, the only two Brownies in attendance, aided the Guides in their various duties including doll patrol.

Dolls were provided by Mary Beth Fels, Ann Tiedemann, Yvonne Van Der Eley, Deanna Brown, Patti Macdonald, Candy Macdonald, Robin Bandal, Yolanda Brown and Sara Lang. There was a large collection of baby dolls, Barbie collections through the years, ethnic dolls, a strawberry shortcake collection, Canadiana dolls and a wide variety of novelty dolls.

Judy Flank taught the girls how to do the table centre pieces. Lynn Gales is presently involved in teaching macrame to the Guides and much of the baking was done by the girls.

Proceeds from the afternoon will be used for variety crafts but, the girls have also decided that some of the money should go to the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary. The next project for the Guides will be the Guide Fair in December.

"I Don't Know"

I don't know how to pray.

Seems strange for a person who attended four years of college and four years of seminary to say.

I don't know how to pray.

Yes, that's the way it is.

Everything isn't always cut and dried, it's not always easy to know what to pray for. Life isn't a textbook black and white. There's just too many gray areas fanning up the situation. It's difficult to know how to pray.

For whatever consolation it is, I'm in fast company. Martin Luther wrestled with prayer . . . so did the apostle Paul.

"Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with signs too deep for words. And he who searches the hearts of men knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God." (Romans 8:26-27)

Prayer isn't easy. It's a struggle. It's very personal, maybe that's why it's hard to know how to pray. Because it is so personal.

We expose ourselves to God. It's not always a pretty picture. It's not always how we present ourselves to others. But it's how we really are.

Human. Sinful. Weak.

That's why we need help in prayer.

The formula for prayer isn't offered in a best-selling book. The proper procedure of prayer isn't explored in a particular denomination's prayer book. Our help is found in God's Spirit "who intercedes for us."

It's not a sign of ignorance or theological emptiness to admit we don't know how to pray. It's a sign of our humanity. A sign of our dependence on God. A sign of our weakness; a sign of His strength.

And so, we join with Jesus' disciples who said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray."

Satellites advance

Tofield Satellites have advanced to the finals in the Intermediate Hockey League.

Satellites swept their best of seven semi-final series with Ryley to four straight games.

For the Satellites, it was sweet revenge as Ryley had eliminated them in the semi-finals last winter.

Tofield now must wait until a winner is declared in the series between Mundare and Lamont.

Mundare leads that series three games to one and the two teams are playing in Mundare tonight (Thursday).

Should Mundare win tonight's game, the best of seven league finals will open in Tofield on Tuesday night. If Lamont wins tonight, the series will continue in Lamont on Tuesday.

Tofield had no trouble in disposing of Ryley as they won the first game 9-4, took the next two by identical 6-3 scores and then swept the series with a resounding 13-1 triumph.

Mundare was the first three games against Lamont by scores of 9-6, 7-3 and 6-3 before Lamont finally won 7-5 to keep the series going.

The hockey in the Intermediate League series is the fact that Mundare is having a successful season in provincial playdowns.

Mundare defeated Goodfish Lake on Tuesday night to advance to the provincial intermediate 'B' finals against Innisfail.

That series will open in Mundare on Saturday night and the balance of the best of three series will be played in Innisfail on the following weekend.

In addition to getting revenge on Ryley, Tofield's victory puts the Satellites in the league finals for the first time in at least six years.

Should Mundare oust Lamont, the finals could be extremely close, based on what happened during the regular season.

Mundare had a 3-1-1 record against Tofield in league play and outscored the Satellites 17-13, so there is little difference between the two teams.

Mundare would be looking for its third championship in a row and, if reports are true, would like to leave the league as a winner.

Reports out of Leduc indicate that Mundare has applied for admission to the Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League and has been accepted as a member of that league beginning next winter.

Past Time Pastimes

by Murray Shoat

March 12, 1857 - The first major Canadian train wreck occurred near Hamilton, Ontario. A Great West Railway passenger train fell from a bridge, killing 60 people.

March 13, 1916 - Manitoba became the first province to pass legislation which allowed women to vote in provincial elections Saskatchewan passed similar legislation a day later and other provinces quickly followed. Quebec was the last province to give women the vote, holding out until 1940. In 1917, the Federal government gave women with close relatives in the armed forces the right to vote. This right was later extended to all eligible women of voting age.

March 13, 1928 - Eileen Vollick became the first woman in Canada to qualify for a pilot's licence. Vollick, from Hamilton, Ontario, took her flying lessons in a Curtiss-Jenny bi-plane, equipped with skis for landing. Vollick used frozen Lake Ontario for her airstrip.

March 15, 1926 - The first Alberta Legislature assembled in the Thistle skating rink in Edmonton. The rink seated 3,500 people who crammed into it to watch this event. Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea entered the Legislature and, in accordance with parliamentary rules, asked permission from the Speaker of the Legislature to address the House. Bulyea was forced to call the rink because a Speaker had not yet been appointed. Premier A.C. Rutherford quickly proposed that Charles Fisher, from Cochrane, be appointed as Alberta's first Speaker. Upon his acceptance, Bulyea re-entered the legislature, acknowledged the Speaker, and presented the Speech from the Throne. This speech referred with gratification to the granting of provincial autonomy, a thanks for last year's bountiful harvest, and a welcome to the new settlers pouring into Alberta.

APPLY NOW

ALBERTA SMALL BUSINESS AND FARM INTEREST SHIELDING PROGRAM

As a small business owner or farmer whose total revenue over the past fiscal year did not exceed $5 million, you may be eligible for an interest shielding payment from the Alberta Government.

The interest is paid directly to you every six months. If you apply now the payments you receive can go directly back into your business cash flow. And that's only one of the many reasons now is the time to apply.

APPLY NOW:
Shareholder Loans Now Included
Shielding is available on loans up to $150,000. Shareholder loans are now also eligible. To find out if your business qualifies, telephone 1-800-642-3676.

APPLY NOW:
Step Back to Lower Interest Rates
The Interest Shielding Program is retroactive to March 1, 1982 and will effectively reduce your business loan interest rate to a minimum of 14½ per cent, with interest shielding equalling a maximum of 6 per cent. So, if you were or still are paying more than 14½ per cent, then the program will shield you for the difference.

In other words, on a 20½ per cent loan interest rate, the program will shield you by 6 per cent to 14½ per cent.

APPLY NOW:
Avoid Delay
The longer you delay, the longer the processing period. Thousands of Alberta businesses and farms have already applied for the Interest Shielding Program. And since records must be traced back to March 1, 1982, the retroactive program dear you can minimize further delays by submitting your application now.

APPLY NOW:

Ballet

With orchestrated grace, these young skaters perform an on-ice ballet during a skating concert held last week at the Tofield Community Centre. A large crowd turned out to watch performances which included dances from many youths. These young ladies seem to be sweeping gracefully among one another in a crowd-pleasing performance.

Ryley 4-H has contest

The Ryley Busy Beavers Clothing Club held their public speaking contest last Wednesday evening with many parents in attendance.

Eight of the ten members were scheduled to take part in the competition.

The speakers were able to choose the topic which most appealed to them and the range of topics included discussion on pets, vacations, sports, science projects and hobbies.

Speaking were Katie Brix, Stacey Arben, Kerri Lysio, Gloria Reum, Joanne [illegible], Linda Smith, [illegible] and Sharon Wade.

Judges for the evening were Joseph Voegtlin, Ruth Munkedal and Shirley Bowden.

The judges deliberated each entry before awarding first place and a cheque for $10 to Sharon Wade for her presentation.

Second prize was won by Linda Smith. Sharon went on to the county public speaking competition in Tofield.

While the judges were making their final deliberation, a number of parents made impromptu speeches as did Caroline Wade.

STITCHERY WORKSHOPS

Announcements regarding two upcoming stitchery workshops have crossed my desk lately. Below are details.

The first set of workshops, May 27-29, is sponsored by the Edmonton Needlecraft Guild. Participants choose between numerous seminars, such as Italian Cording, Trapunto, Mek-luks and Beading, Embroidery and Fabric Collage. The registration fee depends on how many workshops you attend. For more information and a registration form contact this office or phone Mrs. Edith Radke, 479-4873. Registration closes April 29.

A quilt conference is being planned for September 9-12, 1983 in Banff. The first quilt conference held in Calgary was a tremendous success. Details about registration are not yet available. More information can be obtained by contacting: Carol Campbell, Leisure Learning Services, Parkhill Centre, 3890-2 St., S.W. Calgary, Alberta. Phone: 263-0683.

Stained glass studio operates in Camrose

by Susan Moore

Beautiful stained glass lampshades and custom designed leaded windows are available from the Classic Glass Stained Glass Studio in Camrose.

Custom tiffany-style lamp-shades, windows, doors and suncatchers are just a few articles that can be made by Classic Glass owner and operator Nick Bondar.

What started as a hobby in the basement of his home Classic Glass Stained Glass has grown into a successful business for Bondar, a business education and accounting teacher at the Camrose Composite High School.

Bondar opened the business about four years ago after people interested in learning the stained glass craft approached him about teaching, he said.

He has lived in Camrose for five years, moving from Peace River where he was an accountant.

The Classic Glass Stained Glass Studio located on 49 Street, offers courses for those interested in doing their own stained glass projects and Bondar can also be commissioned for projects.

Bondar uses both the copper foil and lead caste methods when constructing stained glass pieces.

The copper foil method consists of cutting foil pieces and wrapping them around each piece of glass, then the pieces are soldered together, Bondar said. The solder is then antiqued on both sides. This takes a lot of time and is expensive, Bondar said.

Glass pieces are inserted into lead channels and the ends of lead are soldered together in the second method.

After soldering, the stained glass window is then cemented with putty for weatherproofing as well as strength. The joints are then made to look black with lead.

Sandblasting and acid glass etching are also available at Bondar's studio.

When sandblasting the glass is covered with a resist, a pattern (design) is cut out and the area is sandblasted, Bondar said.

In acid etching a resist is applied to the glass, a design is cut out and the piece is placed in an acid bath where the colored glass is eaten away.

Bondar took his first stained glass class in 1976 while living in Calgary. He was initially interested in enrolling in a sculpting class, but took the eight-week stained glass course because sculpting was unavailable.

Since then he has taken a course at the Oregon (Portland) school of Arts and Crafts where he learned the art of sandblasting. He attended an advanced stained glass class in Seattle offered by the Stained Glass Association of America and last summer took a three-week session on painting on glass with vitreous paints (powdered oxide paints) at Rit-bak, Washington.

Bondar instructs 20-hour beginner classes at his studio and sets a limit of six students to each course. He offers the course three times a year.

Students meet once a week for three hours to work on their projects and a beginner can take from 15 to 18 hours to complete a tiffany-style lamp, Bondar said. Time of completion depends on the skill level and the complexity of the design chosen by the student, he said.

Most of his students are in the 30, 40 and 60-year-old age range and a quarter to a third are men, he said. The most popular flower to take the course was in grade seven.

A grade nine art class in stained glass is also being offered by Bondar at CCHS and "it seems quite successful", he said.

Bondar recently completed instructing a Saturday stained glass class in Sedgewick being offered through County of Flagstaff Further Education.

Bondar can create a diversified array of stained glass windows for cupboards, cabinets, window frames and french doors.

He helps customers choose stained glass patterns depending on their lifestyle, environment and taste. His commission is based on the time it takes to complete the project, which depends on the complexity of the design, and the materials (the price varies with the different types of glass chosen.)

Antique glass "very nice and very expensive" can cost about $20 a square foot, Bondar said.

The studio also carries glass and supplies.

Glasscutters, soddering irons, foils and other accessories are available to the stained glass hobbyist from the Classic Glass Stained Glass studio.

His glass supply includes mostly spectrum glass made near Seattle. He also carries German new antique and merry-go-round glass from near Portland.

The Classic Glass Studio is open Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Bondar is usually in the shop from 6 to 9 p.m. on weeknights, he said.

Public speakers

This cheerful group of public speakers recently participated in the public speaking competition in the 4-H club. Speakers competed for awards in junior and senior categories and spoke on a variety of topics. By the looks on these smiling faces, it would appear that everyone enjoyed themselves and was entertained by each others' speeches.

Student gets trip

Katie Jensen of Tofield School is among 140 students from across Canada who will be participating in the first session of the Forum for Young Canadians, March 19th - 26th.

Each year, the Forum for Young Canadians brings to the Nation's Capital, from every province and territory in Canada, four hundred students who will be given the opportunity to discuss the processes of government with those who are in decision-making positions.

The students selected to participate in the Forum for Young Canadians' unique educational program are provided the rare privilege of sitting in the House of Commons and in the Senate. They will be visiting the Supreme Court of Canada and will be participating in a mock Cabinet discussion on immigration as well as staging a Federal-Provincial Conference.

By the end of their one-week program, the students would have learned about the difficulties and complexities of how their government operates and will have acquired a better understanding of their fellow Canadians from across the land.

Students rely on the generous support of local organizations to assist them in paying their fees for the course and the share of travel costs not covered by a grant from the Secretary of State.

Lucky winner

The lucky winner of a 1983 Ford Ranger is Daryl Toles of Tofield (seen right) The beaming winner had his ticket drawn at the Tofield Royal Canadian Legion during their St Patrick's day dinner held last Friday Over 2,000 tickets went on sale Nov 1 The winning ticket was sold by Jim Williams.

Toles gets Legion truck

by Don Macpherson

Daryl Toles of Tofield has won the 1983 Ford Ranger raffled by the Tofield Legion. The truck, provided by Swift Ford Sales, was the fourth vehicle raffled by the Legion over the past three years.

The drawing of the winning ticket was the climax to a perfectly festive St. Patricks Day dinner and dance sponsored by the Tofield Legion

Dr. Freebury, Mayor of Tofield drew the winning ticket from a barrel. Blindfolded, he reached deep into the drum and handed the ten dollar ticket to Legion President Munro Coleman who announced the lucky name It was almost an hour before the young man could make it down to the Legion to claim his truck

The raffle committee, comprised of Ed Ferguson, Tony Oomen, Jim Williams, Owen Jones, Gene Carlisle, Bob Scott, Corny Dick, Marie Eaglesham, Dick Thomas and Munro Coleman has worked since November selling 2084 of 2000 available tickets. The winning ticket was sold by Jim Williams.

In compliance with government regulations all tickets were counted on March 11 and stored in the Bank of Montreal vault Hugh McKenzie of the RCMP brought the tickets over from the bank where they were placed in the drum. $5400 of the proceeds were presented to Bob Scott, president of the Golden Club, for use in the construction and renovation of the old fire hall to be used as a seniors drop in centre. The other $5400 went to the Legion Building Committee for the Legion expansion project.

The evening, celebrting St. Patricks Day, commenced with the playing of the pipes by Gordon Kyle. The Ladies Auxiliary prepared a sumptious feast of Irish stew and hot basquits with nearly two hundred present taking part.

Seated at the head table was Sanny Barton, District Commander of the Ladies Auxiliary and her husband Tom; Owen Jones, District Zone Commander, and his wife Thelma, Ernest and Harriet Brown of Ryley; Bob and Trina Scott; Munro and Millie Coleman; Hugh and Evelyn McKenzie and Mr and Mrs. Barry Harper of the Bank of Montreal.

The Tofield Boy Scouts presented the Ladies Auxiliary with a plaque thanking them for their continued support throughout the past years.

The Ladies Auxiliary annually donates money to the youths for various projects. This year, members of the Ladies Auxiliary include Marie Eaglesham, Francis Oomen, Helen Prondello, Nola Ferguson, Dianne Ryan, Marj Dafoe, Shirley Vincent, Solfred Williams, Millie Coleman, Thelma Jones and Bertha Hank.

After all the formalities had been seen to, the group provided entertainment for the rest of the evening. Dining and dancing was at its best at the Tofield Legion St. Patricks Day dinner and dance.

Rodeo plans set

by Don Macpherson

Grab those stetsons and lariats, pards - the rodeo's coming to town'

The Tofield Agricultural Society will kick off their first annual rodeo on May 28 and 29, said Rodeo Committee Chairman, Glenn Jones.

Jones has promised two days of rootin'-tootin' rodeo cowboy (and cowgirl) events.

The agenda calls for top-level competition from amateur cowboys and cowgirls who will vie for prizes in ten major rodeo events.

Bareback and saddlebronc riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, junior steer riding, mutton bustin', ladies and junior barrel racing, team roping and bull riding will provide solid entertainment for the fans, Jones predicted

The rodeo has been approved by the 300-plus members of the Lakeland Rodeo Association The Agricultural Society is expecting the majority of the Lakeland riders to compete, in addition to several local entries.

Jones said the community has been responsive and optomistic to the Agricultural Society's plans

Several local businessmen have backed the rodeo by sponsoring the "Trophy Buttons" and prize money

Many local service groups and clubs will be running concession booths, directing traffic and serving and supervising events such as the beer fest and dance

Some clubs plan to participate by volunteering their members to assist in cleaning the rodeo grounds, collect money at the gate or sponsor a pancake breakfast and barbeque.

There are also plans in the works for a possible poster contest which may be held in conjunction with the local schools.

Businesses will also be urged to offer "Rodeo-Week" specials and have in-store draws to promote the affair.

The event gets underway on Saturday, May 28 at 1 p.m. and includes the rodeo, beef fest and barbeque, supper and dance.

It continues Sunday with a pancake breakfast served prior to competition time.

Area residents can also expect to see "Rodeo Queen" hopefuls out selling tickets to promote the event. Each girl will be given 800 tickets to sell at $1 apiece.

These ticket sales will be used as part of the criterion used to determine the Queen.

Gardeners meet

The Tofield Garden Club held their March meeting at the home of Rose Charters.

After the minutes were read and the financial report given, the Fair book was discussed.

The A.H.A. want three classes added, a cut flower and a vegetable, also a poster for the Junior section. It was decided to ask for more information about them and the prizes.

It was decided to add an arrangement of vegetables, and a class for vegetables grown by amateurs in a greenhouse. Some changes were made in children's classes hoping to bring more interest.

In the special project for this month, Gwen Petersen showed and explained the planters she had made from lumber scraps, a small hanging one, and a larger one for patio use.

Rose Charters spoke for the Hospital Auxiliary and the spices they are selling to raise money

Rose Charters served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be at the home of Yvonne Brown on April 6th.

Toros get finals berth

Tofield Toros have advanced to the finals in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros ousted Bashaw three games to one in their best of five semi-final series and now will meet the defending champions from Bawlf in the finals.

That best of give series will open tonight (Thursday) with a second game slated for Sunday and all games in this playoff will be held in Camrose.

Tofield had won the first two games in the series with Bashaw and results from those contests had been reported in last week's issue of The Mercury

Last Wednesday in Bashaw, the home team staved off elimination by posting a 3-2 triumph.

However, in Tofield on Friday night, the Toros scored a convincing 8-3 victory to win the series and the team's first berth in the league finals.

The third game saw Keech of Bashaw net four goals while Olafson picked up the other marker and Henrikson and J. Hudon replied for Tofield.

Bashaw picked up ten penalties in that contest while Tofield had eight.

In Friday's game in Tofield, the Toros earned their berth in the finals with an 8-3 victory.

G. Olson and Haycock each had a pair for Tofield whose singles were netted by Knox, G. Borten, Gilbert and J. Hudon while the Bashaw goals were scored by Keech, Olafson and Moe.

This was one of the cleaner games of the season with only nine penalties being called, six to Bashaw and three to Tofield.

Olafson of Bashaw crumpled to the ice on his way to the bench in this game and was taken to hospital by ambulance. The latest reports indicate that his problem was not as severe as first thought Bawlf got its berth in the finals by ousting Round Hill in four games in their best of five semi-final series.

Choirs to sing

Community choirs from Viking and Tofield are preparing to present Easter singing programs at the Arts Centre in Holden.

On Monday, the thirty-voice Viking Choir will present "The Crucifixion" an Easter Cantata by John Stainer. The choir, composed of members of various Viking churches, has been rehearsing since Christmas under the direction of George Lambert of Edmonton. The pianist is Ian Dunlop, also of Edmonton.

The choir will be presenting their program in Viking, Wainwright and in Holden.

One week later, on April 4, the Tofield Community Choir will present an Easter program in the Arts Centre.

The sixty-voice choir, under the direction of Abe Poettger and accompanied by Miss Esther Wiens, both of Tofield, is presenting their hour-long program in Tofield, Ryley and Holden.

Smurfin'

Pals until the end, no doubt Young Ryan MacDonald was the lucky winner of this huge smurf which was raffled off during the Krazy Kwarter Karnival held in Tofield Saturday And the comical creature was a hit with all the children who attended the afternoon event

"Here comes our guide."

Heavy load

The case of 6-year-old Stephen Dawson in Vancouver hasn't ended yet, not by a long shot. Oh, the courtroom struggles and the legal battles may be over for a short time, because he's already had his operation.

But there will be discussions and legal wrangles, and other courtroom scenes over the months ahead, all contesting roughly the same issue.

In the first place, it seems to us, the child welfare department in such a case takes on a fearful load of responsibility in insisting that a child be taken from its parents for the treatment the department feels is essential, or alternatively should not be provided.

But having once taken the child, it seems entirely unreasonable that they should treat it, and then get rid of it by handing it back to the parents. "Here, you look after it . . . it's your kid, after all!" Surely they shouldn't have the right to step in and interfere unless they're prepared to make it 'their kid'.

Just how often can they step in, then back out again?

We can't help but believe the parents were the more compassionate . . . they asked that the first judge's decision be respected, ending the turmoil, but someone in the department insisted on appealing, almost like a determined Pro-Lifer taking the case as far as he had to to get the kind of verdict he wanted. After all, the province has lots of money to conduct these cases.

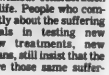
The parents might possibly have asked that the case go still higher for another appeal, but allowed compassion to persuade them not to.

There may be good reason for it, but we find it surprising that new evidence was introduced into the appeal court hearing, evidence as to the boy's state of health which was hardly corroborated later by the doctor who performed the operation, and who felt the testimony given was not up-to-date.

The judgment also introduces new discussion between the medical, legal and spiritual aspects of the community, the medical fraternity wondering about what legal responsibility they bear to keep the heart pumping, to keep life going, entirely by mechanical means, in a body which has ceased, for all practical purposes, to exist as a human being.

The decisions, ethical, moral, legal, medical, humanistic, bear an awesome responsibility as we move further and further into the realms of medical capacity, of the ability to 'sustain' life, without consideration of the kind of life. People who complain indignantly about the suffering caused animals in testing new methods, new treatments, new drugs for humans, still insist that the humans endure those same sufferings.

Patricia Young Says . . . . .



Edmund Burke spoke a profound truth when he observed: "Example is the school of mankind; he will learn no other way." And while we try to be something of an example to our children, we rarely demand an example of government. Thus we have an example of government arrogance, government lust and weaseling; foolish government waste of taxpayers' money. Seemingly, citizens assume the pose that what government can do, so the taxpayer can do, be it a double-shuffle in bookkeeping or a padding of the expense account.

What we need of government, then, is less government and more freedom from bureaucratic domination. We need politicians who will refrain from campaigns of what they will give us, but what they can save us; who will set themselves to cutting red tape rather than employing more civil servants to manufacture it!

What we need is not more philosophical sermons, but men who will practice what they preach. Instead of having to reach for our wallets every time a politician opens his mouth, we should elect men and women who tell it like it is, who are not afraid to call a spade a spade and who can help us face an economic truth without sticking a welfare lollipop in our mouth to make it more palatable. Little wonder that Edmund Burke once observed dryly that free men were in jeopardy every time Parliament was in session!

Basically, it is an insult to the intelligence of the voter when politicians assure us that things were never better. It is an insult to citizens when politicians go from group to group informing them of how big a slice of the pie this or that Party will give them. It is equally dishonest to threaten the voter that the "opposition" Party would duplicate the mistakes of the party in power! Bother by far that politicians make the campaign promise to "save us alone" except in those areas of desirable government participation. Since I am not looking for a Big Brother and am capable of being my own Big Spender, I'll vote for the man who promises me least government and the most protection of my individual accountability, freedom of choice and right to make a wrong choice at my own risk.

This is the essence of freedom — something we must fight for lest the do-gooders success in legislating what is best for us — is the captive slave nations of the world. So take notice, Mr. Politician — stop not about how you'll spend my money for me, but how you plan on saving me a buck or two!

"Thank you"

Dear Sir:

As another year in the Tofield Minor Hockey draws to a close, the executive for the 1982-83 season would like to "thank" all the coaches, managers and trainers who so willingly donated of their time and efforts towards the hockey program.

If it wasn't for them, our children would not be able to participate in a minor hockey program. Also, a "thank you" should be given to all the parents (you know who you are) who didn't just drive their child to the arena and drop him or her off, or who made their child walk to the arena for games and practices but, the parents who came and cheered the team on and gave them encouragement.

Parents like you we need! THANKS!

To those of you who helped with Christmas card display, wind-up banquet, tournaments, raffles - thank you! You have made things a little lighter for the executive.

This year's executive serving for Tofield Minor Hockey Association were: president - Larry Gillrie; 1st vice president - Marsha Donovan; 2nd vice president - Ed Doupé; treasurer - Lucy Anderson; secretary - Carol Doupé; midget director - Rolf Kapelsdat; bantam director - Kai Kristensen; pee wee director - Tom Cunningham; mite director - Bob Risdale; mighty-mite director - Jim Tremblay; Tom Thumbs director - Graham Buckingham.

To these people thank you for the many hours you have put in this year giving of your time to improve and help the moral of Tofield Minor Hockey.

On April 13th, at 8 p.m. in the arena, a general meeting will be held where election of officers will take place.

Have you served your year on the executive? Are you satisfied with the program?

If the answer is "NO" to any of these questions, why don't you take your turn, voice your opinion.

If you are interested please the nomination committee - Larry Gillrie at 662-3749 or Rob Hubbard at 662-2767.

The wind-up banquet will be held on April 23rd in the Community Hall, at 6:30 p.m.

Will Crow reform bankrupt Western Canadian farmers?

230-2886 Albert Street
Regina, Sask.
March 10, 1983

Dear Sir:

The reality of the Western Rail Transportation Initiatives has hit Western farmers hard. Paying more to move grain is a frightening prospect as we sit with depressed grain prices, a world wide recession, and good movement of our grain off the prairies (due to no movement of other commodities). This is not a good time to ask farmers to pay more to ship grain. But will Crow Reform really bankrupt Western Canadian farmers?

First let's remember the reason for rail reform. We want an efficient and economical system to move our grain. We can't forget that, even in the current hysteria, when some people are predicting the demise of the Western farmer.

Let's look at a specific community. Rosetown shipped 6 million bushels of grain last year at a cost of $700,000. Say Pepin's plan comes into effect. Rosetown will be no increase in volumes of grain shipped. Then Rosetown farmers will be paying 4.5 X Crow in 1985-86 (not 5.5 in 1986 as the NFU has publicly stated). This would mean Rosetown farmers would pay $2.5 million extra shipping costs in 1985-86.

Some people claim this increase will benefit grain farmers. To do this, you would have to make two assumptions. One, that the price of grain will not increase over the next 3 years. Two, that there will be no volume increase. Both of these assumptions are unenlightened.

Historically, the price of grain has risen 4% per year (with advancing and declining prices). To completely cover these extra transportation costs, the price of grain will only need to rise by 10c per bushel (a 1% increase each year). Of course prices don't rise by an exact amount each year. Some years they decline. Others, they escalate. An efficient rail system will allow farmers to recoup their losses from a downturn, by allowing quicker volumes to move rapidly. But, we must remember this increases normally move upwards. They have averaged at a historical average of 4% increase per year. So by 1991-92, the price could well be $6.40 per bushel. This would mean additional revenue of $6.5 million to Rosetown. The additional freight costs are $2.5 million. This leaves an extra $4.0 million in gross revenues after freight.

What about the "no volume increase" idea. This assumption is even easier to question. Wheat Board Commissioner J.L. LeGrisé, commented on this at the Tenth Farm Leaders Caucus a few days ago. He said that to feed the estimated increased world population (12.N. minimum estimates), the world must boost its production. And the annual increase must be the equivalent of Western Canada's record 1982 crop. He said Canada's share can be gained through improved farming techniques. The Canada Grains Council and Feed Grains Review Board say the same thing. By 1991-92, the prairies should be shipping 49.8 million tonnes.

What would this mean to Rosetown? Say Rosetown produces its share of this extra production. Then Rosetown will be shipping 6.66 million bushels by 1991-92. Even at today's prices this would be an extra $7 million. Freight costs for it would be $1.8 million. If wheat prices increases, revenues will be even greater.

These higher prices and more volume could occur without Crow Reform. But today's rail transportation system, won't allow us to take advantage of expanding markets and higher prices.

Yes, increasing rail rates will cost farmers more. But we need a rail system which will meet future demand and is economically efficient.

Let's look at Western Canada's agriculture with a view to the future.

Past Time Pastimes

January 28, 1945 - The famous schooner Bluenose struck a reef off the coast of Haiti and sank. Four years earlier, the Bluenose had been sold to a Caribbean firm as a freighter. Before this, the Bluenose had established its fame worldwide as a fishing and racing schooner. The Bluenose won the International Fishermen's Trophy five times. On one working voyage, the Bluenose landed an incredible catch of 300,000 pounds of fish. Sailing ships powered by engines ended the era of the fishing schooner. To commemorate these proud ships, the Bluenose is found on the back of Canadian dimes.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

In these difficult economic times, being careful with your money is only sensible, and the Reader's Digest Complete Buyer's Guide helps you to do just that. This book is full of good advice on such topics as mortgages, credit accounts, understanding labelling, travel costs, investments and insurance, etc. There are also sections to help you shop more wisely for necessary household items such as furniture, appliances, clothing, etc. The Library also carries the magazine Canadian Consumer, and has the annual buying guide issues for this title as well as for the Consumers Reports. Check in at the Library before making these major purchases.

Other new titles include The Thinking Woman's Beauty Book, with chapters on exercise, makeup, hair care and wardrobe; Pencil Drawing Step by Step, in a revised and reorganized edition; and The Bag Book with ideas and directions for making many attractive and unusual handbags or carry-bags. Also, look over the selection of new paperback titles.

Thanks are due to the many volunteers who help the Library to function as well as it does. Assistance is given in such areas as the preschool story hour, delivering books to the Lodge, shelving and repairing books, typing and filing, and helping at the circulation desk. The Library Board is also a volunteer group, responsible for library policy and seeking funds to keep the Library in action.

The latter is a difficult job these days, as Library service is being provided not only for Tofield residents, but for several hundred county taxpayers, in spite of the fact that there are no County tax monies supporting the service. If you feel that this situation should be changed, please call your county councillor or the County office.

For those of you who have noticed the bright yellow and brown sign in front of The Mercury's office but haven't bothered to read it, take a closer look next time

In the top corner, you'll see the phrase "Your Community Newspaper". Think about what it means Simply, The Mercury is YOUR newspaper. It not only serves you, but it IS you.

A community newspaper can only be as strong as the fabric which weaves throughout the town, or towns, it serves.

As no two towns are alike, no two community newspapers are identical. Every community has its strengths and weaknesses. They are hopefully accurately depicted in the pages of your newspaper

And every community newspaper has its strengths and weaknesses, too, whether it be a large metropolitan daily or a weekly serving towns of several thousand.

No newspaper is complete. None are perfect and none can offer everything

But we can strive to improve. And you can help us do it on a grass-roots level.

Too often, the executive and senior editorial staff of a newspaper lose touch with the average Joe on the street.

Understandably. They're not foot-soldiers. They sit in private offices and don't hear from you unless you call or write.

You, the readers of the community paper, measure its worth by the whole product - not the balance sheet.

And it is ONLY YOU who can give us the feedback necessary to improve The Mercury, to give you what YOU want.

Consider this an informal "straw-poll". It is aimed at getting as much reaction - positive or negative - to The Mercury.

So, what do you think? Where are our shortcomings? Where do we fall down? What are our redeeming qualities?

Many a newspaper-related complaint surrounds its news coverage. Do you think The Mercury should carry more news from correspondents in hamlets, or more social columns?

How about sports coverage? Is there too little, or perhaps too much. Do you think our use of photographs is adequate? Perhaps you'd like to see more.

It's imperative to us to find out more about what YOU think. Only then can we serve you better.

It's traditionally fun to poke jest and criticize the "hometown rag". And it is true as some papers just don't measure up.

But any paper can be made up to snuff with the right direction from the backbone of the newspaper business, the reader

Like I said, we're not perfect and we don't pretend to be.

But we are trying, and we could use all the assistance you can give us. In the end, we will all benefit from a community newspaper which reflects you.

Three short years ago, Alberta's economy and the oil and gas industry were both healthy.

Coincidence?

We asked groups of Albertans this question recently. Their answer: "No coincidence at all."

They were convinced that there was a solid link between Alberta's prosperity and the health of the oil and gas industry.

Three short years ago, wells were being drilled in record numbers. Refineries were being built. Pipelines were being laid. The industry was prosperous. And people were being hired.

But the prosperity went far beyond the oil and gas industry. Construction flourished. New stores and service industries opened up. Restaurants were full. Every sector of our economy enjoyed unprecedented growth. Times were good.

The oil and gas industry is confident that the prosperity Albertans enjoyed three short years ago will return. It simply means commitment, ingenuity and perseverance on the part of both government and industry. The time for action has come.

This message is from the members of the Petroleum Resources Communication Foundation.

Energy. It makes Alberta work.

CLC to perform

The Crucible, an exciting drama about the Puritan purge of witchcraft in old Salem, is both a gripping historical play and a timely parable of our contemporary society. The Crucible, with a cast of twenty-one, will be presented by the Camrose Lutheran College Department of Drama at the Performing Arts Centre March 25, 26, and 27 only.

The Crucible, by Arthur Miller, is that rarity in theatre, a play that seems finer and more alive today than when it was first produced, in this case 1953. The phenomenon isn't unique, but is unusual and cheering. It is can probably be appreciated only by the veteran drama-lover, whose memories are sure to be filled with works he had cherished, only to find in some later revival that they have lost their savour. What makes the case of The Crucible even more gratifying is that, despite its setting of the fashion which trials toward the end of the seventeenth century, it was essentially a topical drama, the sort which is generally regarded as becoming outmoded most quickly and emphatically.

The story focuses upon a young farmer, his wife, and a young servant-girl who maliciously causes the wife's arrest for witchcraft. The farmer brings the girl to court to admit the lie - and her in this trial scene is the big moment - it is a thrilling, blood-curdling, terrifying scene, as it depicts the monstrous course of bigotry and deceit. The farmer, instead of saving his wife, finds himself also accused, imprisoned and condemned.

Tickets, available from the College at 679-1100 are $5 for adults and $3 for students. Be sure to order soon, as seating is limited and sales have been lively. There is a chance that tickets will be available at the door. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

The West discovers Columbus

Columbus, a new high yielding hard red spring wheat variety developed by Agriculture Canada will be available through SeCan members for seeding in 1983. Columbus has consistently outyielded Neepawa and all other hard red spring varieties since it entered field trials in 1978.

High yield is only part of the story. Other features make Columbus even more attractive.

Columbus has greatly improved resistance to sprouting and weathering. When left in the swath, Columbus retains its test weight better, bleaches less, and has less tendency to sprout. The Canadian Grain Commission believes this feature could save a full grade in the event of adverse harvest conditions.

Less sprouting also results in a lower alpha-amylase level in the grain. This is a very desirable characteristic for grain moving into the high quality export markets such as those in Japan and the United Kingdom.

Columbus is resistant to leaf rust and moderately resistant to stem rust so it is widely adapted to the prairies.

Columbus is easier to thresh than Neepawa and is still resistant to shattering. It is 2 to 3 days later in maturity than Neepawa.

In all areas where early maturity is not a prime consideration, Columbus is expected to set new standards for hard red spring wheat.

My kind of town

by Carol Livingstone

Today someone asked me how I liked living in Tofield. I answered that I liked it just fine.

"Not much excitement, is there," she said.

"No", I agreed. "But we didn't come here for the excitement."

The conversation started me thinking about why we did come here. I know that three years ago I would not have believed that today I would be able to watch horse shows out my kitchen window.

There's a lot to be said about city life and I said most of it during the many years my husband and I lived in one. Towards the end, much of it was unprintable.

It's always life in the fast lane there - except during rush hour, of course. Thoughts of greener pastures (as well as quieter, less crowded pastures) grew with the city, multiplied with the population and thrived with the crime rate. Eventually we made our escape, with me still having a wild love affair with large shopping malls and theatres.

You know what they say - "You can take the girl out of the city . . ." A series of events and a change of employer for my husband brought us to Tofield, along with lower cost housing, continued dreams of a 'better life' and a moving van.

It didn't take long to find out that there is a lot to be said for life in the slow lane, too. I met more friendly people in the first weeks here than I could have in a city.

People aren't afraid to speak to other people and when they hear you used to live in a city, they don't shy away like they are afraid it might be catching. The first time someone said "Hello" to me in the street I thought they must be speaking to someone else.

Do you know that you can park your car and be sure it will be there when you get back? And a mother doesn't have to worry about lost children because not even they can get lost in a town you can walk across in ten minutes.

Everything in Tofield is just a couple of blocks away.

And you can actually go for a walk after dark without being accompanied by two Sumo wrestlers and a guard dog.

No, Tofield is not perfect but then, no place is. And sometimes I still miss being able to shop for everything in one store and having my milk and mail delivered to my door.

But, after spending a day in the city, with the crowds and noise and traffic, I realize anew why we opted out. It's a nice place to visit but I wouldn't want to live there.

I think we've finally managed to take most of the city out of the girl.

Salad fixin's

The St. Patrick's Day celebration at the Legion in Tofield on Friday included a hearty Irish stew and, of course, a salad and hot biscuits. If 100 pounds of potatoes went into the stew, another 25 pounds of salad made its way to the table to satisfy hearty Legionnaire appetites. Here Ladies Auxiliary member Dianne Ryan is seen grinding up the fixings.

Report from

Parliament Hill

by The Honourable
Dan Mazankowski,
P.C., M.P.

Mazankowski Claims Closure Ending Parliamentary Democracy

Speaking in the House of Commons Dan Mazankowski, M.P. (P.C.-Vegreville) declared that the excessive use of closure rules by the Government is "severely undermining the institution of Parliament. This institution is no longer functioning as a parliamentary democracy. It is more like a parliamentary dictatorship" said Mr. Mazankowski during debate on the government's motion to invoke closure on Bill C-163 which would authorize the government to borrow $19 billion.

Noting that the government has now imposed a form of closure 39 times in the current session almost exclusively with respect to financial Bills, Mr. Mazankowski stated that such actions strike at the very "fundamental purpose for which the parliamentary institution was devised; to authorize the collection and expenditure of public funds".

The unprecedented size of the borrowing Bill, $19 billion, is an example of the "catastrophic financial mess that the government has created" continued Mr. Mazankowski. "Since 1980 it has chalked up some $60 billion in deficits" and the gross national debt now amounts to $13,300 per taxpayer in Canada.

The uncontrolled increase in wasteful and extravagant government spending has clearly contributed to the deterioration of our economy by encouraging inflation and increasing interest rates. Mr. Mazankowski noted that Canada's misery index comprised of the inflation rate plus the unemployment rate, is the highest of the major industrialized countries and that Canada ranked last in economic growth in the industrialized world during 1982.

"The federal government has brought Canada to the edge of a financial and economic crisis" said Mr. Mazankowski, "and must stop trying to spend its way out of problems if we are really going to improve our economic prospects."

Brownie rally is held

The Tofield Brownies travelled to New Sarepta on March 12th to meet with approximately fifty Brownies from other packs.

A snack started the day followed by the Brownie ring led by Audrey Otto, the New Sarepta leader.

The girls were then introduced to an aerobics instructor who led them in various exercises. Songs were sung and the girls joined in for a square dance.

Everyone then took a break for lunch.

Taking advantage of the beautiful weather, a mini-olympics was held in the afternoon.

That same day, in the afternoon, the Guides held a tea and bake sale as well as a doll display.

The drownies who did not attend the rally helped serve.

The tea was well attended and the many dolls were beautifully arranged. Dolls have changed considerably over the years. Several displayed dated back to the early 1900's.

At the Community Association meeting last week, plans were made for a "Spring Fever" dance to be held on April 30th at the Hall, and tickets can be obtained from Elaine Elford at 662-3899.

The volunteer Playschool leaders were present and joined in a discussion about plans for the future, when new volunteers will be needed to run the groups. At present, there are about 20 children enrolled, and interest has already been shown in the program for 1982/84.

The Ladies' Club met at Margaret Berg's house and saw many examples of looms and different styles of weaving. The meeting included preparations for the international dinner to be held at the Hall on April 23rd.

Seminars are planned

"Inlaws and Outlaws - Managing the Two-Family Farm"! That is the name of a seminar that will be held at Red Deer and Alliesbra on March 10 and 11 respectively.

As its name implies, it is about two families farming the same farm. The seminar was organized by Alberta Agriculture's district agriculturists and district home economists in Lacombe, Red Deer, Rocky Mountain House and Innisfail in response to the tremendous increase in the number of "two-family" farms in that part of the province.

Garry Bradshaw, Alberta Agriculture's regional economist at Red Deer, will discuss the legal and financial aspects of more than one family farming together. And Joyce Irvine, a frequent speaker at Alberta Women's Week and a lecturer at the University of Lethbridge, will talk about surviving the stresses and strains of two families working and living together on one farm.

There will also be a special performance by local actors and actresses to stimulate interest in the seminar topic.

The Red Deer seminar will be held in the banquet room of the new Westerner Altaplex on March 10 while the Alliesbra seminar will be held in the community hall on March 11. They will both start at 9:30 a.m. and finish at 3 p.m. The cost is only $15 for the whole family or $10 for a single person.

You can reserve your place at "The Inlaws - Managing the Two-Family Farm" by contacting the Lacombe district office (782-8391); the Red Deer district office (343-5344); the Rocky Mountain House district office (845-2256); or the Innisfail district office (227-4644).

PRESERVING ORGANIC SOILS

Scientists in Quebec are studying the use of copper to preserve organic soils in that province.

Exposing certain microorganisms in the soil to the air through cultivation causes organic soils to decompose. Research has shown that adding copper to the soil reduces the action of the microorganisms, extending the life of these soils.

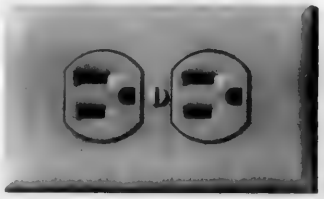
THE DAYS WHEN A FAMILY COULD AFFORD A GOOD SERVANT ARE NOT GONE



Electricity only costs the average household about $9 a week. And it never asks for a day off.

For little more than a dollar and a quarter a day, electricity serves your family hand and foot, which adds up to one of the best values you can get in this day and age.

Consider.

Electricity lights your house, cooks your meals, sweeps your rugs, freezes your food and shaves you.

It wakes you up, tells you the time, powers your furnace fan, brings you entertainment from the four corners of the earth and cools you.

It pumps your water, drives the humidifier, washes the dishes, does the laundry, runs the thermostat, opens your tins, and helps to start your car in the dead of winter.

Electricity—its value serves you well.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Heskins of the Lindbrook area are tickled pink that the Grant MacEwan newspaper saw fit to feature their youngest daughter Karen in an article. Karen is a librarian for the Crowndale Campus and the article mentions that she has found the career most rewarding and gratifying. Karen took her training at the Grant MacEwan College and after graduating was hired on to tackle the challenges of the Crowndale Campus. So hats off to Karen and Mr. and Mrs. Heskins you should be proud!

A wonderfully wacky party was held at the home of Barb Johnson Friday evening. Some say it was to celebrate the ending of another week while the rest of the world knows it was to celebrate her 30th birthday. Some girls have all the luck . . . surrounded by good food and great friends! Happy birthday Barb and why was there no pineapple upside-down cake?"

Now that the Daryl Tales are sporting a new 1983 Ford Ranger, remember you too have a chance to be cruising in a new Duchess. Tickets are available on this replica of a 1983 Midget from any member of the Tofield Lions. Get them now, they won't last forever.

And a very happy birthday to that sweet young thing at JD's who celebrated a birthday last week. There's another 30 year old who has all the pizzazz and spunk you'd ever need. Stop in and buy her a soda . . .

The lovely and charming and most energetic Mrs. Agnes Anderson motored to the Big E to spend a wonderful weekend with Lance Hanson. These two ladies go back a few years and had a wonderful time reminiscing and shopping

Choosing the fitness activity
. . . an important decision

So, now you've decided to exercise at least three times a week and the major question becomes "What type of exercise?"

This is a fairly important question. Most people procrastinate and delay beginning any sort of fitness program primarily because they don't think fitness is fun. So it's important to participate in an activity you'll enjoy - it's pointless trying to tolerate something you really don't like.

It's a good idea also to involve yourself with a group in the physical activity because the company of friends with a common goal is a great incentive to stay at it. Alberta Fitness reports that the dropout rate of solitary exercisers is very high, so a group is important. Also, you can give one another support and encouragement.

In some ways commencing a fitness program is like giving up smoking cigarettes; if you really don't have your whole heart in the activity then you're bound to place all sorts of obstacles in the way and eventually you'll fail.

So, your program has to be convenient, practical and relatively inexpensive. If it takes you an hour to get to a certain location for the activity, or if there's an expensive admission fee, or if you really feel out of place it's likely you won't continue for long on the program.

Walking, jogging, swimming and cycling are popular physical activities that are fairly inexpensive.

Walking is probably the best way to begin any sort of fitness program. Choose a different route each time to make the activity more interesting and make the walk brisk, about 120 steps per minute.

Walking may lead to jogging, an activity that's been popular in Canada for years. Jogging is easy to learn - it fits in somewhere between walking and running and while jogging is great for the cardiovascular system, it doesn't have all the stress and strain of running.

As with other activities, you should begin jogging for 15 minutes, at least three times a week. If you choose this activity, make sure you research and build the correct jogging style and also have the right equipment such as good jogging shoes.

Cycling, one of my own favorites, is a great form of exercise, especially in the spring and summer. An easy bike pace is 20 km/hr. Plan your route ahead of time and travel in the destinations at the slower pace. On the return trip travel at about 25 km/hr and spend at least 60 minutes on the trip.

Riding the bike to a different location each time makes it more fun. With cycling special precautions have to be taken; make sure the bike is in good condition and always observe traffic rules.

Besides swimming, the pool can be used for other activities too. Play tag or a ball game in the water and a relay is a good idea for a group activity also.

Change strokes in the relay and stay involved for as long as you can. It's a good idea to practice water safety skills while at the pool.

There are numerous other activities to participate in and you can probably make the planning of the activities part of the fitness program too.

As mentioned previously, don't engage in strenuous exercises immediately, this may result in injury. Start out gently and gradually increase the amount of exercise done at each session.

Mainstream Canada

Let the punishment fit the crime

By W. Roger Worth

Finally, Jean-Claude Parrot has come up with a sensible proposition. After years of fighting and striking for one massive salary increase after another, the leader of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers suggests the latest round of postal rate increases should be postponed until service improves.

What's amazing is that Parrot openly admits the country's postal service leaves something to be desired, no matter the expensive surveys and advertisements placed by the post office to inform us otherwise.

For if the postal service is something less than efficient (and just ask any small firm waiting for an important order or cheque whether that's the case), it is difficult not to lay the blame on the people who sort and deliver the mail. And many of these individuals are Parrot's members.

Parrot and the postal workers, of course, blame all the problems on management. They don't seem to understand that [illegible] strikes and the [illegible] strikes to win more than $23,000 per year for employees [illegible] post office [illegible] money, [illegible] paid by taxpayers.

Last year that loss was about $600 million, compared to a surplus (or profit) of $710 million for the United States postal service.

But wages are only one factor. Parrot, for example, claims it is illegal to lay off postal workers, even though they aren't needed when mail volume drops, as it has in the last few years. So postal employees end up doing less work for the same money.

With such costly agreements it is not hard to understand why our posties are being asked to pay $2.50 per week each to support Quebec teachers who may again strike and close down the province's school system, even though the law says that option isn't [illegible].

When governments and the employees involved have a monopoly on providing such goods or services (with little or no competition from the private sector), then unions representing these individuals can hold the public to ransom, which is what has been happening.

Parrot, of course, has been a relentless user of strikes and the threat-to-strike weapon. As a result, the cost to taxpayers, businesses and the country has been tremendous.

The union leader is quite correct when he claims that the postal service is not efficient. He is also correct when he suggests any postal rate increase should be delayed until service improves.

But taxpayers shouldn't have to foot the bill for additional post office losses.

Instead, the postal workers (including those represented by Parrot) should accept salary cuts until service here reaches the level of efficiency provided by the Posties' counterparts in other countries.

As Gilbert and Sullivan have so aptly put it: "Let the punishment fit the crime".

Week Of Readers

One of the participating writers in Week of Readers Rudy Wiebe

by Sheelagh Caygill

The week, which featured 10 Canadian writers, was probably the most important literary event held in Camrose so far and was "definitely successful", said Monty Reid, one of the organizers and an editor of Camrose's own literary magazine, The Camrose [illegible].

"There'll definitely be something similar next year," [illegible].

Hosted by Camrose Lutheran College, The Camrose Review and The Camrose Arts Society, the week featured Rudy Wiebe, George Bowering, Edna Alford, Gertrude Story, Roo Borson, Patrick Friesen, Brian Fawcett, Bill Kinsella, Elizabeth Smart and Douglas Barbour.

More than [illegible] people attended readings during Week of Readers held in Camrose March 14-18.

The week originated out of a desire to promote and arts by having one big event, said Reid earlier. Also, the public were exposed to writers and the writers were able to meet other writers, Reid said.

Bean bagger

It takes deft skill and perfect concentration to get that big bean bag into the opening in that little bucket. Jennifer Coleman of Tofield shows a trained eye and great hand control as she lobs the bags towards their elusive target. The bean bag challenge was one of many which included ring tosses, fish ponds, hockey shootouts and other games which attracted youngsters to the Tofield centre last week.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

You have been feeling out of sorts lately. Nothing specific, just a little tired and unambitious, but enough to warrant a visit to your doctor. After the usual examination and a few tests, your physician concludes that you have "Edmontonitis", a fairly common, not too serious disease that I just invented.

A diet is prescribed, along with three different types of pills. Then the fun begins. You tell your wife the diagnosis and she says that Mary, in her bridge club, had Edmontonitis and her doctor treated it with injections and massage. Your boss, when he had it, was given a diet (which did not resemble yours at all) and was told to go to bed for a week.

Why do patients with the same disease receive different types of treatment? How do you know which treatment is best? Is your doctor behind the times or are your friends' doctors wrong?

Most diseases can be treated in more than one way. The choice may be made on the basis of the exact diagnosis, the presence of complications, the age of the patient, the presence of chronic disease and the availability of specialized treatment.

Your doctor may know that you are allergic to the drug of first choice and select an alternative. He may feel that you might not get the prescription filled and instead gives you an injection while you are in the office.

Often a physician is more familiar with one form of treatment than another, finds his results are good and sticks with his favorite. Some doctors prefer simple treatment while others use more complex methods, again a matter of judgment.

Usually there is room for choice and, within a certain range of treatment possibilities, there is no "right" or "wrong" approach. Fine-tuning of treatment depends on individual circumstances.

Dramatic variations in suggested treatment may be a cause for legitimate concern. If your doctor insists on operating to cure your Edmontonitis and you and your friends have never heard of anyone having surgery for this condition, a second opinion should be sought.

Usually there is good and sufficient reason for diversity of treatment. Physicians are usually willing to discuss the theoretical and practical reasons for their choice if they are asked.

Medically Speaking is published with the cooperation of this newspaper and the Alberta Medical Association.

MUSTARD: A NEW OILSEED CROP

Mustard could become an alternate oilseed crop for western farmers thanks to research in Canada and on the other side of the world.

Australian researchers have bred a mustard variety low in eracic acid, making it possible to produce an edible oil from mustard for human consumption.

Canadian scientists now are developing a unique process for producing animal feed from the mustard meal remaining after the oil has been removed. This involves removing another compound, glucosinolate, that can cause growth and reproductive problems in livestock.

NEW EFFORT IN ANIMAL HEALTH CONSULTATION

Agriculture Canada is working to further improve consultations on animal health issues with the livestock industry, veterinarians and other organizations in Canada.

As part of this effort, the department sent questionnaires to the provincial governments, educational institutions and other private sector organizations last fall asking for their views on what form these consultations should take.

The responses are now being reviewed and the final report will be available by next spring.

NEW METHOD TO CONTROL HOUSE FLIES

Studies at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge, Alta., Research Station could help provide answers to the persistant problem of house fly control on farms and in feedlots.

Station scientists have tested two new methods of eliminating flies in manure, the most common breeding ground for flies on the farm.

In one experiment, insecticides mixed in cattle rations eliminated almost 100 per cent [illegible] in the manure [illegible] harming the cattle.

In other tests tiny parasitic wasps that prey on house fly pupae were released in areas where pig manure was stored. The wasps reduced the fly population by more than 90 per cent.

ENERGY CROPS

The weeds that farmers fight to control today could be a promising crop in the future.

Growing weeds commercially to produce energy fuels is one of a number of projects being undertaken by Agriculture Canada scientists and other researchers as part of the federal department's Energy Research Development in Agriculture and Food program.

These projects are still in their early stages, but they could help Canada produce energy from plants without diminishing food production.

'Tater peelers

Members of the Tofield Legion Ladies Auxiliary Nola Ferguson and Francis Oomen were busy in the Legion kitchen last Friday peeling the spuds in preparation of a masive Irish stew in celebration of St Patrick's Day in Tofield. The two ladies toiled throughout the day and peeled no less than 100 pounds of spuds.

Crossfire

by Rev. Lee Woolery
[illegible] Lutheran Parish

The last line of the last verse of an old hymn: "In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me."

The power of these words is the power of God's promise. "I am with you always." He is Lord of both the living and the dead.

He lived for only a few months.

Most of that time was spent in the hospital. He was too young to know what was happening to his body. His doctors were old enough to know, but it was beyond their ability to prevent death.

And so he died.

The shock waves hit the parents, relatives, friends, his community. It seemed unfair. It didn't seem right. And yet it happened. There were tears, hugs, questions. And there was prayer. People joined together. There was support. God in their midst.

God didn't promise He would prevent death.

He did promise, "I am with you always". He did promise to be Lord both of the living and the dead. He did promise to help overcome the cruelty, the unjustness of death. His Son gave flesh to those promises. His resurrection sealed it with love. "We know that Christ is raised and dies no more," says one of the newer hymns.

He lived for only a few months. His family continues to live. Their support comes from their friends, their community. And it comes from the "I am always with you" God. Their song is our song, because it is God's promise. "In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me."

CLEANING SERVICES FOR CARPETS, UPHOLSTERY AND DRAPES

With the explosion of man-made fibres and new textiles, dry cleaning has become a complex business. Many of us rely on specialists to clean upholstered furniture, carpets and drapes. Unfortunately, the results are always not satisfactory. Here are some precautions you can take to avoid disappointments.

When you buy a textile product, find out how it is to be cared for and cleaned. Believe it or not some fabrics cannot be cleaned by any method. Once they are soiled - that is it!

Choose textiles appropriate for the purpose. An item that gets a lot of wear and tear should clean easily and inexpensively.

Before hiring someone to clean your furniture, check out their reputation and compare prices. Bring stains and spots to the cleaner's attention, as well as any home remedies you may have tried.

Sometimes, even if you've taken precautions, you still may run into problems. Common complaints involve shrinkage, discoloration, deterioration of fibres and shampoo residues. These problems may result from improper cleaning or they may reflect unrealistic expectations of the consumer. Cleaning will not necessarily revitalize fibres to look new. If soil is deeply imbedded in an item hasn't been cleaned for some time it may be impossible to remove all of the soil. In the case of draperies, sun damage may not be apparent until cleaning reduces them to shreds.

In cases where a conflict between cleaner and consumer arises, the Textile Analysis Service can be of help. For a nominal fee, an experienced technologist will examine the item and perform laboratory tests to [illegible] the cause of the problem. For more information about this testing service phone me at 663-3555 or the Textile Analysis Service at [illegible].

Humans need animal fats

How does the cholesterol controversy affect the farmer? Quite a lot, according to Dr. Fred Kummerow, a professor of food chemistry in agriculture at the University of Illinois. Dr. Kummerow says the total agricultural picture in Canada and the U.S., would change drastically if we followed current recommendations to [illegible] vegetable fats for animal fats in the diet. And, says Dr. Kummerow, we'd be doing ourselves possible harm.

Dr. Kummerow claims that by cutting back severely on animal fat - meat, milk products, and eggs - to reduce cholesterol consumption, we'd be cutting back on our main sources of nutrients. "We have no substitutes in our diet that carry the protein, minerals and vitamins these animal food products contain. Sure, we could try substituting something like soya beans, which have protein. But first they have to be processed, in order to make them edible, and by the time that's done, they cost more than if we'd fed those soya beans to the dairy cow or the chicken or the hog, [illegible]."

Expense is not the only deterrent, Dr. Kummerow adds. More importantly for health, "they wouldn't carry some of the other nutrients which are in meat, milk and eggs - and that means calcium, minerals and vitamins. So it's not enough just to have protein, you have [illegible] of all the trace elements - [illegible] that meat, milk and eggs supply to the diet."

North Americans are fortunate their animal-oriented agriculture obtains more protein and calories per acre of land than a cereal type of agriculture. Dr. Kummerow says that populations like the Chinese, who consume more whole grains and vegetables and less milk, meat and eggs, have a life expectancy ten years less than North Americans or Europeans, and are more susceptible to infectious diseases which may become a greater problem as the human population increases.

Moreover, Dr. Kummerow doesn't believe that all this effort to reduce our dietary cholesterol intake is much good, if any, in reducing our chances of heart disease. According to his figures, if we reduce our cholesterol intake (that is, our consumption of animal food products) by 50%, we'd manage to reduce our serum cholesterol level by less than 5%.

Besides, states Dr. Kummerow, "there's no proven casual effect between the amount of cholesterol we have in our diet and the amount of cholesterol we have in our serum."

Bodies left without last rites

[illegible] University are puzzled by ten mysterious deaths. But the local police aren't interested since the bodies are about 400 years old.

Archaeologist James Tuck recently reported discovering the remains of 10 people at a 16th-century Basque whaling station in Labrador. The scientists studying the archaeological site describe finding the skeletons as the highlight of this year's excavating season.

The mystery is that the bodies were not buried. It appears that they were left lying on the ground where they had died. The scientists say that Basque sailors did not usually stay over the cold Labrador winter and the bodies may have been people who were accidentally left behind. But the Basques did return each year, since the whaling station boasted a permanent industrial complex, perhaps the first in Canada, where whale blubber was rendered into lamp oil and other products. The mystery, says the archaeologist, is why those left marooned were not given a Christian burial when their comrades returned in the spring.

Dr. Tuck hopes that further investigation, in the 1983 season, will unravel the mystery of the unburied corpses.

Dale Carlson and Bruce Dalen had an innovative idea, and the determination to see it through.

With the help of Dale's father, John, they had developed plans to start their own wheel alignment business. Together they had all the skills needed to run their own shop.

But they didn't have the money. And because they had never before managed a business, conventional lenders had to turn them down.

That's where the Alberta Opportunity Company came in. Their plan looked sound despite a lack of experience in business, so AOC gave them the go-ahead.

Today, through hard work and AOC financing, Auto Trac Alignments is prospering in Grande Prairie. In fact, Dale, Bruce and John are considering selling franchises in other parts of the province.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

Society to get charter

... in Round Hill

The Round Hill and District Agricultural Society will officially receive its charter from the province next week.

The Round Hill and District Agricultural Society received the provincial charter Jan. 25 and will be holding a Charter Night at the Elks Hall in Round Hill on Friday.

MLA Gordon Stromberg will be presenting the charter during the evening's activities which will begin with a potluck supper from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. followed by guest speakers and an election of a board of directors.

A social evening will conclude the occasion.

About 128 Round Hill and area residents have become charter members of the Agricultural Society after a steering committee was formed in October, 1982.

Steering committee members include County Reeve William Banack, Laurie Lindstrand, David Storms, Derryl Pasiuk, John Boychuk, Jim Tomaszewski, Cheryl Banack, Sandy Pasiuk and Stewart Campbell.

The primary reason for forming the Round Hill and District Agricultural Society "is to promote and increase the quality of life," a brief prepared by steering committee member Derryl Pasiuk, says.

"Inherent within this objective is the desire of the community to encourage qualities of friendship, fellowship and generally 'good community spirit'."

The Round Hill Ag. Society was founded to promote friendship and fellowship, community involvement, education in areas of agriculture, horticulture and homemaking, recreation and rural beautification, the brief states.

The Ag. Society would serve as a central focus for all of the existing organizations including the Round Hill Elks, Athletic Association, Women's Institute, Curling Club, Ball Club, Senior Hockey Club, Recreation Association, Cubs, Scouts, Brownies and Guides.

"It is the intention of the Ag. Society to operate, maintain, expand and possibly construct one new facility. The aspirations of the society will materialize after the charter is formed and the board of directors is functional."

The community presently operates and maintains a community hall, curling rink, skating rink, ball park and playground.

The Ag. Society would act as an umbrella for all of the other organizations with a unified cause to promote community involvement and a community spirit, the brief states.

Operating grants would offset maintenance costs and a once-in-a-lifetime grant is available for a facility. The Board will consider this assistance once the society is operating.

In achieving these goals through another society, "we feel that this would be almost impossible," the brief states. "The closest agricultural society to our community is that located within Camrose.

As the membership in that organization is large and somewhat dedicated to a much larger area, we feel that the promotion of local community involvement and spirit would not be effective with the Camrose organization."

Malone slates meetings

MP Arnold Malone has scheduled four meetings in the Crowfoot Constituency to discuss the proposed changes to the Crow Rate.

Malone has slated the meetings to inform constituents about his own viewpoints on the subject and to receive the views of people living in his riding.

One of the meetings will be held in the Rosalind Hall on April 6th, starting at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The other three meetings will be held in Provost, Oyen and Manson.

According to Malone, rumors circulating in Ottawa indicate that the government will try and amend the Crow Rate by August of this year.

Satellites take lead

Tofield Satellites have taken a winning step in the direction of the Beaverhill Hockey League championship.

Satellites hosted Mundare Sabres on Tuesday night in the Tofield Arena and stopped the [illegible]

That was the first game in a best of seven series for the league crown.

Second game in that series will be played tonight (Thursday) in Mundare and the third game will be back in Tofield on Tuesday with the fourth game in Mundare one week from today

There will not be any weekend action in this series because Mundare has to go to Innisfail for the provincial intermediate 'B' finals.

This is Tofield's first competition in the league finals in at least six years.

Mundare has the defending championship team. In fact, Mundare is looking to make it [illegible]

Earlier, Tofield had eliminated Ryley in four straight games in semi-final action after finishing the regular schedule in first place

It took Mundare five games to dispose of Lamont in the other semi-final series and Mundare had ended the schedule in second spot.

This could be the last time that Mundare will be competing for top honours in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

An earlier report in the Leduc Representative indicated that Mundare will be a member of the Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League [illegible]

Based on what happened during the regular schedule, the series between the [illegible] be a close one that could go the [illegible]

Although the Satellites finished in first place, Mundare had a slight edge over the schedule with a 3-1-1 record and they outscored the Satellites by a slim 17-15 margin.

Bruce Kawaliaak of Bruce won the league's draw for March.

What to seed this year? If forages enter your plans this article may interest you. The following is taken from the weekly newsletter that originates from the Swift Current Research Station in Saskatchewan. Written by T Lawrence, the article has some interesting points that may have some application in this area.

IF ENOUGH IS ENOUGH, IS MORE BETTER?

Too often when seeding forage crops the old saying "The more the better" is taken to heart and results in stand failure or an overcrowded stand that does not produce as it should Seeding forage crops at too great a depth is one of the major causes for failure in obtaining satisfacory stands of grasses and legumes. In a dry climate such as we have in the southern prairies of Western Canada there is always the temptation to place the seed into moist soil. For most grasses and legumes 2.5 to 3 cm deep is the recommended depth. This is most eaily achieved by using depth controls which prevent the drill disks from penetrating any deeper than about 3 cm.

Similarly, because forage seeds are small and many producers seem to think that bare ground is wasted, there is a tendency to seed too many seeds per hectare in closely seeded rows. A stand with too many plants per hectare will not yield well. The optimum number of established plants per hectare for maximum yield is 125 to 250 thousand (10 to 30 plants per square meter) in southwestern Saskatchewan. The plant population can be adjusted by using wide row spacings and a thin seeding rate within the row. It has been well established that forages seeded in rows 45 to 90 cm apart yield three to four times more than forages seeded in 15 cm rows. The usual seeding rate of 100 viable seeds per meter of row, if all the seeds were successful in producing a plant, would result in too dense a population. Usually, only 20 to 30 percent of the seeds planted will result in established plants. Taking a 25 percent success rate, the 100 seeds per meter of row seeding rate will produce about 43 plants per square meter if the rows are 60 cm apart - just a few too many plants. Seeding in rows 30 cm apart results in 75-85 plants per square meter - just over double the optimum number of plants.

Unfortunately, we do not have drills that will dispense small forage seeds reliably at 20-30 seeds per meter of row. Our only solution is to pull the rows apart and not worry about the bare ground. The bare ground will supply moisture and nutrients to the vigorous plants in the row.

In these two cases, enough is definitely better than more!

APPLICATIONS TO THE AREA

As this article mentioned, forage yields can be higher when row spacings and plant populations are thin. This proves true for southwestern Saskatchewan and other areas where moisture is a limiting factor. This may also have some application for the Viking-Bruce areas, where moisture is unusually lower than the Tofield area. However, because of difficulty in establishing forages on Solonetzic soils in the eastern two-thirds of this County, most farmers don't care to seed too thin. There must be a happy medium between seeding heavy enough for good establishment and yet keeping the stand thin enough to take advantage of the yield increases. Where moisture is more plentiful, such as in the Tofield area, spacings and plant populations have less of an effect on yield, especially under optimum fertilization.

Golden club news

Every three months the Tofield Golden Club celebrates members birthdays with a special lunch. The March highlight is Bob Berrecloth's eightieth birthday.

It has been decided not to canvass for building funds, at least for the present. Donations will be accepted by any member of the executive.

Members of the 1983 executive are Robert Scott, president; Irene Scott, 1st vice-president; George Lee, 2nd vice-president; Mary Tiedemann, secretary; Roberta Bates, treasurer; and Bill Tiedemann and Alex Scott, director.

Several successful fund-raising events have been held this year including the Valentine tea and raffle.

The quilt was won by Truus Vandermeer; the chair by Richard Hart; and the bedspread by Selma Neufeld.

First solar lectures studies construction, conservation

The first lecture in the One World Institute's Solar and Wind Speaker Series was held last Monday (March 14).

The lecture, given by Douglas Dale, detailed house construction with conservation in mind. Speaking to approximately 53 people in the District Home Economist office on 48 Street, Dale gave a slide presentation and talk about research results obtained from a house construction-conservation project.

A University of Alberta Mechanical Engineer, Dale discussed the project which was funded by the provincial and federal governments. The project, titled the Alberta Home Heating Research Facility, consisted of five experimental models all electrically heated. However, each model was insulated differently and also had other modifications to aid in heating.

The first model was an active air model. The unit had a solar collector outside which collected heat from the sun's rays. When the collector became hot an air pump distributed the warm air throughout the building.

The second model was a passive solar-heated model with large windows to allow the sun to provide the main source of heat. The next unit was a conservation model with heavy levels of insulation.

A third model was a standard model without any other heating mechanisms, apart from the electric heat. The final model was a short term model with panels over the window to prevent heat escaping.

Records were kept of temperature variations within each model and the group also recorded heat loss and heating expenses. Following the slide presentation Dale discussed specific details with the audience

The series will continue on Monday with a lecture by Bernie Luft on wind power.

Past Time Pastimes

by Murray Shook

March 23, 1883— The Lord's Day Act is today a controversial piece of legislation. Today, most of us engage in either recreational, work, or business activities on Sundays. At one time in Canada, people were fined for activities such as chopping wood for one's own use or selling newspapers. A typical example occurred on this date in 1883. A driver of a horse drawn cab in Toronto was fined two dollars or ten days in jail for accepting a fare on Sunday.

March 25, 1880— Owner and publisher of the Toronto Globe and Father of confederation, George Brown, was shot by a disgruntled former employee, George Bennet. Brown was to die six weeks later. George Brown had established a reputation for being a hard-nosed boss. Brown refused to allow his printers to form a union. Any suspcted union member or sympathizer was dismissed. Bennett had earlier been fired by Brown. In a drunken state, Bennett stormed into Brown's office and fired the fatal shots. The circumstances of the shooting increased the growing demand for prohibition of liquor.

March 28, 1897— Robert Chambers "Bob" Edwards published the first newspaper between Calgary and Edmonton, the Wetaskiwin Free Lance. In 1902, Edwards began publishing the Calgary Eye Opener. This weekly paper soon became popular throughout Western Canada because of its satirical and humorous style. Edwards constantly ridiculed monopolists, the clergy, the Establishment, the Senate, and the CPR. For the 5c price, the Eye Opener was one of the best reads around. The Eye Opener was constantly short on news but long on speculation and gossip.

March 28 1910— Prince Brutus, a race horse, successfully raced against an aircraft flown by Charles W. Hamilton. The race was a mile long. Prince Brutus was given a three-eights mile head start and completed the race in 1 minute and 7 seconds, ten seconds faster than the biplane. The race was one of the attractions Hamilton performed in front of the large crowd at Vancouver's Lulu Island. Hamilton's exhibition was the first time an aircraft had been flown in Western Canada.

February 3, 1916— The original Parliament buildings in Ottawa were destroyed by fire. Seven people lost their lives in the fire that started in the newspaper reading room and quickly spread to other parts of the complex. The fire was believed to have been started by a German saboteur who had entered Canada from the United States. Firemen fought the blaze in bitterly cold weather, but only managed to save the library. Parliament sat in the Ottawa Museum for four years until a new, larger building was constructed.

A GOOD ACT TO FOLLOW

Alberta's New Mobile Home Sites Tenancies Act

As the renter or owner of land used as a mobile home site, there are a lot of things you should know about your legal rights and obligations. For example, how much notice must you give before leaving a mobile home site? Can you sublet a mobile home located on someone else's property? How do you go about asking a tenant to vacate? What legal action can you take if someone violates your rights?

Now, you can find the answers to these and other questions in Alberta's new MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT. In effect since January 1983, this act applies to the rental of mobile home sites in mobile home parks or individual sites. It clearly states the rights and obligations of both landlords and tenants with regards to:

- Tenancy Agreements
- Serving of Notices
- Termination of Notices
- Change of Use of Premises
- Rent Increases
- Landlord and Tenant Obligations
- Security Deposit
- Rights of Entry
- Subletting
- Legal Remedies
- Occupancy of a Site
- Vacating a Site
- Abandoned Goods
- Non-compliance Penalties

By getting your own copy of the MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT you'll have the information you need to sit down with your landlord or tenant and work out problems.

Copies of the MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT may be obtained by sending $1 (by cheque or money order payable to the Provincial Treasurer) to:

Reinke farm

The Reinke farm near Hay Lakes was the site recently of an agricultural oddity – the birth of a set of triplets to a Holstein cow. At press time mother and triplets were doing fine. See story inside.

Site is suitable

... for landfill

Preliminary soil and drainage studies conducted at a proposed regional sanitary landfill site near Ryley indicate that there is a good chance the site will prove suitable.

Department of the Environment section head of landfill operations and facilities, John Slupsky, said it's possible the 300-acre site could be ready for use by the summer.

Slupsky said the studies were conducted some time ago in the area when a hazardous waste plant was proposed for the Ryley area.

The soil and drainage structures in both proposed sites were similar, he said, adding that it is enabling the department to move quickly in assessing the site.

A feasibility study on the site has been endorsed by the Town of Tofield, Village of Riley, Village of Holden and the County of Beaver.

Tofield town officials have been prompting the site and the feasibility study because their present landfill site will be closed this summer.

But while Holden and the County have agreed to promote the feasibility study, they have not guaranteed to Tofield that they would actually use the site if it was opened.

Holden has about six years left in its landfill area; Ryley has several years.

Tofield officials have also requested information from the Waste Management branch of the Department of the Environment concerning incineration of garbage.

Slupsky said incineration is one alternative to burying the garbage, but only certain materials can be burned.

The Department permits only the burning of "clean" materials like lumber. Burning old tires, for example, is forbidden, he said.

Since only about 40 per cent of garbage is combustible and even then only certain combustible products can be incinerated, incineration is often used in conjunction with a landfill site.

Slupsky said the ashes from incinerated products must be buried, and a landfill site must be made available in the event that the incinerator malfunctions.

Tofield officials, meanwhile, are hopeful the Department will endorse the site by summer so they are not faced with the costly project of hauling their garbage to a further landfill site.

Satellites lead

Tofield Satellites are leading in the Beaverhill Hockey League finals.

Satellites have taken a two to one lead in the best of seven championship series.

Fourth game in that series will be played tonight (Thursday) in Mundare with a fifth game in Tofield on Saturday.

Should a sixth game prove necessary, it will be played in Mundare on Tuesday and, if the series goes the limit, the seventh and deciding game will be played in Tofield one week from today (Thursday).

As reported last week, Satellites won the opening game 7-5.

In Mundare on Thursday, the home team eked out a narrow 2-1 decision in a goaltenders' duel.

Tofield regained the lead at home on Tuesday night when they racked up an easy 7-3 victory.

There was no weekend action scheduled as Mundare had to go to Innisfail for provincial intermediate 'B' playdowns.

Earlier, Tofield had ousted Ryley in one semi-final series while Mundare had eliminated Lamont in the other series.

Official league statistics indicate that E. Nachtigal was Tofield's leading scorer in their semi-final series while G. Carroll was the Mundare leader.

Directories are prepared

Delivery of AGT's new telephone directories will begin next week.

Over 50,000 books for AGT's services in this area will be delivered, starting one week from Friday and the new book has an effective date of April 16.

According to an AGT spokesman, anyone not receiving a book by the effective date should call the AGT Business Office at 425-0830 (no toll charge).

The book's yellow pages will carry business listings for an area bordered by Breton on the west, Tofield and Devon to the north, Viking and Hardisty in the east and the southern boundary will include Winfield, Bashaw and Alliance.

In all, two and one-half million AGT directories will be distributed throughout the province.

Canvass starts

Cancer campaign month is rapidly approaching.

Many canvassers are needed in the Tofield area.

If you are willing to help canvas either in the Town of Tofield or in the surrounding rural areas, please call Elaine Porisky at 662-3015, evenings.

Last year, $3,000 was raised in the area.

If your house is missed, or if you prefer, just mail your donation to Box 477, Tofield. An official receipt will be mailed back to you if you include your mailing address.

Tourney slated

An eight-team oldtimers hockey tournament has been scheduled for Tofield this coming weekend.

The tournament opens on Friday and winds up when a championship team is decided on Sunday.

Including the host Tofield team, the other entries are Josephburg, Mannville, Sherwood Park, Antler Lake and three squads from Edmonton.

According to a spokesman for the host team, it should be a good tournament because all of the teams involved should be fairly evenly matched.

In oldtimers' hockey, slap shots are outlawed and body contact (bodychecks) is not permitted.

Action on Friday and Saturday will start at noon.

There will be two games on Sunday with the 'B' finals at two o'clock and the 'A' finals are set for four o'clock.

Teams winning in opening games will continue on the 'A' side while teams that lose opening games will drop to the 'B' side of the tournament.

A most valuable player from each team will be selected in each game and these players will receive medallions.

The Tofield entry is composed of businessmen, farmers and teachers and they will play their first game at noon on Friday.

A nominal admission fee will be charged during the tournament.

Rural Crime Watch meets

Beaverhill Rural Crime Watch held a meeting on March 24, 1983 in Tofield Legion Hall with a large number of members in attendance.

President, John Tiedemann, chaired the first annual meeting. A discussion was held on erecting crime watch signs on secondary highways.

Constable McKenzie spoke to the members about how pleased he was that so many people were interested in the crime watch program. Owing to an active crime watch, vandalism and theft complaints were down.

Representative Thom Shaw will attend provincial crime watch meeting at Airdrie on March 30, 1983.

By-laws were discussed and some changes were made.

Elections were held and the following people were elected: President, John Tiedemann; vice-president, Thom Shaw; secretary, Marge Wyllie; Treasurer, Ruth Ferguson; directors, Dick Thomas (North-West of Tofield); [illegible] Kauffman (East of Tofield); Len Kolawchuk (East of Ryley); auditors, Herb Sware, Sanford Boettger and Robert Wyllie as spare.

Future meeting dates are June 23, August 25 and November 24. The annual meeting, March 22, 1984.

Herb Sware motioned that the meeting be adjourned, and [illegible] seconded the motion.

"Do you offer wallet-to-wallet resuscitation?"

More scope

A letter writer refers to Mr. Trudeau's recent visit in the Orient areas, where he visited the "heads of four monarchies", then goes on to refer to the Queen of Canada, and her role in the constitutional government of Canada.

Which prompts the thought that over many recent years, the role of her senior representative in Canada, the governor general, has been seriously eroded, seriously undermined and minimized. Just as has the role of the lieutenant governor in the provinces.

This diminution of the role is one of the serious mistakes of our governments, of our government leaders, and of the governor appointees themselves.

There is a tremendous amount of work the royal representative can do in the country, without infringing in any way on the political level. Indeed, the opportunity to continue working at the political process while some of the showcase affairs of state are handled by a constitutional 'ruler' should be a boon to many a politician.

Let's face it, most people love pageantry and pomp. The reception being accorded the Queen in the U.S. these days bears this out, as does the reception everywhere she goes.

Canada would be better off to invest the office with more responsibility, more pomp and pageantry, more pizzaz. The last thing the country needs in this role is a sterile figurehead.

Bureaucratic nastiness

It's amazing how nasty some people can become when vested with a little authority. One of the most recent cases is that of a worker in the Unemployment Insurance Commission who ruled that a man was not available for employment on the day he attended his wife's funeral, so his payments should be docked for that day.

It's fairly well known, of course, that this bureacratic fiasco was eventually over-ruled by the intervention of the minister responsible for the department, but it does raise the big question, how many cases are there, just as ridiculous, which have been inflicted on workers by insensitive, punitive, workers in government departments, simply because there was no means to bring their cases to the limelight, no minister to demand the application of a minimum level of horse sense.

We hear a great deal these days about autocratic, severe, unfeeling employers, employers who abuse the human rights of employees in a variety of ways. And we hear often of how government is there to look after the interest of the common worker, to protect his rights.

Yet we find it hard to conceive that there are many employers who would penalize a worker for missing a day in order to attend his wife's funeral. We're not suggesting employers are always the most reasonable, or most generous of people, but they do live in the real world. They know there are times when the rules should not apply. Can not apply.

Somehow the same sort of message should get through to government agencies.

Death penalty needed

R.R.#2
Camrose, Alberta
T4V 2N1
March 16, 1983

The Honourable Pierre Trudeau
Prime Minister
Government of Canada
Parliament Buildings
Ottawa, Ontario

Dear Sir:

The Alberta Retired Public Employees Society represents over 13,000 public service receiving pension benefits under The Public Service Pension Plan, The Public Service Management Pension Plan, The Local Authorities Pension Plan and The Special Forces Pension Plan within the Province of Alberta.

At the Society's recent annual convention held in Red Deer the delegates unanimously approved a resolution requesting our Government in Ottawa amend the Criminal Code of Canada, bringing back the death penalty in premeditated murders. We have always deplored the manner in which the death penalty was disposed of which gave us the impression that when the free vote was taken by our members of parliament, a complete disregard of the wishes of the majority of Canadians was evident.

Today, with killers knowing they will be allowed to live (at taxpayer's expense), a complete disregard of human life has been most evident when violent crimes have been committed. Many of our seniors, more so now than ever before, are afraid to venture for a stroll in the evening and have been forced to take costly steps to make their homes secure for fear of their lives.

Since the abolishment of the death penalty, our Government seems to have turned a blind eye and a deaf ear to what has been happening and appears content in spending countless of taxpayers' dollars to find methods of trying to rehabilitate vicious killers – with no evidence of success. The baneful disregard of the sanctity of life by our killers since the abolishment of the death penalty should not be countenanced by our Government and that is why this plea is being sent to you today. A plea that the death penalty should be re-instated so that a deterrent will exist. Even if the deterrent saves the life of only one child, the mother will feel that her child has been given the God given right to reach adulthood, that the child has the right to live without such life being snuffed out by someone with no regard for another's life; and the laws of our Country have once again matured whereby a deterrent may just save the life of an innocent victim by providing protection to a great degree instead of providing protection to the killer who knows he will be allowed to live and some day roam the streets again.

We realize the many problems our Government is facing in these economic times, however, we believe that it must by now be obvious to our Government that abolishing the death penalty has not been the solution, so we request that a renewal of the death penalty in premeditated murders should be instituted without any further delay.

Yours Sincerely,
Michael Marlowe

We're not opposed

OTTAWA, Ontario
March 7, 1983

Sir:

A political opponent of the national Progressive Conservative Party has recently asserted that we are opposed to enhancing the role of languages other than English and French.

In fact, members of our caucus, pushing in precisely the opposite direction, are far more representative of the one third of Canadians whose cultural background is neither English nor French than for any other political party.

The issue surfaced recently when the Official Languages Committee of the House and Senate considered whether some amendment to the Official Languages Act could be made which would improve the position of the many other languages spoken across Canada. The matter will arise again at future meetings of the Committee.

A suggestion was made by Max Yalden, the Commissioner of Official Languages, to the effect that an existing provision of the Act be replaced by one specifying that "the Official Languages Act shall be interpreted in a manner consistent with the preservation and enhancement of Canadian languages other than English and French."

As an M.P. from a province where numerous languages are in use, I expressed concern that this proposal did not appear to add anything substantive to the current reality in the federal jurisdiction which provides very little in the way of acquired language rights for languages other than English and French.

On further reflection, it strikes me that an amendment along the following lines might provide greater protection for other languages: "Nothing in this act shall be interpreted so as to affect adversely the use, preservation, or enhancement of any other language in use by Canadians."

Other members of the Languages Committee and I would be very interested to hear from any concerned individual or group on the subject. Comments could be sent stamp-free to the co-chairmen of the Committee, Senator Lowell Murray and Jean-Robert Gauthier, M.P., in care of the Clerk of the Official Languages Committee, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ont. K1A 0A6 or to myself at the House of Commons.

Yours sincerely,
David Kilgour, M.P.

Patricia Young Says . . . .

Every Easter, I go out into the back garden and lane to pick my first bunch of daffodils. Small but sturdy, there is something symbolic about these flowers. They were there twenty years ago when I first bought the house. They were likely planted when the house was first built more than thirty years before that! My daffs are reassuring for the simple reason that they are always there. In a world of changing values and changing principles, they've never pulled a switch on me. They have never decided to masquerade as primroses, they have never moved to a more shady or sunny spot in the garden and are oblivious to dust and gasoline from cars that use the lane. Come wind, rain or storm, I know that my funny little daffs will pop up again next year.

This is but one of the lessons of nature that offers a small assurance of continuity and reliability in a world fleeing in about fifty different directions against itself! When one looks at the crisis between Britain and Argentine over the invasion of the Falkland Islands, the controversy between the USA and Panama and others, one can only wonder whether these seemingly isolated incidents are not actually pieces in a much larger jigsaw puzzle. This theory is enhanced when the same activists who supported Chile's Allende lunged into action to support the Argentine invasion!

All of which finds me somehow comparing humanity with its free will to a programmed nature without a free will! Also in my thoughts at this moment of writing is the fact that we are a few days away from Easter with its symbolism of rebirth and a rededication to the worth and meaning of life itself. The funny thing is, the news gave the story of a couple of Canadians who emigrated to the Falkland Islands seeking peace and tranquility in a world seemingly gone mad. All of which perhaps points out that there just is not any way to escape the reality of the state of our collective world. Perhaps I, too, sought escape from a newly socialized Britain in 1946 when I wangled passage on a Canadian troopship bringing Canadian soldiers home at the end of World War II. Basically then, we can only conclude that we are stuck with our world and must deal with its problems, leaving the daffodils to continue their unchanging routine of rebirth.

Happiness is finding two other joggers so the three of you can completely devastate sidewalks inhabited by less energetic pedestrians.

Look ma . . .triplets!

Dale Reinke worked it out to one calf per.

I took one step and there was one calf, then I took another step and there was another calf. When I took a third step and another calf, I couldn't believe it.

I knew there was only one cow in barn that was due to calve," said Reinke, whose Holstein heifer recently gave birth to calf triplets.

While twin calves are rare, triplets are exceptional, said Reinke who farms two quarter-sections of land near Bay Lakes.

The dairy farmer said he knows of only one other instance where a cow had triplets.

The three recent additions to the herd of 150 Holsteins are healthy and gaining weight, he said. Surprisingly enough, the triplets were not much smaller than a single calf would be.

It is often the case with twins or triplets that either one or more die.

Reinke farms the property with his parents and one family - wife Janet, a son and daughter and foster son and daughter.

"I sure was surprised I have to have triplet calves," he said. "The mother looked bigger than usual, but not that much larger."

Holden and district news

by Mrs. D.M. Taylor

Members of Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple visited Kinsella Lodge Order of the Royal Purple on March 22nd taking along the travelling gavel. Those going were H.R.L. Semotiuk who presented the gavel to H.R.L. Orchuski of Kinsella Lodge. Others were P.H.R.L. Fleming, Ladies Scherzer, Nicholas, Hurum, Good, Brekstad, Stecyk and Millmaska.

While in Camrose on Thursday of last week, Mrs. Ethel Fleming had an unfortunate fall breaking two bones in one of her ankles. She is presently a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose.

Mrs. Clara Shaw is a patient in Viking Hospital with a bad foot.

On Friday of last week Bruce and Mae Budd were visitors in Leduc with Mrs. Beth Campbell in the nursing home and report she is recovering from her severe illness. Other visitors that day with Mrs. Campbell were Mr. and Mrs. Bateman of Camrose, former Holdenites.

Wednesday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Budd were Marjorie and Ken Campbell of Leduc.

Mrs. Dorothy Emerson has been busy the past couple of weeks canvassing for the Red Cross in Holden.

Mr. Christian Sr. is very ill and is a patient in General Hospital in Edmonton, being transferred there from Viking Hospital

At the bingo held by the Holden Historical Society on Friday, prizes were Lorraine Laube, Helen Stecyk, Sarah Dejarlais, Ethel Brekstad, Anne Faryna, Katie Misyk, Laurie Randal, Frances Laskoski, Annie Laube, Victoria Pusnak, Rose Dary, Donna McKinney, Venice Groland, Dawn Pusny, and David Gelka.

The blackout was won by Victoria Pusnak and the door prize was won by Katie Misyk.

Mrs. Nancy Kobzyn of Ryley, mother of Mrs. Eugenia Shimko of Holden, passed away on March 21st at the age of 74 years. She is survived by her husband, Lendrey; two sons, Bob of Ryley; three daughters, Mrs. Tom (Eugenia) Shimko of Holden, Mary Ann Kobzyn and Sylvia Kwas of Edmonton; seven grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; four brothers, Peter and Paul Manilowski of Mundare, Steve and Sam Manilowski of Holden; and one sister, Mrs. Anna Barsznick of Mundare, formerly of Holden. She was predeceased by her mother, in 1960, her father in 1966, a brother, Mike in 1981, two sisters, Winnie and Josie and grandson, Douglas in 1980.

Prayer service was held on Friday and Divine Liturgy was held on Saturday in Berschiw Ukrainian Catholic Church with Rev. Basil Fedoriw officiating and interment was in the church cemetery.

The Holden Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion held a regular meeting last Thursday evening with President Helen Stecyk in the chair. Regular business was dealt with, the financial statement and committee reports were given. Correspondence from the rally to be held in Vegreville on April 23rd and the convention in Red Deer on June 5 to 9 was read and delegates were elected to attend. Other items of business were also discussed and members were reminded of the bake sale on Saturday. At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch was served with Mrs. Carol Chemiske hostess.

Bruce Bun was the winner of a case of motor oil when attending a meeting held in Vegreville recently.

Report from Parliament Hill
by The Honourable Don Mazankowski, P.C., M.P.

Don Mazankowski, M.P. (P.C. - Vegreville) has called on the federal government to lower its taxes on energy. During question period on March 17th Mr. Mazankowski asked the Minister of Energy, Mr. Chrétien, to consider "a reduction in the onerous federal taxes on the price of energy so that consumers in Canada will get a break".

Mr. Mazankowski stated that "the federal government is getting about 65 cents per gallon in the form of taxes and, therefore, the committee of oil and gasoline in Canada is not receiving the benefit of the oil pricing arrangement with the province of Alberta". In many cases Canadian consumers now pay more than their American counterparts for gasoline. The government should "get in step with world reality" said Mr. Mazankowski and bring down the retail price of gasoline. In response, the Minister of Energy continued to claim that provincial taxation was not the prime cause of high pump prices.

Earlier, during a meeting of the House Finance Committee, Mr. Mazankowski commented that "reducing energy taxes on the agricultural and petro-chemical industries and in other areas would serve to stimulate the economy" in a non-inflationary manner, and requested that the Minister of Finance consider a tax reduction. "I will take your point of view as a representation for the farmers" replied Mr. Lalonde.

"If the federal government is serious about reducing production costs and rejuvenating the economy it could begin by lowering its tax take" said Mr. Mazankowski. "We must turn our energy advantage into an economic advantage not use it to finance federal government spending."

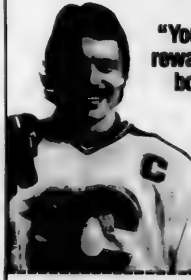
"Hockey is a lot like life in general. You're always shooting for goals . . . and working with others to win. And there are always unsung heroes on the team. People who work hard and deserve more recognition than they get. Probably you know a youth in your community who meets that description.

"The Junior Citizen Awards are one way you can show your respect and appreciation. In the past 22 years, more than 200 young Albertans and 25 groups have been honoured for leadership, outstanding achievement, or for overcoming special challenges. They've all been very special people.

"If you'd like to say thanks to an exceptional youth in your community, someone between the ages of six and eighteen, send the coupon to the editor of this newspaper. Also, you may nominate two or more youths in the 'group' category."



"You can help reward a young boy or girl for dedication, determination or courage."

Primeau feted

Former Tofield Mercury journalist Lesley Primeau, left, gets a much deserved pat on the back from friend Yvonne Brown at a tea held at the Klassen home in Tofield last Sunday. Lesley, who reported on happenings in the Tofield area for several years, has taken a similar position in Onoway, west of Edmonton. The tea was well attended by those who knew and worked with Lesley.

Beckman named

Frank Blush, the Agricultural Development Corporation's (ADC) regional manager for the Peace River region, has announced the appointment of Dave Beckman to the position of loans officer in the Peace River district office.

Mr. Beckman grew up on a mixed farm in the Edberg district south of Camrose. He attended high school there and in Red Deer before enrolling in the University of Alberta. He graduated from the latter in 1970 with a B.Sc. (agriculture), having specialized in animal science.

Following graduation, he joined Alberta Agriculture's extension division as a district agriculturist and received his training in the Lamont district office. He later worked as a district agriculturist in St. Paul, Wetaskiwin and Fairview.

During the period 1973-77 and 1979-81, Mr. Beckman was employed by the Canadian International Development Agency in the capacity of livestock and pasture officer on a rural development project in Lesotho, Africa. Later he worked for the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations in an advisory capacity to the Ministry of Agriculture in Mozambique, Africa.

Mr. Beckman is married and has three children.

Tanzanian coffee available

The Camrose One World Institute is acting as an agent for the Bridgehead Trading Company in sales of pure Tanzanian instant coffee, Tanzanian regular grind coffee, and Nicaraguan filter coffee.

Bridgehead Trading Co. is an alternative marketing organization (AMO) which buys coffee and tea which has been grown (and hopefully processed) under conditions favourable to the workers in the co-ops and state farms of the Third World. They are bypassing the multinational middlemen who usually market and package the products for only profit with little regard for the welfare of the Third World workers who are being locked into the cycle of poverty, malnutrition and feudal subservience.

The coffee is very pure and with The Nicaraguan filter coffee you can get at least one-third more cups of coffee for the same weight than the coffee you buy in stores. Bridgehead Trading is a non-profit organization which donates all the money that is left after operating expenses to the countries where the coffee or tea was grown. For example, Bridgehead just turned its first five month profits (as of October 1982) of which a portion is going to Nicaragua to be used to train 30 women as public health nurses in the countryside.

In Sri Lanka, Bridgehead money is being used to help support the work of Father Paul Caspers, a Jesuit priest and expert on tea economy who is working on mending racial division in that country. An appropriate vehicle has not yet been found for Tanzania.

North American consumers usually either hear but conveniently forget of wealthy landowners forcing small farmers off their land, of land that is badly needed to grow food being turned over to cash crops and the substandard living and working conditions of North American consumers wonder what they can do to help. Already some tea and coffee fields are being used for dual purposes again; in the shade of coffee bushes food is being grown for local consumption. People can do something in their individual habits which will help people of the Third World without making it a donation!

The coffee is available on weekdays from 9:00-5:00 at the Camrose One World Institute. The price of the coffee is as follows. 250 g Nicaraguan Filter Coffee - $2.75; 250 g Tanzanian Instant Coffee - $5.70; 250 g Tanzanian Perculater Coffee - $2.85.

Bawlf leads finals

Bawlf has taken a commanding two-game lead in the County Senior Hockey League finals.

Bawlf won both games played during the past week in the best of five championship series.

The third game in the series will be played on Saturday in Cadreca with an eight o'clock start time.

If a fourth game is needed, it will be played in Cadreca on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and, if the series goes the limit, the fifth and deciding game will be played on Tuesday at eight o'clock.

The opening game in the finals was a goal-tending thriller that took two overtime periods to decide with Bawlf eventually winning 3-2.

Both Stang of Bawlf and Olson of Tofield were sensational in goal.

After a scoreless first period, Bawlf led 2-1 after two periods with Tofield forcing overtime with a goal in the third stanza.

The first overtime session was scoreless and then Wood gave Bawlf the win with a goal eight minutes into the second overtime period.

Bawlf's other markers were tallied by French and Rudosky while Schmidt and Donnan replied for Tofield.

Tofield was assessed 15 penalties in the contest to 14 for Bawlf.

Bawlf led 3-1 after the opening period in the second game, edged Tofield 2-1 in the middle stanza and then salted the game away with four unanswered goals in the third period for a realtively easy 9-2 triumph.

C. Sawchuk led Bawlf's attack with a hat-trick while singles were added by Swanson, Wood, Tiffery, Bateman, Latam and Rudosky.

Knox and J. Hudon picked up Tofield's goals.

The game was loaded with penalties as each team had twenty-three.

The league is finalizing plans for its annual banquet and awards night. (See separate story).

Song writers wanted

The Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) is looking for song writers.

And their search is worth money!

The BRTA has decided to hold a song writing contest and the topic is to be the Battle River Valley.

The competition is aimed at selecting a song which best reflects the beauty and excitement of the Battle River Valley area and it will be used to help promote the area as a tourist attraction.

The winning song writer will receive $200.

Contest rules may be had at the BRTA office in Camrose.

The decision to hold the contest was made at the BRTA's monthly meeting in Wetaskiwin earlier this month.

Members attending the session were told that over 6,000 pieces of BRTA promotional material had been handed out during recent sportsmen's shows in Edmonton and Calgary.

Members agreed that promotional displays should be held during Trade Cam '83 in Camrose and other events in Stettler, Edmonton, Fort Saskatchewan, Wetaskiwin, Vegreville and Vermilion.

A report on the Tourism Industry Association of Canada conference, which was held in Vancouver in February, was presented by President Smith and Manager Clemens.

The next BRTA meeting will be held in Killam on April 21st.

Between the Covers

On the new book table this week you may be interested in Transitions; Making Sense of Life's Changes by William Bridges. This book discusses some of the difficulties in coping with the often painful and confusing changes in life patterns, and offers some pointers in dealing with them.

A book on a topic frequently in the news in recent years, is The Concise Book of Genetics. This is a layman's introduction to such topics as mutation, DNA and the genetic code, animal and plant breeding, etc.

Working Animals by Jean Cooke is an interesting overview of the many animals which have assisted man over the centuries, at work, at war, as guides and protectors, and in the fields of sport and entertainment.

A set of three new children's picture books, Animal Games, Animal Homes and Animal Tricks all feature the beautiful illustrations of Brian [illegible].

Don't forget that the Library carries subscriptions to many popular magazines, the back issues of which may be borrowed for the same time period as books, three weeks.

Parents Magazine carries articles on topics such as adoption, games for children, sleep patterns, school problems, etc.

Mechanix Illustrated is a "how-to" magazine, with articles on home improvement, repairs, and automotive information.

Country Journal covers the area of practical country living, with articles such as The ABC's of Choosing a Saddle Horse, Restoring a Hillside Field, Harvesting Energy From the Sun, as well as some on domestic arts such as baking and quilting, and general interest articles.

Even if you are not a Library member, you are welcome to come in and read in the library any time it is open.

Financial management

Recently there have been numerous articles written on the importance of financial management during tough times. But, what is financial management?

Gary Bradshaw, a regional farm economist with Alberta Agriculture, takes a look at some of the factors involved in financial management and gives examples to illustrate his points.

One of these factors is the ability to look at all angles of your finances.

For example, although it is accurate to say that by changing a $200,000 loan at 20 per cent interest from 20 to 15 years repayment, you save $[illegible] in interest and pay only an additional $1,700 per year in payments, is this the entire story?

With inflation running in the 12 per cent range (one of the reasons for the 20 per cent interest rates), money in the future is not worth as much in today's terms. This factor is very important to consider before paying off loans faster since payments are increased for the first 15 years with savings coming only in years 15 to 20.

In terms of cash flow, we should examine how much we are really saving by shortening loan repayment and increasing yearly payments.

If we use an inflation rate of 12 per cent on the $200,000 loan, by paying an additional $1,700 per year for the next 15 years we are saving only $10,000 in terms of today's dollars rather than $180,000. While this is still a substantial amount, you must be sure that you actually have the extra $1,700 per year available.

The analysis, however, is still not finished if this $180,000 of interest which you save is tax deductible as occurs with farms and mortgages, says Mr. Bradshaw. If you are in a 25 per cent tax bracket (taxable income of $9,000) then you actually save only $7,700 in today's money by paying the extra $1,700 per year to pay the loan off early. If you are in the maximum tax bracket of 46 per cent (taxable income of over $55,000) then in terms of today's money it actually costs you $3,000 to pay the loan off faster.

Although we don't know what the inflation rate will be in the future it will probably be tied directly to the interest rates so relatively speaking these figures should not vary a great deal.

Mr. Bradshaw concludes that the most important thing to examine is whether your cash flow will stand the extra payment now in order to save money in the future. With most farmers it is the lack of cash or operating credit that is important, not the 20 or 15 year mortgage that may save money 20 years from now.

A wise financial manager will analyse the alternative uses of the extra $1,700 payment and examine what the actual savings are now rather than being concerned with what looks like a large saving 15 or 20 years down the road.

Funds are available

Anyone who intends to take advantage of the Canada Home Renovation Plan (CHRP) should get his or her application in as soon as possible because funds are limited and will be allocated on a first-come, first-serve basis.

This advice comes from Doug Barlund of Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch.

As its name implies, the purpose of CHRP is to help homeowners with costs associated with renovating their principal residence. Assistance is provided in the form of a forgivable loan, which does not have to be repaid if all the terms of the plan are met.

CHRP is available to people whose total household (principal wage earner, spouse, or common-law spouse) pretax income is less than $40,000 a year. If the total household pretax income is $20,000 or less, the homeowner can obtain a forgivable loan to cover 30 per cent of the total cost of the renovation up to a maximum of $3,000. When the total household income is more than $20,000, the forgivable loan will be reduced by 6 per cent for every $1,000 of pretax income in excess of $20,000 a year.

CHRP covers repairs and renovations to a principal residence that are of a permanent nature. However, it does not cover such things as a swimming pool, a greenhouse, a sauna, a private driveway, fences or materials that are available under the Canadian Home Insulation Program or the Canadian Oil Substitution Program. And it does not cover the removal of insulation material.

Mr. Barlund says an applicant must meet the following criteria to qualify for assistance under CHRP:

- Own his or her principal residence.
- Plan to own and occupy it for at least a year after having completed the renovation.
- Plan to spend at least $2,[illegible] on the renovation work.
- Spend a minimum of a third of the total renovation costs on contracted labor.
- Provide the renovation costs that are not covered under CHRP through cash equity, a personal loan, a conventional mortgage loan, a home improvement loan, etc.

CHRP information brochures and application forms can be obtained from the Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation office in Edmonton (Telephone: 483-3431); Red Deer (Telephone: 343-6077).

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Reddick

(Sent for last week).

The Strathcona County Figure Skating Club ice carnival was held at the Fultonvale Olympiette on March 20th.

The complex was filled to capacity as performers skated in the different categories to the Universiade '83 theme.

Many countries were represented by little skaters and up into the teens as well.

Debbie Grummett, a local girl who has participated in many carnivals before, did a solo act. She later took part in a dance routine with medalist, Doug Hemmerling of Ardrossan.

She was presented with a bouquet of flowers and a gift certificate for her help with the club, both as a coach and in other ways.

Margaret and Pat Peterson took in the hockey game at the Coliseum on Saturday evening between the Edmonton Oilers and the Detroit Red Wings.

John and Truus Vandermeer returned home on Wednesday evening after spending three weeks in the Duncan area of B.C.

Several from the area attended the bingo in the Legion Hall in Tofield on Wednesday evening. Rennie Ferguson and Vi Rudick were among the winners.

The Thursday Group are very busy these days getting things ready for the spring bazaar to be held at the Crafts Centre on April 20th. The next whist drive at the Centre is on April 8th.

The next meeting of the Community League is on April 11th. Plans are completed for the spring dance to be held on April 9th in the hall.

Video winner

Proud pledge collectors from C.W. Sears School gathered enough money in pledges to buy two balance beams for the gymnastic club. Although the club had set its sights on collecting enough for only one beam, the members came up big and collected $1089, with some pledges still outstanding. From left, Kathy Aubrey and Dione Rupert are congratulated by coach Kathy Bunney. Dione was the winner of this video game for her highest pledges.

AGT gets rate hike

AGT has received approval from the Alberta Public Utilities Board for interim rate increases of approximately six per cent for both residential and business customers and increases of between six and ten per cent for long distance calls, effective April 1.

AGT applied to the Board February 1, 1983 for a general rate increase after losing $52 million in 1982 as a result of the economic situation and increased operating costs. Without rate relief and in spite of stringent internal cost cutting measures, AGT could face a loss of $30 million in [illegible].

Other rate changes effective April 1, 1983 include:

- an increase from $100 to $300 for new rural individual line service. Cable mileage charges would rise from $25 per one quarter mile (402 metres) to $30 per 400 metres.
- an increase in EFRC charges in Edmonton from 10c to 15c from residential customers; 20c to 30c for single line business customers; and from 30c to 45c for business customers with switchboard systems. EFRC rates for Centrex customers would increase from 7.5c per phone number to 11c per phone number.
- an increase for "[illegible]" service and WATS lines charges inside Alberta of eight to ten per cent.

On April 1, AGT will begin charging $10 for NSF cheques and effective November 1, 1983, there will be a 25c charge for local directory assistance service.

AGT did not receive interim approval from the Board to increase interest charges on outstanding monthly balances or on the proposed elimination of the rental option of some premium quality telephone sets. Both of these issues will be addressed at the Board hearings beginning May 31, in Calgary.

AGT's last general rate increase was in April, 1982. Residential and business rates rose by approximately 10 and 15 per cent respectively, while charges for long distance calls rose approximately 12 per cent.

CLBI hosts meeting

The affiliation of Lutheran Movements, known as ALMS, will hold its annual meeting this year at Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALMS is an affiliation of various Lutheran Movements in North America that embraces the ministries accenting bible institutes, world missions, evangelism, youth ministry and lay ministry.

CLBI is a chartered member of ALMS and President Hagen is the previous chairman of ALMS. There are ten members of ALMS, included in which are the Lutheran Evangelistic Movement and World Mission Prayer League which like CLBI are incorporated in Alberta.

The Chairman of ALMS is Rev. Laurel Udden, Director of the Lutheran Evangelistic Movement in Minneapolis, Minnesota; he will preside at the various sessions being held.

Each member organization will be represented by its director and/or chairman.

A special program offered at the last two meetings of ALMS and to be presented at CLBI this year will be a series of theological lectures on vital subjects to both the member organizations, church and community. Two such lectures will be presented this year for the public in the CLBI auditorium.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. G.O. Evenson, faculty member of CLBI will present a paper at 7:30 p.m. entitled, "Preaching Evangelism."

On Wednesday evening, also at 7:30 p.m., Rev. Karl Keller, Director of the Lutheran Evangelistic Movement Canada will present a paper on "Person to Person Evangelism."

Following each lecture of approximately 50 minutes, there will be time for discussing the paper.

There will be no admission charge for these lectures, but to assist ALMS in defraying expenses connected with the series, an offering will be received each evening.

Awards Night set

... by county loop

The County Senior Hockey League is finalizing plans for its annual banquet and awards night.

This year, the event will be held in the Norsemen Inn on Saturday, April 9th.

It is expected that about three hundred people will be in attendance for the ceremonies, banquet and dance.

Fifty tickets have been alloted to each of the six teams in the league and persons wanting to purchase tickets should get in touch with players and management of the teams — Bawlf, Tofield, Bashaw, Round Hill, Kingman and New Norway.

Although it is being called an annual event, an awards night was not held last year when planning by the host team didn't materialize after a highly successful beginning two years ago.

Because of what happened two years ago, league officials are urging persons wishing to attend, to get their tickets right away. Many waited until the last minute for the first banquet and as a result, were unable to attend.

A total of seven trophies will be presented.

Unlike former years, the trophies will not have earlier been presented during the final playoff game of the season.

Winners of only two of the seven trophies are known.

Kevin Wolfe of Round Hill will be in attendance to receive a trophy for winning the individual scoring race.

For the second year in a row, Darren Staag of Bawlf will be presented with the top goal-tender's award.

The other five awards to be presented are now being voted on by representatives of the six league teams.

Up for grabs will be awards for the most valuable player, rookie of the year, top defenceman, most gentlemanly player and coach of the year.

Ed Clinton, editor of The Mercury and editor and sports editor of The Camrose Canadian, will be the guest speaker.

Hastings Lake

by Lois Fenno

A Babysitters Safety Course, sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council, is to be held at the Hall every Tuesday evening from April 12th to May 10th inclusive. It is open to young people, boys and girls, from twelve years onwards, and will last from 7 to 8 p.m. each night. Interested people should register with Irene Salisbury (662-3948) or [illegible] (662-[illegible]17); the fee is only $4.

The Losers' League recorded a group loss of 10 lb. last week and encourages new members to join. The club meets every Wednesday, at the Hall, at 7:30 p.m. Members weigh and exercise and exchange helpful hints.

Fire hits car

Tofield Fire Department officials said Tuesday they believe a faulty wiring system was responsible for a blaze which broke out in a car early Tuesday.

The imported vehicle's owner reported the fire to the department at 8:20 a.m. He had extinguished the flames with a fire extinguisher by the time firefighters arrived at the scene just south of Lindbrook.

The owner had just driven away from his house when he noticed smoke coming from underneath the hood. He was able to douse the flames before they caused extensive damage.

Golden Club

by Irma V. Francis

At the Golden Club meeting on March 23, whist and crib were played.

The winners in whist were first prizes Lillian Berrecloth and Tina Scott, lows went to Irene Scott and Mrs. Mazur.

The crib was exciting for one player when she got an almost perfect hand, 28 - not 29.

Lunch for the January, February and March birthdays consisted of angel food cake with ice cream and strawberries.

The bus went to Edmonton on March 30.

Video game teaches deaf

by Hugh Westrup

Deaf children now have their very own computer video game that helps them learn how to speak.

The game, called the Duck Walk, debuted this fall at Uplands Elementary School in Victoria, B.C.

Bill Stamps, a teacher at Uplands, says his young students are crazy about the game. "I have to peel them off the Duck Walk", he says.

The video game is part of a system called "visible speech" that lets deaf children "see what they say". The child talks into a microphone and instantly sees his vocal sounds appear as illustrations on a microcomputer screen.

Craig Dickson, a linguistics instructor at the University of Victoria, developed "visible speech", which can teach three rudiments of speech: rhythm, pitch and loudness. Dickson says pitch control is especially crucial to intelligible speech and deaf people find it a major difficulty.

To show a child how to control pitch, a teacher sits with the child in front of the visible speech system. The teacher makes a sound into the microphone for several seconds and changes the pitch in his voice - from a low tone to a high tone, for example. This change in pitch shows up as a curved line on the top half of the computer screen. The child attempts to control his larynx and produce an identical line on the bottom of the screen.

To give the child further training in pitch control, Dickson came up with the Duck Walk, which the child can play alone. In the game the child sees a mother duck and her duckling standing at the bottom of a pitch curve shaped like a hill. On the other side of the hill is a lake.

As the child speaks, the duckling moves and follows its mother over the hill. If the child's pitch is too high, the baby duck flies into the air; if the pitch is too low, the baby duck tumbles down the hill.

"The kids think it's terrific and it seems to be a very successful way to encourage pitch control", says Dickson.

"Visible speech" also teaches children how to add pauses to their sentences to give their speech a natural rhythm. Says Dickson: "Deaf children don't put pauses in their sentences at the right places, or sometimes don't pause at all." As well, the system warns the child when he is talking too loudly by flashing a sign "too loud". If the child speaks too softly, the computer flashes, "I didn't hear you".

Dickson was encouraged to develop "visible speech" by JEM Research, a non-profit institute located at the University of Victoria. Funds for the project came from the Vancouver Foundation, the MacMillan Trust and the B.C. Committee for the International Year of the Disabled.

Cribbage tourney

The Royal Canadian Legion in Tofield was the scene Sunday for a cribbage tournament. While there were no "29" hands, about 25 players vied in singles for trophies and enjoyed themselves well into the afternoon. Winners were John Fisher with the high single score, runner up Solfred Williams, with the booby prize going to Bob Scott.

Moldy hay can be used

If you have to feed hay this winter, blend it with a good quality forage and introduce the ration gradually, advises Phil Dixon, district agriculturist at Rocky Mountain House.

Never feed a ration of totally moldy hay, he says.

There are two general types of mold on hay - the toxic or poisonous types and the non-toxic or non-poisonous types.

However, it is virtually impossible to tell by looking at moldy hay whether or not it is toxic, and even analysts at the Alberta soil and feed testing laboratory in Edmonton can tell you only that there is a "hint of a presence of toxic mold" in a sample of moldy hay.

Hence, the advice to always take precautions when feeding such hay.

Mr. Dixon says that he has often visited ranchers whose cattle have a nutritional problem and found that the problem was being caused by their not eating enough because they were being fed moldy hay.

Animals do not like the taste of moldy hay and will frequently refuse to eat it.

Mr. Dixon says if you are feeding your cattle moldy hay and they begin to develop health problems stop feeding the hay. He also cautions against feeding any moldy sweet clover.

Moldy sweet clover contains a high level of the anti-coagulant, dicoumarol, which causes the blood to stop clotting.

If possible, feed all pregnant and young cattle hay that has no mold because both categories of animals are susceptible to health problems that are caused by toxic molds.

Hay Lakes district news

The Hay Lakes Municipal Library Board met in the library on March 28. The 1983 budget was drawn up and approved.

Films on loan from the University of Alberta Educational Media were shown in the library five times during the past week and were enjoyed by many groups.

Due to economic restraint the board will not send a delegate to the annual Library Conference being held at Jasper in April.

The library has purchased the new GED book on how to prepare for the High School equivalency examination.

This book gives a comprehensive self-instructional program reviewing those skills needed to pass all five areas of the new GED exam. Adults wishing to earn a High School equivalency diploma will find this a useful step by step guide.

Other new books added to the library collection include The Sacrament by Peter Gzowski, which tells the story of two young people from Saskatchewan who survived a plane crash in the mountains; Flora in North America by Eloise Engle; How To Take Better Polaroid Pictures by Weston Kemp; Happiness is Sharing, which is a collection of happy thoughts by famous people; three childrens books, Little Frog Learns to Sing, Dips 'N' Doodles, Rufus and Christopher and The Box of Laughter.

The Library Board will again sponsor a tea, bake and plant sale in mid-May.

A large number of people attended the Terry Fox film which was shown by the Canadian Cancer Society last Thursday evening. The Cancer Fund Drive will be held in April. Barbara Noullett will canvass in the village and Marlene Streberg will canvass the country area.

The bingo sponsored by the Senior Citizen's Club last Friday evening was well attended. Prize winners were James Pomeroy, Sophie Galenza, Nick Williako, Victor Galenza, Herbert Leicht, John Mitro, Anne Aspell. Sharing prizes in tie games were Mrs. Carl Galenza and Michelle Galenza, Herb Leicht and Anne Marusak, Dorothy Mitro and Norman Welda. The final game, which was a black-out was won by Nick Williako.

The Senior's will sponsor a card party on April 8 at 8 p.m.

The District Health Nurse will visit the Seniors Center on April 5.

Frank and Lucy Herring and daughters, Susan and Sandra of Vernon, B.C. are presently spending a few days at the home of Carol and Clarence Huebner.

Another daughter, Barbara, stayed at Stony Plain to visit with friends there. Frank and Lucy operated the Hay Lakes Hotel for 18 years. They sold the hotel in 1977 retiring to Stony Plain and later moving to Vernon.

Are you entitled to a
HEALTH CARE PREMIUM REDUCTION?

Under the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan every Albertan has access to coverage for basic health services. Built into the Plan are programs designed to substantially reduce or eliminate premiums for those who qualify.

When filling out your income tax return this year, please note the amount of your taxable income. It's on line 62.

If you are single and your 1982 taxable income is $4000 or less, or if you have family coverage and the combined taxable income of you and your spouse is $5000 or less, you may be entitled to a full or partial reduction of your Alberta Health Care Insurance premiums.

Premium reductions, based on taxable income for 1982, apply for a 12-month period beginning next July 1.

For more information about qualifying or applying for your health care premium reduction, watch for the new brochure in late April.

If you pay your premiums directly to the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan, you will receive the brochure in the mail. If you are covered under a group plan through your employer, watch for posters at your place of work or ask at your personnel or payroll office for the brochure.

Increasing the deficits is to borrow trouble

By W. Roger Worth

People operating the smaller firms that are the real job creators in this recession-plagued economy are quick to emphasize that interest rates play a crucial role in whether they will hire, fire, close down plants or expand. So it's perhaps understandable that the Canadian Federation of Independent Business (which represents 64,000 such entrepreneurs) has been pressing governments at all levels to hold the line on spending.

The reason: high government deficits directly affect the interest rates charged to both small businesses and consumers. And few people can argue that the deficits haven't been high.

Ottawa, for example, spent $26-billion more than it received during the last 12 months. And the provinces have borrowed at least $22-billion during the same period, leading some international lenders to question our ability to control spending.

An international credit rating agency, for instance, has already lowered credit ratings on Quebec and Nova Scotia, forcing the two provinces to pay higher interest rates on the money they borrow. In addition, the agency continues to review the other provinces.

Meanwhile, Finance Minister Marc Lalonde is being pushed to increase spending in an upcoming budget, adding about $5-billion of new money for government make-work projects in an effort to reduce high unemployment. Some groups are also pressing the provinces to follow that lead, creating even more short-term jobs as a "quick fix" for the unemployment problem.

All this new money, of course, would have to be borrowed, and future generations of Canadians would be forced to pay back the interest, as well as the principal.

But the dreamers promoting such make-work projects fail to understand that such borrowing will drive up interest rates, or at least keep them well above those in the United States.

The result: the nation's smaller firms will not expand and create jobs. Instead, the entrepreneurs will be forced to sit tight, or even consolidate their operations, perhaps resulting in further layoffs.

With near-record business failures, this has been a remarkably tough period for the country's smaller firms. They've been threatened with devastating tax policy changes, and are paying massively for increases in unemployment insurance costs.

At the same time, the entrepreneurs have watched profits become losses, even while they were forced to lay off staff.

The fact is, neither Ottawa nor the provinces can afford the billions of borrowed dollars suggested for make-work projects. It's high time they learned to live with that reality.

BABIES PART I

There's more to planned parenthood than birth control. When you are about to become parents, you'll discover the multitude of baby products available. It all may seem bewildering, but pre-birth planning and careful shopping can save you time and money on buying for baby.

You don't have to purchase everything before baby comes, but it may be more difficult to shop after the tot arrives. Stock up during the several "Baby Weeks" each department store has yearly. Nor do you have to buy brand-new items; shopping at bargain or discount stores, or second-hand outlets, or going to garage or rummage sales can turn up serviceable clothing, furniture and toys. Here are some points to keep in mind as you shop.

When selecting baby clothing, you should take into account three things: warmth, washability and comfort. Choose simple garments that are machine washable, color-fast and permanent press. Knitted fabrics are soft and provide warmth and ventilation as well, while cotton fabrics are cooler. Infant's clothing should be roomy but not bulky. Clothes should be easy to put on and remove; neck openings with snaps, buttons or zippers will make it easier to dress or undress the baby. Because infants grow so quickly, you need only a few things of each size.

The following is a minimum clothing list that infants require for the first six months.

1. Diapers are the most essential in a wardrobe and a wide variety of choices are available. There are three basic types of cloth diapers: flannelette, terry towel and gauze.

Gauze diapers are soft and easy to fold into small sizes for newborn babies.

Flannelette diapers are 100% cotton and are more absorbent than gauze. They probably are the most versatile diaper as they can be folded to many sizes and can be used as a burping pad or blanket.

Terry towel diapers come prefolded and are more expensive than others. They are made from a layer of terry and a layer of flannelette and have added padding for extra absorbency. They are available in small, medium and large sizes.

Because most babies dirty up to two dozen diapers a day, buy at least three or four dozen diapers so you only have to wash every second day. If convenience is more important than cost, you may want to consider disposable diapers or a diaper service. A diaper service is handy for a few months after you bring the baby home. If you decide to use a diaper service, you may want a dozen of your own diapers, just in case you run out. Disposable diapers are convenient for emergencies as well as for travelling and vacations.

2. Plastic pants are convenient and save on laundry, but they may contribute to diaper rash. The softer, more expensive pants last longer than the cheaper type.

3. Undershirts made of cotton are more comfortable and absorbent than those made of nylon. Ties and snaps should be conveniently placed and easy to operate. Start with the six-month size and buy three to five of them.

4. Sleepers are popular gift items, so don't buy more than six of them. The quality of sleepers is important because they are used and laundered frequently. They can be made of terry, velour, nylon, orlon or cotton blends. Sleepers that have little or no collars are more comfortable because babies have such short necks. If garments are elasticized at the wrists or ankles, be sure that the elastic is not too tight. Avoid uncomfortable fabrics such as lace trim that could come in contact with the baby's skin and irritate it.

5. Other clothing needs include one or two sweater sets, a cap or bonnet, bibs, a bunting bag, booties or socks and suits or dresses. These items often are given as gifts; do not wait to use them, because your baby will outgrow them faster than you think. Part II of this article will discuss baby furnishings.

Electronic design for new shocks

Engineers at Montreal's Concordia University are getting their bumps without feeling them.

In an experimental program now underway at the school, motorcycle shock absorbers are being designed and tested "inside" a computer.

"You design your ideas right on the computer screen," says Seshadri Sankar, professor of mechanical engineering. "the computer takes your ideas and gives you pointers about weight, strength, so on."

Thanks to the computer-aided design, the engineers no longer have to develop a prototype shock absorber and try it out on real roadways. Instead, the computer program puts the design through its paces on a simulated highway test, complete with bumps and other conditions regularly encountered on the road.

Once the computer design is completed, Bombardier Ltd. will use it to improve shock absorbers for its Can-Am road motorcycles. Professor Sankar will then go on to using the computer for a freight train design.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Herpes is an ancient medical term, used in antiquity by Hippocrates to describe a spreading skin infection. The word is from the Greek and means "to creep".

Ancient or not, genital herpes is prominent in today's medical news, with terms as epidemic being bandied about by both the popular and medical press. It is the medical "cause celebre" of the times.

Some physicians question whether the disease rules this degree of attention. Few doctors have noted any major upsurge in the number of cases they are seeing, and the increase may be due to an increased awareness as much as an increased prevalance.

The consensus, as I see it, is that the disease, although always a nuisance and occasionally very serious (especially in newborns) has been exploited by the press.

Herpes virus has been around for centuries. Probably due to increased promiscuity, more people are affected today. But according to one study, in an unselected population, only one person in 200 is infected.

This is not to say that genital herpes can be ignored. The ulcers and rash are irritating or painful and cause distress. The recurrent nature of the disease at unpredictable intervals is cause for concern.

A relationship between herpes and cancer of the cervix is questionable, but may add to the worry. Pregnant women with herpes near term are the greatest medical problem. Herpes is a serious disease in newborn babies and they may become infected during normal birth. A Caesarean section is indicated if the mother is infected.

Finally, much has been made of the social stigma of having herpes. It has even been said, probably inaccurately, that sexual mores will be drastically changed because of the "epidemic". Spread of the disease does not occur during periods of remission and fortunately, this is most of the time.

Herpes is with us, as it has always been. It may or may not be more common, but it certainly is no more dangerous than in the past. It is difficult to treat but often "burns out" in time. It keeps the journalists busier than it does the doctors.

Medically Speaking is published with the cooperation of this newspaper and the Alberta Medical Association.

Where there's smoke . . .

by Carol Livingstone

The price of cigarettes has gone up again! It's getting hard to find the time to do any of the good stuff (smoking, drinking, phoning, driving, eating, breathing - just to name a few).

Something like this sure makes me glad that I never learned how to smoke. It wasn't for lack of trying, of course. As a teenager, I tried inhaling and sucked on Gauloises before going home, just like everyone else. But I couldn't get that smoke into my lungs for some reason, possibly due to a mental block about paying the outrageous price of life for something that was going up in smoke. (I took up beer drinking instead, and we all know where the money spent there ends up, don't we?)

Ask any smoker why he smokes and he will probably tell you that he picked up the habit when he was too young to know that he didn't have to follow the crowd. It's called peer pressure today but back then we called it "not being a square". Most of my friends and relatives smoke, for one reason or another. A few do it so they won't get fat (cigs are calorie free: every cloud has a silver lining), several wanted to calm their nerves and one does it because she doesn't know what else to do with her hands. Another wanted to look sultry, like in an old Bette Davis movie. I have a father-in-law who is a dear man and a chain smoker who will undoubtedly go out smoking. When he visits, the house looks like the inside of a low cloud ceiling. All of them tell me that they could quit tomorrow, if they wanted to.

Some people say the raise in price is discriminatory. I'm one of them. Smokers already have special tables in restaurants, separate seats in theatres and soon they'll have their own elevators, lobbys and public transport. Why should they be treated any better than any other majority group?

I don't really care who smokes as long as they don't blow their smoke in my face. It makes my mascara run. And I do prefer the company of a non-smoker to that of a chain-smoker. Let's face it, there is no polite way to spit tobacco unless you are out on the range, alone except for your horse.

Will I ever take up smoking? I don't think so. If I couldn't afford it when it was 50c, I imagine today I would have to flout a loan. I'll just have to stick with the bad habits I already have.

There is an answer to cancer. With every dollar you give, you are helping us find it.

Farm cash expected to drop

Alberta farm cash receipts from the sale of both crops and livestock products are forecast to be down by 189 million in 1982 and to show a further decline of $180 million in 1983.

Chuck Sterling, the head of Alberta Agriculture's statistics branch, reports that Alberta grain marketings will be down from last year, and that the decline in grain prices has resulted from an abundance of world supplies. He says the present level of grain stocks on Alberta farms exceeds the record level that was set in 1979 by more than one million tonnes.

Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) final payments to Alberta farmers in January, 1983 were down by $315 million compared with 1981, and the CWB's initial payments for 1982-83 are below those of the 1981-82 crop year for both barley and wheat.

Some reductions are anticipated in initial payments for the 1982-83 crop year.

Mr. Sterling expects CWB final payments in the first quarter of 1983 to be less than 50 per cent of those paid in 1982.

Hence, even though Alberta grain producers have record stocks of grain on hand, their income outlook is not favourable!

A combination of lower prices, less deliveries than Alberta's record wheat marketings in 1981 and smaller CWB payments will result in lower wheat receipts in 1982, Mr. Sterling says. He says that cash receipts from feed grains, particularly barley, will not increase in 1983 even with an increase in marketings.

However, flaxseed deliveries and, to an even greater extent, canola deliveries will provide additional cash receipts in 1983.

In contrast to the situation faced by grain producers, the income picture for Alberta livestock producers improved in 1982.

According to Mr. Sterling, both cattle and hog prices rose in the first half of the year with hog prices achieving record levels last summer. However, they have slipped back since that time.

Although cattle prices are down from their seasonal highs in May and June, they are still expected to average out above those recorded in 1981.

Mr. Sterling says higher prices combined with some increase in marketings provided an additional 9 per cent increase in Alberta's farm cash receipts from both livestock and livestock products. He also says that part of this increase came from the province's Beef Cattle and Sheep Support Program which provided beef cattle and sheep producers with more than $141 million.

"Farm cash receipts from hogs", says Mr. Sterling "will show the largest increase of all livestock when compared with 1981. They increased steadily from the low 900-range in January 1982 to over 1000 more than 100 per hundredweight during the summer and early fall of this year, and they are expected to remain near their current level into 1983".

Alberta hog slaughter figures for 1982 should remain similar to or above those of 1981 with 1982 prices averaging near those recorded in 1981.

However, Mr. Sterling does not anticipate that this year's record hog prices will be exceeded in 1983.

He predicts that prices will improve moderately for those livestock products that are regulated which, in turn, will provide a modest improvement in livestock cash receipts.

Boneless fish

(IDRC) – A Canadian-made machine to separate fish from their bones will provide people in developing countries with more and cheaper food.

Minced fishmeat balls are a popular food throughout Asia. But before you can make fishmeat, you have to remove the bones. Only certain types of fish are easy to debone, and the demand for them leads a steadily driving prices up, making it less affordable for poorer people.

Yet large quantities of other types of fish are regularly caught and discarded in the search for the few highly desired types. To turn this waste into a useful food resource, engineers at the Technical University of Nova Scotia and the Atlantic Bridge Company, funded by Canada's International Development Research Centre, are at work on a simple mechanical fish deboner to make minced meat out of "trash" fish.

Their novel design features a perforated drum rotating inside another fixed drum: fish flesh is squeezed through the holes of the perforated drum, leaving the skin and bones behind.

Scientists in Thailand's ministry of agriculture and fisheries will work with the Canadian team to refine and experimental deboner and adapt it to match needs in Asia.

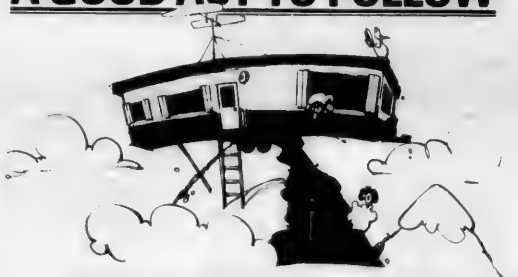
A GOOD ACT TO FOLLOW



Alberta's New Mobile Home Sites Tenancies Act

As the renter or owner of land used as a mobile home site, there are a lot of things you should know about your legal rights and obligations. For example, how much notice must you give before leaving a mobile home site? Can you sublet a mobile home located on someone else's property? How do you go about asking a tenant to vacate? What legal action can you take if someone violates your rights?

Now, you can find the answers to these and other questions in Alberta's new MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT in effect since January 1983, this act applies to the rental of mobile home sites in mobile home parks or individual sites. It clearly states the rights and obligations of both landlords and tenants with regards to:

- Tenancy Agreements
- Serving of Notices
- Notice to Terminate
- Change of Use of Site
- Rent Increases
- Landlord and Tenant Obligations
- Security Deposit
- Rights of Entry
- Subletting
- Legal Remedies
- Occupancy of a Site
- Vacating a Site
- Abandoned Goods
- Non-compliance Penalties

By getting your own copy of the MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT you'll have the information you need to sit down with your landlord or tenant and work out problems.

Copies of the MOBILE HOME SITES TENANCIES ACT may be obtained by sending $1 (by cheque or money order payable to the Provincial Treasurer) to:

District news from Ryley

By Lena Rud

A birthday party was put on at Clarence and Alice Mahlum's home for Clarence's mother of Hammond Park Nursing Home. Dora Mahlum celebrated her 91st birthday. 30 friends and relatives attended from Viking, Sherwood Park and Ryley. Relatives included Ben and Ruth Jacobson, sister-in-law Violet Jacobson, Bob and Edna Hammer, Ruby and Stewart McMillan and Olga Sundsbak.

Rev. Nelson of Tofield visited Dora Mahlum at the Clarence Mahlum home.

Margaret Reigeland is a patient in Tofield Hospital.

Ed Magnuson is home again after spending some time in hospital and Mr. Wall is back home on the farm.

Lena Rud was surprised on Sunday afternoon when she entered the Legion Hall and everyone clapped and sang "Happy Birthday". Seated at the table with her were her two son's and three daughters. A cake, made by her sister, decorated the table.

Visitors came from Whitebrine, Jasper, Edmonton, Camrose, Tofield, Erling area, Holden and Ryley and district.

The Ryley Ladies Auxiliary served lunch to the guests.

The children of the kindergarten-cradle roll and primary classes of the Ryley Seventh-day Adventist Church presented special music for this week's worship service. The selections were part of a program to highlight the mission outreach of the church.

For the time period ending in March the mission offering will be going to Australasian area to help finance the establishment of a boarding school in Tahiti.

During the afternoon, many of the children and their parents travelled to Viking to present a sacred program at Viking Lodge and the Extendicare Home.

Sam Palmlen, well known to many around Ryley, of Sherwood Park, passed away on March 22, at the age of 65 years. He is survived by his wife, Emma; one brother; two sisters; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral service was held on Monday.

Bud and Maxine Cabush and daughter, Lynn and granddaughter, Destiny of Edmonton, Emma Reil of Wheatrock, B.C. and Ruth Jacobsen of Ryley were Sunday visitors with Elwyn Reil.

Jorgen Davick and Denni and Candice Lyalo are patients in the Tofield Hospital.

EGG-CITING EASTER IDEAS

This is the time of year when the egg is used symbolically as part of Easter and Passover celebrations. The egg symbolizes new life in both traditions.

Coloring eggs with food coloring works well if eggs are allowed to soak to dye for at least half an hour. After dying, color eggs with nontoxic magic markers or glue on ribbon and ric-rack. An egg carton or paper roll cut into sections is an excellent drying and decorating stand. When finished, put a drop of shortening on your hands and rub over each egg to give it a shine and to not color.

To hold these colored eggs, make a bread basket. Use a loaf of bread before it is sliced. Cut off the top of the loaf, leaving a one inch strip in the middle (side to side) for a handle. Hollow out bread so Easter goodies can be placed inside. Trim with ribbon. Unused bread can be ground for bread crumbs.

An Easter egg hunt adds excitement to Easter morning. Try assigning a particular color of egg to each child. Hide eggs for older children in less obvious places than eggs for the younger ones. You can also write special messages, in fine tipped marking pen on the outside of each egg. You may want to send your child on his Easter treasure hunt with a message that says, "A surprise is waiting under the kitchen table".

I hope you have a fun and happy Easter at your house!

We'll soon be seeing the country side turning green as spring crops begin to grow.

Underseeding, where crops begin to establish, as do some of the well known hazards of agriculture. Flea beetles are often a hinderance to canola crops. Have you ever wondered how these minisbeetles seem survive our mighty winters? Les Bergsma of Agriculture Canada in Saskatoon has looked into the winter survival of the flea beetle.

HOW FLEA BEETLE PESTS OF CANOLA CROPS OVERWINTER

In the depths of a prairie winter, it is easy to believe that insects, such as flea beetles, have simply disappeared for 5 or 6 months. Actually, they are very much alive and quite able to cope with extreme cold.

A new generation of adult beetles appears in canola crops in late July and August each year. These beetles feed for a while, but when green food plants are no longer available in the fall, most leave the fields. They fly into sheltered areas, including groves of parkland trees, hedges, shelterbelts and bushy fencerows. Here they crawl down into dead leaves and turf, where they remain throughout winter.

When snow arrives, it covers them beneath an insulating blanket and ensures that the beetles are rarely exposed to temperatures below -4°C. Thus the beetles' behavior permits them to overwinter in a microhabitat with a suitable temperature, even when blizzards howl across the landscape and air temperatures drop below -30°C. Winter winds actually help the beetles have many quarters, as the snow is blown from the open fields and deposited in deep drifts in the sheltered areas.

The leaf litter and turf, with its covering of snow, also provides the moist conditions necessary for the flea beetles' survival. Sampling of these insects from this habitat throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan has shown winter mortality to be low. The way in which flea beetles overwinter is an excellent example of how insects and other creatures make use of particular niches in the environment for survival.

We investigated sampling of overwintering flea beetles in groves of trees as a technique to estimate the number that might attack parkland canola crops the following spring. However, variations in samples from various locations in a single grove, and between groves, proved very large, and too many samples would be needed for the method to be of practical use over large areas.

Intensive sampling in one grove of trees did, however, provide an idea of the beetles' density. The estimated number of overwintering flea beetles overwintering per hectare in this grove ranged from some 0.3 million to nearly 3 million annually over a 3-year period, while the number of striped flea beetles, a less abundant canola pest in the area, ranged from 0.1 million to nearly 1.3 million annually. Thus, of the several possible habitats occupied by overwintering flea beetles, parkland groves alone can harbor an immense number that will be ready to attack canola crops when spring arrives.

Poachers rustle elk

Fish and Wildlife officers on patrol near Tofield Monday discovered the remains of what appears to be a illegally-poached elk.

"It appears that an elk was shot Saturday afternoon and hauled away in a truck in a rather hasty fashion," officer Randy Fish said from his Vegreville office.

Fish said he and another officer were checking a routine deer complaint about nine miles north of Tofield when they ran across some indications that someone had shot a large animal.

"We found some drag marks, some blood and some tracks in the area. From the type of hide we found, it appeared to be an elk," Fish said.

The officer said they believe the wayward elk wandered into the area from the Cooking Lake Forest reserve 2.5 miles north of Tofield.

Fish said they suspect the poachers did a rush job of shooting and removing the carcass because the animal had not been gutted. "It was done in a heck of a hurry," he said.

The animal was shot from the roadway and hauled about 300 metres, he said.

"It's not a regular type of occurrence, but it does happen more often with deer," he said.

The Fish and Wildlife officer is requesting public assistance in solving the crime. Anyone with information is asked to phone 632-5400 in Vegreville.

Roth addresses auxiliary

The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary held a monthly meeting recently

Guest speaker was Don Roth, Tofield Hospital administrator.

He explained the process of preparing the plans for Tofield's new hospital. He then showed the plans and explained some of the many features.

Lawn furniture for the patios, the children's playroom and the tuck shop are just a few of the things the Auxiliary hopes to help out with.

A motion was passed to have an honorable past president as there is a need for one for signing of papers and such. Dorothy Shewchuk was asked to hold the position and she accepted.

It was decided that memorials to the hospital auxiliary will be put aside and when the new hospital is in operation a plaque with these on explaining that this room was furnished by a memorial to John Doe, etc.

Last month's "volunteer of the month", Rose Charters, presented this month's award to Louise Berube.

Pic: Litwin displayed the many tray favors that their group has been very busy making up a few months in advance.

The Tofield dancing school and the Baptist Church ladies have donated the tray favors for Easter.

Louise Berube reported that memorials mugs will be ordered and sold at the rodeo in May. The auxiliary will hold a gigantic garage sale on April 29 and 30, weather permitting.

Mrs. Beckmann's grade 3 class from the C.W. Sears School will be making up posies, and the most creative will win a prize.

This month's lunch was supplied by Dorothy Shewchuk and Louise Berube.

There is still a need for washable toys at the hospital. Also needed are empty spice bottles and containers that may be used as vases for flowers.

Carol Despel is doing a special project and has a need for pull-off-tops from pop cans. There is a drop-off box in the Owl Drug Mart.

Pool going

The Ryley Swimming Pool is now into its third week of a new season.

Next week, numerous programs will get underway including lessons, moms and tots, senior citizen swim, adult lessons and recreational swimming.

Aqua exercise lessons will also be offered.

Season passes are available.

Mundare wins

Mundare Sabres are the champions of the Beaverhill Hockey League

In a complete reversal of form, Mundare posted three straight victories to win the championship series over the Tofield Satellites.

Tofield had won two out of the first three games played in the best of seven league finals.

In Mundare last Thursday, the home team hammered the Satellites 13-3 to tie the series.

The fifth game was played in Tofield Arena on Saturday night with Mundare becoming the first team to win an "away" game in the series when they posted a narrow 6-4 triumph.

The sixth game was played in Mundare on Tuesday night and after overtime was necessary, Mundare edged Tofield 4-3 to win the best of seven series four games to two.

Tuesday's triumph gave Mundare its third straight Beaverhill Hockey League championship.

Earlier, Mundare had taken five games to oust Lamont in semi-final action while the Satellites had disposed of Ryley in four straight games.

According to unconfirmed reports, Tuesday may have been Mundare's final game in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Reports carried earlier in another paper have indicated that Mundare will be joining the Alberta Major Intermediate Hockey League next winter.

Actor wins

A former Tofield resident has earned exciting honours.

Francis Damberger was recently presented with the best actor award for 1982 by the Alberta Motion Picture Industries Association (AMPIA).

Damberger won his award for his portrayal of Ray in the docu-drama "Workers at Risk".

In addition to his ability as an actor, Damberger is proving to be a successful writer.

Damberger's effort "Rat Trails" earned second place in the recently held full-length play competition sponsored by Alberta Culture.

This was Damberger's first effort in writing a full-length play and reports indicate that it may be produced professionally in the near future.

Rodeo has queen contest

Five young ladies will be competing for rodeo queen honours in Tofield.

Tofield Agricultural Society's first rodeo has been scheduled for next month (May) and a queen competition is being held.

The two-day rodeo will open on May 28th with Glenn Jones as chairman of the rodeo committee.

Seeking the queen's crown will be Cynde Rabby, Lori Missal, Kim McKinney, Dianne Harper and Kelly Gill.

Following is some information about the contestants.

Fourteen year-old Kelly Gill is being sponsored by the Beaverhill Light Horse Club.

Gill attends Tofield Junior High School and her interests include all sports, riding, 4-H and all gymkhana competitions.

Dianne Harper is fifteen years of age and is sponsored by the Katchemaet Gymkhana Club.

She is a student at Tofield Junior High School and included among her interests are reading, handicrafts and photography.

Kim McKinney is sixteen years old and is sponsored by the New Sarepta Gymkhana Club.

She attends New Sarepta High School and is active in all sports, particularly volleyball.

She trains and shows quarter horses for the Top Bar Ranch in Tofield and her activities include trail rides, horse shows and travelling. She is an agent for Calf Manna.

The queen contestants are all helping to promote the forthcoming rodeo by selling tickets.

Each contestant has 500 tickets which sell at one dollar each.

Lori Missal

Lori Missal is taking grade 3 and enjoys participation in drama.

Twenty year-old Lori Missal is being sponsored by Wade's Training Stable of North Cooking Lake.

She is employed in Edmonton and as a rider and trainer at Wade's Training Stable and her hobbies include racquetball and travelling.

Cynde Rabby is twenty-two years of age and is being sponsored by the Hastings Lake Pleasure Horse Club.

She is employed in Edmonton and as a rider and trainer at Wade's Training Stable and her hobbies include racquetball and travelling.

Around the town

Funeral services for Mrs. Vonah Appleby were held on Tuesday in Tofield United Church.

Winner of a Smurf in the recently held Krazy Karnival was Ryan Carlson, not Ryan McDonald, as originally reported.

A recent news story indicated that a hazardous waste disposal site was being considered in the Holden area. This was incorrect as it is Ryley that is under consideration.

Idealistic

Ban The Bomb protesters have been stirring up a great deal of activity in recent weeks, as they protest the Cruise missile, the testing of it at Cold Lake, the Canadian government's agreement to permit it anywhere in Canada, even its manufacture or deployment in other parts of the world.

We should be grateful there are people with the courage, the depth of feeling, and the sincerity to get out and protest. We should be grateful there are people who will march all the way from Cold Lake to Edmonton. We should be grateful there are some people in a rather feelingless world who feel deeply enough, who care enough, to get out there and protest.

There are far too many people who won't bestir themselves, who can't be bothered. There are too many who feel their voices don't count anyway, that there are so many others they won't be heard. Or that the powers that be will go ahead and do what they want regardless.

We don't agree with the marchers.

But we do applaud their integrity. Their sincerity.

We don't agree with them, and we think there were as many people willing to speak up, to stand up and be heard, on the other side, rather than just sitting on their hands.

Because there are literally thousands of them out there, too.

For all the sincerity of the marchers, the protesters, the banner carriers, it seems almost unbelievably ironic that the Russians . . . even as Canadians were marching in protest . . . should be trying out new weapons, nuclear weapons, in complete breach of the offers made from the West for a slow-down or a limitation, on nuclear arms.

We don't want to see the world go up in nuclear fission, either. We want to see it safe for future generations. But we don't think unilateral disarmament is the way to achieve it . . . not when Russia has for well over half a century made no secret that its ultimate objective is to bring the entire world under its control.

We know the marchers are sincere. But in a world where Russia can knock off Afghanistan with impunity, paying no attention to objections from the rest of the world, such marches are unrealistic.

Times have changed a great deal since the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock, but they were immensely practical people, as well as being deeply religious, far more devout, we should imagine, than many of today's disarmament supporters. Yet it was they who most aptly enunciated the peace-espousing principle "Trust in God, but keep your powder dry."

Hail well below average despite intense storms

REID DEER, (August 13, 1982). The ice on the ground in some parts of Central Alberta was so thick after two hailstorms that some residents of the affected areas took out their snowmobiles for a mid-summer ride, according to Jim Resnick, manager of the Alberta Research Council's weather research project in Red Deer.

The two storms dropped walnut and golfball-size hailstones, and some hailstones were even reported to be the size of tennis balls. Up to 30 percent of the reports on the storms indicated heavy to severe crop damage.

One storm started near Sundre and passed over Bowden, Lousana and ended at Bottle. The other storm travelled from south of Rocky Mountain House, over Eckville, Blackfalds, to Alix where a short-lived tornado was sited.

At the end of July and the beginning of August, hail fell during a stretch of five out of six consecutive days.

The Eckville area received some heavy crop damage when a July 29 storm dropped larger than golfball hailstones on the community. The Markerville area reported moderate damage from the same storm. Walnut and grapefruit hail fell in other areas such as Rimbey and west of Red Deer, but only slight crop damage was reported. A separate storm the same day dropped golfball-size hailstones west of Sundre, but only light hail damage was reported.

Following a day of grace, major hailstorms hit many Central Alberta communities on July 31. Farmers in Three Hills, Rimbey and Innisfree areas reported heavy to severe crop damage. Most areas reported grape-size hail and a few reported walnut-size, but the damage was generally light. Areas hit by the storm included Crossroads, Torrington to Penhold, Water Valley, north of Eckville, Alder Flats, west of Rimbey, Stettler and Big Valley to Byemoor.

A major storm on August 1 started in Orkanen Lake about 1:00 p.m. and headed eastward, causing some heavy and severe crop damage in Penska, Rimbey, Daysland and Forintash. Most of the hail that fell was grape-size and farmers generally reported light damage. Grape and walnut-size hail was reported in the Markerville area late in the afternoon.

The next day, a major storm of up to golfball-size hail caused heavy to severe crop damage along its path through Sundre, Didsbury, Torrington and Three Hills areas.

On August 3 isolated storms again dropped hail up to golfball-size in Carseline, Sundre, Cremona and Airdrie areas, but crop damage was light.

The storm on August 4 was less severe, dropping up to grape-size hail in the area from Alder Flats to Camrose. Nil to slight crop damage was reported. Stettler experienced weak storms in the early evening.

There were no storms on August 5, 6, 7 and 8.

Despite the long stretch of cool, damp weather in July which kept hail storms to a minimum, this rash of storms raised the number of reports in the northern part of the Research Council's weather modification study area - Red Deer to Edmonton - to 87 percent of the long term average. In the southern area - Red Deer to Calgary - the number of reports is 89 percent of the average.

ENVIRONMENT ?? ACN

Alberta Environment will supply Alberta Schools, Grades 4 to 9 with the booklet "Winter Here and Now".

Written by Joy Finlay and illustrated by Jean Hawkins, the publication deals with activities and programs for children to help them understand the winter environment.

Many aspects of winter which are often taken for granted become interesting learning tools, suitable for Math, Social Studies, Science and Recreation courses.

Beginning with a more study the book suggests innovative approaches to get the most out of the cold season. It concludes with a winter experience checklist which describes proper clothing and outdoor equipment.

Anyone interested in the booklet "Winter Here and Now" should contact the Environmental Education Branch, Communications Division, Alberta Environment, Phone 427-6811, or write to Joy Finlay, Power 427 Bldg.,

A taxing dilemma

By W. Roger Worth

Tax time has arrived and many Canadians are in the midst of a dilemma.

The question; whether or not to trust the government and Revenue Canada when they inform 14.6 million taxpayers that, in most instances, expensive help is not required to fill in the blanks in the "simple" form.

The problem, of course, is that many Canadians unknowingly pay too much tax because they fail to take advantage of so-called "loopholes" that have become an integral part of our system.

It shouldn't be happening.

The fact is, Canadians are now getting first-hand knowledge of the paperburden maze that has bothered people operating smaller firms for years.

To add insult to injury, the government is pleading for public trust, yet the actions of employees of some departments like RevCan are at best arbitrary, and at worst akin to persecution.

Consider what's happening:

• After thoughtful study, RevCan decided that waiters and waitresses weren't paying their fair share of tax on tips, which was probably true. As a result, the department mandates once a gigantic leap, concluding that restaurant employees get a 15 percent tip from every customer who uses a credit card.

That preposterous idea now seems to be policy.

So employees in the hospitality industry are forced to compute their taxes, unless they go to the trouble and expense of proving that some customers tipped less than what RevCan assumes to be normal. Perhaps RevCan's expense account employees always tip 15 percent, but simply most Canadians are somewhat less extravagant.

• Then there's the matter of refunds. Last year, RevCan processed and sent refund cheques to 6.5 million Canadians by May. This year, the department has already announced that refunds will be at least a month late.

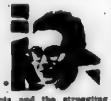
For many Canadians, this means the use of tax "discounters", the firms that charge 15 percent or so of the amount to be refunded when they pay taxpayers the cash they are owed. In real terms, Ottawa is forcing those Canadians who need the cash immediately to pay an effective interest rate of 50 to 60 percent. It's sad that those who need the money are placed in this sort of bind.

• Nevertheless, the real issue is the lack of simplicity and the lack of fairness that are easily understood. As it stands, this year's 56-page tax guide is much too imposing. Together with the convoluted language and warnings, the government is undoubtedly forcing thousands more Canadians to pay for help. The irony for ordinary taxpayers is that such costs are not a deductible expense.

Undoubtedly, the time has arrived to simplify not only tax laws and forms, but all the paperburden and red tape that Ottawa now considers mandatory.

CP/D Features Network

Patricia Young Says . . . . .



The first time I visited Hollywood in 1968, I was a brash young novelist with an appointment to see an agent and a producer with a view to filming one of my novels. While the deal fell through, those months spent in the film capitol were an experience I would not have missed. Like meeting Leopold Stokowski and having him give me a quick lesson in keeping my money out of the hands of the con men. Between meetings with George Raft, Bob Hope, Jimmy Durante and Ginger Rodgers, I was pig-piled by the hindmost of Ginger Rogers as she invited me to rest in her portable dressing room.

I remember a small party at James Hilton's apartment at a time when he was writing second rate film scenarios which he would not allow to bear his name. I remember a largely phoney world of threat-filled, back-biting efforts to climb to the top and remain on top long after the star had fallen into oblivion. I remember first-faced mothers pushing their young sons and demonstrating wild jealousy should a girl come near. I remember the pathetic efforts of fading actresses to command attention.

There were the back-hungry agents, the kooky religious sects and the struggling writers. Like the self-declared producer who invited me to lunch at The Brown Derby only to whisk me out to the Hollywood Hills with a stale cheese sandwich demanding that I read through the 400 pages of his rejected movie script!

There were the hundreds of camp followers who came to Hollywood in search of fame and fortune, but who wound up living from hand to mouth as "party girls", dinner partners or gambling playmates. There was the eccentric writer whose appetite was so jaded that he had to ask me for a new colour for his new model automobile. When I flippantly suggested "ice cream pink" he was delighted and so launched a trend.

When money becomes meaningless as in the case of some highly paid entertainment stars, it all too often happens that the big time earner can get his kicks only from his contempt for the money he earns. Such as the case of the rich actress who smashed a $500 goblet in the fireplace without turning a hair. Of course Hollywood abounds with some wonderful, compassionate people. Unfortunately the weirdos inveriably get the headlines.

Music festival near

In less than two weeks the Camrose and District Music Festival will be underway.

Festival events will take place for a full four days from April 18 to 21. The final concert will be held on April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in Charlie Killam School.

This year, 926 entries were submitted for the Festival, an increase of approximately 3½% per cent over last year.

School entries totalled 389 and non-school entries totalled 288 this year.

Last year, 400 entries were submitted to the Festival and approximately 2,300 participants were involved in the three-day event.

This year's speech arts events will be held at Chester Nenning School, choral and dance events will be at Charlie Killam School, band and instrumental classes in Camrose Composite High School, piano and voice classes will be in the Performing Arts Centre and organ classes will be in Mountain Lutheran Church.

Festival programs will be available after April 9, listing all events, times, places, adjudicators and participants' names.

Programs may be purchased at Wilson Electric, Sound Spectacular, Don's Stores or Reel to Reel Music at a nominal charge.

Programs will also be available at all Festival locations throughout the week.

New classes included in the 1983 syllabus are:

Church choirs; oratorio solo; country rock; vocal solo; selected voice choirs; school choirs; pop music; concert band recital class; dramatic vocal solo; high school drama; clarinet and French horn.

Additional prizes to be awarded during this year's festival will include medallions awarded to the performer with the highest mark in dance, piano, organ and vocal solo. These medallions will be awarded on the recommendation of the adjudicator.

Scholarship winners may not receive medallions and if necessary, a recipient may to the performer with the second highest mark in a category.

A prize of $50 will be awarded in recognition of an excellent performance in piano.

Trophies will be awarded to the best performance in speech arts or drama and community choirs, 16 years and under.

MERCURY MERCHANTS

Ken Cline considers it a step up in the world from cutting meat in Edmonton to cutting glass in Tofield.

Cline, who with his brother Kirk owns K and K Glass Ltd. off main street, laughingly explains that they simply tired of working for others and decided to set up shop on their own.

"It's something we wanted to do for quite a while," he says. While Ken is a meatcutter by trade, Kirk has always worked with glass.

An optomistic Ken says the infant business has only been established since December, but they're holding their own and eagerly anticipate the summer.

He adds that business is expected to increase as people bring broken windows which have been sitting in frames during the cold winter months.

Ken says the business has established a fair balance between work done in residences and vehicles. They do only a marginal amount of work with household mirrors because of the steep price.

The Cline brothers decided to operate their own business while they were living in Cooking Lake and comuting to Edmonton daily.
